BANSHEE PUB (Scranton, Lackawanna County) The Penn Avenue pub is famous for its Irish ambiance. But during the 1918 flu epidemic, the then dry goods store was commandeered as a makeshift morgue, its basement filled with corpses claimed by the disease. "Some people have said that The Banshee ...is haunted. So if you see the old man dressed in black sitting in a snug, or a young girl climbing the stairs to the second floor, take ease in your knowledge that you are not alone in your sighting, and know that they mean you no harm. They are only looking to share in the atmosphere of The Banshee, and besides, they were here first!" And hey, what's an Irish Pub without a spirit or three? (Scranton Times-Tribune "Ghost Walk Tours Scranton's Macabre Past," October 18, 2009)

BROAD MOUNTAIN GHOST (Broad Mountain, Schuylkill County) In 1925, two hikers tramping up Broad Mountain made a gruesome discovery. Under a circle of crows lay the partially burned body of a young woman. Her skull was fractured and her body cut up. Her identity was never found, nor was her killer ever brought to justice. It's said that you can still see her ghost, shadowy and translucent, floating in circles between the towns of Gordon and Hecksherville searching for her murderer. It's also been reported that she's been spotted walking on the local lake. This Schuylkill tale is part of Charles Adams III book Coal Country Ghost Legends and Lore.

JOHN T. ANDERSON CEMETERY (Independence Twp., Beaver County) Service Creek Church, along the banks of the Ambridge reservoir, was built in the 1700's. You approach the church and graveyard through a lane lined with pines. (The cemetery was named for Dr. John Anderson, the pastor from 1788-1810) Don't let the calm fool you. There's plenty going on in the cemetery. There are strange voices in the air and sudden thunderstorms come up at the drop of a hat, which end once you reach the end of the road (a psychic warning if we ever saw one). There's also a sense of being watched. One Civil War era ghost appears at his grave still lying in his coffin. The spirits there are supposed to want to communicate with the living. A few notes of warning – this is a popular lover's lane, so sorting out psychic manifestations from teenage shenanigans isn't easy. Don't get off the road to investigate things. Because of its reputation with the teens, the police in the area are pretty vigilant and strict. And finally, remember that the church and cemetery are still active. Act accordingly & behave. UFORCOP: COLD CASE UNIT

Based in Pennsylvania with Independent Investigators and Researchers in a number of States reopening and reviewing unsolved cases in Ufology, Crypto Zoology and the Paranormal.

- The Kecksburg Incident, Kecksburg PA
- The Brown Mountain Lights, Morganton, NC
- The Dyatlov Pass Incident, Dyatlov Pass, RU
