TIMOTHY GREEN BECKLEY -- MR. UFO

UFOS & WORLD POLITICS

I've always said that politics have no place in UFO research. Over the years certain publishers have tried to "share" their own political preferences with their readers. Through cleverly disguised editorials, attempts have been made to push both extreme right and left wing philosophies. In the early 1950's one UFOlogist came out openly in support of the American-Nazi party, while years later a Florida-based investigator reprinted articles in his publication straight out of John Birch Society literature.

Of course this is America, and as opposed as one might be to any view, the Constitution does allow for political freedom. Right now there is even a self-published author who utilizes the swastika in his magazine ads, claiming that Hitler is alive and in hiding at the South Pole. We even remember reading somewhere that Idi Amin, the power hungry African dictator, purports to have had a UFO sighting and related vision while in deep meditation. In the vision, supposedly he saw himself as a ruler leading his nation to a position of power. Some contactees have even used their influence to try and "sell" to their followers philosophies that very closely resemble particular political aims, even though they claim that these "pearls of wisdom" came directly from the "Space Brothers."

Frankly, we find politics boring. Somehow we can't help but hope that other worlds in space have long ago given up trying to force their citizens into taking a particular political position. In a futuristic society politics should be unimportant, the welfare of the individual of major concern. Think of it—without politicians, and politics, there would be no taxes, no wars and no chance of a "Hitler" getting into power.

INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY

We find it hard to believe that every world leader today hasn't thought about the implications contact with extraterrestrial life would have on society. Assuredly, they must know that their "jobs" would be on the line once interplanetary ideals have been exchanged with aliens. Radical changes could easily come about toppling civilization as we now know it.

This is the prime reason it would seem that the

A shot taken right off the TV as "Mr. UFO" appears as a guest on ABC's "You" program hosted by Ellie Dylan. The show was aired a few days before Halloween and involved the publisher of UFO REVIEW in investigating a haunted house on New York's busy 86th Street.

"establishment" is so hard fast against acknowledging the presence of unknown vehicles in our sky, some of which have landed, and crew members disembarked to have a brief chat with ordinary people whose philosophies on living have no doubt been drastically altered.

It's the one issue that every worldly power seems to agree on and that we find very suspicious in itself. Almost unanimously they have continually informed their respective public that flying saucers do not exist; that we shouldn't bother to look up, as there is no evidence whatsoever that intelligent beings exist in either our own solar system or out beyond.

It is indeed an international conspiracy that is so monumental in its scope that it boggles the mind. We predict that the recent United Nations conference on UFOs will lead nowhere. For even if some of the nations in this world body wanted to probe the UFO phenomena, they will not go ahead and vote for such a resolution until they get the go ahead from Uncle Sam or the Kremlin.

Isn't it strange, dear friends, that we can kill one another on the battlefield, disagree on every issue under the sun, but when it comes to UFOs our governments shake hands behind our backs and are in full accord?

WHO SAID WE COULD NEVER DO IT?

Well, this is the third issue of UFO REVIEW, and some of the self-proclaimed "experts" in the field said we'd never even make it this far. Actually, our subscription rolls get longer every day and the letters of congratulations are literally streaming in from all over the world. Our first major publishing effort, UFO PROPHECY, has been a huge success and we are looking forward to the time soon when we can release a new book or special report every month. With this issue we will be on a few, very select, newsstands, and if this should prove to our advantage we shall increase our distribution accordingly. Many of you have written us wanting to know how you can help. The best way would be to get your friends to subscribe to the paper, as well as purchase all your UFO books directly from us. Any profit we make is immediately turned back into making this publication bigger and better (please note how this issue is longer than previous ones, and how we have also added color) and in hiring the help necessary to fill orders and get your merchandise our promptly.

Please, by all means keep us informed. Let us know of sightings and encounters in your neck of the woods. We are currently looking into recent Men In Black cases and will be publishing our second paper on the subject in the very near future, as well as a special document concerning the many rumors of crashed UFOs and dead alien occupants of these disabled craft. In the next few months we will also be starting a small "fact-finding" organization which you can become a member of and help us out directly.

TIMOTHY GREEN BECKLEY MR. UFO

The man whom New York magazine calls "Mr. UFO" has probably written more than anyone else on the subject of flying saucers and extraterrestrial visitations. Now you can follow the exploits of Timothy Green Beckley, editor of UFO REVIEW, in the following large size, soft cover, books:

BOOK OF SPACE BROTHERS. For years the author has been interested in alleged communications from space. Now he has combined the best material into a highly readable and informative volume. You will read a variety of messages from people who say they are not of this earth, and the experiences of people who insist they have actually communicated with the entities inside UFOs. $7.95.

SUBTERRANEAN WORLD. Some speculate that not all UFOs come from other worlds, but that there is a base inside our own planet populated by descendents of the continent of Atlantis. This book provides a complete overview of the theory. $6.95.

PEOPLE OF THE PLANET CLARION. Truman Bethurum had a run-in with a beautiful spacewoman on the California desert in June of 1952. The experience changed his life, and the information provided to him by the occupants of UFOs could help mankind find a better way, if we would but listen to the teachings of these advanced beings. A philosophical message for us all. $7.95

Serious researchers have long realized that when dealing with UFOs, it is impossible to look at the subject as other than a purely global phenomena.

It's an established fact that UFO sightings have originated from even the smallest and most remote countries on the face of the earth. Whether it's from the continent of Africa, South America, North America, Asia or Europe, the description of these strange crafts and their alien occupants are so strikingly alike as to rule out the likelihood of coincidence or collusion on the part of observers.

Several years ago, Sir Eric Gairy, Prime Minister of the tiny Caribbean nation of Grenada delivered an address to the United Nations General Assembly, in which he spoke of sightings and encounters in his own land as well as several personal experiences he says has affected his own life and turned him into a confirmed believer.

Gairy spoke at this U.N. meeting of the necessity for international cooperation among all member nations, going as far as to ask that the U.N. establish a special task force to gather reports so that any existing patterns could be computed.

As well meaning as his proposition might have been, it fell on deaf ears. The U.N. General Assembly refused to take up the issue and the matter was dropped. However, Gairy has never totally given up his attempts to get the U.N. involved with the UFOs. He constantly beats the drums among other delegates, bringing up the question at every opportunity.

This past July (as reported in the last issue of UFO REVIEW) a high level conference was held behind closed doors at the U.N. In attendance at the meeting were a number of outstanding UFOlogists as well as representatives of the U.N., including Secretary-General, Kurt Waldheim. At this conference a suggestion was made that Gairy take a slightly different approach, that he try and have an ad hoc committee formed as part of the already existing Outer Space Affairs Committee. Waldheim thought this would be a much better approach than going to the General Assembly directly and would "soften up" the delegates instead of making it necessary for them to rush into a matter they might not be fully acquainted with.

Prime Minister Eric Gairy of Grenada tells the delegates why he believes the U.N. should seriously study the UFO phenomena.

On Monday, November 28th at approximately 10:45 A.M., at the height of New York City's first snowfall of the season, more than 100 delegates gathered in Conference Room Four on the first floor of the United Nations building. On the agenda — the subject of UFOs. After much preparation, Sir Eric Gairy was ready to fire his big guns. For the next two-and-a-half hours, representatives of the U.N. member nations were to hear documentation that our planet had been visited from outside "sources" — that visitors from "elsewhere" have been coming to Earth regularly. And while their views might have differed considerably, a unified front was at long last presented to a curious and attentive number of ladies and gentlemen who might have found the subject matter a bit more bizarre than anything they might have come up against in these sacred halls where mankind wages a constant battle for world peace.

AN URGENT REQUEST

The first to take the floor on this auspicious occasion was to be Sir Eric Gairy himself. In a statesmanly manner, he spoke clearly and concisely into the microphone. "Mr. Chairman, it is well known that Grenada is a small country, but I want to emphasize the fact that, size notwithstanding, we have a deep interest in the welfare of all nations and all people on our earth planet, and as such we are genuinely concerned with any phenomenon which might interfere with the fulfillment of man's aspirations and his striving towards the fostering and maintenance of a peaceful co-existence."

Reading the draft of a resolution written by his government, Gairy made the following recommendations:

- In consultation with the appropriate specialized agencies, Grenada recommends that the United Nations initiate, conduct and coordinate research into the nature and origin of unidentified flying objects and related phenomena.
- We requested the Secretary-General invite member states and non-governmental organizations to transmit to him directly information that would facilitate the proposed study.

- Grenada further requests that the Secretary-General appoint at the earliest possible date a three-man group of experts under the Committee of the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, for the purpose of defining guidelines for the proposed study.
- Decide that the group of experts meet during forthcoming sessions to study information and proposals submitted to the Secretary-General by member states, and

- Decide further to include in the next General Assembly an item entitled, "Report on the Group of Experts of the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space," defining guidelines for the study of unidentified flying objects and other related phenomenon.

Throughout his twenty-minute presentation Gairy continually emphasized the urgency of the issue, noting that "many men and women, especially younger and better educated people, are yearning for sensible explanations from those who are in a position to provide answers."

In a dramatic style he underlined the problems at

GRAVE IMPLICATIONS

Some men stand taller than others because they are able to admit their mistakes.

When he was first hired as a consultant by the U.S. Air Force, astronomer J. Allen Hynek took it upon himself to be the arch debunker of UFOs. Best known for his "swamp gas" explanations, for many years the noted scientist, for many years the expert under the ton of evidence he most certainly must have had at his disposal.

Finally, no doubt realizing that the tide of public opinion and the weight of evidence was rapidly going against him, Dr.

Hynek jumped to the other side of the fence and soon began questioning the same policy that he had helped establish while an employee of the U.S. government.

But times have changed. Since his getting out from under Project Bluebook's bootstraps, Hynek has been more than willing to examine the belief system he was once an intimate part of.

From a skeptic he has developed into a hard-nosed believer who refuses to take NO for an answer. Determined to get to the bottom of this puzzle, he has started his own investigative agency, The Center for UFO Studies, and has even gone so far as to act as a consultant for Steve Spielberg's multi-million dollar movie, Close Encounters of the Third Kind. Criticized by some for his involvement in a Hollywood production, Hynek acknowledges that to his way of thinking the positive benefits of this mass media motion picture by far outweigh the negative aspects any such film might have had on the public.

Stroking his beard from time to time (a trademark), Dr. Hynek told the U.N. committee exactly what was on his mind.

"Mr. Chairman, there exists a global phenomena the scope and extent of which is not generally recognized. It is a phenomena so strange and so foreign to our terrestrial mode of thought that it is frequently met with ridicule. Yet the phenomena persists — it has not faded away as we thought it would. Instead it has touched the lives of an increasing number of people around the world."

Hynek stated that "a Cardinal mistake, and a source of great confusion has been the almost universal substitution of an interpretation of the UFO phenomena. This is akin to ascribing the Aurora Borealis (Northern Lights) to angelic communications before we understood the physics of the solar wind. Nonetheless, in the popular mind the UFO phenomena is associated with the concept of extraterrestrial intelligence and this might yet prove to be correct in some context. Surely it would be a huge joke on all of us if evidence of extraterrestrial intelligence was right here under our noses all the time while great efforts were spent searching for it elsewhere."

Trying his best to pronounce the words flying saucers in a half-dozen foreign languages, Hynek drove home the point that "UFOs are definitely on the minds of many people, and indeed according to our records UFO reports have been gathered from 133 different countries." Out of these some 63,144 sightings a large percentage have been made by credible observers including, "astronauts, radar experts, military and commercial pilots, officials of governments, and scientists — yes, even astronomers!"

Going beyond mere reports of lights in the daytime and evening sky, Hynek was not the least bit bashful when it came to discussing the truly weird aspects of many cases he has personally investigated.

"We also have on file some extremely intriguing and provocatively strange events experienced by highly reputable persons — events which challenge our present conception of the world about us and which may indeed signal a need for a change in some of these concepts. In a radio broadcast to the French nation recently the Minister of Defense of that country, discussing the importance of the truly Unknowns, stated: 'I must say that if the listeners could see for themselves the number of reports being investigated by our law enforcement people, you would see that it is all pretty disturbing. I must emphasize that in this UFO business it is very important to retain an open mind.'"

Off the record, Hynek acknowledges that he has had the opportunity to speak with other scientists who refuse to state publicly their belief in UFOs. However in private they are admittedly perplexed not only by the increasing number of good, solid sightings, but in the many baffling aspects of this enigma. "These scientists," Hynek stated, "are in many cases associated with large and prestigious scientific organizations both governmental and private, which as organizations are officially directed in their attitude toward the UFO phenomena. The individuals within these organizations who have intimate knowledge of the UFO phenomena are restrained by organizational policy to remain silent. There are many others who are not so restrained, who are quietly studying the phenomena independently or in small groups by whatever means they have at hand.

"It is such scientists and specialists that are the concern of my address to the U.N. today, Mr. Chairman. These persons have no means by which they can share the results of their research, or pool them for the benefit of others as is the standard practice in scientific matters. There is for them nothing remotely resembling the World Health Organization or the World Meteorological Association. Nor is there any non-governmental agency that serves this purpose. Collectively these scientists possess information and results that in my opinion should be shared."

Hynek insisted that he did not wish to tax the U.N. financially any more than it is already, "but as a scientist who has devoted

LEE SPIEGEL — THE UFO REVIEW STAFF MEMBER BEHIND THE U.N. CONFERENCE ON FLYING SAUCERS

Prime Minister Eric Gairy's continuing effort to get the U.N. to investigate UFOs on a global basis is well known. But, behind the scenes, another gentleman must take the lion's share of credit for bringing it "all together."

For months, Lee Spiegel has been pounding on closed doors. He has been spending every ounce of energy trying to communicate to those in a position to do something constructive, the need for an international team of researchers to look into the UFO problem and get to the bottom of a phenomenon that has plagued every nation on the face of the earth. He has literally flown back and forth across the United States gathering the support of the leaders in UFOlogy and asking their personal cooperation. He has spent long days gathering the documentation necessary to convince those in attendance at the U.N. that UFOs are not a topic to be scoffed at lightly, but are deserving of serious consideration.

The producer of a daily "UFO update" on NBC radio, Lee has been interested in UFOs for many years. He has acted as a representative for Dr. Hynek's Center for UFO Studies and is currently Chief of Field Investigations for UFO REVIEW. His long-playing record, UFOs — The Credibility Factor, was released by Columbia House and has enjoyed good success.

The following "mini-interview" was conducted by Timothy Green Beckley during a break in the recent U.N. committee session with delegates from many nations only a few feet away, attending a special reception held by the island of Grenada.

UFO REVIEW: Give us a little bit of background— how did you get involved in what's happening here today?

SPIEGEL: I approached the government of Grenada 12 months ago and said, Look guys, I know you've been trying to get something happening at the U.N. and I know the U.N. hasn't been very receptive. I have an idea for a proposal and if you consider sponsoring my proposal I can get you the people that will make a positive impression on the U.N. It took about four months to get the proposal all together and to get people like Hynek, Vallee and Gordon Cooper to start committing themselves. Then after we got the okay from the Prime Minister of Grenada it took approximately eight months of preparation before we were ready to make this presentation. Of course, there was a prior meeting with the Secretary General of the U.N. in July to get the final go ahead.

UFO REVIEW: What do you think— if anything— will come out of the presentation you have made today?

SPIEGEL: There's no way of telling. The delegations can take as long as they want to deliberate the issue before them. We'll just have to wait and see what happens. I can tell you this — they were very interested this morning, especially when Col. Larry Coyne told his story. The delegates were really listening at this point. We're heading into the debate shortly and eventually the delegates will have to make up their mind—take a vote.

UFO REVIEW: And what if there is a UFO committee organized as part of the U.N.?

SPIEGEL: Well they're going to try and set up a three-to-seven member expert group, maybe headed by people like Dr. Hynek and Jacques Vallee. This group will spend a few months and will then make some recommendations of their own supposedly by June 30th, 1979, though that is a very liberal estimate.

UFO REVIEW: How about your own research activities— how will you be following up the good work you have already done here today?

SPIEGEL: I'm going to start work on a major documentary for television.

UFO REVIEW: Will this be based upon what you've already tried to get accomplished at the U.N.?

SPIEGEL: We'd like to use portions of what happened in the U.N. today— everything was video taped. It will probably be a year before anything can be finalized as far as the world body is concerned, because they really like to prolong things, and they really don't like to spend money if they can help it.

UFO REVIEW: Outside of Grenada, what countries have indicated to you that they are willing to support such a project?

SPIEGEL: Chile, Spain, I believe the Netherlands. Maybe Canada. South Korea. France, of course, with their official group. But, I think a lot of countries are going to be looking for what the United States has to say.

UFO REVIEW: Do you know if there was any "top level" message delivered to Prime Minister Gairy or anyone else from the U.S. government?

SPIEGEL: Not that I know of. However, last week, the Grenada delegation was lobbying for support among the other countries, and the U.S. representative said they had nothing against having Col. Larry Coyne speak, but they still wouldn't necessarily support the resolution. A lot of things can happen. It has a lot to do with the political atmosphere when the final vote is taken. But, let's not speculate anymore. Let's adjourn downstairs and see what's going to take place in conference room four.

WILL YOU BE ALIVE IN 1982?

THE "SPACE BROTHERS" WANT YOU TO ESCAPE THE COMING HOLOCAUST THAT THREATENS TO DESTROY OUR WORLD...

PSYCHICS PREDICT

Psychics from the late Edgar Cayce to the modern seer, Jeane Dixon all agree that our planet is slated for "troubled times" in the next few years. With their "gifts of prophecy", these sensitives have been able to peer into the future and know that a rocky road lies ahead, that a great physical holocaust will leave terrible scars over the entire face of the earth. Land shifts will occur, whole continents will rise, while others will sink under the force of gigantic tidal waves.

SCIENCE AGREES

Seismographs on both the East and West Coasts have registered an unusually high number of earth tremors in the last few months. We are not far from total ruin. Time is running out. The cosmic clock is ticking away and we are approaching the midnight hour. Never before in history has such a large number of earthquakes been recorded around the globe. It's obvious that a widespread disaster that could spell T-H-E E-N-D for millions is going to happen within our lifetime.

NO PLACE TO HIDE

Absolutely no area will be safe! There will be no place to hide! We are powerless to avoid this worldwide catastrophe! Water will cover a good portion of the earth. Wild life will die by the score. Our rich farm lands will turn to lakes. Mighty rivers will sweep away our towns. Freak weather storms will unleash havoc with what is left of civilization. Man will turn to battling his brother in order to survive.

A WAY OUT

But a select few of us will continue on the race of homo sapiens. These individuals will be those who place their trust in a higher power. Those who survive will do so only because they heed these dire warnings and listen to an intelligence from afar.

SPACE PEOPLE PREDICT

The occupants of these technically advanced vehicles have made contact with many influential people in our own space program, claims a former astronaut. They are not here to play games. They are here to help us in this difficult crisis. Because they have developed their psychic abilities and because they are able to travel into the future, they know DOOMSDAY is just around the next bend.

CHANGE YOUR LIFE

We guarantee that this book will have a positive effect on your life. The messages contained within its 275 pages is an inspiring one. It is not for everyone, but it is definitely for YOU, the New Age thinker, UFO skywatcher and those who are psychically "tuned in." It's written in plain English (there are no secret codes to uncrack), and approaches the subject of UFOs and the philosophy of our Space Brothers on a level all can understand as well as apply to our everyday lives.

OFFER OF HELP

Since they are truly our "Space Brothers," and recognize the fact that we are the creator's children, (just like themselves), they want to offer aid and assistance in any way possible. The UFO-nauts say that if we will only listen and take their advice that many of us can survive and go on to live in a glorious Golden Age, an age that has not existed on Earth since the days of Atlantis.

HEALTH, HAPPINESS & ABUNDANCE

There will be no wars. Diseases such as cancer and heart trouble will be conquered, and there will be an abundance of natural resources. Those who are alive today can make it through the next few years and literally live forever in a society that is totally free of the problems that currently plague mankind.

YOUR PART IN THE SPACE PEOPLES' PLAN

According to Arthur Shuttlewood who has written an encouraging new book, UFO PROPHECY, your part in the Space Peoples' plan is very important. We must all work toward one goal - making the reality of UFOs as widely known as possible. Everyone reading these words are- the aliens realize - open minded enough to heed these dire warnings and work to change the course of history.

In effect, the Space People have a plan for each and every one of us, and the noted British journalist who started out as a UFO skeptic, and later had his life changed after many personal encounters of the third kind, wants to share the knowledge of these higher beings and what they have taught him, with you.

Since the 1950's, the FCC, as well as other governmental agencies have been checking out reports of mysterious interference over various broadcast frequencies. Whether it's a powerful TV station in England, high frequency channels reserved strictly for astronaut communication, ham sets or CB equipment, some unknown sources of intelligence have the ability to "cut in" and take over the airwaves as they see fit.

PROBING THE MYSTERY OF THE UNEXPLAINABLE RADIO TRANSMISSIONS

by Timothy Green Beckley

On the night of August 12, 1976, David L. Dobbs was driving near Cincinnati, Ohio when a mysterious voice came over his car's ham radio set instructing him to drive to a certain locale. When he arrived he was met by a strange being and a craft from another world.

You probably read a brief wire service account of the incident in your local newspaper. The authorities tried to explain the "voice from outer space" as the work of a practical joker who had somehow managed to take control of an abandoned transmitter and broadcast a message from the "Asteron Galactic Command." They made it seem like the broadcast had lasted only a matter of 30 seconds or so, while in reality there were several messages, not just one, all of which lasted for a good two or three minutes apiece.

The following is a complete transcript of the "voice from outer space" as broadcast on television in the Hennington area of Southern England at 5:05 P.M. on Saturday, November 26, 1977. This is the first time the text of the broadcast has been published in its entirety in the United States:

"This is the voice of Glon, representative of the 'Asteron Galactic Command,' speaking to you. For many years you have seen us as lights in the sky. We speak to you now in peace and wisdom as we have done to your brothers and sisters all over this, your planet Earth.

"We come to warn you of the destiny of your race in your world so that you may communicate to your fellow beings the course you must take to avoid disaster which threatens your world and the beings of other worlds around you.

"This is the order that you may share in the great awakening as the planet passes into the New Age of Aquarius. The New Age can be a time of great evolution for your race, but only if your rulers are made aware of the evil forces that can overshadow their judgment. Be still now, and listen, for your chance may not come again for many years.

"Your scientists, governments and Generals have not heeded our warnings. They have continued to experiment with the evil forces of what you call nuclear energy. Atomic bombs can destroy the Earth and the beings of your sister worlds in a moment. The wastes from atomic power systems will poison your planet for many thousands of years to come. We who have followed the path of evolution for far longer than you, have long since realized this, that atomic energy is always directed against life. It has no peaceful application. Its use and research into its use must be ceased at once, or you will all risk destruction. All weapons of evil must be removed.

"The time of conflict is now passed and the races of which you are a part may proceed to the highest planes of evolution, if you show yourselves worthy to do this. You have but a short time to learn to live together in peace and good will. Small groups all over the planet are learning this and exist to pass on the light of a new dawning, the New Age to you all. You are free to accept or reject their teachings, but only those who learn to live in peace will pass to the higher realms of spiritual evolution.

"Hear then the voice of Glon — the voice of the 'Asteron Galactic Command' speaking to you. Be aware also that there are many false prophets and guides at present operating on your world. They will suck your energy from you, the energy you call money, and will put it to evil ends, giving you worthless gross in return. Your inner divine self will protect you from this. You must learn to be sensitive to the voice within that can tell you what is truth and what is confusion, chaos and untruth. Learn to listen to the voice of truth which is within you and you will lead yourself onto the path of evolution.

"This is our message to you, our dear friends. We have watched you growing for many years, just as you have watched our lights in the skies. You know now that we are here and that there are more beings on and around your Earth than you scientists care to admit. We are deeply concerned about you and your path towards the light and we will do all we can to help you. Have no fears, seek only to know yourself and live in harmony with the ways of your planet Earth.

"We are the 'Asteron Galactic Command'; thank you for your attention. We are now leaving the planes of your existence. May you be blessed with supreme love and truth of the cosmos."

If there is one thing most Britishers have in common, it's their unflappability. They've lived through the blitz, survived more Channel storms than you can count, and taken every imaginable type of man or nature-spawned excess very much in stride.

That's why they felt prepared to ride out any bad news which was transmitted to them over their regularly scheduled newscasts of November 26. But in homes all over Hampshire County, and as far north as Reading in Berkshire and Witney in Oxfordshire, TV viewers got the shock of their lives and caused the usually unflappable Britons to jam the switchboards of every police station for miles around. Voices from space are not your usual evening's entertainment.

According to those who live in the area, towards the end of Southern Television's evening news program, a series of "bleeps" gradually took over the normal sound. Commented one viewer, "It was the kind of signal you get prior to a bulletin of special importance." Following the bleeps, a voice cut into the regular broadcast frequency of the TV station.

Another segment that came in was as follows:

"We speak to the people of the planet Earth. It is of great importance that you have the understanding that we come only in love and peace. It is a time of importance in the universe that the planet Earth be involved and the consciousness of those that exist on the planet be raised to a higher degree. It is also important to you to understand that we cannot permit it in the present nor in the future, any more devastation upon Earth.

"There are those civilizations that are in service in the universe that are in motion to come to your planet Earth to give mankind the benefit of their medical and technological skills, but mainly of their love. They are in service to the planet Earth and to the universe. We conveyed to Sir John Whitmore and to the Dr. Puharich that we would interfere on your radio and television communication systems to relay when the civilizations are coming close to landing on your planet.

exactly what happened. We can't imagine how it was done, but it appears someone must have managed to transmit a signal directly over ours. The equipment used would need to be fairly sophisticated and expensive."

A CHILLING MESSAGE

The mysterious November English transmission fits into an overall pattern of such events which have been occurring on a world-wide basis over the last several decades.

While the official stance of such government agencies as the Federal Communications Commission remains that such transmissions are a hoax, in no case has any prosecution been brought, much less a conviction obtained. This even though there are strong communications laws on the books making such transmissions a federal offense.

FLYING SAUCERS OVER ITALY

Exclusive Report — Police in Palermo, Sicily, were among those who witnessed a (above photo) gigantic, brilliantly lighted object traveling in a north-south direction. Dozens of witnesses said the craft had a "golden glow" of "varying intensity." In Rome, hundreds of persons lined the street before dawn to watch "a very long and very bright emerald green trail descending vertically from the sky." Meanwhile, dozens of patients and doctors in a Bari hospital, told of observing a vast luminous object moving silently along the Adriatic Sea. "It was long, metallic and emitted a bright yellow light" was the general description. UFOs are, indeed, nothing new to Italians. Last summer, a (below photo) formation of "mystery objects" was caught on film speeding between Monza and Sesto San Giovanni. The government continues to be puzzled, and is looking into the matter the best it can.

"It is now in motion. We wish you to know that we love you. We wish for there not to be panic on Earth, for we come in peace. But it is also important for the people of Earth to recognize that the civilizations that come, come in Brotherhood to help them. It is important now to become one with the Brotherhood of the universe. We ask that those of Earth do not attempt to prevent the civilizations that are coming, but to accept them in love as we have accepted the planet Earth in love even though it has caused devastation and in turn contaminated the universe. We are with you, we love you and we come in peace."

Nor can debunkers explain away the fact that witnesses to the receipt of such transmissions are highly reputable people not given to fantasizing or bouts of hysteria. Included in their ranks are a number of law enforcement officers as well as several astronauts.

The transmissions have come over commercial frequencies, citizens' bands and high frequency channels reserved for communicating in outer space.

Of particular interest is the fact that while some transmissions have been in unrecognizable code and others in unintelligible language, a good many messages have been broadcast in the colloquial dialect of the area.

ALIEN ROBOT COMMUNICATES

A good example of this is provided by a tape in the possession of UFO REVIEW of an actual transmission received by a night guard employed by the Alamac Knitting Mills located in Lumberton, North Carolina.

To set the scene for the experience of James Ed. Floyd, Alamac's night security guard, we must turn back to early April, 1975 and the area around Lumberton.

Lumberton is in the southeastern section of the state. It is flat with heavy patches of pine forests, open areas of farmland, swamps and canals. On April 5th, 1975, Lumberton became the focal point of UFO investigators when the first in a series of sightings of a V-shaped object in the sky was reported.

On the nights which followed an untold number of sightings were funneled through various police stations. Forty-eight of the actual sightings were attributed to police officers engaged in official business.

The first inkling that the UFO must have been bent on jamming radio frequencies in the Lumberton environs came when at 2:20 A.M., April 3rd, Officer Jim Driver of the Roseboro (Sampson County) Police Department, alone in his patrol car, noticed a series of lights in the sky hovering over some pecan trees. This was the third sighting of the night, but the importance of it was that Driver became the first lawman to tell of the object's interference with his radio transmission.

Said Driver, "I got out of the car at that point and could not hear any sound coming from the object. When I tried to radio headquarters my car radio became all scrambled, so I had to use my walkie-talkie instead. The light on the object swung away and lit up the pecan trees which were about 200 feet away."

As more and more sightings were made known within the next hour, Lumberton authorities immediately contacted the Center for UFO Studies with headquarters in Evanston, Illinois. World renowned astronomer J. Allen Hynek, Center director, dispatched crack investigator Lee Spiegel to North Carolina.

HOLLOW VOICE

As part of his on-going probe, Spiegel interviewed Floyd. Floyd said that not only had he experienced numerous sightings of the UFO, but that he had heard a strange hollow-sounding voice over his CB radio. The voice described itself as "Robot." It indicated that it was broadcasting over South Carolina, but was heading north.

Spiegel notes that Floyd's story seemed to be corroborated by information that as the unexplained radio signal from "Robot" became stronger, other residents of the Lumberton area found their radios being jammed to such a degree that they could no longer modulate with each other.

In his official report to Hynek, Spiegel notes Floyd's having told him that the voice which spoke with a Carolina drawl had said that it could not speak with them or be seen after dawn.

Spiegel suggested that Floyd try to record the voice on a tape cassette recorder. The plan was put into operation and on Sunday, April 12th at a time between 7 A.M. and 7:15 the recording was made.

Spiegel has provided the staff of this magazine with the tape and although the quality is not good, certain phrases are decipherable.

"Robot: We are clear... we may be in violation of rules. You may be violating the rules and regulations of the National Loudmouth... by modulating with this one Robot. We may be violating..."

Floyd: (speaking back on the radio). "You're breaking some rules, right? Right, you are!"

Robot: "Do not modulate with this one, Robot... we are circling around and checking out different... and they do not like for any voice to modulate with this one Robot."

"We are not black, we are not white, we are not red, we are not yellow, we are not anything... We are just one Robot, we are circling for the pleasure of our commanding vehicle. Anybody that does not like the sound RRRR-RRRRRR of this one Robot..."

After Floyd arrived at his home, the voice was still transmitting and Floyd's son typed up the following words off a CB unit in their home.

"We are not... anybody... that we did from out there... we are not a computer, but we are a Robot, we are computerized..."

"We do... take the Earthling's words and twist it around and turn it against..."

Some months later, Floyd

This heel-shaped UFO with a hole in its center is similar to one of the craft seen by Kenneth Arnold, the father of UFOs, while he was flying over Mt. Ranier. This sketch was made by Police Chief Garry Moore of White Lake, N.C., and coincided with the mysterious robot voices that were transmitted from UFOs seen in the area.

claimed he heard another broadcast by the same voice, and then the UFOs vanished from the area and the eerie-sounding voice right along with it.

UFO ZAPS TEXAS HAMS

Another case of the interference with normal radio communications occurred in Calvert, Texas, during a siege by UFOs. The small southwest community was flooded by transmissions of radio sounds with a regular cadence which might have been some alien code. The transmissions peaked in November of 1973 corresponding with the brunt of the UFO sighting wave.

Ham radio operator and television repairman Virgil Chappel notes, "Almost every night during the early part of November, heavy interference plagued amateur broadcasters in the area, preventing us from communicating with one another as we regularly do. Instead of hearing the normal messages from fellow hams, all I could pick up was a series of clicks. They were closely akin to Morse Code. Being somewhat of an expert in codes, however, I can vouch for the fact that it was decisively different from anything I had heard before. Why, even the tonal pitch of the 'noise' was odd, varying greatly from high to low. It was definitely — as far as I'm concerned — an intelligent type of signal. I don't profess to know where it came from, and I don't know who was behind it. All I can positively state is that it was eerie to listen to!"

On November 15th, 1973, the stocky Texan received an additional jolt of "eeriness" when he ventured out into his backyard and was greeted by the sight of a series of lights. "The air all around was aglow with a multitude of twinkling lights. It was like a Christmas tree — that's about the best way I can describe the scene. All around and above me were these blinking spheres. I ran inside the house, yelled to my wife to follow me back outside and simultaneously grabbed a pair of binoculars which I thought would give me a better view of what I was certain were not airplanes, stars, or those satellites that come over every so often."

Chappell was unable to determine the actual shape of the objects but nevertheless was bedazzled by the beautiful hues of light they emitted.

SENATOR GOLDWATER

No less a famous person than Senator Barry Goldwater claims he has heard strange signals on his ham radio set. "These signals had a cadence or sequence which sounded like a code," he has stated. "It wasn't like any code I'd ever heard before. The U.S. and the other countries like Russia have picked up such signals. But nobody knows where they come from or what they are. I do know that NASA is doing a lot of research into this."

Contacts between operators of unknown frequencies and hams are on the rise. David L. Dobbs, a Cincinnati scientist, gives a graphic description of just such an encounter in a communique written to Walt Andrews, director of the prestigious Mutual UFO Network.

A CLOSE ENCOUNTER SET UP VIA THE AIRWAVES

Dobbs says he was driving home late at night on August 12th, 1976 and was monitoring a ham call in which the operator was trying to give directions to a mobile which was lost. As Dobbs was awaiting the "repeater" on the message, the voice was suddenly cut off. The engine of Dobb's car began to miss and his headlights started to flicker. Although the electrical system of his vehicle returned to normal within split seconds, the receiver remained silent.

"Hoping the rig was OK, I identified for autopatch and punched the access code," Dobb says. "They tell me that no one monitoring heard a thing, but instead of the dial tone, there was this indescribable voice.

"'Priority Break,' it intoned, followed by some strange call mobile 8. Usually I remember calls, but the odd quality of that voice must have distracted me. It was kind of melodius, deep and compelling, with an accent I couldn't place. I just said, 'Go break,' and kept listening. From that point on, the whole incident had a sort of a dreamlike quality.

"The fascinating voice went on to say his vehicle was disabled on old route 84 near the quarry and requested some assistance. It was my impression that he was probably some foreign ham operating on a reciprocal license. The nationality escaped me, but as a technician I don't work the low bands, and there are a lot of new countries these days. Since my OTH was only a few miles from him, I told him to stand by and I would be there as soon as possible."

Dobbs traveled the highway to the intersection with 84, turned into the ancient road whose decrepit pavement forced him to reduce his speed to 15 or 20 miles an hour. After going some distance, the scientist found his way blocked by a fallen branch. He stopped his car and got out in order to remove the obstacle. It was then that he noticed the treetops some 200 yards away were illuminated by a flickering light. It was as if something might be burning, except that the light had a bluish tint, something like that made by the rotating flasher of a police car.

A special "confidential" report on the investigation of a dozen cases involving strange UFO occupants and critters.

The author was given a $6,000 grant by the Canadian government to research the UFO phenomena. What he discovered over a three-year period is absolutely amazing. John Musgrave is not a "crackpot," he is instead an astronomer who is familiar with all the natural explanations for flying saucers. He has weeded out those cases which can be rationally explained and has come up with some thrilling findings.

In this publication he puts occupant cases into several new categories:

- Type 1: Fly-Bys
- Type 2: Stopping for the View
- Type 3: Strollers
- Type 4: Tourists
- Type 5: Pit-Stops
- Type 6: Voyeurs & Peeping Toms
- Type 7: Molesters

This volume comes complete with illustrations showing the various types of UFOonauts that have been observed, and answers the important question: WHAT IS BEHIND THE BEHAVIOR AND ORIGINS OF THE FLYING SAUCER CREW MEMBERS.

Just released, this report is a "must" for all serious UFOlogists. $5.95 plus $1.00 for postage & handling.

THE SPACEMAN APPROACHES

"And then suddenly I saw him," Dobbs continues. 'Him' seems to fit somehow, but don't ask me why. He had come up to the car while my back was turned and was standing near the open door. In the glare of the headlights it was hard to see well, but he was short — probably not five feet in height. He had on a silvery one-piece outfit that looked like aluminized coveralls or a wet suit. Moving out of the headlight beams and towards the car, I was about to say, 'Hi,' when my first good look stopped me dead. He didn't have a recognizable face."

Dobbs tells how he began receiving a tremendous flow of information into his mind at a "fantastic rate."

"It was like a data link between two computers," he comments. "Ideas weren't expressed in words at all — there was just a stream of impressions."

The Cincinnati man went on for what appeared to be no more than 15 or 20 seconds. Dobbs was told he had no reason to fear his visitor and felt the figure was some sort of "biological robot." His impression was that the visitor had traveled from distant stars in this galaxy — stars which were visible only in the southern hemisphere.

Dobbs accompanied the figure to a space ship and came away with the thought that for some reason earthlings were being evaluated by the extraterrestrials. He is also sure that the humanoid borrowed a package Dobbs was carrying at the time in order to duplicate its contents.

As Dobbs was returning to his own car at the suggestion of the "humanoid" who had indicated that to be close to the UFO at the moment of its take-off might prove hazardous, he became aware of the spacecraft hovering overhead. A moment later it flew off in a tremendous burst of speed.

TAMPERING WITH OUR SPACE PROGRAM

Strange and inexplicable as the radio and television contacts between private citizens and space aliens may be, they are nowhere near as bizarre as those which have occurred between those engaged in scientific experimentation and space exploration as government representatives and possible representatives from outer space.

On November 23rd, 1977, officials at Cape Canaveral, Florida were forced to admit that they were launching an all-out probe into the origin of a mysterious series of radio signals which had forced the scrubbing of a launch of a Meteorite 1 satellite.

Spokesmen for the Air Force and National Aeronautics and Space Administration revealed that the unexplained radio signals had been discovered during a routine check of the rocket's electrical system.

While the investigators pressed their efforts to unravel the mystery, the 1,535 pound drum-shaped satellite which is owned by the European Space Agency, sat on the ground and the $240 million Meteosat weather forecasting program remained stalled.

The cryptic word from Canaveral was, "The source of the signals must be determined before a new launch date can be set because they could have an effect on the destruct system."

In jeopardy was a "World Weather Watch" experiment in which European, Japanese and American satellites were to participate.

MYSTERIOUS VOICES OVERRIDE SKYLAB TRANSMISSION

Nor was this the first time that the space program was rattled by a so-called "space phantom." On February 19, 1974, noted syndicated columnist and muckraker Jack Anderson reported that "mysterious voices" had imperiled the return to earth of Skylab III with its crew.

According to Anderson's account Skylab's crew heard mysterious voices telling of an explosion over Moscow, an oxygen loss and a conversation with then President Nixon. Anderson considered the transmissions an elaborate hoax and noted that an all-out probe was underway towards apprehending the "perpetrator" who had violated NASA's communication frequencies.

However, as in every other case of this nature, no suspects were ever rounded up nor were any formal charges ever drawn.

The facts of the incident are these:

In Rocky Mount, N.C., officials of Unifi, Inc., a textile firm, began having interference with a long distance call. The interference at first sounded like radio transmissions from an airliner, but later on the listeners realized they were monitoring what they thought to be a conversation between Skylab III and the Houston Space Center. It appeared the astronauts' side of the radio conversation was the only one being audited. The voices talked of a 10 megaton explosion over Soviet Russia observed while the Spacecraft had been taking aerial reconnaissance photographs of underground Soviet missile silos. The message included the fact that the Spacecraft had been severely damaged in the encounter and only had 11 hours' oxygen supply aboard. The voices then said they were going to scramble the transmission on channels five and eight. A series of coded messages which sounded similar to Morse code ensued.

At this point, according to Anderson, the words, "Yes, Mr. President. We understand this," were heard followed by a voice report that Spacelab's secret documents and equipment had been thrown overboard. The transmission ended there.

The executive employees of Unifi were not the only ones to hear the message. Anderson's associate Joe Spear found a number of others who had monitored the same dire conversations.

Said Anderson, "At NASA, officials advised us that still others around the country had reported similar phone interference."

"Now, NASA's security specialists are trying to find which 'phone freak' perpetrated the elaborate hoaxes. So far, we have learned only the 'Space Phantom' knows."

Despite Anderson's somewhat flip attitude, the fact remains that four years have passed since the incident and as yet, NASA has never officially admitted that it took place. Nor has the "perpetrator" been apprehended.

NASA RECORDS PROVIDE MORE DOCUMENTATION

Strange sounds which cannot be explained away have long been a part of NASA operations. A careful check of the tapes of Apollo 12's log presents a vivid recounting of the monitoring of strange signals by American Astronauts Pete Conrad and Allan Bean. Conrad and Bean had landed on the moon's surface and were undergoing their exercise program when the following conversation took place.

Bean: Do you hear a lot of background noises, Pete?

Conrad: Kind of static and things?

Bean: I keep hearing a whistle.

Conrad: That's what I hear. O.K.

Ten minutes later, Dick Gordon in the mother ship orbiting the moon reported the following to Houston control:

Gordon: Hey, Houston, do you hear this constant beep in the background?

CAPCOM: That's affirmative. We've heard it now for about the past 45 minutes.

Gordon: That's right, so have we. What is it?

Ground control could give no definition.

Nor has NASA been able to come up with a logical explanation for the unintelligible foreign language transmission heard on Gordon Cooper's fourth pass over Hawaii in Faith 7 on May 15, 1963. It should be remembered that these channels on which the transmissions were heard had been reserved for space flights. And it should also be remembered that in the ensuing 15 years, NASA has never been able to identify the source of the transmissions nor the foreign language involved.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF STRATEGY

It is generally dawning on mankind that Western Civilization is in danger of self-destruction by internal decay. Communist powers, by nibbling at its outposts, weaken it further, both by jeopardizing its overseas raw-materials supplies and by proving to the world our unwillingness to fight.

A few incurable optimists may take courage from occasional public descriptions of a brilliant future for all. Other citizens anxiously study the strategies of salvation from one danger or another that appear from time to time. But all optimistic visions based on conventional thought are misplaced, inasmuch as they disregard weaknesses inherent in our type of society. Nor should we expect any divine power to miraculously save us from structural deficiencies of our own making.

The present ad introduces Max Hermann, a former international economist who left his career about 15 years ago, to devote himself to the unraveling of a complex network of misrepresentations that he had detected in religion, philosophy, and large portions of what is generally considered science. A long-time student of preternatural phenomena, he saw keys to truth in certain revelations made from the 1880's onward by clairvoyants and trance mediums. His intellectual wanderings led him to investigate the life cycles of civilizations. He saw that the birth, evolution and death of each was controlled by religion, other ideology, and citizens' attitudes towards them. Also, that the sudden introduction of better ideology generally leads to spiritual regeneration, followed by sweeping social change. Max Hermann, in his book "To Start a New Civilization," has coordinated the above-mentioned revelations with genuine science, and combined it all into one coherent philosophy, which he considers a proper ideology for a new civilization.

In this, he may or may not be right. But it can hardly be denied that Max Hermann has evolved methods that are worthy of attention. And he has shown that if and when the ultimate ideology is made public, it will probably sweep the globe, and thus drastically reduce international tensions. While residents of Lumberton, N.C. were picking up strange metallic-sounding voices from robots circling the town in UFOs, police officers such as John Hayes were describing objects such as this which fits into no category of known conventional aircraft manufactured on earth. Hayes estimated the UFO's wingspan to be about 50 feet across and according to the officer, the object had a large spotlight which beamed down on a grove of pecan trees.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

A former news correspondent for the CBS and Westinghouse networks, Warren Freiberg has been in broadcasting for more than twenty years. Currently his talk shows can be heard daily over WLNR and each Saturday on WAIT in Chicago. Freiberg is also a practicing hypnotist, clairvoyant, ghost hunter and all-around psychic researcher. Each issue he will give you the psychic's point of view on UFOs.

Back in the late 1950's, Trevor James Constable wrote a shocking book entitled, They Live In The Sky. His thesis was that our atmosphere is literally teeming with "space critters" — giant ectoplasmic-like creatures who are normally invisible because they are etheric and not physical in composition.

Many UFO students took exception to Constable's work mainly because the author discredited the interplanetary origin for flying saucers and was content to look much closer to home for an explanation. Not one to be satisfied "blowing hot air," Constable offered to scoffers an impressive photo gallery of these "space critters" which he took himself with infrared film. If nothing more, Constable was able to prove it is indeed possible to photograph that, which under normal conditions, is "invisible" to the human eye. Over the years, many startling images of UFOs have appeared on film, though the photographer saw nothing "unusual" when the shot was taken.

More recently, a great deal of attention was given to a Chicago bellhop. Ted Serios has been written about in many psychic books and magazines, and his paranormal abilities are generally accepted as being valid, even among members of the scientific community who have investigated him. Serios is apparently able to produce images on otherwise blank photographic film merely by clicking the shutter of a camera while the lens is aimed at his forehead. What appears on the Polaroid prints are often scenes of faraway places where Serios has never been. Sometimes the images are blurred and difficult to decipher. Other times they are quite sharp as if Serios were actually standing in front of the

The heavens were especially clear when Marc aimed his camera at a designated spot in the sky and clicked the shutter. Upon development he noticed a small dot on the print which appeared quite unusual even to the naked eye. Blown up Marc discovered what he believes to be the silhouette of a humanoid saucer pilot standing in the circular port of a hovering UFO.

Eiffel Tower or in Red Square taking photos as any tourist would.

Twenty-five year old Marc Brinkerhoff of Mahopac, New York, may, in the long run, prove to be far more unusual than Ted Serios, for he claims to be in telepathic contact with the occupants of UFOs. These entities direct him, he says, to point his camera at specific regions of the sky. When developed, unusual objects — UFOs — show up clearly on the film, though they weren't there to our way of thinking at the time the photos were taken. On one occasion, Marc may have been able to photograph an alien standing near the brightly illuminated porthole of a ship from another world.

Living 45 miles south of New York City, in high, rolling, countryside, Marc has always had ample opportunity to gaze into the night sky and ponder the myteries of the cosmos. On a clear evening it's possible to see thousands of twinkling stars, many of which must certainly beam their light down upon inhabited planets.

Unlike most of us, however, Marc Brinkerhoff contends that he has many of the answers that still manage to intrigue and puzzle you and I. He states matter-of-factly, that he is able to communicate with a superior race of people who reside on a planet in the Constellation Bootes, located in our Milky Way. Marc says these beings are human in appearance, stand five feet to eight feet tall, and have developed their mental

There are those who are likely to say that Marc Brinkerhoff's ability to take startling UFO photographs has to do with his own heightened psychic powers, while others will contend that space aliens are truly behind these manifestations.

This probe is similar to the "thought discs" talked about by other earlier contactees such as Howard

CREDIBLE APPHY OF ERHOFF

Unseen by human eyes, a scout ship emerges from the hatchway of a gigantic "mothership." Via mental telepathy Marc Brinkerhoff maintains the occupants of this craft told him where to aim his camera so that he would capture his breathtaking scene on film.

capabilities to such a degree that they are light years ahead of us in utilizing their psychic powers. Marc further maintains that he astrally projects at night to a large "mother ship" hovering in outer space where he is educated in the ways of this far away civilization. Technical data as well as philosophical matters are discussed, and Marc is usually willing to pass on what he has learned to those who show an interest in knowing about such subjects.

But, whether or not you are prone to believe or disbelieve Marc's amazing stories, there is ample evidence that we are dealing here with an extraordinary young man — the camera doesn't lie!

Here is a partial chronology of Marc's UFO experiences:

Summer, 1958 — It all began for Marc when he was only five. Standing in the ball field near the Mahopac High School, he saw a large, silvery sphere "like the metal ball in a pinball machine." The object made no sound as it passed slowly overhead at the height an airplane would travel. During the duration of his first sighting, Marc says that "a feel of great love" seemed to fill him, coming directly from the object overhead. Since that day many years ago, Marc's mind has been open to new thoughts and ideas that do not originate on Earth.

1963, Nova Scotia — Marc was in the fifth grade. During the summer, he was with his family on Prince Edward Island, waiting for a ferry, when a "huge cigar-shaped UFO" appeared, making a loud humming noise, like a swarm of bees." As his family watched, the UFO suddenly rose and sailed out of sight.

1964, Mahopac, N.Y. — While watching the stars at night, Marc spotted a UFO moving in the sky behind the local high school. It was during this sighting that he finally established an on-going telepathic rapport with the occupants of the ship. On this occasion, Marc received specific descriptions of the various types of UFOs that constantly visit Earth.

1965 — This year proved to be a busy one for the young contactee. While attending a drive-in movie he saw several UFOs darting overhead. Later, once again near the school, he telepathically asked for "something" to appear, and moments later a UFO came into view. Several weeks went by and he was sleeping in his bedroom, when suddenly he awoke and had the urge to go to the window. Pulling aside the curtains and looking up at the sky, he saw a large UFO.

February 10, 1967 — On this date, Marc was with his brother Bruce. They were in the back yard where a 6-inch layer of snow covered the ground. "I was 14 at the time. Suddenly we saw two strange white lights in the southern sky approaching us and growing larger. We called to our parents who came outside and joined us." As the UFOs came nearer they could make out definite shapes. "It was the traditional disc-like

The authors have examined the entire spectrum of the contactee enigma. They have studied the experiences of many famous figures, from George Adamski to Uri Geller. configuration. The objects paused at a fairly low elevation, one being closer to us than the other. On the closer object, we could clearly see a curved 'window' extending all around the forward rim, and it appeared to be lighted from within.

"Suddenly the lights inside became much brighter — so bright that my parents and my brother had to turn their eyes away. However, for some reason, my eyes were not disturbed by the glow, and I could make out six or seven figures standing at the window looking down at us. In fact, it seemed as if the second figure in line was waving at me."

At this the two ships began moving away to the south where eventually they disappeared from view. However, according to Marc, a few minutes later, another UFO came over the house, sending down a bright, angular beam of light which lit up the entire area behind the neighbor's hedge. The other members of his family also witnessed this display of unusual magnitude.

That same night — Approximately a half hour later, Marc went alone to the school area, to try for a "contact" which he felt might be coming. In a few minutes, his hopes were rewarded, as he spied two large egg-shaped objects over the school. "I stood in the snow, and it was very cold out, but some sort of 'heat ray' was coming from the ships, and I felt no discomfort whatsoever."

Mentally, Marc asked them, "Why don't you land?" The answer came back, "We're too large. A landing would cause too much commotion now." The UFO then maneuvered according to instructions Marc gave it telepathically. "First it went to the right as I instructed, then to the left, backward and finally forward just as I had requested."

For two hours, Marc actually remained sitting in the wet snow feeling perfectly comfortable because of the "heat ray" being beamed down upon him. "The ships eventually sent a telepathic message of 'Good-night' and gradually moved higher, until they appeared to be stars in the sky."

October, 1971 — At 8:40 A.M., Marc was driving on Croton Falls Road with a friend, when suddenly a "double" object, like two footballs fastened together at the middle, appeared over the trees lining the road. "It was as big as a large plane, but made no sound." The apparent size was 12 inches at arm's length.

Instamatic to take his UFO photos.

April, 1977 — Marc was in the schoolyard from 11:30 P.M. to 1:00 A.M. He followed his usual procedure of aiming the camera at a part of the sky where he sensed that something "unseen" lurked. Though no UFO was visible to the naked eye, he snapped the shutter when he felt the impulse to do so, and when the film was developed, there on the negative could be seen a disc-shaped object out of which a smaller "probe" was being ejected.

October, 1977, — The sky was clear. Marc was in his usual spot in the schoolyard when he had a psychic flash to point his camera to a spot in the darkened heavens. The results were astounding. When the film was developed, there was a speck of light on a dark background about 1/8-inch in diameter. This speck was enlarged many times until it was obvious that Marc had somehow managed to capture on film something truly odd. It was a circular, lighted area, yellowish in color, with a humanoid figure silhouetted in front and to one side of center. The head, arm and part of the body can be seen. Marc believes this was the porthole of a spacecraft, with a spaceman standing in the shadows.

November & December, 1977 — Various shots of unexplainable objects were taken during these winter months. Six particularly interesting shots show a green-crescent-shaped streak of light which Marc says were "probes" he requested to appear. Another photo shows what Marc maintains is an open hatch of a large mother ship from which a smaller scout ship is being released into the atmosphere for its mission to Earth.

And while the staff of UFO REVIEW has not had the opportunity to screen this particular footage, Marc claims that in March, 1978 he took an 8mm motion picture of an orange-colored disc. The object appears on the film for only three to four seconds, or about 20 frames. Hopefully it will be subject to analysis at a later date when copies have been made.

One of Marc's most recent experiences actually involved the materialization of a being from another world. As he tells the story, he was alone with his dog down by the dam outside of town. It was his 25th birthday, and he "asked" for a "birthday sighting." Around midnight, it was raining heavily and Marc was experimenting with thought control over the degree of rain. Several times he asked mentally for the rain to "speed up," and it did. Then he asked for it to "slow down" and this occurred on cue. Then the rain stopped altogether. Suddenly, a heavy mist arose from the ground and there, a few feet in front of him, stood a humanoid form. It seemed to be made of a mist-like substance, denser than the

THE UFO MYSTERY IS A LOT DEEPER THAN MOST OF US REALIZE...

TO UNLOCK THE SECRET OF THE SAUCERS IS TO TAP THE COSMIC FORCE BEHIND THE CREATION OF THE UNIVERSE—

According to a public opinion poll, millions of Americans have sighted unexplainable objects coasting, hovering and darting about in the earth's atmosphere. And, believe it or not, thousands of ordinary citizens have actually experienced a close encounter of the third kind — face-to-face contact with alien beings from beyond the stars.

There can be no disputing the fact that flying saucers exist, but what do these strange visitors in gleaming metallic ships want? Why do they travel millions of miles to appear before a "select few"?

MANY QUESTIONS BUT FEW ANSWERS

Few individuals have really made a deep study of the UFO mystery. The time and expense involved in first-hand investigation is prohibitive, and arm-chair research just isn't the proper way to tackle one of the most important subjects of all time, therefore the questions are many:

- Where do they come from?
- What sort of advanced technology do they possess?
- Are they friendly or hostile?
- Are they here to help us?
- Are UFOs symbolic of more than extraterrestrial life?
- What can the occupants of these ships teach mankind?

There are many who believe that if we had the answers to even just one of these important questions our society would be well on the way to taking its rightful place among the federation of intelligently populated worlds which must surely thrive in the vast reaches of space.

TWO MEN HOLD THE KEY

Right now in the United States, two men hold the keys necessary to unlock the secret of the UFOs. Both gentlemen have worked long hours piecing together, little-by-little, the missing parts to this giant cosmic jig-saw puzzle.

Jacques Vallee is a scientist. Born in France, he came to the U.S. more than a decade ago and took up employment with NASA on their Mars mapping program. Vallee obtained his doctorate in computer sciences from Northwestern University before joining the Computer Laboratory at Stanford University. His early research findings on UFOs were widely published in the books Anatomy of a Phenomenon and Challenge to Science, both best sellers.

John Keel grew up on a farm near Silver Lake, New York, home of one of America's most fabled "sea serpents." While working for the American Armed Forces Radio Network in Frankfurt, in 1952, he wrote and produced a Halloween show from the authentic Castle of Frankenstein. After his discharge he spent six months in Cairo. It was while visiting the Aswan Dam on the Upper Nile that he saw his first flying saucer. Keel is a veteran newsman having written more than a dozen books and hundreds of magazine articles. In recent years he has turned nearly full time to UFO investigation writing such popular titles as UFOs — Operation Trojan Horse.

MIND EXPANDING

Both researchers started out in their quest for knowledge with an open mind. As they went along in their investigations, independently, they each reached the conclusion that the UFO mystery is a lot deeper than most of us realize and that unlocking the secret of the saucers is to tap into the cosmic forces behind the creation of the Universe. They were both spellbound. Their mental capacities had to expand in order to accept what they discovered, for what they learned is contrary to what science today is willing to accept.

And while their earlier works sold extremely well, the latest research findings by Vallee and Keel have for the most part gone unnoticed.

Maybe it was because of their shocking content that their publishers decided not to promote these books as heavily as is necessary to turn any literary effort into a best seller. Because of what they had to say, it is quite possible that many people will be frightened and not know how to act.

WE BELIEVE YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO KNOW THE TRUTH NO MATTER HOW DISTURBING

As adults living in the greatest country in the world, we as American citizens should be told the truth. The government and the "powers that be" have absolutely no right to withhold information from the public, no matter how unsettling. Therefore we have purchased from the original publishers copies of four volumes that you can probably find nowhere else. You can order them individually or all four at a nice savings, either way, you will come out ahead, as the information contained in these pages is not available elsewhere.

PASSPORT TO MAGONIA by Jacques Vallee

More than 1,000 reliable witnesses over the past century, claim to have communicated with the occupants of flying saucers. Dr. Vallee reports on these cases one-by-one and then draws a stunning parallel between these close encounters with "aliens" and those individuals down through the pages of history who have been contacted by an unknown race of beings whom the author contends may be responsible for everything from ghostly manifestations, to angels, to nature spirits. The universe is definitely not what it seems. $5.95

THE INVISIBLE COLLEGE by Jacques Vallee

Until recently it was not in vogue for scientists to discuss such things as UFOs. However, for the better part of a decade the author has gathered around him an "invisible college" of educated men who have secretly been gathering all the available evidence which has convinced them we are not alone. Some of the most chilling UFO stories imaginable are told within these pages and in conclusion Vallee speculates that this phenomenon is neither the product of man's imagination nor "little green men" from Mars — but something even more important and dramatic. $8.95

THE MOTHMAN PROPHECIES

by John Keel

UFO expert John Keel spent over a year traveling around the country investigating many bizarre and mysterious events. This is his report on the so-called Mothman, a primeval monster with blazing red eyes and a pair of bat-like wings that has been seen widely. The author ties in UFO sightings, other strange saucer creatures, poltergeist activity and contact with beings from "somewhere" else. $8.95

THE EIGHTH TOWER

by John Keel

Is the human mind programmed like a computer by a force that exists beyond the limitations of space and time? Are we on the threshold of a New Age, when the human race will be drawn into a union with the cosmic powers that have fostered our superstitions, our myths, our religions, and our philosophies? John Keel offers the first comprehensive study of the forces that annually produce the things we think we see from monsters with glowing red eyes, smelling of fire and brimstone, to men in spacesuits who land their mysterious machines in our fields, to bizarre aerial objects that dominate the night skies. If you have had a supernatural experience, this book will help you understand it. $9.95

SPECIAL OFFER. If ordered individually, these four books would cost you approximately $35. However, since we want you to know the truth, we are offering through this particular magazine all four volumes at only $25, a price everyone can afford.

ground mist, but not totally "solid." No sound or words were heard. As the figure faded away, Marc noticed some bright white lights moving behind the trees. Something then rose into the sky, an oblong object which was well lit. It paused at a low angle behind a cloud, Mark picked up a flashlight he had been carrying and blinked it at the UFO in a dots-and-dashes sequence. Immediately, the light in the sky blinked on-and-off in the exact same sequence. In a few seconds more the craft rose into the sky and was quickly gone.

This by no means is meant to be a complete chronology of all that has happened to Marc Brinkerhoff. He has undergone the wide spectrum of experiences most contactees have, but what makes Marc's story so important is the fact that here we have photographic evidence which we can investigate and perhaps get to the bottom of. Millions of Americans have seen unusual patterns of lights in the sky. Thousands of responsible individuals have had close encounters with the alien occupants of these craft. However, in this particular case we have something we can really sink our teeth into. More and more serious students of UFOlogy are beginning to realize that the phenomenon we are dealing with is not totally physical in nature, that the psychic plays a major part in this cosmic puzzle that continues to intrigue us all.

Apparently, the crews of these crafts have mastered the technique of dematerialization, thus making themselves (as well as their ships) invisible to the naked eye. Yet, it is possible to capture their image on film as they move about silently and undetected right above our very own noses.

That the governments of the world and the scientific community should deny their presence is a mockery to our intelligence. Instead of denying their capabilities we should be trying to learn as much as we can from these other-worldly beings.

Maybe Marc Brinkerhoff has at least some of the answers. We should stop sneering, wipe the smiles off our faces and study what this young man has to say more closely!

INTERSTELLAR COMMUNICATIONS

LET'S HEAR FROM YOU. LET YOUR OPINION BE KNOWN. HAVE YOU A THEORY YOU'D LIKE TO EXPRESS? HAVE A COMMENT YOU'D LIKE TO MAKE? THIS IS THE PLACE.

I just finished reading your paper and I love it. My family and I recently moved from Chicago and they don't sell any of the UFO magazines on the newsstands here. Anyway, I was amazed with yours compared to the others. The first night down here (February 17, 1978), I was asleep and something out back woke me up. The dog tied up outside, was barking like mad and my dad took the flashlight to see what was going on. He came running back inside the house and said to call the police — that he'd just seen "a thing" run into the woods. The neighbor heard all the commotion and when the cops arrived my dad, the man next door and the police all went out looking for the thing with a pack of dogs. They never did find it, however, so we filed a report and went back to bed. The next night, a little after 8 o'clock, I was outside and saw a light about a mile out in the pasture. I took a couple of photos but they didn't come out. Please don't use my name. Best of luck in your new venture.

E.E.
Charlotte, N.C.

In regards to the photo taken by Linda Arosemena of a UFO following President Carter's helicopter in Panama recently, if you will look in the photo section of my "Cosmic Pulse of Life" book, you will find a nearly identical form captured in basically the same way. The photo was taken by a noted outdoor writer, V. Lee Oertle. Also noteworthy in your second issue is the massive invisible UFO caught on film over the town of Warminster. It is used to illustrate the article, "Our Invisible Residents." Do you realize that it is now 21 years since I first pointed to the invisible as the source of UFOs? I even managed to photograph many of these things wandering about our atmosphere. Time certainly flies.

I don't concern myself directly with UFOs these days, being more interested in elucidating the fundamentals of primary energy weather engineering and the optical principles that permit such photographs as the Panama photographs. However, I find myself continually cutting across UFOs in this work because some of the central mysteries of the field are contained in our incomplete, inadequate and lopsided concepts of light and color. Within five years, I expect that dark spectrum photography — which I have pioneered — will be fully acknowledged and there will be literally thousands of UFO photographs made of UFOs hiding within these dark envelopes of energy — witness the Panama photo.

This estimate of mine is based on thousands of hours of investigation of this new aspect of optics, and of the general field of primary energy that is the master technical key to the UFO "mystery." Accordingly, I agree with you that Klass et al would be well advised to leave town as all losers should.

Keep up the good work, especially publishing the views of Gray Barker, the celebrated "Monster of Clarksburg."

Trevor James Constable
San Pedro, Calif.

Editor's Note: Because of the importance of this photo we are reproducing it on the cover of this issue. The full story behind this photo is printed elsewhere in this feature.

I know a lot of your readers will take the opposite view, but I have to agree with psychic Warren Freiberg who maintains that the UFO phenomenon is non-physical in nature. These elusive discs and their occupants often seem to disappear right in front of astonished witnesses, leaving me to believe that they are able to enter and leave our frame of reality at will.

Usually this disappearing act follows the same pattern. The witness sees the object while in some lonely stretch of forest, next he moves closer to get a better look and notices occupants engaged in some sort of repair work. At this point, the UFOs usually notice the witness and quickly withdraw into their vehicle, and together they vanish in a puff. At other times, an entire group of people will be watching the same phenomenon, but yet, each observer's description of what he saw will vary, with some people unable to see anything at all. Also, we know that a large number of sightings come from individuals who have psychic gifts. These same individuals usually have other types of extra-ordinary experiences, including seeing and conversing with spirits, space people or fairy folk.

In fact, there are similarities between fairy folklore and modern-day UFO encounters. Remember Rip Van Winkle? Well, he had a time lapse, as did Betty and Barney Hill, Travis Walton and Carl Higdon. And let's not forget that the descriptions of the UFOs often resemble descriptions of the "wee people" — under four feet tall, oversized heads, large eyes, pointed ears, etc. In addition, the messages obtained from the saucer intelligences bear a striking similarity to conversations that people have held throughout the centuries with the elemental kingdom. Both the "space brothers" and the fairy folk appear concerned over mankind's stupidity and destruction of the earth's natural resources. There is usually some sort of warning that the imbalance resulting from this depletion could lead to a great cleansing, a time of chaos and strife during which many will perish.

The communications that have come through at Findhorn (a New Age community in Scotland) might add light on this matter. Nature spirits have informed those who are attuned to their vibratory waves that humanity seems intent on destroying itself. In the best selling book on Findhorn, the god Pan makes himself known and offers to aid our race, but only "if mankind will affirm a belief in us and ask for our help." Could it be that the whole UFO phenomenon is a plot by the nature forces under the command of Pan, to take back the earth? During an encounter between Ogilvie Crombie of Findhorn, and the Elf King Crombie was told: "We will do nothing to hurt you, but if man acts to destroy, do not blame us if we play tricks." Could UFOs be one of these tricks? I think they could well be. What do your readers say to this?

Carol Rodriguez
New York, N.Y.

Editor's Note: Sounds a little far fetched to me, but Jacques Vallee seems to go along with your theory, Carol. His book "Passport to Magonia" ties in UFOs and fairies. Readers interested in this theory might want to purchase this book which we have in stock for $5.95 plus $1 postage and handling.

I read with a great deal of interest your article in the premier issue of UFO REVIEW, about the Mexican doctor who supposedly examined a live space alien. Apparently you were not at liberty to divulge the physician's identity, but I thought your readers might be interested in knowing that the doctor, whose name is Dr. Leopoldo Diaz, a graduate of the University of Guadalajara Medical School, and in private practice for over 23 years, recently appeared on a radio program broadcast over station WOAI in San Antonio. On the Michael Packer talk show, Dr. Diaz revealed that the mysterious stranger walked into his office one afternoon and requested a complete examination to prove he was "from another world" which the visitor would only say was located "beyond our sun."

Apparently, the alien spent considerable time discussing the poor ecological condition of earth and said that if we fully understood the principles of electricity we would be able to utilize this force and generate all the energy we need. Like other contactees in the past, Dr. Diaz was warned that mankind is misusing the atom and that if we don't heed their warnings, the end of our civilization could be near. The space being continued by telling the doctor that UFOs are walking around our planet this very moment, and they are attempting to stop us from destroying ourselves. Apparently, Diaz, who is an executive director at a very large Mexican hospital was also informed that there are really not nine but 12 planets in our solar system. There was also a lot of abstract information given about creation, religion and God. I look forward to future issues of UFO REVIEW with eager anticipation and want you to know that I feel you show signs of doing a fine job.

The UFO in this picture was accidentally "captured" on the negative of nationally-known outdoor writer V. Lee Oertle in Utah. The two hunters only appear to be watching it. Actually, they are studying the terrain while looking for deer. The object had to be traveling at tremendous speed. It covered almost the whole arc of the sky during the 1/250 second shutter speed. Picture was taken in October 1965 on a 9,000 foot plateau above Clear Creek Canyon, Utah. Camera: Rollei-flex 3.5 Film: Professional Plus-X at f11 and 1/250 second. Late afternoon, looking east. Photographer Oertle remembers seeing what he thought was a vapor trail in viewfinder, forgot the incident until processing the film some time later. Photo copyright by V. Lee Oertle, Beaver, Utah.

government is able (or willing) to answer is — was there a secret warning embodied in the tune which for some unknown reason filled the cabin of Walter Schirra, Jr.'s Apollo 7. The melody was remarkably close to the old ballad "Fools Rush In Where Angels Fear To Tread." The one thing which is certain is that the song was neither being transmitted from the ground nor from Apollo 7 itself.

On Apollo 11, the sounds resembled those of fire engines and caused Mission Control to query, "You sure you don't have anybody else in there with you?" The question, posed on July 22nd, went unanswered by the crew.

The very next day at 1030 hours the strange sounds began again. This time they resembled a train whistle and the labored chugging of a steam locomotive. NASA could not locate the source and made a joke of the fact by asking astronaut Buzz Aldren whether he might be exercising too violently. Instead of an answer, NASA's headphones were filled by other whistles and squawks which made auditing conversations extremely difficult.

BEAMING IN ON EARTH

Whether it was Asteroq's warning to the British television viewers, the red-necked message taped in Lumberton, N.C., the experience of the Calvert, Tex., ham radio operator, the Cincinnati visitation of a being which invaded CB channels or the more sophisticated incursions into the space and satellite programs, there is no denying that the evidence is all around us that our airwaves are being jammed at will by something or somebody, who feels the time has come to communicate with us.

While the official line from government spokesmen remains, as it always has in the past, that such happenings are elaborately contrived hoaxes, the truth cannot be denied.

Federal law has been violated again and again. Using the most ultra-modern devices in their arsenal against piracy of the airwaves, federal officials have not been able to break one case. There have been no convictions. There have been no arrests. There aren't even any viable suspects.

Until there are, those in charge are going to have to come up with a better explanation than the tired old bromide, "It's just malicious mischief."

long years to its study, I am convinced that the UFO phenomena is real and not the creation of disturbed minds, and that it has both grave and important implications to science as well as for the political and social well-being of the people of this earth."

In his closing remarks Hynek commented that he was not about to take a firm stand as to what the phenomena actually represents. That while UFOs might truly be interplanetary, scientific evidence is still lacking to prove this or any other theory. "The UFO phenomena indicates the action of some form of intelligence, but whether it is truly extraterrestrial or bespeaks a higher reality not yet recognized by science, or even if it means some strange psychic manifestation of our own intelligence, is still the question."

THE CULTURAL IMPLICATIONS

During a break in the proceedings, Dr. Jacques Vallee spoke to UFO REVIEW about the type of cases he finds of special interest. "I find those incidents which effect the lives of ordinary individuals to be the most fascinating. I'm not particularly interested in published cases, but in those incidents that go totally unreported in the media. I keep a close watch on those individuals who have reported their encounters to me to see what happens to them after their initial experience."

Born in France, Vallee holds a Master's Degree in astrophysics and a Ph.D in computer science. A Jules Verne prize winner for his first science fiction novel in French, Vallee has authored four serious books on UFOs.

THEY KNEW TOO MUCH ABOUT FLYING SAUCERS

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCES

During 1977, more than 51,000 persons in the continental United States and Hawaii vanished without a trace, either on their way to or from the office, supermarket, while out walking their dog, or taking the laundry in off the clothesline.

Although approximately 23,000, mainly composed of juvenile runaways, were located or apprehended, a whopping 18,000 cases, representing 55%, were never solved — this according to Marvin Jeffreys, a spokesman for the National Law Enforcement Institute.

An independent study of this data by one enforcement official we are in regular correspondence with suggests an amazing theory that UFOs may be directly responsible for many of these startling disappearances.

"It's still only a theory — but one worth a great deal of study. My own independent research findings indicate that these disappearances escalate sharply during months when UFO waves or 'flaps' are reported," the police captain from a large metropolitan city disclosed in a recent letter, asking that his identity be withheld.

Rightfully, the lawman pointed out that modern police detection methods are constantly improving, and that each year the percentages of closed cases are rising. "However, statistics prove that law enforcement officials do a much better job of solving crimes than they do disappearances.

"I'm not saying that 'flying saucers' kidnapped all these people, but I don't believe that any possibility, ordinary or fantastic, should be overlooked."

Our correspondent sketched the Travis Walton case briefly, delving deeper into his theory. "Walton, foreman of a team of forestry workers, disappeared for almost a week during 1975 after fellow workmen saw him knocked down by a blinding light from a UFO. When the fleeing men got the courage to return, Walton had disappeared. An intensive search and investigation, aided, it is rumored, by federal officers, failed to find any trace of Walton, until he suddenly reappeared. Walton claimed the UFO occupants abducted him, subjected him to medical examinations, and then released him voluntarily. Had they not done so, Walton might have joined the plus-16,000 vanished persons who were never found during 1975," the law enforcement official brought out.

"A number of such abductions have been reported by their victims. These cases have been solved by the victims themselves. There is reason to suspect that many of the unsolved cases might involve kidnappings by UFO occupants who did not allow their victims to return."

I, as a writer, have purposefully dwelt on these statistics by a noted crime authority so that you, the reader, will not immediately dismiss a UFO landing incident case I will now relate and which is high on the list of the most fantastic cases I have ever reported. It indicates that a national public figure, who disappeared suddenly, more than a year ago, may have been the victim of a UFO kidnapping by beings other than terrestrial persons who may have been jealous of his power.

This landing and occupant sighting was first reported by The Pelham Journal, a conservative and reliable Mitchell County weekly in southwest Georgia. Other than being mentioned in a column by Glenn Eberhardt, managing editor of The Sun, published in Warner Robins, Ga., it has been neglected by the national news media and UFO investigators in general.

BIZARRE ENCOUNTER

On August 6, 1977, Tom Dawson, a 63-year-old retired automobile dealer, was making routine rounds of his small farm, when he noticed a brilliant flash of light. Abruptly a strange circular-shaped machine descended in front of him, and hovered two feet off the ground.

Dawson experienced an immediate impulse to run but found he could not move a muscle. In fact, he was completely paralyzed, except for his internal functions. Incredibly the nearby cattle and "Old John," his dog, were similarly affected as they stood frozen in what appeared to him "like a still picture."

The craft continued hovering just above the ground while he observed its few features. It appeared to be about 30 feet in diameter, was disc-shaped with a bulge in the center, and he described it traditionally as "like two saucers stuck together." A row of small ports, about six inches in diameter, ran about the outer rim and he could see a brilliant light inside. A small protrusion on one end reminded him of an antenna.

But his observation of the craft was soon interrupted by a new and even more frightening development. A hatch opened and five strange looking beings immediately jumped to the ground. Three of them were men, and two were women — their genders he was certain of because one each of the men and women was completely nude, and he also noted, completely hairless.

Although the others were dressed completely alike in what he termed "beautiful clothing," he could still determine their sexes from the general build of their bodies. Their two-piece outfits were made of shimmering material that changed in bluish-green hues as light reflected upon them, and they reminded him of uniforms, with neither masculine nor feminine identification. Their shoes, different from their uniforms, seemed to be made of silk material, and the toes of the shoes turned upward.

Dawson further described the occupants: "Their skin was white as flour sacks, their noses were sharp and turned up. They had pointed ears and their heads were sitting right on their shoulders."

The first one, appearing to be the leader, had stepped onto the ground as though testing, and then motioned to the others to follow. At that point two more men came from the craft's hatch and took positions at the entrance, appearing to be guards. The two women followed.

The last person emerging from the craft carried a contraption which reminded him of a hula hoop. It was connected to a kind of skull cap by a series of cords. The hoop contained dials from which they took readings after placing the cap on his head. At the same time they proceeded to remove his trousers and lift his shirt over his head as he stood in his helpless,

"frozen" condition. They next attached small suction cup devices, like rubber and of a bright orange color, to various parts of his body from his legs, upward to his chest. Throughout the bizarre examination the witness felt no pain. In fact, after they put the skull cap on him, he lost most of his fear, as if he had been given a tranquilizer.

A FAMOUS UFO KIDNAP VICTIM

At that point an even stranger development occurred. It is this part of my investigation that led me to describe this case as one of the most fantastic I have ever reported:

The occupants jerked the skull cap from his head as a loud voice suddenly emanated from the ship.

"I am Jimmy Hoffa! I am Jimmy Hoffa! Won't somebody help me! I am Jimmy Hoffa! I am..."

A fourth try at shouting his name was cut off and the voice was silenced, as though somebody had placed a hand over the victim's mouth.

The five beings hastily withdrew and walked hurriedly toward the craft, carrying the unfolded examining device with the wires and suction cups trailing behind. Then they huddled in a tight group, now and then turning their heads and looking in his direction. Once they removed the cap his fear once again returned and he became even more apprehensive as he sensed they were deciding whether they should abduct him

His neighbors say that Tom Dawson is an honest man. Yet, on August 6, 1977, this Georgian claims to have encountered both male and female UFO-nauts who put a device reminding him of a hula hoop around his head that seemed to be extracting thoughts from his brain. (Drawing by Michael Hartnett) and take him with them. But still he could not move. Fortunately they apparently decided in the negative as the huddle broke up and they seemed to half leap and half float upward into the hatch of the machine. During the conference he heard their voices, which were very high and shrill. Although they spoke some unrecognizable language, he believed that at one point he heard the distinct word, "Jupiter."

The craft began slowly moving upward at an angle until it was about 75 feet in altitude when it vanished, "with a wink," according to the witness, who at that point found he again could move. As he jerked up and secured his trousers he noted the cattle were also moving, and "Old John" began barking furiously and running in a circle around the landing spot.

I talked with Linda Kolbie, Dawson's nearest neighbor, to whose house he ran after the encounter. Ms. Kolbie told me that when he arrived he tried to relate his experience but was "too excited to talk. After a while he recovered his composure and led me to the spot where the experience took place."

The neighbor did not remember seeing any markings or other evidence where the object had landed, but testified to the reputation of Dawson.

"Mr. Dawson is a sober man and a regular church-goer. He does not even smoke or use tobacco in any form. And I am certain he would not take drugs of any kind. He says it happened to him and I believe him!"

STRANGE VISITORS POP UP

Both Dawson and Kolbie related that a small group of UFO investigators visited and examined the location. They identified themselves as MUFON (she had written it down). I thought she might have confused the group with MUFON, another UFO group, but she was certain of the last initial. She deduced it must represent a group known as the Macon UFO Club, since one of them told her he was from Macon County, Ga. She told me they took samples of the soil and made radiation readings but reported they found nothing unusual — though they would conduct further investigations on the ground samples. No members of the group wore uniforms and she presumed they were from a civilian club — though they did not appear to her to be native Georgians. "They had olive-colored skins and a foreign look. They must have been Mexicans," she believed.

Although any meeting with alien beings can be considered fantastic, naturally it was the claimed ownership of the voice inside the craft that excited me.

Months before, labor leader James Hoffa had disappeared while on a trip. Due to his importance and because his disappearance suggested murder by other persons seeking to usurp the power he still held over his union, massive federal investigations were carried out. In fact more than a million dollars in manpower and other resources were expended in the unsuccessful search for Hoffa, who was never found, either dead or alive, and in thorough investigations into the lives and actions of suspects. Although remains of a body that, due to elaborate dental work, suggested it might be Hoffa's remains, was found in October, 1977, experts who examined dental records agreed it was not his.

Naturally I asked the witness if he had ever heard Hoffa's voice on radio or television. He remembered hearing and seeing news programs about him, but said it was too long ago for him to remember if the voices were similar. He could not describe the voice emanating from the craft other than its being of average tone, though somewhat raised and pleading.

Although this report cannot definitely establish that a retired farmer heard the actual voice of Jimmy Hoffa, whose disappearance could be solved as an abduction by UFO occupants, it is difficult to discount the incident. If the voice were not that of Hoffa's, this would indicate the occupants deliberately used deception in creating the impression that the famous leader was aboard the craft. But their appearance of being startled when the voice began shouting indicates the interruption was unexpected. Immediately they cut short their examination of the witness and prepared to depart — though taking a moment or two, apparently deciding whether to abduct him also.

VITAL CLUES

This case could represent an important breakthrough in solving the UFO enigma. It could prove that not only have the occupants abducted humans whom they later freed, but also indicate that they are responsible for many if not most of the thousands of people who disappear annually. It would also represent the first revelation of the abduction of a famous person, as opposed to the ordinary people who have previously reported abductions. Maybe the UFO-nauts have previously avoided well-known persons for fear of the additional publicity their disappearances would create, and that their kidnapping of Hoffa was either a miscalculation or represented a new and bolder trend.

My own examination of the landing sight, incidentally, disclosed no unusual evidence. It is possible that the members of "MUFON," an apparent civilian group that may have been from Macon County, Ga., did collect meaningful evidence while traces were fresh, but inquiries have failed to disclose any such organization in that area. Ms. Kolbie's description of the visitors as "foreign-looking" also raises suspicions that they may not have been whom they claimed to be. Indeed, her description suggests the almost legendary "Men in Black," mysterious individuals who do not always dress in dark clothing but generally are described as olive-skinned foreigners with no definite ethnic identification. Perhaps the "investigators" may have been directly related to the UFO occupants themselves, although they appeared to be definitely human. Perhaps they made the visit to determine whether the UFO had left any definite traces or evidence that would help to identify them.

A TRUE MEANING — CAN WE FIND ONE?

Dawson said he had never been questioned by any police officers or other persons (though he had not reported the incident to the police — only to the newspaper). In fact, most people hearing of the incident laughed about it and didn't believe him, he said — and he preferred to forget about it.

And the UFO occupants could have planned it that way. The voice of "Jimmy Hoffa" could have been that of an imposter, or an actual voice recording taken from their monitorings of radio and TV broadcasts. It could have been a "red herring" inserted to create disbelief because of its bizarre import.

Or, somewhere on some other planet, or in some other incredible dimension, James Hoffa, for some inexplicable reason, may still be a captive of the "saucer" occupants, still hoping that his fitful cries for rescue may be heeded.

THE MYSTERIOUS "SKYSTONE"

On the evening of July 19, 1952, radar operators at the Washington National Airport spotted strange targets on their scopes. Soon they realized the National Capital had been invaded by a huge squadron of UFOs. The military ordered jets to intercept, and clamped down a national hush-up. Even Capt. Edward Ruppelt, head of the Air Force Project Bluebook was not allowed to investigate and was rudely sent home when he arrived in Washington. When the news leaked to the press, the Government "explained the incident as a "temperature inversion."

If you are a serious UFO student you know all this already. But here is something you may not know:

Early the next morning, a caretaker on the estate of Commander Alvin E. Moore, near Herndon, noticed something very peculiar—branches of trees had been damaged, and then he spied a gaping hole directly beneath the damaged limbs, which exuded a sulphurous odor. He ran to get his employer, who had not yet left for the Technical Information Branch of the Bureau of Aeronautics in Washington where he was division head.

The caretaker and Cmdr. Moore carefully exhumed a still-warm and obviously manufactured object. The old-line Naval officer whistled as he realized the thing could not be a meteorite, and was obviously a manufactured object—for it had three machined sides and a fourth that appeared to have broken off. As he carried the object back to his house his brow pinched in puzzlement, for his years of technical experience in aeronautics told him this was not from an aircraft — indeed, he had the impression that the thing was from out of this world!

The national Bureau of Standards analyzed the object which Cmdr. Moore had nick-named "the Skystone," and reported it was not of natural origin. Next he submitted the cylinder to Project Bluebook, then loaned it to a Canadian intelligence officer attached to the CIA who had it analyzed by Canada's Project Magnet, directed by the late Wilbert Smith. Both agencies expressed puzzlement about its origin.

Cmdr. Alvin E. Moore is no crackpot. Previous to the fall of the object which changed his life, he had chalked up an impressive career. Education at the U.S. Naval Academy, the American University, George Washington Law School, John Marshall Law School of Atlanta, etc., he held nearly enough credits for the Ph.D. degree. As a line officer of the U.S. Navy, he had specialized in aeronautical engineering, was patent engineer and attorney for the Von Braun team of space scientists at Huntsville, Alabama. He has also been a CIA intelligence operative, and while with the agency became impressed with UFO reports, noting the interest the CIA seemed to take in them.

THE SKYSTONE "DISAPPEARS"

At the time of the Skystone's crash he was not with the CIA, but in 1953 he returned to that intelligence agency where he became an operative in the Scientific Intelligence Dept. During his previous tenure there he had been told to mind his own business when he proposed a UFO research project, so he was surprised when the CIA's director of Scientific Intelligence asked him if he could have the cylinder analyzed. The official returned it a week later without comment, and in the CIA he had learned to mind his own business and didn't ask about the results. He returned the Skystone to his office safe where he had stored it since its return from Canada.

Two weeks later he opened the safe and found the cylinder was gone! Shocked and dismayed, he lamented the disappearance of what was possibly the greatest find in the history of space science!

Knowing that nobody except himself and security officers had the combination to the safe, Cmdr. Moore realized the object had been confiscated by CIA personnel. He never saw it again. Two small samples the Bureau of Standards had chipped off remained in his possession, but these were later swept away in a hurricane.

SECRET DIARY

But all was not lost. Over the years Cmdr. Moore kept a secret diary known only to himself and his wife. It contained a meticulous record of the Skystone, other mysterious incidents, his private investigation of UFO reports and Government attitudes about UFOs. After retiring to his estate in Mississippi, he spent many years editing these papers and recording his own theories about UFO origin and purposes.

It is impossible to outline all of Cmdr. Moore's theories in this column. I am very intrigued by what he has to say. I have read the "secret diary" which has been worked into a very large sized book and have arranged for its printing and limited distribution. Briefly, Cmdr. Moore, along with Charles Fort, the late Ray Palmer and Dr. M.K. Jessup, theorized that the UFOs exist in mysterious "sky islands" much closer to the earth than we believe. The Government, he says, is suppressing this secret, partly to prevent mass panic. For some of the more negative "Skymen" cause fires, explosions, aircraft crashes, train, auto and ship wrecks; diseases, wounds, burns and killings. Although some of the Skymen do little harm, all of them are exploiting the earth in an effort to repair their Sky Islands, damaged by radiation from our atomic tests.

DERO AND MIB
These are, indeed, "radical" theories, and they are guaranteed to cause controversy among UFO students. Especially when Moore describes a demonic group of Skymen (the Dero of Shave lore?) who commit kidnappings. Some of them give contactees misleading stories, while avoiding contact with scientists and world leaders who might see through them. Their Men-In-Black operatives steal and recover wrecked UFO

FORMER C.I.A. OPERATIVE REVEALS GOVERNMENT HOLDING PHYSICAL EVIDENCE OF CRASHED UFOs! Who are the Men In Black, and why do they silence UFO researchers and witnesses? Is this because a well-kept secret may be revealed — that the flying saucers and the beings who fly them live on "Sky-Islands" much closer to our Earth than we think? What did the Atomic Bomb have to do with the appearance of "space" craft? Did they blow up their "saucer" sanctuaries? Do the UFO occupants mean to do us harm? This landmark book in the field of UFOlogy is recommended only for the most serious minds studying this phenomena. Do not order if you cannot take "strong medicine."

vehicles or their fragments. These MIB also frighten and harass UFO witnesses and hush them up. Moore believes that they silence some of these witnesses by killing them!

Although I don't personally agree with every theory Cmdr. Moore advances, my years of experience have given me a keen perception to recongize an important contribution to UFO research. And when I saw Moore's lengthy manuscript adapted from his secret diary, I knew I had to publish it. Although it was so massive in content that it might "turn off" the casual reader, for the first time in my publishing experience I refused to edit it or to change a single word.

Eventually, because of it's size (over 200 giant 8 1/2 x 11 pages, packed tightly with information) this book will have to sell for at least $25.00. However, I am setting the initial price at $15.00 so that readers of my Chasing The Flying Saucers column can purchase a copy at a greatly reduced price since I do consider them loyal "fans" and fellow researchers. UFO REVIEW readers can address their orders directly to this publication at 303 Fifth Avenue (Suite 1306), N.Y., N.Y. 10016. Copies will be mailed sometime in January or early February, as soon as the massive binding job has been completed.

U.N. CONFERENCE

in attendance in Conference Room Four, Vallee stated that there is plenty of physical data to prove the reality of UFOs and that the phenomena has had an increasing effect on the lives of more and more people around the world, and that in some instances UFOs could be studied with already existing scientific equipment. However, Vallee also said that there is another little understood aspect of the UFO phenomena that is "psycho-psychological" in nature. "Witnesses at the scene of a UFO encounter have often exhibited disorientation symptoms, loss of the sense of time, partial paralysis or loss of voluntary muscle control, auditory and visual hallucinations, and temporary blindness. Then there are the long term effects such as disturbance of sleep and dream patterns and radical behavior changes."

A WITNESS TESTIFIES

Perhaps the most controversial moment of the entire conference was when Col. Larry Coyne took the floor to tell about his first-hand encounter with a UFO over Mansfield, Ohio.

One of the best documented cases ever to take place was when Coyne was piloting a U.S. Army utility helicopter on October 18, 1973, when he and his three-man crew came in close proximity to a blinding light that caused his military craft to stall and plunge toward the earth. It was only at the last moment, that the copter mysteriously lifted 3,000 feet straight up in the air, thus saving the lives of all on board.

Because he is still in the service, Col. Coyne had to receive special permission from his superiors to appear before the U.N. And while he received permission apparently without any trouble, the U.S. delegation leaked to the press the news that it would not vote favorably for the resolution put before the committee just because Col. Coyne had been allowed to speak.

In an emotional tone of voice, Col. Coyne told of his narrow escape from death and of how the radio in the helicopter went dead for the duration of the encounter.

"No noticeable wings or landing gear were observed," Coyne reflected to a committee hall so quiet that you could hear only the occasional shuffling of paper. "No vertical or horizontal stabilizers were observed. This object demonstrated it's ability to change or maintain altitude headings and speed control. As a result of my experience I am convinced this object was real and that these types of incidents should require a complete investigation. It is my own personal opinion that worldwide procedures need to be established to study this phenomena through an international cooperative effort. The establishment of a code for aircraft flying worldwide is needed to identify to ground control that a pilot is indeed experiencing a UFO phenomena. I believe that pilot anxiety can be reduced in this way to provide safe, effective flying, knowing that he is under radar control."

The only actual witness to appear before the U.N., the delegates seemed to be visibly impressed with Col. Coyne's sincerity. At this point, astronaut Gordon Cooper was scheduled to appear. However, last-minute commitments prevented him from flying to New York and so a representative of Grenada read a letter Cooper had written especially for the committee members, the text of which is reproduced elsewhere.

AN EARTHLY VIEW

"The most important thing we can all recognize today is something that is obvious once one accepts UFO reality. Indeed, all of us in this room have something in common. We tend to forget it with all the differences we have - but, we're all Earthlings! That's an important thing to remember. After 20 years of investigation, I'm convinced that the evidence is overwhelming that our planet is being visited by intelligent

The highlight of the U.N. conference on UFOs was helicopter pilot Col. Coyne's address to the delegates concerning his own narrow escape from death at the hands of an unearthly force which nearly knocked his aircraft out of the sky.

ASTRONAUT GORDON COOPER'S MESSAGE TO THE U.N.

"I believe that these extraterrestrial vehicles and their crews are visiting this planet from other planets which are a little more technically advanced than we are on earth. I feel that we need to have a top level, coordinated program to scientifically collect and analyze data from all over the earth concerning any type of encounter and to determine how best to interfere with these visitors in a friendly fashion.

"We may first have to show them that we have learned how to resolve our problems by peaceful means rather than warfare before we are accepted as fully qualified universal team members. Their acceptance will have tremendous possibilities of advancing our world in all areas. Certainly then it would seem that the U.N. has a vested interest in handling the subject quickly and properly.

"I should point out that I am not an experienced UFO professional researcher. — I have not as yet had the privilege of flying a UFO nor of meeting the crew of one. However, I do feel that I am somewhat qualified to discuss them since I have been into the fringes of the vast areas in which they travel. Also, I did have occasion in 1951 to have two days of observation of many flights of them, of different sizes flying in fighter formation, generally from east to west over Europe. They were at a higher altitude than we could reach with our jet fighters of that time.

"I would also like to point out that most astronauts are very reluctant to even discuss UFOs due to the great numbers of people who have indiscriminately sold fake stories and fraudulent documents abusing their names and reputations without hesitation. Those few astronauts who have continued to have a participation in the UFO field have had to do so very cautiously. There are several of us who do believe in UFOs and who have had occasion to see a UFO on the ground or from an airplane. There was only one occasion from space which may have been a UFO

"If the U.N. agrees to pursue this project and lend the credibility to it, perhaps many more well qualified people will agree to step forth and provide help and information."

U.N. CONFERENCE

controlled vehicles from off the earth. In other words, some UFOs are somebody else's spacecraft."

With these words, nuclear physicist Stanton Friedman began his address to the special U.S. committee. Relying heavily on physical evidence, Friedman reported on "trace cases" where impressions have been left behind on the ground after a UFO has landed. He reminded the delegates that there has also been independent confirmation of many sightings in the form of radar tracking. Unknowns in the air while witnesses on the ground watch the maneuvers of strange craft overhead. "The ability to move back and forth, or up and down at thousands of miles an hour, the ability to make right angle turns, and the fact that they have no wings or tails — all of this together says they were made somewhere else!"

Addressing himself to the question of why they are coming here, Friedman points out that within a hundred years, "no time at all on a cosmic scale," earthlings will be going to the stars. "If we make one assumption, that is that any advanced civilization is concerned about its own survival and security, we would certainly expect them to keep tabs on other civilizations just beginning space travel, so that there will be no 'surprises' out there. At the end of World War II with nuclear weapons, rockets, and electronics, it was clear that earthlings would be going to the stars. I think at that point we became of interest to others. It was time to get data on us and that's what they've been doing."

One of the main issues several delegates brought up was, with all the other problems facing the world today — with the concerns about peace and survival — why would anybody be seriously interested in flying saucers? "The best answer I can give is that our very survival may depend on taking an earthling orientation. The easiest way to get that orientation is to see ourselves as others must see us. From up above, coming in to planet earth, there are no boundary lines. I have found that the younger generation that was never alive when there wasn't a space program, has no great difficulty in accepting the notion of an earthling civilization. It also seems clear that aliens have found a better means to produce energy as well as solving other problems in ways that we have not yet used."

Stating his views even more concisely, Friedman said, "We need to look at things from a larger perspective, rather than from our own isolation as a very short-lived technological civilization. Perhaps most important of all, we have to recognize that the next generation will grow up in a drastically different situation than our own generation. Unless we do something to stop it, another dozen or more countries will soon have nuclear weapons, and the world will be divided into even more different groups instead of becoming an earthling civilization. I have a young child and I'd like to see her grow up into a world where we do all state our identity as earthling. Thank you."

With that the series of speeches came to an end. The delegates were expected to take a vote to see if the resolution called for by Prime Minister Gairy had enough support to pass and become a reality. However, since several delegates requested more time to think over the matter further, and perhaps make recommendations of their own, the Chairman of the special committee meeting asked that the issue be shelved until a later date and the voting be postponed.

Perhaps by the time the next issue of UFO REVIEW is published this vote will have been taken. If so, we will give the results as well as any subsequent debate which may take place between Grenada and other U.N. member nations opposing these views.
