MIG was founded in 2000 to provide a reporting venue for witnesses of unusual events. Many unusual events occur in Missouri each year, which are not reported and subsequently are not investigated. A goal of MIG is to have representatives in each of the 115 Missouri counties. This would create a reporting network of spotters who will be aware of what is happening in their areas and report current activity to the group. Director Barbara Becker.

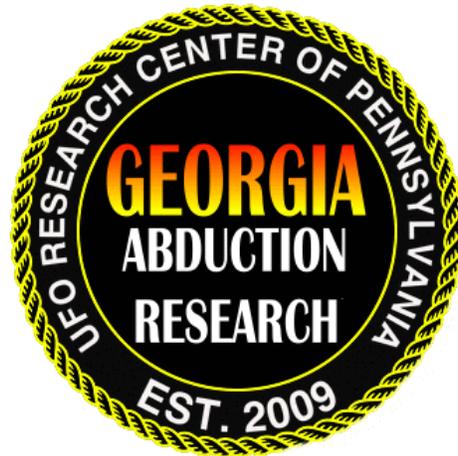

If you are interested in participating in this effort, please email ufomig@yahoo.com

I represent MIG, the Missouri Investigators Group based in Columbia, Mo. <http://ufomig.yolasite.com>. We investigate UFO, Animal Mutilation, Bigfoot, Crop Circle and Abduction reports in Missouri and surrounding states. If anyone in Oregon County has experienced anything unusual, please contact me by email at UFOMIG@yahoo.com or go to our website and make a report. <http://ufomig.yolasite.com/online-report-form.php> all information will be kept confidential. Thank you, Barbara Becker

Alien Abduction

The terms or abduction phenomenon describes "memories of being taken against one's will by apparently nonhuman entities, and subjected to complex physical and psychological procedures." People claiming to have been abducted are usually called "abductees" or "experiencers." Typical claims involve being subjected to a forced medical examination that emphasizes their reproductive system.

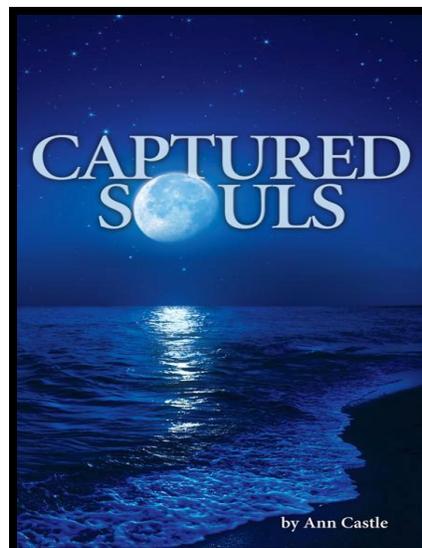

Abductees sometimes claim to have been warned against environmental abuse and the dangers of nuclear weapons. Consequently, while many of these purported encounters are described as terrifying, some have been viewed as pleasurable or transformative.

To report an abduction experience contact:

Ann Castle is an active, certified UFO Investigator and has studied UFOs and related phenomena for over 20 years. She is also a talented clairvoyant, with a growing international client base. She specializes in aura reading and remote viewing, and teams with law enforcement in criminal investigations to help find missing persons and suspects. It was inevitable that her interests in UFOs and missing persons would culminate in her novel, Captured Souls. www.aurareadings.com.

Headed by William Hood the Oklahoma UFO Research Group investigates and research's UFO activity and Cattle Mutilations in the State of Oklahoma.

They research both historical and present day cases presented to them. William has been investigating the phenomenon over twenty years and is a wealth of information and with a military and security background is well suited in the search for the truth.

NEWS FROM THE INSTITUTE OF FRONTIER SCIENCE

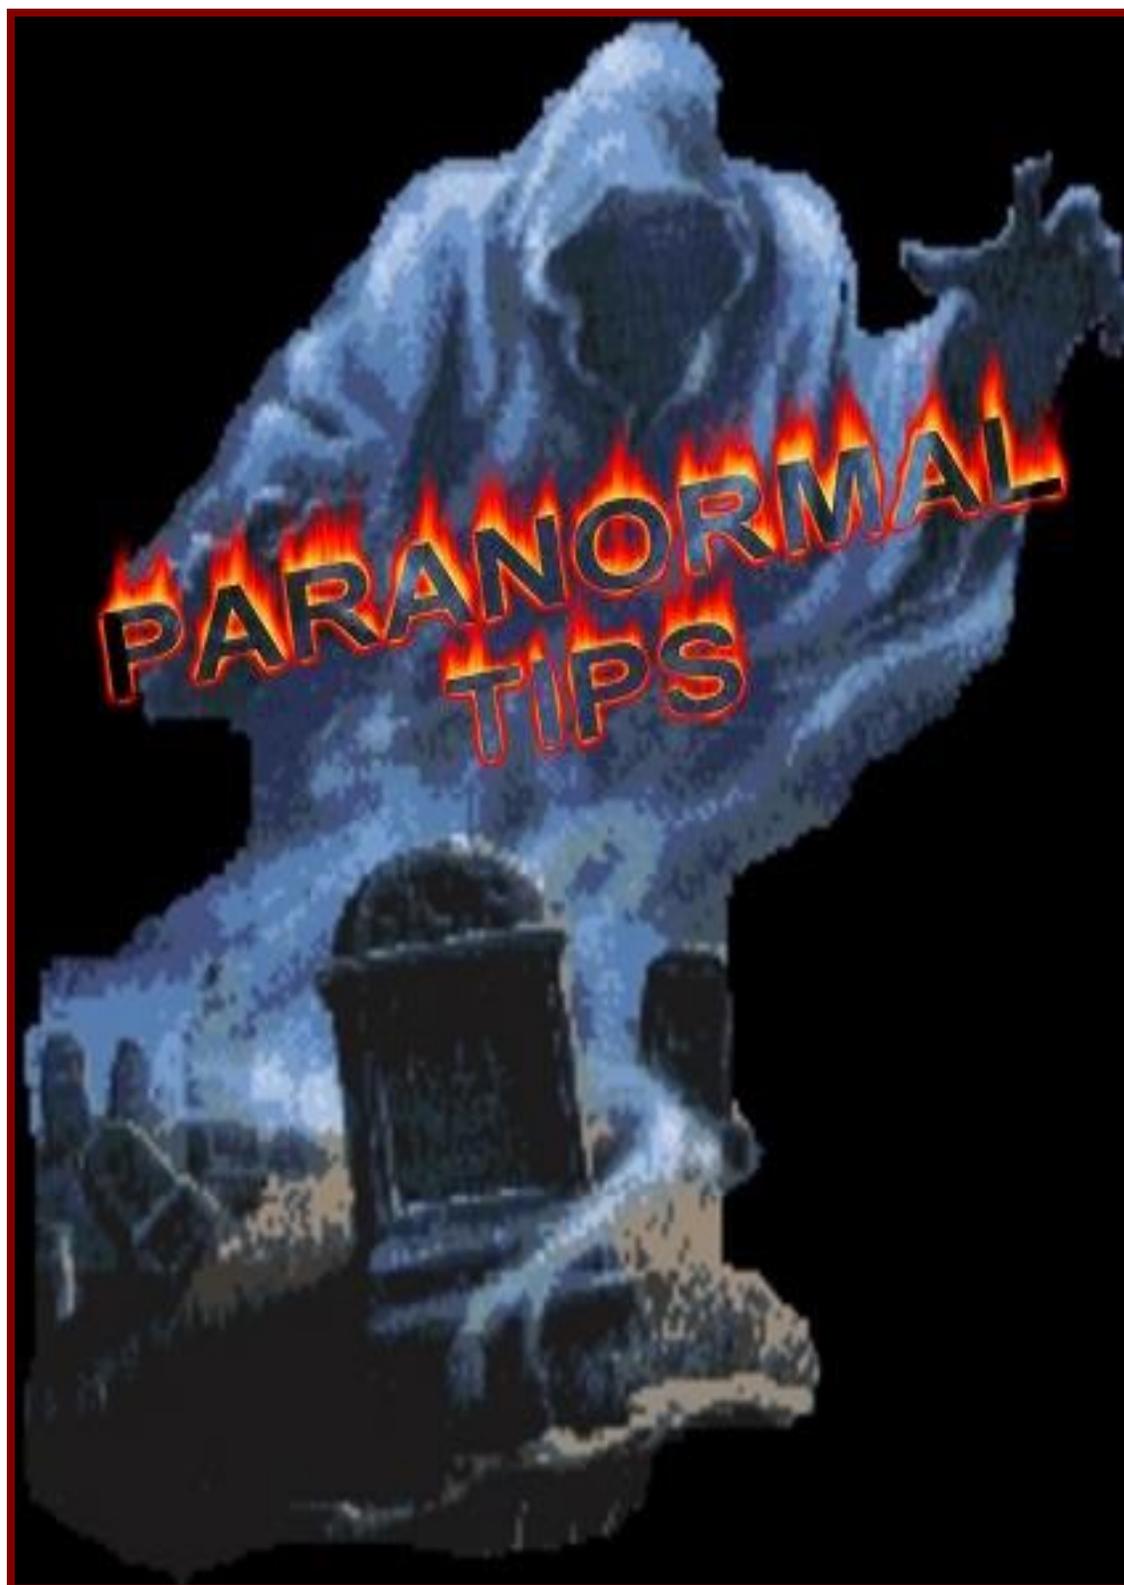

The Institute Of Frontier Science gives a great opportunity for those who are writing or making reports in the field of Ufology, as well as seasoned researchers.

Its founder and leader is Steven S. Bass, who in addition to being the Founder and Director of the Institute is also well known and respected by everyone involved in the Ufology community.

"The Institute of Frontier Science is an elite fellowship of highly experienced and knowledgeable specialists in the scientific field of Ufology."

The Institute of Frontier Science offers people the chance to embark on the truths that lie within the UFO genre. IFS will also educate the uneducated on a subject that has been kept behind closed doors for much too long. The institute will take time to build, but already has the "Big Guns" in place. IFS is for the truth and nothing but. People are encouraged to join this great undertaking, for what I am sure will be a rewarding and educational venture into the science of Ufology.

PENNSYLVANIA PARANORMAL

WHAT DO YOU CALL THE STUDY OF THE PARANORMAL?

The study of paranormal activity is actually called several things. People who are interested in hauntings, apparitions and poltergeists usually in specific locations, are called "ghost hunters" or "ghost investigators". Many of these work in groups or teams generally of a more casual nature.

People who are more focused on producing information from their work may be called "paranormal investigators" or "paranormal researchers". These labels are arbitrary; it is possible "ghost hunters" may call themselves "paranormal investigators" for example. This is as confusing as it sounds.

Those who are academicians and are interested in studying fields related to specific anomalous phenomena (such as extrasensory perception, environmental effects on perception tasks, psychokinetic and mental interactions on living systems) are termed "parapsychologists." Parapsychologists usually have advanced degrees. Many are members of the Para psychological Association.

CAUTION!

A recent email we received was from a woman who contacted a Pennsylvania Paranormal Group regarding some Paranormal Activity in her home. When a spokesperson for that group contacted her she was advised the charge for ridding her residence of Ghosts and a House Blessing would be $400.00. She got all the information from the group including an estimate of charges and a guarantee. (Unbelievable!) She then turned the information over to the Police. Please be aware of such things, they do happen.

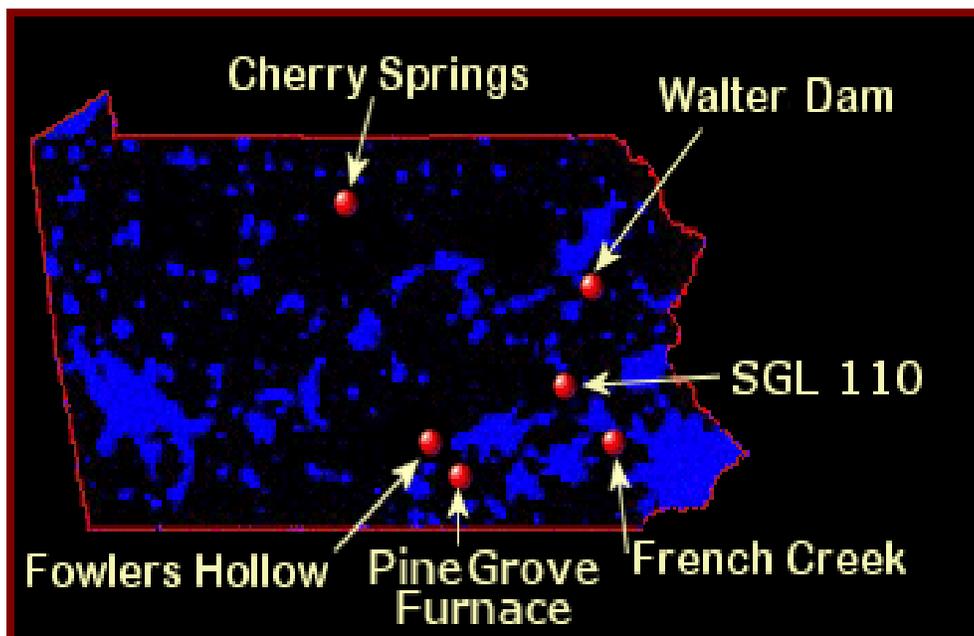

PENNSYLVANIA LEGENDS

STRANGE CREATURE

Lancaster County, Pennsylvania - August 1973

An ungodly looking creature created havoc among the local god-fearing Amish community. Witnesses described the creature as following: The size of a good heifer, gray in color with a white mane. It had tiger like fangs and curved horns like a Billy goat. It ran upright on long legs, and had long grizzly claws. In one incident, the creature sent a team of horses and two brothers flying when it approached their hay wagon. The following day, a man was cutting weeds on his farm about five miles from the previous incident when he heard a fierce roar and turned to see a monster with three horns and a tail charging in his direction. He raised his scythe to defend himself, only to have the implement ripped from his hands. At that point, the man wisely decided to turn both cheeks to the monster and escaped as fast as he could run. A day later a woman was feeding poultry on a farm midway between the two earlier incidents when she heard a commotion and turned to see the creature in the act of snatching a goose in each of its hands. She bravely ran toward the thing, waving her apron. The woman managed to recover one of her geese when the creature threw it at her, knocking her to the ground in the process. The interloper then escaped with the remaining bird in hand.

Never-before-seen alien planet just 300 light years from Earth

A newly discovered gaseous planet has been directly photographed orbiting a star about 300 light-years from Earth. Imaging alien planets is difficult, and this world may be the least massive planet directly observed outside of the solar system, scientists say.

A sharp new photo released by the European Southern Observatory (ESO) Monday, June 3, depicts the suspected gas giant (called HD 95086 b) circling its young star (named HD 95086) in infrared light. The star has been removed from the image to allow the planet — shown as a bright blue dot at the bottom left of the picture — to shine through.

HD 95086 b was sighted by ESO's Very Large Telescope in Chile. Based on the planet's brightness, scientists estimate that it is only about four or five times more massive than Jupiter.

Most exoplanets are discovered via indirect means, such as detecting a dip in a star's light when a planet passes in front of it, blocking part of its face, or finding a slight wobble in a star's movement caused by the gravitational tug of planets orbiting it.

"Direct imaging of planets is an extremely challenging technique that requires the most advanced instruments, whether ground-based or in space," Julien Rameau, an astronomer at the Institute of Astrophysics and Planetology in France and lead author of the study announcing the discovery, said in a statement. "Only a few planets have been directly observed so far, making every single discovery an important milestone on the road to understanding giant planets and how they form."

Another photo from ESO shows the star and its planet in context with other stars in the southern constellation of Carina, the keel.

The planet orbits its star at about twice the distance from the sun to Neptune and about 56 times the distance between Earth and the sun. The blue circle in the photo represents the distance between the sun and Neptune.

HD 95086 is relatively young star at only 10 million to 17 million years old, making the formation of the exoplanet and the dusty disc surrounding the star potentially intriguing to researchers.

"[The planet's] current location raises questions about its formation process," Anne-Marie Lagrange, one of Rameau's team members, said in a statement. "It either grew by assembling the rocks that form the solid core and then slowly accumulated gas from the environment to form the heavy atmosphere, or started forming from a gaseous clump that arose from gravitational instabilities in the disc. Interactions between the planet and the disc itself or with other planets may have also moved the planet from where it was born."

Cattle Mutilations Reports

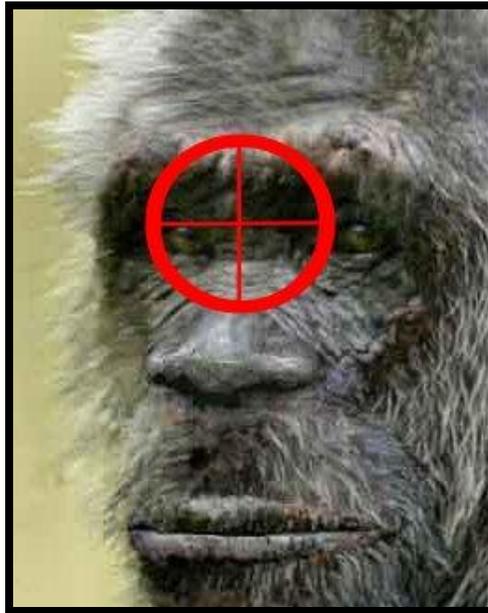

There has never been a report of a Cattle Mutilation in the State of Pennsylvania that can be located or verified.

“Mysterious is a puff word, synonymous with Imaginary”

Did a Turkey hunter shoot and kill Bigfoot in Pennsylvania?

Nope! More good old Pennsylvania urban rumors, and misinformation as usual.

It is straight out of the Pennsylvania X-Files, but conspiracy theorists are buzzing with speculation that the shooting and killing of the legendary Bigfoot in Altoona, Pennsylvania has been covered up by authorities. Researchers and Investigators from the PA Bigfoot Society based in Western Pennsylvania called it from the start and their subsequent investigation proved correct. (Hoax or Misidentification)

According to Bigfoot enthusiasts, on May 14th, police in Altoona, Pennsylvania took a 911 call from a John Winesickle claiming to have proof of Sasquatch a few miles from his property and wanted them to come and verify this.

While the 911 call is not in doubt, what followed has become a matter of dispute and debate as various rumors have circulated - mainly focusing on an unidentified turkey hunter who had shot and killed the mythic beast and a menacing helicopter hovering over the alleged scene.

Although the police report concludes that Winesickle saw Bear tracks, he's still thankful they investigated, and he still insists Bigfoot was in the area.

Reported Bigfoot sightings in Pennsylvania – Hundreds

Conclusive prove provided Bigfoot inhabits Pennsylvania – None

True believers in Bigfoot have ignored a long history of hoaxes and misidentifications. Non-believers say they simply haven't seen proof.

Pennsylvania ranks tenth among states with more than 500 sightings dating to the 1800s.

There's a lot of evidence. The problem is it's not good evidence.

If there is so much proof according to some why hasn't a combined expedition of active research groups ever taken place in Pennsylvania? The more in the field the better, right?
