THE SHAPE OF STRANGE THINGS TO COME

Even three years ago a newspaper like this on UFOs would never have been a success. For while there has always been an intense interest in such phenomena, it has never been as wide spread as today. As this is being written, I know of at least two major motion pictures and a TV special being prepared on the subject. There can be no denying the fact that the American public is anxious to know what the hell is going on. They are tired of being told there's nothing unusual happening above their heads, when millions have seen with their own eyes strange objects that are definitely not of this earth.

Recently it was disclosed that the CIA has within its files more than 1,000 UFO cases that they have long been sitting on. Many of these cases involved matters of national security (such as close encounters over missile bases), but most of the sightings were reported by ordinary citizens who—know it or not— were being closely watched because of their personal observations of unknown craft traveling in the sky. Why, if space ships from other planets don't exist, would a government agency go to such extremes to make as few people as possible speak about such a supposedly "crackpot" subject? The answer is quite obvious— we aren't alone in the universe; we do have visitors from outer space! Strangers who could well shape the future of our own world, tilt the balance of power in an entirely new direction altogether.

Little by little tidbits of importance are being uncovered by energetic individuals who are determined— no matter what the odds or the consequences— to get to the bottom of the UFO mystery. Up against the most aggressive opposition these bold "fact finders" are gritting their teeth and digging in.

In the last few months we have heard numerous stories pertaining to UFOs that have crashed and are said to have been placed under lock and key by our mighty military. A good percentage of these accounts are probably nothing more than "wild rumors," but some of them are probably true— where there is smoke there is usually fire! My own up-date on this very topic was presented as the lead article in the March, 1979 issue of Swank magazine, and we hope to reprint this story in the near future for those of you who didn't have the opportunity to read this blockbuster piece that calls our government agencies to task for not telling the whole truth.

Skeptics have long clamored for physical evidence. "Show me a piece of a space ship or an alien from outer space," they continually scream. Well, the article on page three may contain the "evidence" they have been asking us believers to come across with. However, I have the feeling that Philip Klass, NASA's James Oberg and the other self-proclaimed "experts" who are out to debunk the field, will not even look twice at what John Peele has to offer. They will close their eyes and turn their heads the other way, still ranting and raving to throw us as far off the track as possible.

UFOs are of great importance to everybody. Those who aren't afraid to open their minds and read UFO REVIEW know what the many implications are. We may be "off-beat" to some. Alien artifact uncovered from UFO crash site

By Timothy Green Beckley

While the rest of the nation was experiencing a cold snap that sent temperatures plunging well below freezing, Orlando was registering temperatures of 80 degrees, making it the warmest city anywhere in the entire country. I had already been in Florida for more than a week making appearances on various TV and radio talk shows promoting UFO REVIEW. While back in New York before venturing South after Christmas, I had received an urgent call from Karen Alt, a UFO REVIEW correspondent who has covered fast-breaking UFO stories in the past. This time her conversation had centered around an unusual "artifact" supposedly found at the site of a UFO crash. She had heard a remarkable story from a student attending Seminole Community College in nearby Sanford, where she works as a secretary. Realizing that UFO skeptics such as Philip Klass and NASA's James Oberg are always clamoring for "physical evidence," Karen was understandably excited over what she thought might be an important breakthrough in the field. She wanted to know if I'd be willing to talk with the person who owned the artifact and get the inside scoop.

Naturally, I was fascinated. However, I was determined to make certain this wasn't some type of crude hoax. After all, if this was the "real McCoy" and not a fraud, UFOlogists would at long last have something concrete to rub in the noses of the non-believers.

A three decades-long search for physical evidence that would conclusively prove that flying saucers are "somebody else's spacecraft," may have recently reached an exciting climax with the discovery of actual "hardware" from a crashed UFO.

This important discovery was made in late 1977 by an Orlando, Florida, health food store owner when jogging across the United States. While he was unable to carry all of what he found back across country with him, John Peele now has in his possession what he maintains is a glove once worn by an alien astronaut that crashed to Earth. Moreover, the owner of this glove — a glove that is far too small for any earthly pilot to wear — is confident that the entire craft which brought the alien to our planet is still under the sifting sands just waiting to be retrieved at some future date.

A firm believer in physical fitness, John Peele and his wife, Nancy, exercise daily and have adopted a strict vegetarian diet. In order to promote their particular life style, the couple along with their young son and a close friend, ran some 3,100 miles to call attention to the fact that jogging is healthy for the body and a perfect way to get (and remain) in shape.

They began their adventure over the 1977 Labor Day weekend, leaving Daytona, Florida, and heading West. Their 91-day run took them through both large and small towns as well as along shores, through steaming deserts and over mountainous terrain.

For the most part, the weather was nearly perfect, making it possible for John to cover an appropriate distance during the daylight hours. Later, just before sunset, John and his jogging partner would join up with Nancy Peele and their son, who were driving ahead in a camper-van.

"We were preparing to leave El Centro, California, when a bad wind storm came up, toppling cars and semi's along I-10." John Peele began his extensive narrative as we sat in the living room of his nicely furnished, Spanish-style townhouse. "The wind was blowing upwards to 125 miles per hour and so we knew it would be foolish to think we could get any further that day."

By the next morning, however, the sky had cleared and the day promised to be near excellent for jogging. "We had headed out over the desert through the town of Ocotillo, a stone's throw from the Mexican border. The road we were running on quickly came to an end and we soon started to cross what appeared to be an old, dried up river bed. Around the next bend was a railroad trestle that was almost totally demolished."

John admits that he isn't sure just how old the trestle was, or what a railroad was doing in this particular location. "The rails didn't look as if they were particularly old — they weren't rusty or anything — but, the desert does tend to be deceiving, and the lack of rain in the area could have kept them looking relatively new, when, in reality, they might have dated back many years."

Keeping a slower than normal pace, John and his companion tried to run along the tracks. But the rails would buckle up and down in the desert making it difficult to jog without spraining an ankle in the twisted metal.

Leaving the track they headed toward a mountain peak that loomed in the distance. At this point, John admits to feeling something "very odd" in the air. Suddenly, they were confronted by what appeared to be an aerial wreck of some sort.

"There, jutting up out of the desert, were several large pieces of what resembled plexiglass." Having been an army helicopter pilot stationed in Viet-Nam for over a year, John was positive they could not have been pieces from the windshield of a crashed Army or Air Force vehicle.

"First off, the material was a deep royal blue," not the color used in military windshields." John explained that to his knowledge, Phantom and Cobra helicopters use plexiglass that is tinted light blue toward the top of the windshield to block out the harsh rays of the sun. "But this was much too dark to see through," he continued. The largest piece of this strange royal blue glass measured some two square feet. "There were many other smaller pieces of two or three inches in diameter laying all over the place."

A little further on, something else on the ground caught his eye. "There was all this lightweight metal that felt similar to aluminum except that it was smooth on one side, honeycombed on the other and when I tried to bend it the metal wouldn't give."

Realizing that he had probably come across something highly unusual, John picked up several of the smaller pieces and put them into his pocket for safekeeping.

Yet this was not all he was to find. For there on the ground not far away was a glove not totally unlike the pressurized gloves that are worn by our high altitude test pilots and astronauts. What made John do a double-take was the fact that this pressurized glove was in miniature form as if it had been made for a child. Of course, children do not pilot high altitude planes, nor does the government allow individuals under a certain size to join the service, ruling out that the glove might have been manufactured for a midget.

Only a few feet away was a second glove, this one having apparently been burned in a crash. It was not in perfect condition like the other glove, having obviously been badly scorched by extreme heat.

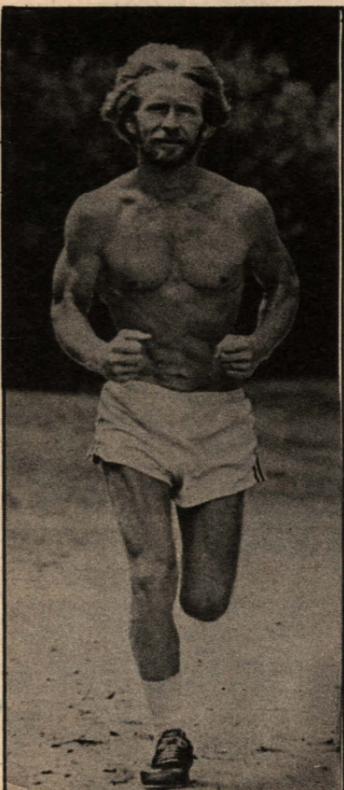

While John held an intense curiosity about what he had found, his jogging partner did not share the same sense of discovery.

"You'd better drop that thing," he warned. "If it's radioactive, your hand will fall off!"

Disturbed over what he considered to be a distinct possibility at the time, and realizing that they had already far too much to carry, John took the good glove along with some pieces of the strange blue glass as well as the aluminum-like metal and buried them.

"I found a natural cave under some rocks and placed everything carefully inside expecting to return shortly and reclaim my findings. Luckily, at the last minute, I decided to take the partly burned glove along with me as I thought it might be relatively safe compared to the glove that was in perfect condition."

John placed markers around the area where he hid the items so that the exact spot would be known to him when he returned in the future. However, when he tried to reclaim his discovery, a peculiar storm came up sending him scurrying out of the desert for safety.

"We were driving back after the last leg of our run. With my wife Nancy at the wheel, my jogging companion and my son in the back of the van, I joked about how when we got back to the cave there would probably be an alien guarding the spot.

"All of a sudden a tremendous storm came up out of nowhere. The sky turned pitch black as if it were in the middle of the night. Later, we talked to local residents who told us they couldn't remember the last time it stormed in this part of the desert."

As hard as it might be for him to accept, John can't help feeling that "cosmic forces were at work," preventing him from returning to reclaim the good glove and the other artifacts. "I'm positive that it's still where I put it and I can't help but believe that the remains of an entire space ship that crashed is buried in the desert nearby." If this is the case, then this would definitely prove the validity of UFOs and would be the clincher in proving that alien beings are coming to Earth on a regular basis. In addition, being that the gloves have five fingers, this would indicate that their wearer was a humanoid similar to our own race of Homo Sapiens; except that they are probably smaller in stature, a factor often reported in the sighting of UFO occupants.

The return trip to Florida was uneventful, although John couldn't get over the nagging feeling that his discovery was earth shaking in its implications. In Healing Waters, Arizona, the party got additional confirmation that we are not the only individuals capable of flight.

"Overhead, late one night," Nancy Peele told UFO REVIEW, "we saw an object as bright as a streetlamp zipping back and forth across the darkened sky. I watched it for over 35 minutes through the windshield of our van and I was amazed at the way it would move from one part of the star-filled heavens to another and then drop down before eventually shooting straight up into space."

Arriving back in the Orlando area, John remained excited over the one glove he still had with him. And while he never advertised that he owned such a strange artifact, he sealed the partially burned glove in a transparent bag and kept it under the counter of his newly opened 21st Century Health Food Store located in Winter Park. From time to time he would show it to customers who would usually walk off after examining it, nodding their heads in total wonderment.

One of the things that was immediately noticed was the manner in which the glove was stitched. "It was double stitched unlike anything of the type our military makes. Also, the stitching had not shrunk despite the fact that it had quite obviously been exposed to a high temperature." Also, it was ascertained that the zipper of the glove seemed to zip from the inside, a most peculiar feature.

The glove appears to be made out of a leather-like material and is composed of three layers that have been peeled back partially, no doubt due to the nature of the crash the wearer of the glove had to go through. The alien glove is maybe half the size of a glove worn by a normal-sized human and when compared to the size of paper money it is easy to see just how small the glove really is.

Without a doubt the strangest feature is the stamping of the word "LARGE" in English on the innermost layer of material. Almost immediately one would assume that this would rule out the glove being of extraterrestrial origin. But the fact remains that no pressurized glove of this size would ever be marked "LARGE" if it were manufactured by our military.

John has gone over all the possibilities in his mind and still comes up with a blank. "Someone suggested that the glove might have been worn by a monkey since NASA did send several monkeys into space in the early days of our space program. However, this doesn't hold water either since the thumb on a monkey is further down on its hand than the thumb on a man. Interestingly, the thumb of this glove is higher up, indicating an advanced species."

More questions pop up but few answers have been forthcoming to date regarding John Peele's discovery. Understandably, because of its potential value, the glove's owner has been very reluctant to let the glove out of his sight. "One time I allowed someone from the Martin-Marriette Company, a firm with government connections that is responsible for the manufacture of parts in our guided missile systems to take it out of the shop back to his firm to have it examined by scientists. He was convinced that I had come across something highly unusual. But once he had the glove in his hands his attitude changed. He'd promised to return it right away and now I wasn't even able to get him to come to his phone. Finally, he sent it back without any type of analysis or even a letter."

"Representatives of Rockwell International as well as NASA have privately looked at the glove and have told me that to their knowledge the glove was not manufactured by any private contractor. Each time they come back to the peculiar stitching and the location of the thumb placement on the glove."

Of course, John is well aware of the value of what he accidentally came across in the California desert, but to date he hasn't had any luck profiting from his unique discovery.

"When the movie 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind' opened in Orlando, I introduced myself to the manager of the theater telling him what I had and offering to put the glove on display in the theater for his patrons to examine in the lobby. He agreed that the artifact would be a good draw, but when I brought in the glove and showed it to him, the manager really 'freaked out' and refused to put it on exhibit. An assistant informed me later that he thought the glove would really frighten people who came in expecting to see a science fiction film."

When placed next to a twenty-dollar bill to compare size, it's plain to see that the glove was not made for any earthly astronaut.

John acknowledges that he is in no way opposed to having the glove examined by those who are competent to do so. But, on the other hand, he is quite familiar with the various ill-fated attempts to analyze what was thought to be physical evidence of a UFO that supposedly crashed in Brazil — the material under inspection having been "accidentally" washed down the drain by a scientist involved in the inquiry.

John Peele is the first to admit he isn't completely certain what the extent of his discovery may be, but he is convinced that the glove is some sort of outer space artifact and that furthermore, below the desert, outside of a small California town, are the remains of a vehicle that carried a humanoid being to this planet. Perhaps the alien itself is still among the wreckage. Maybe he escaped. But, John Peele plans to eventually go back to the "crash site" and look for himself. What he uncovers could well be the most important discovery of all time and remember, you read about it first in UFO REVIEW!

WILL YOU BE ALIVE IN 1982?

THE "SPACE BROTHERS" WANT YOU TO ESCAPE THE COMING HOLOCAUST THAT THREATENS TO DESTROY OUR WORLD...

PSYCHICS PREDICT

Psychics from the late Edgar Cayce to the modern seer, Jeane Dixon all agree that our planet is slated for "troubled times" in the next few years. With their "gifts of prophecy", these sensitives have been able to peer into the future and know that a rocky road lies ahead, that a great physical holocaust will leave terrible scars over the entire face of the earth. Land shifts will occur, whole continents will rise, while others will sink under the force of gigantic tidal waves.

SCIENCE AGREES

Seismographs on both the East and West Coasts have registered an unusually high number of earth tremors in the last few months. We are not far from total ruin. Time is running out. The cosmic clock is ticking away and we are approaching the midnight hour. Never before in history has such a large number of earthquakes been recorded around the globe. It's obvious that a widespread disaster that could spell T-H-E E-N-D for millions is going to happen within our lifetime.

NO PLACE TO HIDE

Absolutely no area will be safe! There will be no place to hide! We are powerless to avoid this worldwide catastrophe! Water will cover a good portion of the earth. Wild life will die by the score. Our rich farm lands will turn to lakes. Mighty rivers will sweep away our towns. Freak weather storms will unleash havoc with what is left of civilization. Man will turn to battling his brother in order to survive.

A WAY OUT

But a select few of us will continue on the race of homo sapiens. These individuals will be those who place their trust in a higher power. Those who survive will do so only because they heed these dire warnings and listen to an intelligence from afar.

SPACE PEOPLE PREDICT

The occupants of these technically advanced vehicles have made contact with many influential people in our own space program, claims a former astronaut. They are not here to play games. They are here to help us in this difficult crisis. Because they have developed their psychic abilities and because they are able to travel into the future, they know DOOMSDAY is just around the next bend.

CHANGE YOUR LIFE

We guarantee that this book will have a positive effect on your life. The messages contained within its 275 pages is an inspiring one. It is not for everyone, but it is definitely for YOU, the New Age thinker, UFO skywatcher and those who are psychically "tuned in." It's written in plain English (there are no secret codes to uncrack), and approaches the subject of UFOs and the philosophy of our Space Brothers on a level all can understand as well as apply to our everyday lives.

OFFER OF HELP

Since they are truly our "Space Brothers," and recognize the fact that we are the creator's children, (just like themselves), they want to offer aid and assistance in any way possible. The UFOnuts say that if we will only listen and take their advice that many of us can survive and go on to live in a glorious Golden Age, an age that has not existed on Earth since the days of Atlantis.

HEALTH, HAPPINESS & ABUNDANCE

There will be no wars. Diseases such as cancer and heart trouble will be conquered, and there will be an abundance of natural resources. Those who are alive today can make it through the next few years and literally live forever in a society that is totally free of the problems that currently plague mankind.

YOUR PART IN THE SPACE PEOPLES' PLAN

According to Arthur Shuttlewood who has written an encouraging new book, UFO PROPHECY, your part in the Space Peoples' plan is very important. We must all work toward one goal - making the reality of UFOs as widely known as possible. Everyone reading these words are - the aliens realize - open minded enough to heed these dire warnings and work to change the course of history.

In effect, the Space People have a plan for each and every one of us, and the noted British journalist who started out as a UFO skeptic, and later had his life changed after many personal encounters of the third kind, wants to share the knowledge of these higher beings and what they have taught him, with you.

A CHANNEL FOR SPACE INTELLIGENCE

Robert E. "Bob" Short has probably had more close encounters with UFOs and their occupants than any other man alive today. The California-based contactee has been receiving messages from UFO entities for more than 25 years. Said a friend, "Bob draws UFOs like a bowl of jam draws flies."

This is no exaggeration. During lectures held over the last 14 years in various cities across the United States, Short's presence has somehow triggered valid sightings.

Says Bob (as he prefers to be called), "I'm considered a channel for space intelligence. They (living beings in outer space) communicate with me through my voice box, giving information concerning world trends in the fields of geology, meteorology, politics, and so on."

These sightings are usually mind boggling. One eyewitness, a man in his early forties, describes an incident which took place during an outdoor UFO conference in California on October 14, 1967:

"At about 8 P.M. (Saturday), after most people had left the convention or were inside their trailers or in a nearby restaurant, a group of about 75 people had gathered outside in a circle to hear Bob Short channel messages from the pilots of UFOs.

"While a few people from the group were introduced and short talks given, a large, pulsating reddish-orange object flew silently overhead and remained in view for a good two minutes.

"About a quarter of an hour later, after Bob had explained to the group how his type of channeling was accomplished, he entered what appeared to be a semi-trance state under control of some external intelligence.

"Just after the beginning of the transmission, with the words, 'Message to follow,' two more objects (like the previous one) came into view and silently flew very low overhead (perhaps 500 to 1,000 feet), just as these words were being dramatically transmitted through Bob:

"Greetings to the people of Earth, people who are at this moment watching these objects over this area. I am called K—. I am a representative for the planet you people of Earth call Jupiter. We are, at present, in your location, azimuth 13 degrees, three of your miles to the North and East. We have released our space craft into your area. We are on a larger craft which you people choose to call a Mothership, and which we call Klactas. We have the following information for the people of your planet at this time."

ACCURATE PREDICTIONS

The "following information" centered on predictions of earthquakes in Alaska, Peru and Nicaragua. Years later, all of them occurred.

Short, who is founder of the Solar Space Foundation of Joshua Tree, California, is an untiring researcher of archeology, Indian cultures, customs and prophecy.

Bob's first experience with being a channel took place in 1952. A year earlier he had been experimenting with automatic writing, achieving some success. Then he heard about a man who had spoken to aliens in the desert. Bob felt compelled to find him. The man was the controversial George Van Tassel who lived in the twenty-nine Palms area and had claimed to have gone onboard a UFO that landed a hundred feet away from where he was sleeping on a sweltering night.

Eventually, the two did meet. Bob told Van Tassel about his automatic writing and about how his writings told him to find the man who spoke with space people. Van Tassel was interested. He invited Bob to stay for a session in which Van Tassel was to communicate with aliens.

"There were a lot of people present," Short remembers. "I sat in a big chair and the lights were turned off. I was ready to do my automatic writing, but my hand started to shake. Then my arm shook. My whole body started shaking and I couldn't stop it. And all of a sudden I passed out cold. When I came to, the lights were on. I thought I'd fallen asleep and I apologized.

"The people were staring at me with a strange look in their eyes," Bob recalls. "Then George Van Tassel told me I wasn't asleep, that the aliens were using my voice box to communicate with the people in the room. My wife says that just before the voice came through there were peculiar clicking noises in my throat."

STRANGE OCCURRENCES

Witnesses present during Short's channeling have claimed to see him disappear. Others say his face fades and is replaced by another. One woman painted a picture of the face she saw. Bob says it is Oara, from the planet Saturn, which is the hub of the government in our Solar System.

"I have received representatives from Venus which they call Agva, and Acva, or Uranus," says Short. "These are the English equivalents of their names."

In an interview with Bob Short, he told us that there is no way he can really be sure that the voices are legitimate. He makes a concerted effort to document the prophecies that come through, and in most cases the information will be revealed later in the news media.

Says Bob, "They have even warned of possible assassination attempts. Many times lives have been saved. As a matter of fact, witness the recent attempt on the life of Anwar 'Sadat. The conspirators were caught in Egypt. It might be assumed that Lybia had knowledge of it because they were about to invade Egypt when it happened."

To our question about the possibility that entities are in touch with the world's heads of state, Short was adamant in his belief that they are. "It's been denied, of course. But the allegation is that communication has been going on for some time."

WHY THEY ARE COMING HERE

Moving into another area of concern, we asked Bob if aliens, or space people, were here.

"Yes," he said. "I believe they walk our streets many times. If we were open to them, they would stop and talk to us."

"Can we recognize them?"

"Yes. The eyes are very peculiar. They're more hollow, or sunken, than ours, and they seem to have a strange side vision. But there are others who look something like the Indians of Peru. High cheek bones, high foreheads, almost Oriental, with swarthy skin. They seem to be ageless."

"Do they have bases?" we asked.

"Here? Yes, although they can't stay here very long because of the chemical differences in their bodies. Their bone structure is different. They don't have our boney look. And their bases are in the southeastern part of our country. There are some off our coastal shelves and perhaps some in the Bermuda Triangle.

"Look, I am in touch with them. I don't want to lose contact—and that could happen if I reveal too much, that is, be too specific about where they are."

We asked, "What would happen if we confronted one of them?"

"He wouldn't say anything," Bob says. "He'd probably just smile. If you were alone with him in an isolated area, and you were receptive... that is; meant him no harm, he might lay a whole thing on you. He might tell you about your life, what you've been doing, what you hope to do." Space aliens it seems, are very psychic.

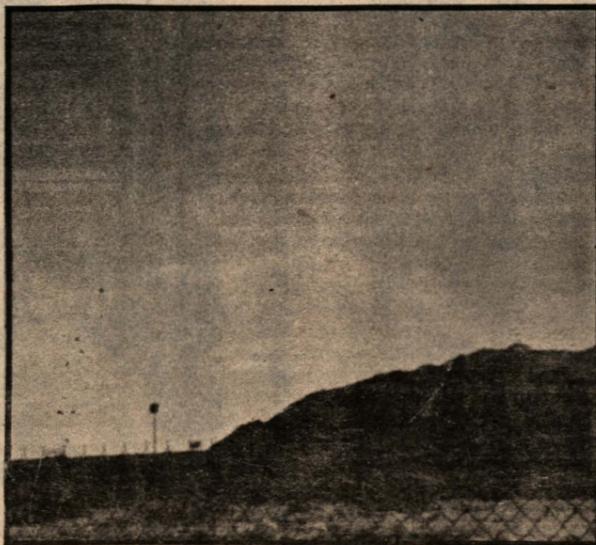

ALIENS AMONG US

Short relates a unique incident which occurred in February 1962. He was in the Ginton Restaurant in Yucca Valley with a group of people prior to a communication he was to have that evening in a desert area near Death Valley. After some time a couple came in, a man and a woman. They had to stoop over to get through the seven-foot-high door.

Diners were frightened by them because of their height,

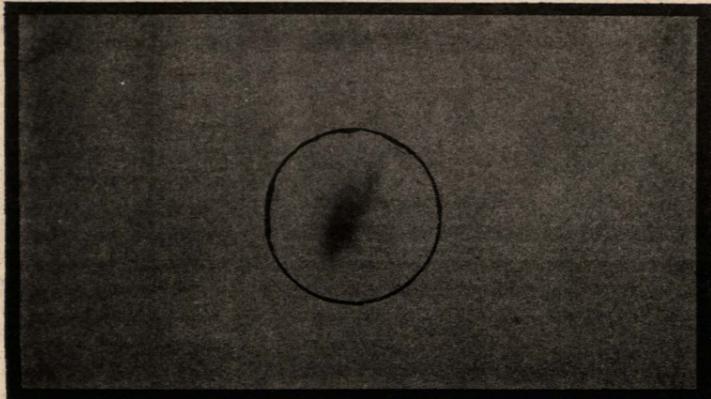

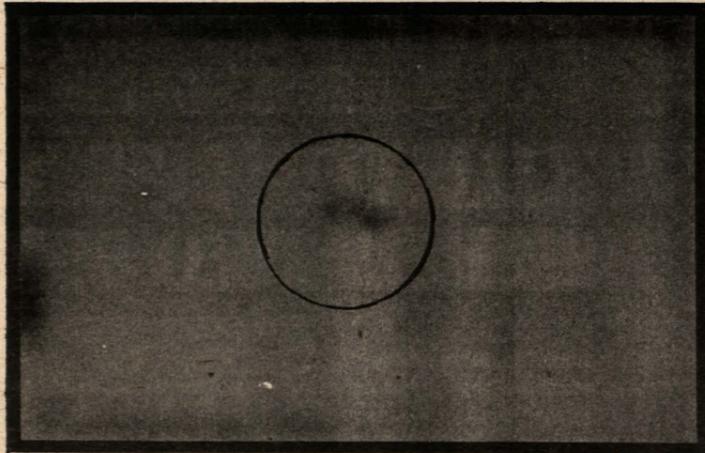

GIGANTIC SPACESHIP IN THE PROCESS OF MATERIALIZING BEHIND SOLAR SPACE FOUNDATION HEADQUARTERS

To the uninitiated observer, a UFO enveloped in an ionized force field may give the appearance of being a peculiar-looking cloud, but Bob Short maintains that these photos, which he took behind his home in the desert, in reality show an extraterrestrial vehicle entering our physical realm.

WHAT IS THAT HOVERING IN THE SKY?

EXPERTS REMAIN PUZZLED

On several occasions recently, a Charleston, S.C. man claims he has seen a bizarre object hovering in the sky near an electrical tower beneath the underside of the vehicle.

Copies of the photographs reproduced here in greatly enlarged form for the first time, have been turned over to the Air Force, and a spokesman has expressed "bewilderment" at what they depict. Taken in color, the pictures are of a saucer-shaped craft, complete with a domed top and three appendages sticking out below the ship's main body. Reddish in color, one of the photos shows a distinct "haze" around the UFO, as if the object were glowing.

Hermann, who has been subjected to a polygraph examination to verify his story, says he originally became aware of UFOs on the night of November 12th when he saw something unusual moving about in the heavens. Little more than two weeks later the UFO returned, only this time it was accompanied by a severe earth tremor which authorities acknowledged was not due to an earthquake, though the tremor did register on sensitive seismographic equipment Hermann said he was sleeping at about 9:30 A.M. when he was shaken violently. Running to the window he saw that his unexplained "visitor" had returned and was hovering not too far away over an electrical tower. He said the craft eventually began to move and he followed it in his car to the county fair grounds where "it just lifted up into the clouds and vanished."

The witness is convinced that there is a tie-in between what he observed and the quake that rocked the area.

Air Force Public Information Officer, Major Wade King, examined the photos and said if he'd seen anything like it "I might just have forgotten it."

According to reliable sources, more than two dozen responsible residents of Charleston have seen similar objects darting about during the last few months. A full investigation is continuing.

but Short said that their presence had been predicted during an earlier communication. He had been told that the entities would meet him in person. Bob felt instinctively that this was the moment.

There were plenty of seats available at the counter, yet the couple elected to occupy a table close to Bob's. He described the woman as being exceptionally beautiful, with a sort of scooped-out face. She wore no makeup. Her eyes were very pretty, wide and alert. Her nose was straight. Short said the man was handsome in a rugged sort of way, much like the Clark Gable type. He wore a moustache. His slacks were dark and he wore an Eisenhower jacket with a white shirt collar, which went all the way to his shoulders.

The man sat with his back to Bob's group, but the woman faced them and smiled often at Bob and his friends. They ordered to eat and coffee but did not touch the food. At the cash register later, the woman turned and again smiled at Bob and the others.

As soon as they went outside, Bob Short bolted from his chair and hurried out after them. He was too late. They were gone. There was nothing outside; He saw no car on the road. There was no other building they could have ducked into. It was as though they had vanished from the face of the earth.

One of Bob Short's strangest experiences deals with a pregnant woman. She had heard of Bob's reputation in the field and had come to him for two reasons. One was that she had a disorder in her tubes which the doctor had described as a tumor. The other was a contact with a couple who wanted her baby.

The woman told Short that while she was in her doctor's office in Oakland, California, a couple came in. They spoke briefly to the doctor. When he approached her, she said, he was visibly frightened. The doctor said, "There are people here who want to talk to you." He then towered it a half mile from his trailer or vice versa. The last time the craft appeared (January 22, 1978), William Hermann had his camera within easy reach and was able to snap the shutter a total of 16 times, capturing on film a whirling disc complete with what appears to be some type of landing gear visible ushered the woman and the couple into an unusual office.

According to Bob's visitor, the couple were wearing brown street clothes. The woman was pretty. She had a square nose, no makeup. The man had reddish hair, which was short and very penetrating eyes.

He did all the talking. He told the pregnant woman her life history from the moment she was born to the present. He then mentioned the child she was carrying, about how he wanted to adopt it and take it back where he came from, which was Tibet.

Bob Short frankly did not know what he could do about helping the woman keep her baby, but he did hope that the space people would cooperate with him on the matter of the disorder in the woman's tubes.

WALKING MIRACLE

"I did communicate in the woman's presence," says Bob. "They did something through me which healed her. I was nothing more than an instrument. But she had X-rays taken, later and her doctor described her as a walking miracle. There was nothing there, not even scar tissue. He was absolutely floored. She had her baby, a beautiful child, and now I understand he's very much interested in UFOs."

The inference in this business about the baby was that the woman might have copulated with an alien. However, Bob Short apparently did not know the father and therefore chose to remain silent on that aspect. In any case, the baby was not adopted by the mysterious couple who showed up at the doctor's office.

The story did prompt us to ask him if space people were concerned about us.

He said "Not in an egotistical way, but they are interested in us as a people, as decision makers, as nations. They are interested in national policies. They are interested in our sciences and are concerned about our use of them, or misuse of them. The nuclear thing holds their interest. What they want to do is correct the conditions here. Not in a covert way, but openly. Yes. It's in reference of a sort,

SPACE GIANT SEEN AS UFO'S BOMBARD GREAT BRITAIN

As the UFO wave continues all over the world, Great Britain seems to be the focal point of a great deal of flying saucer activity. Photographs have been taken, strange creatures from the unknown ends of space have been seen, and a perplexed citizenry is anxious to be told what's going on despite repeated denials that anything unusual is aloft in the skies.

Among those who will testify that England is playing host to visitors from the stars is James A. Rose, a long-time resident of Towbridge. This dedicated aerial observer has managed on several occasions to snap photographs of weird unidentified phantoms that he is convinced have absolutely nothing whatsoever to do with either military or civilian aircraft activity in the area. A 35mm SLR camera in hand, Rose is able to obtain his best photographic results at night by using high speed film with shutter speeds varying between one sixtieth and two seconds in duration. Leading British UFOlogists such as Arthur Shuttlewood have examined James Rose's negatives and found them to be "fault-free."

Many bone-chilling stories have come from the British Isles in recent months. In June 1978 a young Welsh couple and their small daughter survived an hour-long nightmare while driving along a deserted country road on the outskirts of Warminster on their way to Shaftesbury.

"We had just reached the crossroads at Longbridge Deverill when through the windshield of our automobile we noticed a huge ball of blinding light," Arthur Pusey explained. His wife, Muriel, was in the seat next to him while their young daughter was in the back. Pusey described the object as having a "white center and a bright fluorescent green outer rim." He estimated that the UFO was no more than 700 feet above the road and less than a half-mile in front of them.

The object moved swiftly to the right and passed silently from view. However, shortly thereafter the night sky was aglow with another peculiar glowing form. This time, a reddish-bodied UFO hung motionless in the heavens for several seconds and then swooped downward toward their automobile. "Again, it made no sound as it 'duck-bobbed' ahead of us. It was uncanny; just a hazy ball of light."

It was at this point that they thought they saw a dark-clad figure hunched over what seemed to be a "motor-bike" parked at the side of the road. However, it appeared the "cyclist" was wearing a helmet "of an unknown type" and "dark leggings."

Near their destination, where they were to spend a weekend with Arthur Pusey's uncle, the trio saw what appeared to be a crystal-white "satellite" riding high above the car. Arthur stopped to view it through binoculars and was astounded when it halted directly overhead, hovering and suddenly growing much bigger and brighter. "When it expanded in size," Mrs. Pusey stated, "it resembled a firework opening out into an enormous mushroom of glaring white light. It was so close that

A DIFFERENT KIND OF STRATEGY

It is generally dawning on mankind that Western Civilization is in danger of self-destruction by internal decay. Communist powers, by nibbling at its outposts, weaken it further, both by jeopardizing its overseas raw-materials supplies and by proving to the world our unwillingness to fight.

A few incurable optimists may take courage from occasional public descriptions of a brilliant future for all. Other citizens anxiously study the strategies of salvation from one danger or another that appear from time to time. But all optimistic visions based on conventional thought are misplaced, inasmuch as they disregard weaknesses inherent in our type of society. Nor should we expect any divine power to miraculously save us from structural deficiencies of our own making.

The present ad introduces Max Hermann, a former international economist who left his career about 15 years ago, to devote himself to the unraveling of a complex network of misrepresentations that he had detected in religion, philosophy, and large portions of what is generally considered science. A long-time student of preternatural phenomena, he saw keys to truth in certain revelations made from the 1880's onward by clairvoyants and trance mediums. His intellectual wanderings led him to investigate the life cycles of civilizations. He saw that the birth, evolution and death of each was controlled by religion, other ideology, and citizens' attitudes towards them. Also, that the sudden introduction of better ideology generally leads to spiritual regeneration, followed by sweeping social change. Max Hermann, in his book "To Start a New Civilization," has coordinated the above-mentioned revelations with genuine science, and combined it all into one coherent philosophy, which he considers a proper ideology for a new civilization.

In this, he may or may not be right. But it can hardly be denied that Max Hermann has evolved methods that are worthy of attention. And he has shown that if and when the ultimate ideology "catches on," it can be used for wholesale problem-solving. Eventually, it might become universal. BOB SHORT had come face to face with a space alien in October 1958. Short was impressed with the being's eyes, saying that they were penetrating, set wide apart. We induced him to give us the details.

"I had been out walking one night. I was alone," Bob started. "As I went along the road I heard a noise tell me to stop and not go any further. It was a normal voice. I thought I'd passed someone in the darkness. So I turned around to look, but no one was there.

"There was this orange-bluish light coming at me from up over the hills and my first impression was to run fast and get the hell out of there. I was sure the thing was going to hit me. But it quickly veered to my left. This light came down like a falling lead. I think it's called shipping gravity. Anyway, the light faded as it came down to the ground... then suddenly there was a blinding glare of white light, bluish white. That was when I saw the opening in the ship.

"One part of me wanted to run and the other wanted to stay to find out what was going on. Then I heard someone walking on the road and I saw a shadow coming toward me.

"He was close enough for me to touch him. And strangely, my fear was gone. In its place was a sense of well being, peace. I put my hand out to show him I was friendly. He didn't take it. Instead, he put his hand over his heart and then swept it outward. He gave me an enigmatic smile.

"He didn't open his mouth to speak, yet I heard his voice say, 'We had to come down to make an adjustment in the power of our craft. We will see you at a later time.'

"He walked back to his ship. Seconds later the thing rose about 20 feet in the air and then took off at an incredible speed.

"At first I thought it was a dream. But I figured that if it really hapened, there would be footprints. I looked for them. They were there. I followed them to where the craft had landed and they disappeared."

Short said that he had confirmation of the experience in June 1961 when a woman said she had also seen a space alien. She showed Bob a picture, she had painted of the being. "I was astounded," Bob said. "The being was the same one I'd met on that road."

After a quarter of a century of giving readings from space people, Bob Short feels that his psychic awareness has increased. It's not a quick-study thing, he says. He must feel something first, or study something, to get into it.

According to Bob, space aliens are able to give such quick readings because the information they impart comes from records, instantly available, in our Solar System. Specifically, every individual has a brain wave pattern and no two are alike. Through these brain waves, they are able to locate anyone they want almost instantaneously.

EARTH IN UPHEAVAL

"Have they given you any predictions lately?" we asked.

"Yes," Bob said. "A very important period is coming in 1980-82. A tremendous change process will begin at that time. There will be a conflagration."

"What kind of changes exactly?"

"Upheaval changes," Bob said, "but they can't be specific about. They can't give exact the widening gush of light was all around our car. We were absolutely terrified!"

Reports of humanoid creatures associated with UFOs are not particularly unusual in England. Sometime before, a tough German-born parachutist who has served in the French Foreign Legion during hostilities in Korea, Indochina and Algeria, had a close encounter that he is not likely to forget as long as he lives.

Still an active sky jumper,

Willy Gehlen frequently free falls with the Royal Marines at Dunkeswell, near Exeter, England. According to details supplied to noted UFOlogist and journalist Arthur Shuttleworth, Gehlen was driving near the village of Upton Scudamore, not more than two miles from the town of Wiltshire. It was early evening when he decided to find a suitable camp site for the night in the hopes of joining with his Royal Marine buddies the next morning.

Stated Gehlen: "As I am not a very rich man, I am quite happy to sleep anywhere there is sufficient room to curl up and be reasonably comfortable. Since I couldn't find a camping site of any description after leaving Netherwor, I drove around for miles in the darkness before finally coming to what appeared to be an isolated spot of the shoulder of the road. But the rushing roar of the traffic along the road kept me awake, and so I resolved to find a somewhat more secluded spot to retire."

Driving up a hill, Gehlen halted his car at the main highway near a gate giving entrance to a field. He did not expect anyone coming along during the night hours, wanting to get into the pasture. "It was around midnight. I laid my blanket out in the car and had fallen asleep locking the doors from the inside and leaving only one window open a crack to allow for ventilation. I don't know how long I slumbered, but suddenly I awoke feeling a bit chilly. To my amazement the back door of the car was wide open - yet I knew I had definitely secured it earlier. I banged the door hard from the inside, locked it and climbed out of the side door, walking to the rear one to make certain it was absolutely secure and unable to be opened from the outside. I fell back to sleep but not for long!"

Agitating the door was wide open. "Normally, I sleep very lightly and hear the slightest sound. But I heard no one approaching on this occasion. It was uncanny and unusual, for no one could creep up on me and catch me unaware. Jungle Warfare teaches you many lessons."

Looking at his watch, Gehlen noticed that it was approaching 3 A.M. "Feeling unsettled and a little uneasy, I decided against more sleep but to have a cup of hot coffee instead. I always carry a small gas-stove with my camping gear, and I lit the stove in the car and put on a water-filled kettle. To do so I have to leave the vehicle and open the trunk. In the night air I heard a peculiar humming noise, much like a swarm of bees in flight. Frankly, I did not pay much attention to it because I could also hear from somewhere in the distance a train rattling along a lonely railroad track."

It was while he stood looking towards the sound of the train that Gehlen became conscious of an old barn standing not ten yards away in the field on the far side of the gate where he was parked. Near the barn he caught a glimpse of someone standing by himself. "The sheer size of this person - about 6 ft. 8 ins. to 7 ft. in height made me wonder I thought it was a farmer, and I was coming from the countryside I knew that there was a bit of sheep-rustling going on. So I thought it logical that this giant farmer was merely tending his flock and guarding his animals."

Gehlen could not make out the individual's face, nor the kind of clothes he was wearing, since he was only outlined against the back street lights of a village a good mile and a half away. "I tried to speak with him, remarking that I meant to park by the gate only for this one night. I could not find a suitable camp site. If he wished to get a tractor into the field, I told him, I would be only too happy to move a few yards further up the road from the entrance. But there was to be no answer to Gehlen's politely-worded offer. "Instead, he shone a sort of square-shaped flashlight at me from his chest. The light it threw was dark orange and I thought to myself, 'He could do with some new batteries in that torch.'"

Fearing to open a line of communication, Gehlen decided to leave matters as they were, "since farmers can get really nasty when it comes to dealing with trespassers. Gehlen even received a minor shock when he placed his hand onto the iron gate to get a closer look at the tall figure. Thank goodness it was only slight, but I took my hands off that gate like a shot."

As I found the fence was gone. 'Yet I heard the odd humming noise again, and this time I saw what resembled a farmer's hen-house lifting off from the ground and vanishing into the distance. The odd thing is that the 'hen-house' was some five feet up from the soil and gave off a pulsating pink glow. 'He is going to tow his hen-house to a safe place,' I thought, although I did not hear any tractor noise and the whole operation was carried out in perfect silence."

Eventually he saw the pinkly-shining "hen-house" rising up into the air about 45 degrees, only to disappear suddenly. "I concluded it must have gone up a hill road that was invisible to my sight in the darkness of the night, so I climbed back into the car and went back to sleep, waking up to a blaze of sunshine. I gazed toward the field and

Many UFOs have been photographed above the town of Warminster. These shots were taken over Starr Hill, a frequent landing area.

So as not to use any trouble or argument, I turned away and began making my coffee and to know more notice of the big shepherd standing still and silent in the meadow. After all I was on a public road, just blocking a single gate for part of a night. If he wanted me to move away he would have to come to me."

After tending to his lowly boiling coffee, Gehlen looked up immediately noticed that there was no 45-degree hill anywhere. I myself was on top of the hill, so where on earth did that 'hen-house' go?"

Now when he talks about that night, Willy Gehlen realizes that he had perhaps the spookiest and potentially dangerous adventure of his life, and that to a parachutist who has seen all kinds of actions is admitting an awful lot!

CASE 1: ALIENS MATERIALIZE IN SHOP

Twenty-two kilometers from the capital city of Buenos Aires, Argentina, lies the village of Pedro Luro. Here, in mid-August 1978, three trustworthy individuals— Miguel Angel Carbajal, 15, Miguel Ledesma, 23, and Jose Contreras—received the shock of their lives. It was 4:40 P.M. and the three were watching television when the picture suddenly grew smaller, which happens when there is a power shortage in the area.

One part of the house had been made into a general store. Miguel Carbajal's father ran the establishment. But that day Mr. and Mrs. Carbajal were visiting relatives in the city. At the moment when the TV screen grew smaller, the three viewers heard a noise in the shop and decided to investigate.

According to Miguel Carbajal, "We found two men in the store dressed in brilliant blue, tight-fitting suits. They held something that looked like a hair dryer, but might have been a weapon."

The boy said their faces were not at all pleasant to look at. They were pockmarked. Miguel said he grabbed a cudgel to defend himself. He was frightened, and so were the other two. At this point a telepathic message was received the strange creatures indicating that they wanted to take Miguel to their craft but that no harm would come to him.

Miguel declined. In fact, he and Ledesma carried Jose Contreras (who is an invalid) out into the street and locked the doors with the aliens inside. They waited in the street for Miguel's parents to return from the city, but when they opened the store again the two space beings were gone.

This amazing incident was reported to the police but they could not find anything out of place in the shop. No OVNIS were seen after that, but weeks later, at midnight, the whole area was lit up by a glow of extreme intensity. No one saw a space craft and the source of the light is still not known. Residents, however, feel that an attempt had been made by aliens to contact Miguel. As of this writing there have been no more sightings in the village of Pedro Luro.

STRANGE UFO INVADE SOUTH AMERICA IN FLYING SAUCERS OF THE 1970s

BY DIANE

CASE 3: JUMPSUITED FIGURE WAVES TO WITNESSES

In San Luis Province on February 4, 1978, for instance, six fishermen saw a UFO in the pre-dawn sky. According to their testimony, the object landed and a tall figure dressed in a silver jumpsuit got out, waved at the men, then went back inside and the craft lifted off the ground. Arriving at the scene, police detected markings in the soft soil. They were of the creature's footprints which investigators measured as having been spaced five feet apart!

CASE 5: RACING CAR LIFTED INTO THE AIR BY UFO

One really amazing story comes from Carlos Acevedo and Angle Moya, who reside in Buenos Aires. They were driving on the flat pampas just south of the city. They were the stragglers on the final leg of a 39-day stock car race. It was 4:30 A.M., September 23. Their rearview mirror picked up a strong yellow and violet light and suddenly their Citroen CG went dead, engine and headlights turning completely off. Next, the two men felt the car being lifted from the ground. They estimated that they were 15 feet in the air and that they were flying at an incredible speed. When the UFO put them down again they were 75 miles to the north. Later it was discovered that their gas tank was empty.

My personal feelings are that Carlos and Angel are telling the truth. Neither man is given to practical jokes, and both are considered to be upstanding citizens in their community.

Is South America the favorite continent for UFOs and outer space aliens? While preparing to board the 747 at Kennedy Airport, I thought of what my boss, Tim Beckley, had said regarding the almost constant wave of UFO activity taking place throughout South America. Of course, since starting to work for UFO REVIEW almost a year ago, I've come to realize that sightings of unusual objects in the sky are quite common no matter where you happen to live. I myself had a sighting when I was much younger, and so I appreciate the fact that there is an awful lot we just don't know about this particular subject.

When I touched down in Caracas, UFOs weren't particularly on my mind—seeing the country was. But, before the first day of my visit was over, I began to realize that Venezuelans—as well as all South Americans—take their flying saucers quite seriously. I say this because the first morning I was in this lovely Latin country, I unfolded the daily newspaper and saw that UFOs were literally invading the city. On the front page of El Mundo was a breathtaking photograph taken during the wee hours just before daybreak. The photo showed a half dozen objects half the size of the full moon hovering over the main street of town. I also discovered soon enough that UFOs are called "Objetos Voladores No Identificados," or just plain OVNIS for short, and that so many people have seen them that it's hard to find anyone who hasn't had a first hand experience to talk about. Even when we traveled far from the city to the jungles, OVNIS were on the tip of just about everybody's tongue, especially when they found out that I was a UFO investigator!

What really startled me was

CASE 7: UFO IN THE RAIN

South America is truly a UFO investigator's dream. No matter where I got my information no one seemed to have a particular axe to grind nor were they seeking publicity. In Cordoba, Argentina, for example, I heard a story from a young couple who told their experience in a straightforward way and without that in Caracas there was no reluctance to talk about space craft and space aliens. There were many people from all walks of life who were willing to chat freely of their experiences without guile. Unfortunately, if I had stayed but a few days longer I personally might have been privileged to join the ranks of those living in Caracas who take UFOs so matter of factly. For during the Christmas week of 1978 there was a massive power failure throughout Venezuela which many citizens were openly attributing to these aerial strangers. A music teacher in the downtown area of Caracas was only one of several hundred persons to see a formation of peculiar-looking craft hovering above the city immediately after the lights went out. Standing at a large picture window the woman observed a fleet of UFOs surrounded by a bluish halo and pulsating red and green lights. She noticed that the objects

CASE 2: YOUNG GIRLS TERRORIZED BY UFONAUT

While I was still looking into the above encounter, I was told about yet another which had occurred on July 6, 1978 in the village of Palpala in Rio Negro Province, Argentina. It was incredible how these lovely people were so anxious for me to record as many incidents as possible. They did not consider anyone a "kook" because he or she had made contact with extraterrestrials. Contacts were being made all the time by perfectly respectable individuals.

The one in Palpala was quite interesting because it had happened to two little girls who certainly did not have the imagination to dream up something so totally weird as they were only ages 6 and 10.

Estela Judith Barrionuevo and Daniela Mercado were playing on Estela Judith's patio at eight in the evening when Estela Judith went into the kitchen to get a piece of fruit.

As she glanced through the window she saw a strange creature coming toward her who had a ray of light beaming from his chest. Terrified, Estela Judith began to cry. Hearing her sobs, her friend Daniela hurried into the kitchen and saw the same apparition.

Being older, Daniela was able to describe the creature as having "ugly eyes, with a face that had scratches on it. His neck was red as fire and his hair was white. He was also very tall."

Both girls were now crying out, alerting Estela Judith's father who was in a nearby room. By the time he came running into the kitchen the figure was no longer to be seen. It had vanished completely in the twinkling of an eye.

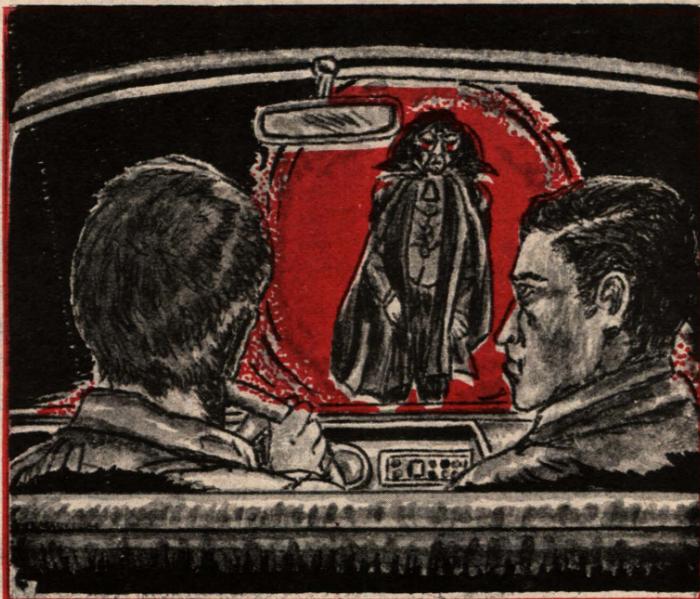

What makes this story particularly credible is that even before the news of what had happened had gotten around the village, scores of witnesses in Palpala reported seeing UFOs in the area— all at about the same time the two little girls had their fright!

I was truly amazed by the number of reports brought to my attention. Argentina was a veritable hotbed of sightings. But then, so was all of South America. In my research of the over-all picture I found out that Argentina leads the world in the number of UFO reports, according to a tally by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and that space visitors have become part of the nation's folklore.

CASE 4: CLOSE ENCOUNTER CAUSES NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

In July, 1978, a UFO hovered above a train station one night, lighting up the area like day. As frightened dogs and cats took refuge in the building, the station chief had a nervous breakdown and collapsed, due to the strain of seeing the UFO. Shortly thereafter, an oval-shaped object surrounded by a halo of light flew over the Andes in nearby Neuquen Province. It traveled 300 miles. Witnesses' descriptions of the craft all along the route were so consistent that the UFO made the covers of two national news magazines.

CASE 6: STRANGE FIGURE IN BLACK STOPS TRAVELERS

The same can be said of Jorge Daniel Lamazon and Mario Martinez. My probe of their case revealed that these two are sober young men and highly thought of by employers and neighbors. They too, had an experience in their car while driving on National Highway No. 11 toward Buenos Aires. The date was February 14, 1978. It was dark. A strong white light suddenly approached them from the front. They saw no craft, only the light. The car went dead and came to a halt.

The light was 500 meters away. In front of it was a strange-looking figure dressed in black. He was tall, but the men could not see his face or the kind of apparel he wore. He walked to within three meters of the stalled car and stood looking at the two men. Then he simply turned around and walked back to the bright light. He and the light then disappeared and with this the car started up again.

The witnesses were quite upset when they made their report to the authorities. They were said to be nervous and emotional, and they interrupted their story frequently because of their obvious state of terror.

embellishment. They are Omar Leonardo Nieto and his fiancée Elda Oviedo. It seems that on August 25, 1978, they were caught in a rain and hail storm. While taking shelter they spotted an object in the sky over the textile district traveling at great speed and giving off a bright glow. They also noted that a "great hum" filled the air which hurt their ears momentarily.

CASE 8: WOODCUTTER SUBJECTED TO EXAMINATION BY FIGURES WITHOUT FACE

On August 30, Miguel Frietes, 23, a wood cutter, was working in the town of Gobernador Dupuy when he had his encounter. Frietes was taking a break from his work when a vehicle from the sky approached him and landed two meters away. "A humanoid figure without a face or lower limbs emerged from the ship and came toward me," said Miguel. "He was completely encased in a bluish light and when I tried to run away he pushed a button on his chest, paralyzing me. I was brought into the craft against my wishes."

According to Frietes, the crew of the strange ship asked him questions and "pricked" his arm. At dusk he was taken to a spot about 40 kilometers from where he worked. There he was given some objects and a "box from which the beings' voices came out."

When he was released he dropped the voice box because of his fear, but held on to the other objects as he ran to a neighboring house to report his experience.

Miguel, I was told, has a very low IQ, which indicates that he does not have the imagination to concoct such an elaborate story. He was brought to the police by Professor Vittorio Corradi who examined him and found him normal, without mental aberrations. During his captivity Frietes' mouth had been sprayed with a liquid. He later used a handkerchief to clean out his mouth and that handkerchief was tested by Dr. Martha L. Romero Rios, Chief of the Toxicology Department of the Forensic Medical Body. She described the liquid as a dye "similar to gentian violet," a powerful bactericide. She was unable to assure that it was the same substance because the species could not be identified positively.

Frietes had given the "space objects" to the police. I have not been able to learn what they are or if the aliens' "voice box," abandoned by Frietes, has ever been recovered.

CASE 9: ALIENS WARN OF GRAVE EVENTS IN EARTH'S FUTURE

Another Argentine was taken aboard a UFO but can't remember specific details unless he is given sodium pentathol. After he is injected with the truth serum, he is then hypnotized and recalls in detail being taken onboard a craft for a period of an hour and a half. The trucker, who lives in Bahia Bianca, 400 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, said he consulted doctors because he suffered from nervous shock.

On the day he was abducted, a UFO was sighted by personnel at an Argentine air base near Bahia Bianca. Yanca said that while he was aboard the ship, a hose was connected to a high tension wire while another hose was dropped into a lagoon. The local electrical company did register a sharp rise in power consumption at that precise time.

Yanca also reported that the aliens had humming voices which were intelligible only when they spoke through a loudspeaker. They warned him that the earth would suffer grave events in the future and that they had been trying to determine since 1960 if man could survive in the galaxy if the earth was destroyed.

CASE 10: COUPLE TAKEN ABOARD SPACE SHIP

My research folders were quickly becoming thick with data. The sky all over South America was aglow with disc-shaped objects. One of the most startling encounters was experienced by Erminio Reis and his wife, Bianca. It began on January 21, Continued on page 13

YOUR LIFE MAY BE IN DANGER IF YOU'VE SEEN A UFO!

DEFINITELY NOT MEANT FOR THE WEAK HEARTED!

WHO ARE THE MYSTERIOUS AND SINISTER MEN IN BLACK? SILENCINGS, HUSH-UPS, WARNINGS, THREATS HAVE BEGUN TO INCREASE ALARMINGLY...

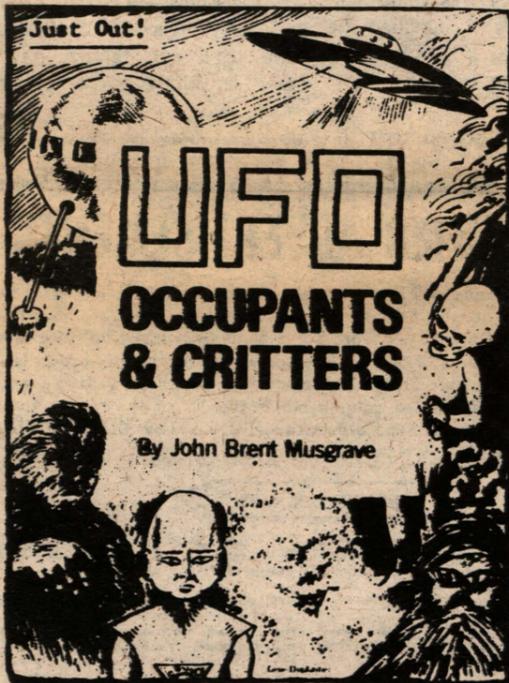

This special report by noted UFOlogist Timothy Green Beckley details the activities of the Men in Black and their program to silence UFO witnesses and contactees.

Is it possible that various groups of aliens are walking the earth right now? Are some of the space beings good, others evil? What could be their purpose in visiting our planet?

This volume contains shocking photos of a UFO pilot. Close-up pictures of space craft. Documents on aliens posing as CIA officials and Air Force officials. And published for the first time anywhere, a photo of one of these "alien agents of terror."

$2.95 plus $1.00 for postage and handling.

WHAT IS BEHIND THE BEHAVIOR & ORIGINS OF UFO CREW MEMBERS?

The author was given a grant by the Canadian government to research the appearance of UFOs and their occupants. What he discovered is utterly amazing. John Musgrave is not a crackpot. He is instead an astronomer who is familiar with all the natural explanations for UFOs. He takes the best UFO-naut and critter reports and goes into them in detail offering conclusions that could very well startle you. Just released, this volume is a "must" for all those who have ever wondered about the reality behind UFOs and their occupants.

1977, in the evening, about 11:30 P.M. They were riding on the Rio de Janeiro-Bello Horizonte highway a short distance from Matias-Barbosa, a small town, when Erminio became unaccountably sleepy. He stopped the car and closed his eyes.

Bianca's scream suddenly awoke him. They were bathed in a bluish-white light. Then they felt their Volkswagen being engulfed as if in a vertical tunnel. Bianca said that above them was something like a skylight which opened up to admit them. "Two men slid down to where we were," Bianca said. "They were about two meters tall. After they examined the outside of our car, they then signalled for us to get out.

"We were still on the ground, but it felt as though it were moving under me. I was upset. So was Erminio. I felt drunk, but I hadn't had anything at all to drink. I screamed at these strange men to tell me what they wanted."

Erminio and Bianca said the aliens spoke in a strange language. One of them pressed a button with his foot and a staircase appeared. The couple was escorted up the stairs into a very large room. There were instruments all around them. At this point, the two were given what looked like headsets to wear. One of the extraterrestrials put one on and plugged all three into a computer-type machine. He then said in perfect Portuguese, "My name is Karen, calm down."

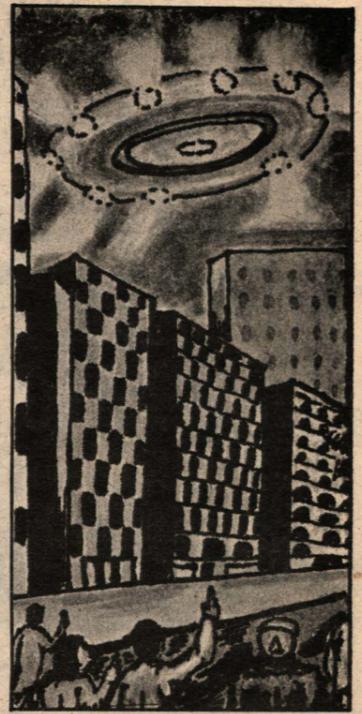

Bianca was asked to take a series of examinations of her skin, ears and eyes. She was placed in a box, made unconscious by an electroshock, and then the box turned red like an electric grill. When she came out she was directed to a chair made of a material which could be changed to a bed or a table.

More aliens entered the room. One was a woman who was very tall and straight, with dark hair and exceptionally clear eyes. Karen told the couple: "We perform medical research. Old age continues to be an illness on earth, but we have conquered it. On our world death does not exist.

"Do not talk about what happened to you. You will be taken for mad. If you wish," the alien stated, "we have a method to erase memories."

The couple told "Karen", as the being identified himself, that they would rather keep their "madness" than lose their memory. Before being brought back to their car, a miniscule device for measuring mental waves was given to Bianca so that Karen could continue to communicate with her. Bianca says emphatically that the alien is still in touch with her via ESP.

CASE 11: POLICE OFFICER PHOTOGRAPHS HUGE DISC

Dourados, Brazil, is a city of 80,000 people and is located 1,000 kilometers west of Rio de Janeiro. A policeman there, Antonio Jose Da Silva, claims that on September 13 and 14, 1978, a huge UFO paid two visits to the city. It had bright colors and moved at a terrific rate of speed across the sky. It appeared over the town at dusk on a Wednesday and Thursday. Large numbers of the population saw it, as well as many of Da Silva's colleagues. The huge disc gave off red and blue flashing lights. The officer stated that O Progresso had published a picture of it the following day. However, all attempts to reach the newspaper for a copy of the photo failed.

TV NEWS COMMENTATOR ASSISTS IN VERIFYING STARTLING UFO REPORT...

GIANT GLOWING FOOTBALL PHOTOGRAPHED OVER LAKE ERIE

point on Wilhelm Road some four miles north of Sherkston Beach, my wife observed a bright orange-colored oblong object in the night sky southwest of our car. The object was located over Lake Erie at the time and was moving at a steady speed in an orderly fashion toward Buffalo. I stopped the car and reached for my 35mm single-lens reflect Practica camera with a 135mm lens mounted. The f-stop was preset to 2.8 and shutter speed at 1/2 second. I immediately began shooting the object, taking a total of 17 photographs.

"When first sighted we estimated the height of the object to be anywhere from 1,000 to 2,000 feet above the ground and one to three miles distant. We estimated its size to be twice as long as a light aircraft, such as a piper cub. Throughout the sighting the object moved in a giant arc from its original location southwest of us, until it finally disappeared on the southeastern horizon. Its total transit time from first sighting to disappearance we estimate to be one and a half minute to two minutes."

At the nearest point Malcolm says the object resembled to the human eye, "a giant glowing orange football, similar to a neon sign but with a hazy outline." However, in the best of the photographs taken, the object developed instead an "orange glow in the general shape of an upside down 'V' outlining what seems to be a circular object with an elevated dome. In this picture the orange light appears as a kind of ionized air effect silhouetting the upper surface of the object. Yet to the best of our memory the UFO retained its aforementioned 'football' shape during the entire duration of our observation."

As has been discovered through previous pioneering efforts, sometimes the camera does not photograph exactly what the human eye sees—especially when it comes to UFOs! ●

(Special report to UFO REVIEW by Tom Grey, Northeastern UFO Organization and Research Studies)— Joe Pope is a dedicated journalist, a veteran newsman who can sniff out a potentially important headline story long before it seems at all significant to anyone else.

As weekend anchorman for WGR-TV (an NBC affiliate) in Buffalo, N.Y., Joe has had occasion to do features pertaining to UFOs. Possessing an open mind, he isn't about to ignore the topic of flying saucers even though many of his colleagues consider this to be a taboo subject for on-the-air discussion. Luckily for Joe Pope he sees things differently, otherwise he probably would have missed out on one of the major blockbuster stories of his entire career.

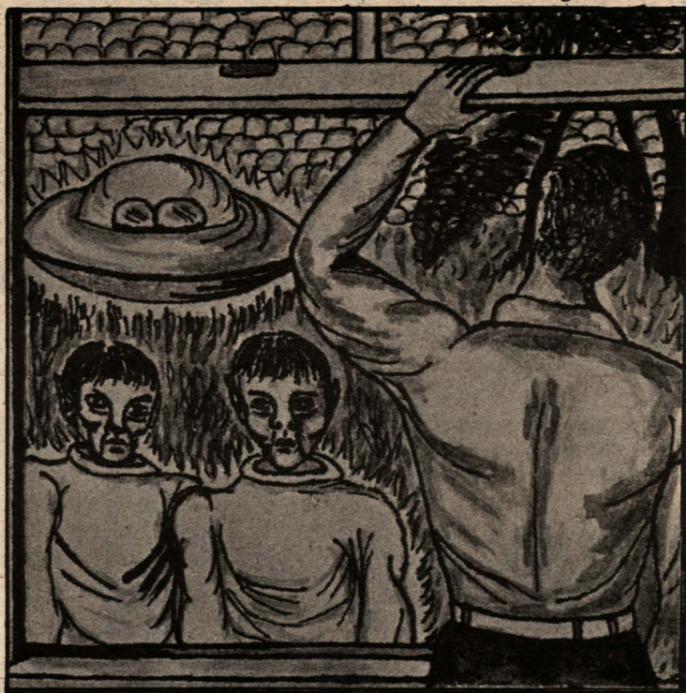

At approximately 9 P.M. on October 31, 1973, Joe Pope was pulling newsroom duty when he received several phone calls from excited station viewers claiming that they were observing an unusual orange-colored object over the City of Tonawanda (just across the Canadian border in Ontario). Determined to get to the bottom of the mystery, the news commentator dialed the number of Malcolm Williams, a long-time resident of Niagara Falls, whom he knew from past experience to be seriously interested in such matters. In a signed affidavit, Pope notes that he let Williams know of the sightings over the area "and asked him if he was curious enough to go out and try for a picture if there was in reality any unusual aerial phenomena." An hour and a half later, at 10:30 P.M., Williams telephoned the station back and told Pope that he had just taken half a roll of 35mm color film of the unknown object as it hung over Lake Erie's shoreline near Port Colbourne, Ontario.

Pope (who is no longer employed at WGR-TV) says he believes "without any iota of doubt that Malcolm Williams truly photographed an unusual aerial object." He adds that he was subsequently given 17 different slides purporting to show the UFO and that he "selected the best slide and asked to be allowed to have it blown up into a print for better examination. I took the slide with me to have the work done in Buffalo." This same photograph is printed on the cover of UFO REVIEW for the first time anywhere.

Explaining how he came about taking this dramatic UFO photo, Malcolm Williams made this statement: "After receiving Joe Pope's call, accompanied by my wife Judy Williams, we headed by automobile in the direction of Sherkston Beach near Port Colbourne, Ontario, because we knew this to be a darkened area affording excellent observation to the south over Lake Erie and to the east over Buffalo and Western New York state. However, we observed no unusual aerial phenomena and by approximately 9:40 P.M. had decided to head in a northerly direction toward our home.

"Then at approximately 9:45 P.M. when we had reached a ground and reasoned with them in such a way that they had to back off.

The man was Roberto Iglesias, an officer with the state agricultural and cattle service where he is an agricultural engineer. Iglesias reported that a brilliant craft landed on his patio and that the beings who emerged were similar in appearance to humans, but their clothes had a brilliance all their own.

"They advanced toward the window where I was standing," said Iglesias, "and signalled me to come out. I opened the window and we started a short dialogue."

The engineer stated that the space aliens spoke to him in perfect Spanish. They said their purpose was to invite him to take a ride in their craft, to which Iglesias said he replied: "I thank you gentlemen, for having considered me among the millions of human beings on earth. However, I am a father, responsible for a family and would not like to cause concern should I suddenly disappear from home."

The aliens were in accord with his reasoning and so they bowed politely, returned to their ship and took off. Iglesias has not seen anything more of them since. ●

UFO DISINTEGRATES CUBAN FIGHTER PLANE

U.S. Government

Refuses to Release Tapes Held As Proof

One UFOlogist sees a definite tie-in involving a Russian-made MIG-21 that disintegrated in mid-air, and a UFO that was moving in from the Atlantic ocean toward the Cuban mainland.

Stanton T. Friedman, a nuclear physicist residing in Redondo Beach, California, who is widely known as "the Ralph Nader of UFO research," maintains that he has contacts high up in the military who keep him posted on developments as long as their names are not released to the public in connection with any information they might divulge.

Recently, Friedman was approached by a member of the security squadron operating out of Key West, Florida's Boca Chica Naval Air Station, where the government operates a listening post established to monitor Cuban military communications.

According to Stanton Friedman, on a relatively quiet afternoon at about 3 P.M., the monitoring station overheard and taped a conversation in which the Cuban Air Defense had picked up a bogey — a UFO — on radar, coming in from the northeast, heading toward the Cuban mainland.

"The Cuban Air Force scrambled a couple of jets, two of their MIG-21's, vectored in as the UFO crossed Cuban airspace. They made attempts to contact the unidentified craft by radio, but were unsuccessful.

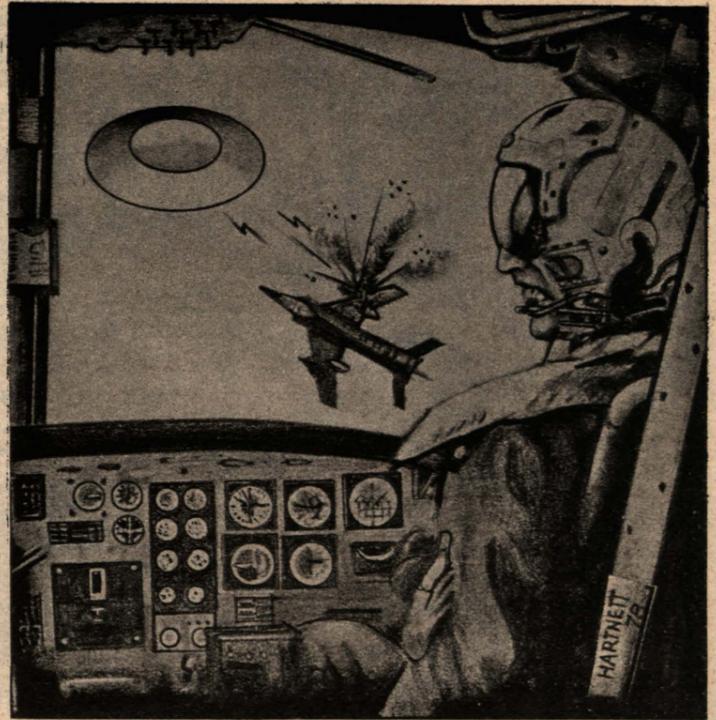

"The Cuban pilots described the UFO as a big spherical thing, the size of a house, with no wings or portholes or visible appendages. The lead pilot was ordered by ground control to shoot the bogey down.

"The Cuban pilot armed his missiles and got a radar fix on the craft, when suddenly the second pilot screamed, because the lead plane had disintegrated — no flame or anything — just disintegrated.

"And then the UFO, which had come in at about MACH 1 (speed of sound, 700 miles per hour) at about 10,000 meters, changed its direction to the South-Southeast, went up to an altitude of about 30,000 meters, then going 'MACH SEVERAL' disappeared."

The officers at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station who had heard the conversation were in an uproar. The conversations between the Cuban pilots and the Cuban ground control had been taped. A full transcript was ordered sent to the National Security Agency (NSA) in Washington, a federal agency that is even more top secret than rather strange things according to the CIA. They wired back two Timothy Green Beckley, widely known as "Mr. UFO" has personally investigated hundreds of authentic UFO landings and contacts, and is keenly interested in the many beneficial aspects of communicating with the occupants of these technologically advanced craft that continue to come into our atmosphere on a daily basis.

DON'T BELIEVE THE LIES YOU ARE BEING TOLD

There has not been a decrease in the number of reports. Sightings continue to be made somewhere in the world every 24-hours. But there is an attempt being made to keep this vital information out of your hands!

His 15 years of researching the UFO phenomenon has convinced Tim Beckley that a lot can be learned by carefully studying the seemingly strange behavior patterns of these glowing objects that can out pace our fastest military jets and "disappear" in the twinkling of an eye.

Many of the best UFO related incidents have been kept from the public because the "powers that be" realize drastic changes will take place in society once we've "linked up" with the cosmos. Once open contact has been established, civilization as we know it will collapse and there will be a "New Age" on earth. All the contacts made by the "Space Brothers" with earthlings point to this startling conclusion.

Yes! The aliens have arrived, but before we can meet with them face-to-face certain changes will have to take place. Now, "Mr. UFO" invites you to help in the investigation of the greatest mystery of all time.

When you become a member of the UFO INVESTIGATORS LEAGUE for the next year you receive the following benefits:

- 1) An eight-issue subscription to UFO REVIEW, the world's only flying saucer newspaper. Each issue is jammed with photos of extraterrestrial vehicles; stories about ordinary people who have established contact with UFOs; reports of strange creatures from time and space; weird encounters with the sinister Men in Black, and proof of an international cover-up.
- 2) Handsome membership card with your own personal ID number which gives you authority to officially investigate UFO cases in your area, and report your findings to our headquarters.
- 3) Beautiful UFO Investigators Certificate which you may hang with pride in your home.
- 4) UFO Investigators Field Manual which tells you how best to interrogate witnesses. Gives you the "important" questions to ask. And, what to look for to prove beyond a doubt, landing, or contact has taken place.

5) A subscription to the highly confidential "UFO SPOTTERS NEWSLETTER," which will contain "top-secret" information on previously unpublished incidents too "hot to handle" in our regular publication. Also, there will be a pen pal section, free "swap it" ads, photos of members, and MUCH MORE.

6) Three authentic photographs depicting spacecraft from another world.

7) The right to purchase all your UFO books and merchandise from our offices at a 10% discount below what the public pays.

8) Full authority to use membership credentials when applying for interviews on radio, TV, or with newspapers in your area.

9) The authority to set up, if you so desire, an affiliate or club, with permission to hold meetings in your home and report on your club's gatherings in our newsletter.

10) The right to renew your membership after the first year at a 25% discount.

Yes! The aliens have landed. Now we must get ready to meet with them openly. You must do your part and be ready for the experience of your lifetime! Join today and become part of a team that has its eyes on the sky and is looking toward tomorrow.

MYSTERY MANUSCRIPT

I thought you might want to read the letter reproduced on this page before I repeat some almost unbelievable claims made by a retired major of the U.S. military. To me, the letter would be unbelievable, were it not from Thomas Nelson and Sons, one of Canada's most prestigious publishers. I have blanked out the name of the addressee for obvious reasons, but the rest of the communication, including the letterhead, has been reproduced photographically, just as it was received.

Your first reaction is to say (like I'm saying) that books just aren't banned in the United States. True, many of the works of Dr. Wilhelm Reich were burned by court order, but that was many years ago. And nowadays even books such as The Catcher in the Rye, once banned because of their erotic content, enjoy wide circulation, and are even purchased by high school libraries! Citizens of the United States ostensibly enjoy more freedom of the press and expression than those of any other country in the world.

That is why Mr. Jim Gifford's letter just could not, by contemporary standards, be true. Or could it be? And what the heck is the book, Alternative 3?

Just like yourself, that's what I'd like to know! I haven't managed to get my hands on one, and (don't look at my fingers) I'm not going to risk trouble by trying to get a copy.

And I'll not name the Major, though I will say that if you're any kind of a saucer "buff" at all, his name is very familiar to you. He has long been associated with UFO investigation, and has long called for the Government to release secret information on this subject.

Now that I've made these qualifications, let me tell you what I know about the book and convey some of the Major's ideas about it:

Published originally by Sphere Books Ltd., of London, Alternative 3 relates the making of a British television documentary film in 1977. During the making of the film the producers stumbled upon the greatest conspiracy in world history.

The book claims the scientific community discovered years ago that irreversible damage had been done to the Earth's atmosphere and weather patterns, and that because of this, life on the planet could not continue much longer. It tells of the scientific conclusions and of alternative plans backed by the governments of the two great super-powers to salvage a remnant of life so that humankind might survive.

"Reading it," reports Major _____, "one is amazed that it could be written at all. The events outlined make it clear that the scientific world, or a part of it, has attempted to play God. Decisions have been made which will remove from each individual the right of choice, free will, and the responsibility for his own destiny and the future of his children."

While it could be fictional, or truth cloaked in fiction, the book is well documented. It deals with events recently reported by the news media, contains quotations from radio astronomers' tapes and manuscripts of alleged secret meetings. It concerns missing scientists, young people and livestock. Apparently it ties in with cattle mutilations and other mysterious events of recent years, and charges that a vast conspiracy exists to secretly save a few of the elite while the remainder of Earth's population will be destroyed.

Just what went wrong with the earth's environment, and why is this being discussed in a UFO publication? According to Alternative 3 world scientists discovered the same truth first advanced and revealed by UFO enthusiasts, particularly the "contactees," who claimed that their meetings with spacepersons indicated that the Earth's "etheric envelope" had been damaged by atomic blasts. When we re-read the earlier UFO books by "contactees" such as George Adamski, Howard Menger, George Van Tassel and others, we encounter a constant theme expressed by their space visitors: We should halt atomic testing and avoid wars which might lead to the use of atomic weapons.

Scientists also discovered that the earth is threatened by a layer of carbon dioxide which cannot be dissipated and which is creating a "greenhouse" effect, steadily warming the planet and melting the ice caps. Along with this, the ozone layer protecting the earth from bombardment of cosmic rays is being dissolved by chemicals such as aerosol sprays, auto engine emissions and other pollutants. Apparently one thing that makes the book so convincing is its referral to reports in the news media which are familiar to everybody (such as the aerosol controversy which led to the banning of the spray).

TOP SECRET PLAN

Faced by impending catastrophe, the scientists devised a plan called "Alternative 1," which suggested blowing holes in the atmosphere so the carbon dioxide could escape. This was to be accomplished by utilizing high-altitude nuclear explosions, but the calculations went wrong and the operation did great damage to the Van Allen Belt surrounding the earth. The ill-conceived plan cracked the "etheric envelope."

They abandoned another plan called "Alternative 2," which would move a part of our civilization underground, for a number of reasons, and finally decided to activate the final plan, known as "Alternative 3," forming the book's title. This plan involves taking selected persons first to the moon, which could be developed as a way-station, and then to another planet for colonization. They had discovered in the early 1960's that Mars could be colonized.

In a private communication which he has circulated to only a few selected UFO researchers and writers, Major _____ does not take issue with trying to find a plan to cope with the danger. "It is the MEANS used to accomplish this," he writes, "that brings a reaction of sheer horror..."

The scientists' plan calls for a colony of selected "elite"—artists, scientists, engineers (along, we suspect, with some politicians!), supported by laborers who would do heavy construction and agricultural work. The latter, according to the book, would be taken from the earth in groups known as "Batch Consignments." Since the productive labor life-span of these "batches" are only 15 years at the most, the young, healthy segment of the population is the most desirable. They are to be rounded up wherever possible, depersonalized through a combination of chemical electronic and psychological "brain-washing," and after that programmed to do whatever they are told without question or choice.

If I subtly suggested you should hold onto your hat at the beginning of this column, I now urge you to strap it firmly under your chin! For Alternative 3 suggests that the foregoing is not just some far-out plan being kicked around by scientists and governments, but has actually been taking place for some time!

I think that many readers who have been interested in our space program, as well as in UFOs, have been aware of an undercurrent of rumors that questioned public releases about U.S. and Russian space programs. Some people have gone so far as to suggest that the landings on the moon were either faked or elaborate public relations stunts! Some believe we haven't really gone to the moon at all, and that the Government is trying to convince the public, and maybe the USSR, that we have done so! Even more radical theories try to convince us that the U.S. and/or Russia have landed on the moon much, much earlier than publicly announced! This argument questions the drop-out of the USSR in the moon program at a time when extreme competition was supposed to be going on between the super-powers, and just after a period during which Russia had demonstrated an enormous lead over us in space technology.

ARE WE BEING TOLD THE TRUTH?

It's easy to get paranoid about all this, and to abandon our common sense, but after all, this is a publication where speculative arguments are bandied about. And after all, when both Editor Beckley and I began our UFO research, the bulk of the population believed that those who sighted UFOs were crazy!

Take the recent book, Somebody Else Is On the Moon, which contains numerous photographs purporting to show huge construction operations on the Moon. Many people discounted this book, with the reasoning that if all this were going on up there, why didn't the astronauts see it and report it. Others, such as myself, whose eyesight for seeing small details in a photograph is not the best, called the evidence misinterpretation of natural features. But if Alternative 3 is true, would the astronauts report these operations—or were they really on the moon trips after all? And the veracity of astronauts has suffered in the public mind because of their reporting, and then subsequently denying, seeing UFOs while in space. NASA has consistently denied and covered up these reports, such as the many investigations and articles by Tim "Mr. UFO" Beckley, which he has disclosed in popular magazines. When these exposes by Beckley and others began generating letters to Congress, NASA official Capt. James Oberg, led a one-man crusade to squelch these rumors. Many people in civilian UFO research believe Capt. Oberg was specially assigned to this mission to discount these news leaks of astronaut sightings.

If we began to believe that popular motion pictures were true, we really would be going bananas, particularly when we consider a film like Superman—but I wonder how many of you saw the movie, Capricorn One, and felt, as I did, that there might be a great deal of truth beneath its derring-do surface. It described an aborted attempt to place astronauts on Mars, and the deliberate staging of the event on television by the use of a mock-up movie set and pressure on the astronauts to go along with the lie.

I operate a movie theatre which was closed for remodeling last summer when the film was released. I saw it at a trade screening and predicted that it would be a great financial success because of its unique plot idea, suspense and high production values. But it played for a few weeks and then seemed to just vanish from screens all over the country. I figured that it had been a "turkey," which we call an unsuccessful film in the movie business. After my theatre re-opened I had a vacant week on my schedule and decided to book Capricorn One, even if I did feel it wouldn't draw good crowds. The Warner Bros. booker told me the film had been taken out of release and could not be booked any more. I wasn't greatly disappointed and booked a repeat showing of The Goodbye Girl instead, and did nice business.

Recently, however, when I received the 73rd Anniversary Issue of Variety, the show business trade publication that annually lists the big money films of the year, I was amazed to find that Capricorn One ranked No. 21 in a list of 123 of the most successful movies, and that it had taken in rentals of more than eleven million dollars in the United States and Canada, not counting the millions overseas. Normally a movie of this magnitude continues to be available for bookings for about two years after original release. Why was this successful film yanked out of theatres while it could have picked up vast additional rental sums? I have a hunch, and you can easily check me out, that this picture will be reissued during the summer of 1979, but with a few changes and substitute scenes.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS UP-DATE

Another 1978 film continued a great deal of truth, and while not identifying specific cases, did represent a good generalized depiction of UFOlogy. Close Encounters of the Third Kind is also unavailable for booking in theatres at the time that this column is being written. I am pretty sure of my sources who say that it will be re-released in the summer of 1979, containing new film footage inserted depicting events transpiring aboard the mother ship, which appears only briefly at the end of the present version. Also, much of the original footage forming the first hour and one half of the original version will be cut out!

I am probably making too much of it and there may be sound business reasons behind the withdrawal and possible re-release of these movies. It would be hard to believe that the Government had anything to do with this, just as it is hard to believe that the Government has suppressed Alternative 3, and that a vast conspiracy is taking place.

We must be careful not to join ranks with the misguided people who insisted there was a conspiracy to assassinate John Kennedy, even after the Warren Commission's exhaustive research assured us there was no "second gun." (Of course these people are now considered less misguided after experts found that the recording of the gunshots proved there was indeed that "second gun.")

In fact, Major _____ adds that assassinations also play a part in the plot of this "suppressed" book.

A book suppressed in the United States? Not possible. Yet I continue to hear all these rumors. Like the Methodist minister who drops by my office now and then to discuss UFOs. This preacher pastors small churches on a "circuit" and his modest salary does not permit his buying all the books he wants to own on the spur of the moment. Once he saw a politically-oriented book and made a note to go back to the store a few days later to buy it. When he returned the clerk informed him the book distributor had picked up several copies on display with the explanation that it was not selling. Yet, other books, apparently "white elephants," were still on display.

Maybe a book suppressed, not by decree, but by much more subtle means! It is well known that powerful interest groups can exercise control of the electronic media. Book distribution, particularly paperback distribution, has also been infiltrated by one powerful group in particular. Since the book my preacher friend wanted to buy dealt with radical politics one has cause to wonder!

Perhaps we're straying too far away from Flying Saucers while discussing Alternative 3, but I don't really think so. I'll rest the matter by suggesting the following: Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing only your name and address and no return address. Send it to: Gray Barker, Box 2228, Clarksburg, WV 26301. Don't send a letter with it relating to this discussion, but you might write the number "3" on the inside flap of your "SASE." If it is returned to you with any information inside it, the envelope will very likely be mailed from some different post office.

POSSIBLE LEGISLATION
I certainly hope there is little or no truth in Alternative 3. If it is true, there may be very little we can do about it— although the Major does outline what he terms Recommended Corrective Action. At the risk of being classified as a total crackpot, I'll quote just a part of it, his "Point

AN EERIE FUNNEL

On the night of Dec. 10, 1978, I was walking to my home from a local convenience store and I noticed that the wind was blowing all around me, but yet the air was silent.

I then looked up to the sky as if "something" or "someone" told me to do so and as I did, I saw a form which resembled that of a tornado, but it was still, just there! It was black and shown clearly against the clouds.

I'm really surprised the funnel-shaped object I observed was so easy to see because it was about 7:30 P.M. and it was already quite dark. Patiently, I watched to see if anything was going to happen and something did... an orange streak of light came right down the center of the black funnel-shaped object as if it came from thin air. I sort of think it was some kind of glide path. I could be wrong since I'm no authority on the subject, only an observer.

If anyone else reading this letter has ever had a similar experience, please notify this publication because I know of no other sighting like mine and would like to learn about what I saw.

UFO REVIEW is one fine paper and I've just begun receiving my copies and would highly recommend it to all serious UFO researchers. Thank you for publishing such a fine tabloid, Mr. Beckley. UFO REVIEW has a good future ahead of it.

MUTANT BEINGS

I am 31, a free-lance writer and work for South Western Bell Telephone Co. When I was 16, I saw a UFO. It flew over our apartment building, very low. It was round and looked exactly like a wedding band, with a hole in the center, except that it had lights around the outside of the band. It was gold and gleamed.

When I was younger, at the age of 12, my father and I watched Air Force jets chase a big blue light that bounded around and made 90 degree turns in its maneuvers. Even my sister and her husband in St. Clair, Missouri, told me about a UFO they saw just a few weeks ago.

Of course, I don't have any proof of these things, but I do have a telescope and a camera and would like to try and send you a few concrete things. I can't help but feel that the government has perfected some interplanetary vehicles. Why don't they inform the public? Obviously, they think people wouldn't want to pay their taxes anymore. They would want to climb into the space ships and leave this planet. Israel and Egypt wouldn't have to be at each others throats through eternity. They could both have all the property they wanted on another planet. And finally, I believe the government has created mutant beings for space exploration. Remember, they didn't tell the public about the atom bomb until they dropped it on Japan.

LETTERS OF PRAISE

I stopped buying all the other UFO publications with the exception of UFO REPORT. Put simply, I just got sick and tired of reading made-up stories and hearing about the same few "ancient" accounts over and over again. I mean, how many different ways can you relate the Betty and Barney Hill story, or the Travis Walston abduction?

UFO REVIEW definitely fills an important gap in UFOlogy. As far as I can tell, it's the only publication that goes out of its way to keep up-to-date, printing stories that aren't "twice told," nor do they seem to be fabricated yarns. I'm placing my bet that you'll come out ahead in the end. Enclosed is my 8-issue subscription.

Congratulations! What a refreshing relief to find a newspaper like UFO REVIEW. Your format is excellent. I came across it next to the Enquirer at the local newsstand and bought it right away. In particular, I was spellbound by the article dealing with Marc Brinkerhoff and the many unusual UFO photographs he has taken. I sincerely hope you will keep us posted regarding Marc's future experiences, as I have long felt that the contactees hold the secret of the UFOs, though they may, at times, tend to "expand" on their stories for commercial appeal.

Paul Woodcutter,
Hamilton, Ohio

Your coverage of the United Nations conference on UFOs was really excellent. The only reports our local paper prints are normally condensed stories from the wire services, and usually they are cut down to a couple of paragraphs. Sorry I missed issues number one and two. Can I still get back copies?

J. Goodman,

Editor's Note: Readers who might have missed out on reading our previous issues may be happy to know that issues one, two, and three can still be had for $1.25 apiece. Order fast as they are in short supply.

A VERY FRIGHTENING ENCOUNTER

For your information, I have been into the flying saucer phenomena (and most everything pertaining to it) ever since my personal close encounter back in 1955. In fact, I continue to suffer with an ailing right elbow from that incident, and the doctors are baffled and say they cannot find any type of cure.

Let me tell you a few things: I'm thoroughly pissed-off at our various government agencies; mainly the President of the United States. He has failed to live up to his promise to release all UFO data to the American taxpayers. Anyway, I hate the term UFO, as I encountered a genuine flying saucer and got close enough to throw stones at it. You people seem to have gotten on the band-wagon of constantly tying religious aspects as well as psychic phenomena with UFOs. In short, I resent this since my experience certainly had nothing to do with religion or psychic phenomena. I faced the most frightening and strange machine that one could ever imagine and somebody was operating it. Needless to say, I am indeed very lucky to be alive today to talk about what happened.

I want to inform you that I don't scare very easy and normally I'm not the type of person to panic. Over the years I have had 11 additional sightings (many with witnesses) and long before I knew or heard anything about the so-called "Men In Black" I underwent an episode that involved a strange phone call and a car ride from Las Vegas to Boulder City, Nevada. These characters obviously exist. If any future occasions arise where I should be confronted by any MIB, God help them. If this type of a meeting should occur, I would be curious and will grill the hell out of them and do my utmost to find out who and what they are and mean, before taking any drastic action.

I am a professional musician and actor and am employed on a free-lance basis in all the motion picture studios. I have my own small musical group and if you should see the movie now in release called "The Cheap Detective" starring Peter Falk, you can see me playing drums in the night club scenes. During the filming of Burt Reynolds' movie "Hooper—the Greatest Stunt Man Alive," a bunch of us on the set saw four flying saucers at a fairly low altitude heading in a Northwesterly direction. This was at Columbia Ranch and they didn't make a sound and were in almost a "V" formation. The sighting lasted about a minute last March 16, 1978, and happened at 9:30 A.M.

My greatest wish is to have a flying saucer land right on Jimmy Carter's White House lawn. This would be the most important thing to happen in the world.

UFOs BROUGHT ME PSYCHIC AWARENESS

Back before UFOs were being written about in the press, I had several experiences that left me with a lot of questions. Of course, I do know more about these things now than I did 35 years ago, but I am still searching for answers, the big one being—why did they pick me to be one of their guinea pigs?

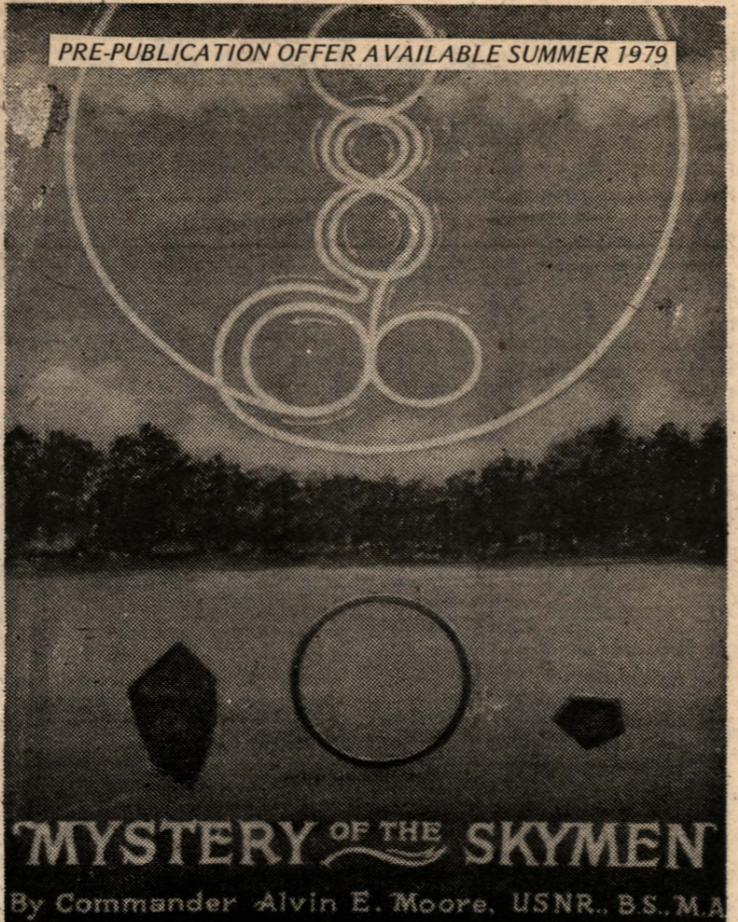

We stood there in the driveway not knowing why we were waiting there. Suddenly a strange light flashed into our eyes. We both jerked our heads skyward to see what was going on. We did not understand the strange craft we saw there.

Yet the sight in the sky was no greater mystery than the strange urge which had brought us to the spot from which we could see the signal flashed at us.

As I recall it was a beautiful afternoon. The weather was cool. The sky mostly clear except for a very high layer of clouds in the Northwestern sky. I had become very restless. I needed to get out of the yard.

Dad was sitting on the front porch in the shade of a giant sycamore tree. As I walked by he got up and walked with me. This was unusual, as my Dad and I were never very close.

Together we walked out the yard gate without saying a word. We turned and walked down the gravel driveway stopping at a spot apparently no different than any other. We just stood there for several minutes as if we were waiting for something.

FORMER C.I.A. OPERATIVE REVEALS GOVERNMENT HOLDING PHYSICAL EVIDENCE OF CRASHED UFOs! Who are the Men In Black, and why do they silence UFO researchers and witnesses? Is this because a well-kept secret may be revealed — that the flying saucers and the beings who fly them live on "Sky-Islands" much closer to our Earth than we think? What did the Atomic Bomb have to do with the appearance of "space" craft? Did they blow up their "saucer" sanctuaries? Do the UFO occupants mean to do us harm? This landmark book in the field of UFOlogy is recommended only for the most serious minds studying this phenomena. Do not order if you cannot take "strong medicine."

But if "you can take it," order MYSTERY OF THE SKYMEN, by Commander Alvin E. Moore, U.S.N. Ret.

UFO REVIEW

New York, N.Y. 10016

Suddenly a bright light flashed in our eyes. It was like a flash from a signal mirror. We snapped our eyes upward to see what was going on. Another flash made sure we were looking at the right spot, for there in the Northern sky we saw eight strange aircraft.

Those aircraft were very large and very high. They flew due West in a giant V formation. There were four of them following the flight leader in the Southern leg of the flight and three in the Northern leg.

Moments later we noticed another one. The ninth aircraft was following behind the vacant spot in the end of the Northern leg of the flight. I believe that ninth aircraft was the command ship.

I knew a lot about aircraft, having studied aircraft identification carefully. I could identify every plane in the world by sight. I had never seen any information on anything even close to the swept-wing design of those we were watching flying overhead. The nine sleek swept-wing aircrafts flew across the sky at a terrific speed.

This was in 1943 during the death struggle of World War II. The propeller driven C 47 was the elite of the cargo and transport planes. Yet, the aircraft we saw that day were flying at a speed at least four or five times the speed of the best propeller driven planes.

It was not until after the end of World War II that American engineers found a model of a swept-wing bomber being tested in Germany's secret high speed wind tunnel complex at Volkenrode. Using "liberated" designs and test data, American engineers then designed and built the sleek and graceful supersonic B 47.

The first prototype of the Boeing B 47 lifted off the ground December 17, 1947. The B 47 had long slender swept-back wings of his aspect ratio for low lift and low drag, giving the plane not only excellent cruising efficiency but also a beautifully esthetic outline. The B 47 was the first plane to incorporate these advanced flight concepts here on earth. Obviously it had been done somewhere else at least four years earlier.

We watched the aircraft from the time their signal flash caught our attention at approximately 10 degrees east of due north until they disappeared over the high clouds approximately 40 degrees west of north. Even though the aircraft were at tremendous altitude, they appeared to be very large and could be seen quite clearly. Judging by today's largest aircraft, I believe those were quite a bit larger than anything being flown today. Judging by the type of cloud formation, they were flying at approximately 20,000 feet or possibly higher. They made no noise, nor did they leave the contrails in the sky.

These aircraft flew across the sky and out of sight high above a cloud layer in the northwest. Flying across the 50 degrees of the northern sky took approximately 15 to 20 seconds. There was one brief glimpse of the aircraft later as they passed over a thin spot in the clouds. Then they were gone.

It was not too long after those sleek aircraft had signalled me that another even stranger thing happened.

I had that feeling again. It was about ten o'clock at night, and I was drawn to a spot in the driveway very near the spot from which I had seen the strange aircraft. I was watching the sky intently. It seemed like I had to watch that one spot. I was looking directly at it when a red glow appeared and grew larger.

I had the strangest thought when I saw it. I said to myself, "This one is coming to me."

The red glow began moving straight east across the sky. It got to approximately the same point in the sky where I had last seen the strange sweptwing aircraft when it made an abrupt turn and headed straight toward me.

All the time the meteor or fireball was coming directly toward me, I knew it was not going to hurt me. I knew somebody somewhere had full control over it. I was not the least apprehensive. Later, I learned the fireball had burned through the sky and lit up parts of four states. Finally, it arched and hit the ground less than thirty feet in front of me.

I had had a few psychic experiences before but those experiences seemed to come more often after my fire ball came to me. This bothered me until one of the top psychics in the world told me she had had a similar experience. She credits her increased psychic sensitivity and even some direct personal guidance to her experience with her fireball.

HUMAN RE-ACTIONS TO UFOS

Thank you for sending me copies of UFO REVIEW, the only factual "flying saucer newspaper," which seems to be improving with each issue. In particular, I enjoyed reading your interview with Charles Hickson published in your second issue. I believe follow-up interviews are very important if we are ever to find a solution to the UFO enigma. This is my 36th year of UFO research and I recall fondly your interviewing me in a visit to my home when I lived in Pennsylvania during 1966.

I am in the process of conducting a study on "Human Re-actions to UFOS," which covers what persons having close encounters with UFOS do during and immediately after their experiences. I sincerely believe that this human re-action factor could tell us much about the truth or falsity of the UFO experience. If your readers can help me out I would certainly appreciate any assistance. I will treat material as being confidential if so requested. Continued publishing success to you.

MY "MAGIC LAWS" FOR ABUNDANT HEALTH AND PEACE OF MIND
By Luke G. Thomas

A poor Vermont boy, I was orphaned at 12. I did all the wrong things up to age 58 and yet have managed to live to age 86, sound physically and sharp mentally. I am neither retired nor in a rest home; I am truly enjoying productive activities.

Many FATE readers believe an unseen energizing force may be tapped by receptive researchers to greater or lesser degree. Some seek mystic wisdom, mantras or simulets. I found the "magic pearl" by learning and obeying simple, natural laws of eating, deep breathing, mild exercising, resting and respecting the loving Creator.

IT PAYS TO CONSIDER NEW IDEAS

You may need the priceless information brought to me in 1950, following a fourth heart attack. Survival seemed remote. I also suffered from painful arthritis, high blood pressure, prostatitis and obesity which I blamed upon age. I WAS KIDDING MYSELF . . . it was the effects of wrong information. Since 1950 my body rebuilt itself with what I put into it. Doctors say my heart is sound . . . I suffer no pain, use no medication, exult in energy.

Once I corrected mistakes, CHANGED HABITS brought me, automatically, HEALTH, NEW IDEAS and ENTHUSIASM. Thus I gradually became PROSPEROUS and HAPPY. Life wants you to be the same. We are mysteriously endowed with body cells which replace themselves INDEFINITELY according to what goes into the mouth and through the mind. ADDING LIFE TO LIFE IS SIMPLE, for "Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap". This is POSITIVE, INEXORABLE TRUTH! It is possible to undo some damage you created, as I did, through ignorance and violation of fixed, universal laws.

How far you may improve your health, circumstances and influence by following my advice, no man can tell. These "magic laws" should work for you as they have for me and thousands of others. YOUR OWN CHOICES of food, water, thoughts and action will decide the outcome. "The human body," says Dr. H. G. Bieler, M.D., "has an amazing capacity to repair its own injuries and to heal its illnesses". MY BODY DID IT WHEN I TREATED IT INTELLIGENTLY. If you dream of more abundant and productive life on earth my "magic laws" are worth trying.

CHANGE WHAT YOU CAN CHANGE

You cannot change your countenance, your genes or aptitudes but YOU CAN MAKE BETTER USE OF WHAT YOU HAVE. How you live, now that you have read this story, may determine HOW LONG YOU LIVE IN YOUR SELF-HEALING BODY. Right where you live . . . just as you are . . . start from where you stand, as I did, to feel all new. ACT NOW: Place 28¢ stamps on a long envelope self-addressed to a potentially happy, healthy, successful person . . . yourself. Mail the envelope with only $1.00 to help cover printing and labor to

HAVE YOU SEEN THE SAUCERS?

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE PERSONAL KIND

According to a national survey millions of Americans have seen flying saucers. And while figures are not available indicating just how many individuals claim to have established contact with the occupants of these alien objects or been taken onboard, there is evidence that thousands of ordinary people have had face-to-face contact with UFO-nauts. Do you have a first-hand story to tell? UFO REVIEW would like to publish your personal experience of no more than 2,000 words. All manuscripts should be typewritten and double spaced and mailed to: Have You Seen the Saucers? c/o UFO REVIEW, 303 Fifth Avenue (Suite 1306), New York, N.Y. 10016. We will pay $25.00 for those accounts used and would appreciate a photograph of yourself to run along with the piece and any artwork including illustrations of the UFOs you encountered and the aliens themselves.

INSIDE THE SHIP

By Barbara Hudson

In the summer of 1955 I found myself leading a rather typical life for a girl who had just turned fifteen. I had occasional dates and was just beginning to think about my upcoming year in high school.

One rather humid night I found myself tossing and turning in bed even though the luminous hands of the clock showed the time to be 3 A.M. Suddenly my attention was turned to the adjoining room where my mother was sleeping. Approaching seemed to be the footsteps of a very heavy person. I could clearly hear the sound of the floor boards creaking beneath the weight of someone walking.

Thinking perhaps that it was my father or mother I neglected to turn to see who it was. But after the footsteps stopped I then became aware of eyes watching me. It was then that I turned over in bed and noticed a man standing in the doorway. Thinking that he may be a prowler I became alarmed and paralyzed with fear.

Through the darkness of the room I could make out a figure of a very tall "human being." My attention was almost immediately drawn to his eyes. They were piercing shafts of light which seemed to have an almost hypnotic effect on me. Then crossing the room he stopped at the foot of my bed. His only words were "Would you follow me?"

I then seemed to get control of myself and sat up on the edge of the bed and asked "Where are we going? At that time I had a passing thought to call out to my mother but he warned me, as if reading my thoughts, that it would be to no avail. However he assured me that I would be all right and would be returned shortly.

After saying "follow me please" he led the way into the darkened dining room. In the center of the dining room was a grey mist which extended from the floor up to the ceiling. He went ahead of me and appeared to step up on the mist itself, and yet the mist seemed to support him. Grabbing his hand I followed onto what appeared to be a solid platform inside the vapor.

From inside, the mist took on the appearance of a solid metallic wall. A door-like projection then closed all around us and I felt slight movement as if I were in an elevator. It seemed like a matter of only seconds before the door reopened, and when it did I found myself in a long corridor with rounded sides and occasional doors down both sides.

By the light from the hallway I could tell that the man who had led me here was way over six feet tall, perhaps closer to seven. He had dark hair, dark complexion and was very broad. Staring closely at his eyes one could tell that the iris was much larger than those of a normal person. In fact, the black of the eyeball seemed to cover almost the entire part of the eye replacing the white in a normal earth person's eye. The center of the pupil was more of a dark brown; it had been from here that I had first seen the shafts of light extending toward my bed. Only while in the dark was this glow visible. His facial features, other than his eyes, seemed to be quite normal.

Helping me in and out of the "mist" I managed to touch him several times. His flesh felt very soft almost as if he had no bones in his body. He was warm to the touch and was definitely a physical being.

In short, by earthly standards he wasn't handsome but he wasn't monstrous either.

This being then asked me to step out into the corridor and to walk to the far end of the passageway. At the end of the passage there was another man standing and he gestured for me to enter after him into what seemed to be a control room.

The room was filled with a vibrant pink glow, unlike the pale bluish-white of the hall from which we had just entered. There were instruments that seemed to be alive with movement and many varied colored lights that blinked on and off in alternating patterns.

Eight or nine persons were seated in front of the control panels each with his or her own assigned instrument. To the right was a giant viewing screen which I was told to take a seat in front of. Immediately the screen lit up and I saw a large object at the bottom of the viewer which appeared to move away from us. The object was a blue hazy ball which they told me was earth. A few seconds later our moon came into view and I was surprised to find it had a greenish glow to it.

It was then that I realized I was in outer space!

The spokesman for the group told me that I was the first woman since Biblical times to have been taken aboard one of their craft. It was explained to me that I was aboard one of their mother ships which was used as a laboratory, and that the occupants of this ship were in the process of taking samples of the earth's atmosphere. They told me that their main purpose in bringing me aboard was that they wanted to show me what the planet Earth looked like from outside our atmosphere.

Then I was escorted to another room where a meal was in the process of being served. It consisted chiefly of fruits and wines. Placed before me was a piece of fruit which resembled an apple or something which looked like a melon. Bowls and bowls of fruit of varied kinds were laid out on crystal top tables that were of smoky glass color. After I had completed the meal I was told that it was time for me to return to my apartment.

Before departing I was told that their race was visiting earth in an attempt to contact "their own." I was puzzled by this remark and was told that I would understand more about this in the future. At no time was I told from which planet they came—and believe it or not I never thought to ask. It's almost as if this thought had been extracted from my mind so that this question could not be posed.

I was led back down the dimly lit corridor by the same mysterious man who had brought me there. I entered through a sliding door and found myself in an identical cubicle to the one that I had arrived in. I felt a downward motion and could feel myself becoming slightly nauseous as one would feel descending rapidly in an elevator. When the door opened we were surrounded by the same fog type mist in the center of my dining room. The entity stepped out first and reached for me, grabbing me at the waist and pulling me down after him. Before leaving he told me that there would be further contacts but he did not give a specific time.

Stepping back inside the mist he raised his hand in a gesture of farewell. I went immediately and turned on the light but saw nothing—even the "mist" had vanished.

My dog Sheena came over, greeted me, and went at once to the center of the floor where the strange capsule from outer space had been only brief seconds before.

Walking back into the front, my mother was sitting up in bed and as I passed her on the way back to my room, she questioned me as to why I was doing so much walking. And why had I shaken her sore foot before (Had I done this as a "signal" when passing with the alien)? Puzzled I asked her if she had seen anyone else besides me, to which she remarked that the only thing she heard had been footsteps.

I went back into my room and sat on the bed once again unable to sleep. This time the problem stemmed from my brief experience inside a ship from another world.
