Helping People Become Aware

COSMIC AWARENESS is the Force that expressed Itself through Jesus of Nazareth, the Buddha, Krishna, Mohammed, Edgar Cayce and other great avatars who served as 'Channels' for the 'Heavenly Father' and who speaks again today as the world begins to enter the 'New Age' of spiritual consciousness and awareness. Since 1963 Cosmic Awareness has been communicating through carefully-trained channels. The information contained herein was received from deep super-conscious 'trance' levels and 'interpreted' by an entity affiliated with C.A.C. This information is for those who desire to help in bringing in the New Age. Throughout the thousands of 'Readings' given through these various channels, Cosmic Awareness tells us not to believe anything, but to question, explore, doubt, and discover for yourself, through your own channel what is the truth. Cosmic Awareness will only 'indicate' and 'suggest'. Neither C.A.C. or any of the Interpreters is responsible for anything Cosmic Awareness states in any of these readings, nor does C.A.C. or the interpreters necessarily agree with the statements of Cosmic Awareness. The interpreters interpret the energies as they see them in trance levels and are not personally responsible for what is said. The interpreters published herein have no connection with, nor control over the editorial comments and material, including illustrations. This is entirely the responsibility of the editor. Members of C.A.C. are invited to send in questions of general interest to ask Awareness for possible publication in this newsletter.

Exploring the Concepts of Maturity

AND Immaturity

THE CONCEPT OF MATURITY AS OPPOSED TO IMMATURITY

( More on Setting a Goal for your Life )

(Opening Message )

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness wishes that entities look carefully at the concept of maturity as opposed to immaturity; that this concept of maturity as that which is often prized highly, and that of immaturity is that which is seen as less than desirable. That in order to understand the difference between these two concepts entities must recognize that it is the ability, or willingness of an entity to deprive self of some gratification in order to acquire something of greater value which creates the mature concept or attitude.

The immature entity seeks what it wants when it wants it and is impatient whereas the more mature entity recognizes that though it may want this and may want this now, it is much better to wait until the time is right, or it is better to forego this momentary desire for something which is of greater significance or value. That these two different attitudes may influence the lives of entities in their every-day experiences and determine how these entities respond to the various circumstances within their lives.

As entities become more mature, the response to a circumstance is changed from the response of the less mature approach; that the difference between the mature approach and the immature approach may be seen in great contrast when comparing many youthful adventures to those of the elderly. This Awareness indicates that the young person, still immature, may tend to demand quick success with little effort, and in the process of expressing such demands may create great trouble for the self which denies the entity the potential future which he or she might otherwise have, whereas the more mature entity would recognize that good things take time.

This may also be compared to the making of wine. That wherein an entity becomes impatient, the wine may be sipped before it is ready, and the entity who has the greater patience may make a better wine. Likewise, in cooking, to become impatient and eat the food before it is done as that which can yield disappointment. That entities who are of an immature nature generally exhibit impatience and seek to have the results of that which they see accumulated by others who are more mature and who have put much time and energy and development into reaching the results which they have accumulated.

In the present-day society there is a greater tendency than at any other in history for entities to seek these momentary gratifications, for too many entities do not have the feeling or sense of a long future. That wherein entities cannot see the future as being that which is long and promising, entities can too easily become focused on present momentary gratifications which give the satisfaction of the present, but promise nothing for the future. This does tend to destroy goals, and purposes and directions, and meanings and values of significance. That the entities who are of a more mature level, regardless of what age this may be, tend to be aware of the need to allow time to take its course and to set goals which endure through time and to work toward those goals so that certain things of significant value may be accomplished other than mere infantile momentary gratifications.

This Awareness indicates that by setting a goal for oneself to move in a particular direction, whether this goal is specified or completely general, whether this direction is specified or vague, the action of creating a direction in one's life, even if only general, as that which allows the entity to begin moving and developing in the sense of a purpose, a meaning, and a commitment to do something. That as soon as an entity makes such a commitment to do something, or to go somewhere, even if it is in a vague direction at the start, the entity's energies and magnetic center, the soul, begin to draw energy to it, and begins development, whereby the magnetic center increases, becomes stronger.

The magnetism of the entity begins to increase and draws more energy to it. Thus the entity who has no direction but is tossed by this wind, by this wave, by this entity, by this energy, tossed here, then there, then back to another place, forward, down, behind, to the side, or seduced by this interest over here, then that over there, this one back here...whereby the entity has no direction, likened unto a moth which seeks to find the light, but does not know how to approach the light, particularly when the lights are everywhere. That this entity, likened unto a drunk or intoxicated moth, seeking something without knowing what, reaching that something, then bouncing off and seeking something else. This action of not having a wish, not having a will, not having a commitment or purpose which the entity can work with, simply waiting to be a victim of circumstances in life, this action as that which tends to deplete the soul, deplete the energies of the magnetic center, whereby these energies are dispersed and dissipated.

This Awareness indicates that the more an entity can set course and sail in a general direction toward a specific or if not a specific, at least a general goal, the more the entity conserves the energy which has been given and uses that energy for the purpose of the soul. That it is common for young people to scatter their energies everywhere, for they have been given so much energy they know not what to do with all of that stuff. Therefore, they throw energy here and there, and this is natural and this is common, for they are in fact attuned to energy itself.

However, as entities mature and the thrill of exploring this new realm begins to wear off and the momentary gratifications of this new realm lose their lure, and the entity starts to think more deeply and question: "What am I here for, where am I going, what is there here that I should do?"; when these questions are asked, the entity may then begin to see a general direction.

This Awareness does not wish to tell entities which direction they should approach but this Awareness indicates that the entity may for example state: "I want to move my life in a direction that is good for myself and others." This is a general direction, yet it is a direction, even though it is very broad. That it may be a much better direction than the direction of the immature entity who has a specific goal: "I want to get that bottle because it looks so delicious."

This Awareness indicates that such an immature and infantile wish or goal is but momentary and may have little meaning to the entity's overall life, yet many of the young people in the world today think along these infantile concepts throughout the day, seeking those infantile gratifications. The trouble is that these infantile gratifications often carry into adulthood, whereby the entity has the privileges of adulthood, but the immaturity of the child.

That when this occurs, then you have the development of the antisocial, the alcoholic or the criminal type, who, seeking gratification, violates the rights of others in order to achieve some mementary gratification that would be of little value to a more mature entity. This Awareness indicates that It wishes at this time to assist entities who are still lingering in these immature and infantile levels, whether adult or youthful, to recognize the difference between adulthood and maturity, for adults may also be very immature.

This Awareness indicates that these concepts of immaturity lie also in other areas besides physical gratification. They may lie also in terms of relationships, whereby an entity wants this person or wants this relationship with this person at all costs, and wants this now. The entity may be totally oblivious to the other's relationships with his or her family, or his or her marriage partner, and sees this only as an obstacle to his or her desire to have that person.

These immature quests or wishes are those which create havoc in a society; that it is this particular concept of the immature being of society which has long created the problems within a society and which at this time is creating many of the problems in your society today. This Awareness indicates that as entities develop more long-range purposes, more long-range goals, the dangers and problems which are associated with immaturity will begin to fade as entities will become more mature.

Entities with Suicidal Natures

Those who are of a suicidal nature are entities who essentially have no goals to work toward. They feel their future is futile, their efforts are futile; that those who still have goals would find it difficult to conceive of suicide. Likewise, suicidal activities or destructive activities wherein one becomes destructive to self or to society; these are often accompanied by lack of well-defined and well-thought out goals. Therefore, those who are attempting to mold society, to direct society, or to help others, should be very aware of the importance of helping entities find a sense of direction, a sense of purpose. That wherein the purpose and direction are vague, this, even though vague, can be of great importance, particularly wherein the entity makes a strong commitment to move toward that vague direction with the hope that something there will turn up of a specific nature that will be of value to his or her life.

This Awareness indicates that all journeys begin in a general direction, and all destinations end in a specific point. That as entities begin their journeys through life in a general direction, with a general goal, they can be sure that in time, if they continue, they will reach a specific point. This point may be undisclosed at the time of departure. In creating a commitment, entities are essentially setting a course, setting the rudder so that they can sail in that direction without being pulled off course by the winds, by the waves and by the influence of others.

This Awareness indicates that in making one's commitment one may wish to have a general commitment, even a vague commitment or even a conditional commitment that is not too strong, and to move in the direction of that commitment, exploring with the realization that the commitment may be made more binding and more certain and more specific if it appears to be the proper direction. That in such movement, commitments increasing, also are accompanied by an increase in strength, an increase in soul development and the magnetic energy which a being has.

That the so-called animal magnetism, the so-called charisma, the so-called spiritual vibrations which entities witness in one another is directly related to the type and intensity of commitments which those entities hold, for as your commitments are strengthened, likewise the energies which you carry are strengthened and you are more able to carry greater energies. Therefore, when one comes into conflict en route, and the conflict is such as to be challenging to the point of near-destruction, the entity, having the choice of losing courage and giving up or even though under extreme duress, holding onto commitment and carrying on, such entities become stronger from the affair.

The Ordeal of Fire

This Awareness indicates that the strength which comes allows the entity to have even greater force and power of commitment. That this action wherein entities are driven by burning desire, by wish, by will; this fiery desire, this fiery will, this wish to achieve or to arrive, this which is the essence of commitments is the Ordeal of Fire which entities have long heard of in metaphysical symbolism. The Ordeal of Fire is that which tempers the steel, the will within a being.

The tempering of one's being, of one's will, gives strength, and it is through this movement into conflict, the heating up of conflict as you pursue your purpose, whereby you are plunged into cold despair, the water of emotion, the feeling of having failed, of having lost; yet from the depths of such despair, coming back with courage, and coming forth from this water of despair, looking about and saying to yourself: "I have wallowed in the Lake of Sorrows long enough, and now I must continue on my path."

This Awareness indicates that this steel, having been tempered, plunged from the Ordeal of Fire into the Lake of Sorrow and now brought forth again, may move with greater strength as the entity again picks up his or her purpose, chooses his or her direction and carries on. The quality that differentiates the leader from the follower is the quality of commitment.

THE COMMITMENT TO THE NEW AGE :

How to test your dedication

QUESTION:

Awareness, we've received a lot of different letters from various members over the years, announcing that they have made a commitment to the New Age, to change the energies on this plane to the New Age energies, but most of them don't know exactly how to do this. Does just a mental commitment in an area like that, will it do the job, or is there....can Awareness suggest some actual things these entities could be doing?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this commitment is likened unto a commitment toward a general direction; that one must move in a general direction before one can see the specific definitions or territory that lies beyond the horizon of that general direction. As entities move toward the New Land, toward the New Concepts, these will become more defined as they move farther and farther in that direction.

Again, this is a consideration of patience and maturity, for an entity who says: "I want to try out the New Age energies, but having tried these out for several weeks, (or even for several years), I found little gratification, so now I wish to try out other energies;" such is not a commitment of enduring strength to lead to that which is the New World.

If you can imagine Columbus or his crew setting forth for the New World, and at approximately 200 miles out from Europe, these entities saying: "We committed ourselves to the New Age, but we see nothing on the horizon, therefore we have decided to drift in circles or go back from whence we came,"—this would not be a commitment of a mature level.

This Awareness indicates that to dedicate oneself to the New Age is to dedicate oneself to the future and to the ideals which lie beyond the horizon and one must have faith and hope that there is something beyond the horizon. Such commitments depend on hope and on faith and cannot be presented and gratified by momentary evidences.

This Awareness indicates that this Awareness does have certain future events, activities, plans which It wishes to deliver to those who are open and dedicated to the New Age, but this Awareness indicates also that these things take time to be manifested. Even to be put into words, even to be presented as concepts these things take time. That for the entity who is committed to the New Age, even if this Awareness ceased to communicate to those on this plane, the entity who is truly committed to the New Age would still remain so committed. And it is that commitment that would again allow for this Awareness to again communicate on this plane. This Awareness indicates that entities who are truly committed must make such a commitment that were all others to cease in their commitments, they would still remain committed, and even though they might be wounded, hurt, dying, weakened, they still would remain committed. This Awareness indicates that this is true courage and true commitment.

Even though such an entity might become discouraged and wallow in the lake of self-pity and sorrow, washing his or her face in the sorrow and reflection of the suffering which he or she has endured, the entity once washed and having concluded this ritual, would again take courage and move on according to the commitment.

This Awareness asks you to examine the depths of your commitment; to ask yourself not so much exactly: "What am I committed to?", but to tell yourself exactly: "What is the depth of my commitment, and in what general direction do I commit myself to move?". This Awareness indicates that as you move in this path toward the New Age energies, the general path becomes narrower and narrower until you are on a specific course that defines precisely where you are going, and it is your choice, each step of the way, for none other commits you nor forces you to walk the path in any direction other than that which you yourself choose.

This Awareness indicates that the general moves toward the specific as you move through time with your commitment; that you need not commit yourself to a specific point or goal. That you remain open to move toward that which is the general direction of your highest ideals and as you participate in the experiences on the way, you may find yourself entering more well-defined territories wherein specific events are chosen, are created by you to be your next goal in your movement toward this vague place which you seek.

This Awareness indicates that the plans which this Awareness has for entities, when presented, will be those which entities can move into without great commitment, or which entities can move into with great commitment. This Awareness indicates that It prefers entities not to move in terms of unrealistic faith, but to move into commitments and directions only as they develop trust based upon knowledge and understanding. In this manner entities are not lured by the false promise or false hopes, but are taking themselves step by step with full awareness into the next experience, and the next, and the next, even while traveling in a general direction toward the New Age energies.

ARE MEN MORE IRRESPONSIBLE TODAY?

(More on the cultural breakdown of the family)

QUESTION:

In a somewhat related question to the information just given and the information earlier about the young man who was shy at meeting women; Vikki got a letter from N.Z, which has an interesting question in it even though she isn't asking Awareness this, but I am. She writes: "I am very much looking forward to the future reading, "The Role of Woman." It seems in this latter part of the 20th Century, the role of men and women is being reversed. This is very confusing. I wonder why this is—ie., men want women's roles, and women want men's roles or are being forced into them because men won't accept their responsibilities as fathers, husbands, brothers, etc? They act like little boys in grown men's bodies. I'd like to be allowed to act like a woman instead of having to do both men and women's jobs all my life. If I didn't do the men's, it's either a fight on the job, or the job doesn't get done. I am a divorcee of 19 years. Where are all the responsible men?" And I think that last question is basically the question I'd like to ask Awareness. Is this an unusual situation, or is there a general trend today that more men are irresponsible and immature as she suggests?

The Child's View of Father and Mother

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this is indeed a trend. That this is in part due to the cultural breakdown of the family during the past 30 years, whereby the mother has essentially taken over the role of raising the children and the father, having little to do with the child other than occasional expressions of irritation when the child did something that offended the father, or mostly, relationship with the child in a playful and pleasant manner, whereby the child thinks of the father as an older brother who is fun to be with but is seldom around, and the child thinks of the mother as the one who directs the child, feeds the child and runs the family.

This Awareness indicates that the child growing up seeing the mother as the central force in the family, never develops a sense of personal strength. This is especially in reference to the male child, whereas the female child growing up and seeing the role of the mother as being the central force in the family, not seeing what the father does while on the job, but seeing the father as lounging around at home and having a special place in which the mother is the responsible entity and the father is treated as a person who is relatively pampered, or who is sheltered from household chores, and who is always ready to be playful and to become a buddy-buddy on a camping trip or something.

The Role of Father Today

This role of father as that which has been exemplified in movies and in television, whereas the mother is shown in the family as being the serious one, the one who holds it all together. Thus the child grows up using the mother and seeking fun with the father. If the particular family pattern doesn't work this way; for example, if there is no father or if the father isn't the buddy-buddy friend as in the movies, the child feels deprived, and feels that his life has been neglected, and the entity then feels that he has missed something of great importance and the entity looking for the partner, the female who will fill in and play the role that the mother is "supposed" to play, so that he can play the role that the father was "supposed" to play, whereby he plays with the children, lets the mother change the diaper, lets the mother do the housework, lets the mother earn the living, whereby he is but the one who provides the pleasure for the children, and all are happy that he is there.

This Awareness indicates that this is a stereotype concept which many males have as to what the father role is. That those who look at the role of the father as a hard-working dedicated provider for the family are becoming more few, for the divorce rate, particularly in the United States and European countries having increased so much that there are substitutes or step-fathers in the family, or no father at all, creating for the child a sense that fathers don't really exist very often; there are men in the world and there are mothers.

This Awareness indicates that the concept of a father is transferred to government powers; the authorities are the government forces, the police forces, and those authority figures in society, whereas the father himself has ceased to exist. There are men in mom's life, but there is no father in the family; that even when the step-father moves in, often it is such that he is not given the role of father; he is rather given the role of mom's live-in boyfriend.

This Awareness indicates that this automatically provides the child, the young male growing up, with a concept of what he is to do in his life and that is to find a woman who will take him in and let him have shelter while she provides the home, the energy and the welfare checks to hold the household together. With this as a pattern, how is it possible for this young man to grow up emulating a hard-working committed father of a family, when he has never seen such a model in his life?

This Awareness indicates this in part is due to the welfare programs which cut off welfare when the female is married, or when the family has a father figure. That in such welfare programs, entities are encouraged to remain single, not taking on a marriage commitment if they are to continue receiving their welfare checks. Thus, the relationship commitment, never finalized, is easy to dissolve, and the male entering the family does not feel a commitment to support the family, for it is not his chosen commitment and the government is the surrogate father of the family and the man who enters into this family relationship from the street is entering

5. illegally or in some sense unethically into this relationship, and therefore, putting something over on the government, who is the true father of this family.

This attitude over the past many years is more prevalent than entities would imagine, because of the high divorce rate, the fact that the mothers generally keep the children, that the mothers become dependent on welfare checks or on child support payments, and the fact that the men, recognizing that they could easily be stuck with child support payments or alimony payments, attempt to avoid those responsibilities that go with committed relationships by not making any legal commitments to the relationship.

Why Father Should Pay

This Awareness indicates that the women being desperate for affection, allow such relationships to exist without the legal commitments, and thus the men come and go, and the women raise the children as best they can and serve as the central force in the family. This Awareness indicates that this is a great change from the generations of the '30s and '40s. That the increased divorce rate is also creating a world in which men are developing a feeling of being useless in society, and women are developing a feeling of being slaves to society, of having to carry the burden of raising the children, feeding the children and caring for men who are incapable of carrying their own weight.

This Awareness suggests that entities in raising their children, if they have a father in the family, should have the children seek the father's permission, and seek money from the father for things which are needed, at least 70% of the time. That in many families, the mother gives the child the money, the child never relates to the father in terms of requesting. This action symbolizes for the child the materialism coming from the female, the materialism, the matter coming from that which is representative of nature and of the earth, but denies the child that aspect of receiving material gifts from the father, which in the child's subconscious is the provider.

This Awareness indicates that the father thus becomes displaced in society and in symbolism, and the spiritual father is also displaced with this breakdown in symbolism. Wherein the mother earns the money, she has every right to give this money according to her own commitments; that wherein the father earns the money, he has every right to give this money according to his commitments.

Wherein the mother and father are working together, each sharing in some way the commitments that they have chosen, these entities each have some right to the energy that is brought in by one or the other in terms of money or in terms of other nourishment.

This Awareness indicates that wherein the child sees this source of money coming from one parent or the other, the child then also in time begins to recognize through that parent the source of money and of the energy in connection with the society at large. However, when the child receives nourishment from the mother, receives money from the mother, receives permission from the mother and only receives an occasional nod or recognition or criticism or playfulness from the father, this father image is something which becomes an aloof presence, an aloof presence that has little meaning to the child's welfare, but is seen only as something that is meaningful to mother's moods, to mother's feelings, and the father is kept there for the child in order to keep mother from being in a bad mood, or the father is malfunctioning and has put mother into a bad mood, and the child's entire relationship being with mother, the provider of all things.

Many mothers enjoy this role, for they are important to the child and they cannot find importance in their husband or mate; that many mothers live their lives for their children and pour into the children the love which they deny from the husband, and the love which they feel denied from the husband they seek from their children.

A Strong Family is Defined (More on Divorce)

This Awareness indicates that a strong family is one wherein the husband and the wife look to each other for support, and together give support to the children, whereby the children can depend on mama and daddy to find solutions to the problems and to be there when the children need them. That wherein divorce disrupts a relationship between a man and wife, divorce disrupts the relationship between the father and the child, and the mother and the child also.

This Awareness indicates that you are not simply divorcing your mate, you are also divorcing your children. That the pain of such tearing apart of a family does many things to the psyche of a child. That there are situations in which the only solution is separation, and to stay together will do more damage for each partner and for the child than to separate. That these situations having each their own uniqueness, have also their particular effect on the child. That the general trend however, whereby divorce has increased because men refuse to be providers, or seek to be masters without providing love and affection, and whereby women expect too much and give too little; these situations leading to divorce do bring about alterations in the patterns of male and female children so that they grow up with different values. In time, sociologists in studying the effects of these patterns on generations following will arrive at a program whereby the ideal family situation will be outlined with great precision, and entities will be encouraged to follow that program for the greatest good for all concerned. That even then there will be exception. This Awareness indicates that at present there is no clear program other than ancient tradition as indicated through the religions, and though many of these traditions work well for many entities, for others they cause divorce, and are the basis for the differences that lead to divorce.

Generally speaking, boys tend to be of the same sex as their fathers.

HOW TO LOCATE MATURE, RESPONSIBLE MEN

QUESTION:

From that scenario, it seems like a pretty grim prospect in finding many mature responsible men then.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that one cannot find mature and responsible men in places where these types are seeking gratifications. That to find a mature and responsible man, one would logically seek out the types of schools or businesses in which one would hope to find a husband, but rather than this, most women look to bars or look to social events in which entities are slurping a drink, feeding a gratification, or attempting to find something to do, simply hanging around; that these are relaxed areas wherein entities can get acquainted.

This Awareness indicates however, that there are many varieties of beings who attend such places, and one never knows what one is getting into until one has already gotten into the relationship. That if an entity has a clear idea of the type of person he or she would desire, rather than scouting around in the dark, looking for such an entity by facial appearance, (unless facial appearance is what you are after), this Awareness suggests that you consider the advertisements in newspapers or the clubs related to computer dating or such, whereby you can list the qualifications of the type of person you would like to be with, and through such communication find entities who are in the general classification of your desires, being more able at that point to work out specifics, rather than simply letting chance find someone on the street or in a bar, or at a party.

Such chance meetings, if you shop long enough can bring together relationships that are meaningful, but generally are disappointments. That it is much better for entities not to be shopping for a husband, but rather to be meeting people and getting acquainted with people. This Awareness suggests that if there is a particular type of person you enjoy or want to be around, put yourself in the general area of society in which you would meet such entities.

For example, if you are particularly interested in newspaper reporters, you might go to the restaurant where the newspaper reporters eat their lunch. If you are particularly interested in doctors, you might go to the hospital cafeteria where doctors have their lunch. If you are simply looking for someone who works well, holds down a job and is loyal to you, then you might go to those gathering places near the industries whereby such entities meet and have lunch or talk together.

"... and do you, Marsha, promise to give it your best shot?"

This Awareness indicates that your chances of finding what you want are increased by the proximity in which you place yourself to that which you want. That wherein an entity is not particular in terms of occupations or the ability to provide, but is more concerned with personality and compatibility, the entity then may wish to go to those places wherein entities appear to be inclined to communicate freely, such as parties, social gatherings, picnics and such.

This Awareness indicates that any entity who seeks a mate must allow themselves to become somewhat available to the potential mate, whereby they can be in the proximity, whereby they can communicate or respond to overtures or communication directed to them, whereby they do not have expectations that the other is to do all of the work in the relationship, and whereby they are able to carry their share of the relationship that is being established, but unwilling to go beyond what is their own chosen level of commitment and sacrifice; that each entity knows what his or her limits are until they get in a relationship with another entity, then they discover that their limits go far beyond what they thought they could do, what they thought they would endure. This Awareness indicates that entities in relationship plumb depths of self they never realize existed, and those who cannot enter into these intensities may walk away. Others may stay, and the relationships may deepen.

Why Early Sexual Contact Should be Avoided

This Awareness indicates that entities should be most cautious to avoid sexual contact out of order, prior to the recognition of who you are dealing with, for sexual contact automatically creates a karma, and an energy between the entities and the relationship of getting to know each other will be colored by having been involved in sexual contact. That it is far superior in creating a healthy relationship for entities to discover each other mentally, emotionally, spiritually and socially before discovering each other sexually.

This Awareness indicates that wherein an entity has extreme difficulty in locating or finding a social life, the entity may consider perhaps that he or she is living in an area unsuitable; that larger cities and cities of a cultural level which is suitable to your own interests are those which may provide you with a better opportunity for finding a mate, a suitable mate. That entities in searching for a mate should be most cautious to not let this become the primary action in the relationships which they have. That it is appropriate for entities when meeting someone and discovering that: "This entity is not the person I would wish to live with," it is appropriate that the entity not simply discard out of a feeling of utility, discard this entity as a reject; it is important that the courtesy of friendship be allowed unless this creates a situation in which friendship is inappropriate, in which case, the relationship may need to be discarded.

This Awareness indicates that in having a large number of friends and associates, your chances of meeting still more is increased, and in meeting more, the chance of meeting one whom you will be compatible with is increased; that the greater number of friends you have, the greater the acceleration of new friendships. This Awareness suggests that friends bring friends into your life, thus you can become extremely popular in a short time if you do not exclude others from your life, and if you do not become clannish and over-selective. However, in having so many friends you may become victim of these excesses of visitations and acquaintances, thus in searching for a partner it may be that for a period of time you may be swamped with friends and acquaintances, many of whom you couldn't really care for, yet by keeping this type of atmosphere, your chances of meeting that one particular entity may increase. That for those who wish their privacy and to avoid being swamped with a wide variety of friends and acquaintances, entities should be cautious to keep their friends to a limited number, particularly their close friends, to establish a kind of environment whereby these friends come when invited or even uninvited, but that others do not. In this manner you may keep your privacy but your chances of meeting strangers without any particular networking involved will be limited. You may set things up whereby you go out into society, searching for the mate, either through these social businesses set up for that purpose, or through social gatherings which you select and attend. That also there is that method whereby you appeal to the Higher Forces to bring the right person into your life.

Help from the Higher Forces

This Awareness indicates that entities should be aware that often a potential mate is not available at a particular time; that the time whereby the potential mate shows up will have nothing to do with your personal efforts. That much of this is governed by forces outside of the self, but whereby you are open to relate and have prepared yourself for a relationship, when the times come, you will be ready and the relationship will be favorable.

This Awareness indicates that it is important for entities to ask themselves what they wish from a relationship and what they would give to a relationship, and have all of this clear in their minds so that when they enter into a relationship with another they can present their ideas clearly in a way whereby it is communicated so that both parties understand what the entity desires from the relationship. Too often entities enter into a relationship based on a smile, on an appearance or on some common situation or circumstance that by chance brings them together and from this circumstance they neither know what they want from the other, or what they are willing to give, but begin to attempt extraction from each other, and give excessively to make the relationship work, or demand excessively from the other without even knowing what they want, or what they themselves have to offer the other.

This Awareness indicates that in all relationships things must move slowly. That the degree of development in a relationship depends on the insight, intuitiveness and clarity of the entities involved, and wherein they are of similar nature and compatibility, the relationship may evolve quickly and suddenly, and wherein they are of great difference, the relationship may have many hurdles and stumbling blocks and difficulties.

If you are Dedicated & Committed, Don't Worry!

( Closing Message )

This Awareness indicates that in all things, in all goals, in seeking that which is meaningful one must develop a sense of commitment and patience, perseverance, and move in a general direction toward that which one is committed to. That likewise, in relationships, in social affairs, in all walks of life, entities moving in a particular direction with commitment to that direction will find those on the path who are of similar nature.

This Awareness indicates the entity who is dedicated to the New Age will be attending gatherings and meetings which use and generate the energies of the New Age, and will meet others of like consciousness. This Awareness indicates that such commitment on a path brings forth support. That whereby an entity is committed and moves along a path, others in the vicinity help to support that commitment, help to move the energies on that path.

That there are also those sirens who attempt to lure entities away from their committed path. This Awareness indicates that those who stay committed, who remain committed to their general course are those whose energies build stronger, are those whose energies develop souls that become as gods.

"144 entities in agreement, can change the face of this planet"—Cosmic Awareness

THE 100th MONKEY PHENOMENON (HOW PEACE WILL COME TO OUR PLANET)

QUESTION:

There's a little publication called The Flame, put out from Dallas, Texas, and they have a little article in here based on Ken Keyes' book called The 100th Monkey—Making a Difference in the Nuclear Age, and I'd like to read a little bit of this article and ask Awareness if this 100th Monkey Effect is valid like they imply in here, and if so, what are the ramifications?

It says: Here is the story of the Hundredth Monkey:

"The Japanese monkey, Macaca fuscata, has been observed in the wild for a period of over 30 years. In 1952, on the island of Koshima scientists were providing monkeys with sweet potatoes dropped in sand. The monkeys liked the taste of the raw sweet potatoes, but they found the dirt unpleasant.

An 18-month-old female named Imo found she could solve the problem by washing the potatoes in a nearby stream. She taught this trick to her mother. Her playmates also learned this new way, and they taught their mothers, too. Thus cultural innovation was gradually picked up by various monkeys before the eyes of the scientists.

Between 1952 and 1958, all the young monkeys learned to wash the sandy sweet potatoes to make them more palatable. Only the adults who imitated their children learned this social improvement. Other adults kept eating the dirty sweet potatoes.

Then something startling took place. In the autumn of 1958, a certain number of Koshima monkeys were washing sweet potatoes—the exact number is not known.

Let us suppose that when the sun rose one morning there were 99 monkeys on Koshima Island who had learned to wash their sweet potatoes.

Let's further suppose that later that morning, the hundredth monkey learned to wash sweet potatoes. Then it happened!

By that evening almost everyone in the tribe was washing sweet potatoes before eating them.

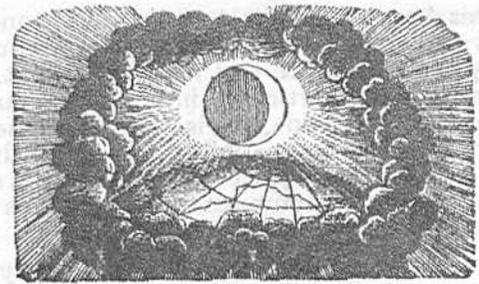

The added energy of this hundredth monkey somehow created an ideological breakthrough!

But notice. The most surprising thing observed by these scientists was that the habit of washing sweet potatoes then spontaneously jumped over the sea—

Colonies of monkeys on other islands and the mainland troop of monkeys at Takasakiyama began washing their sweet potatoes.

Thus, when a certain critical number achieves an awareness, this new awareness may be communicated from mind to mind. Although the exact number may vary, the Hundredth Monkey Phenomenon means that when only a limited number of people know of a certain way, it may remain the consciousness property of these people. But there is a point at which if only one more person tunes in to a new awareness, a field is strengthened so that this awareness reaches almost everyone!

This story tells us that each one of us is vitally important. Any one of us may be the one hundredth person to accept a new idea. We may be the one millionth—or who knows how many it is going to take before everyone is of like mind? There are approximately 4 billion, 600 million people in the world. This means that if 2 billion, 300 million people accept the awareness of the One Presence and the One Power—if 2 billion, 300 million people are aware of the dangers that threaten us and determine to do something about it, and approach it with a new thought, a new idea, and a flexible mind—then any one of us, whoever we may be at any given moment, may sway the balance so that every one will start believing, thinking and behaving the same way.

The Law of Love

Love IS the path of least resistance.

Cosmic Awareness

Nuclear weapons are not cause, they are symptoms—the result of millions of years of living by the law of the jungle—millions of years of aggrandizement of the personal false ego—of man being interested in himself alone and living by force, even though it says in the Bible: "Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts (Zech. 4:6)." The whirlwind has been sown for thousands of years as false beliefs, living by "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," believing that in force there is security and that in weaponry there is security, and now, with all this seeding of the dragon's teeth, we are at the point of reaping the wild wind.

The book, The Hundredth Monkey, brooks no words in pointing out to us that unless there is a future without nuclear weaponry, we will have no future at all. Choosing to do nothing about it is choosing annihilation by nuclear destruction. Anyone who chooses to do something about it, becomes a focal point whereby the "100th monkey" phenomenon can work through him!"

Would Awareness comment on this please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this appears to have been complete in its presentation; that the phenomena as that which is accurately explained; the implications as that which is accurately defined, and the far-reaching effects as that which has been accurately shown; that each individual must be made aware of the great potential of his or her own added energy to the whole. That the collective mind, likened unto a capacitor in electronics, builds up a charge which is able to leap when the charge becomes strong enough, to leap across distances and charge others. That the phenomena as that which has been well-explained in this pamphlet and there is not much more which this Awareness could add. If there are any particular questions, that these may be asked.

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

Well, applied to the humans I could understand that, but the fact that say, the 100th monkey in Japan, washing its food that way...suddenly, miles across the water, other monkeys started doing the same thing. Then what Awareness is saying, is that this confirms that the consciousness, the increase in the consciousness by that one monkey was able to send this energy to all the other monkeys, who would then start doing this same action.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that had the monkey died the night before, the 99th monkey, or whatever this may have been, continuing to participate in this action, would still be building energy in consciousness and this energy would eventually have leapt across space, whereby others being attuned through the similar vibratory frequency of those monkeys; the minds of the monkeys on the other island being attuned to a similar frequency, would have picked up the energy, if not that morning, then at a later time.

That if only one monkey washed his or her sweet potato and if only one monkey lived on the island, but did this day-in and day-out for a time, and if there were another monkey on a nearby island, it is very likely that the second monkey would have likewise, within a period of time, picked up on the frequency of the first monkey's consciousness, and would have come up with a similar idea of washing his or her sweet potato.

This original action may have occurred by accident, whereby the sweet potato was accidentally dropped in the water, with the discovery that the sand was removed, but once this has occurred, the entity may realize it is better that way, and thus repeat the action. That the concept of the 100 monkeys is such that each entity adding his or her energy, whether the entity is the 100th monkey or the 61st monkey, each entity adds to the collective force. That when one entity takes an action, that action has the power of one. When two entities take the action, that action has the power of 4. When four entities take an action, the action has the power of 16, and thus the powers continue to increase.

This Awareness indicates that the more energies that are added, the greater the powers are in terms of the measurement of the influence of the action. If one entity carries a sign down the street, that entity has very little power. If two entities carry a sign down the street, those two entities have four times the influential power as one. If four entities carry signs down the street, those four entities have 16 times the influential power of the one, and so forth. That the phenomena of a particular number such as the 100th monkey is that which is in itself not necessarily accurate in the sense that there is a particular place, or particular number which must be achieved before a breakthrough occurs. It is more likened unto the building up of sufficient energy to make the leap, to create the energy charge that makes the leap that contacts the others on the other island. That 99 monkeys could perhaps send that mental charge to the island much quicker than 100 or 200 weak monkeys, or monkeys whose minds are not too strong. That it isn't the particular number that is to be noted, it is the strength, the individual and collective strength of energy or frequency.

This Awareness indicates the word that best describes this is the amplitude, the amps, the fullness of the energy which brings forth the leap from one to another. That this upping of the amps, increasing the amplitude, turning up the volume, this is that which eventually bridges the gap and gets through to the other. That if an entity calls to another across the island, and the other cannot hear, and the entity has a device which amplifies the voice, turns up the volume, and then calls to the other, the other may hear. Likewise, if the entity calls across to another island and cannot be heard, and the entity cannot find a device to turn up the amplitude, but finds 100 other monkeys like himself, and these 100 monkeys call out in unison across the waves, they may be heard, for their energies may be 100 times greater.

This Awareness indicates it's the amplitude, the volume which may be necessary and required to reach across the gap. That when it pertains to psychic communication, distance is of little importance; that the island may be one mile, or twenty miles--it does not matter, for psychic energies do not recognize distance, they recognize only vibrations, frequencies. The sound from the radio station does not arrive much slower at 20 miles, but is not late in comparison to the entity of one mile. The entity at 20 miles and at one mile, setting their clocks by the radio would hear the same time, and their watches would be correlated to the same time, for the signal moves at the speed of light.

How Premonitions and Inventions Occur

Likewise, psychic energies do not move at the speed of sound, thus the island one mile away, and the island 20 miles away,—the monkeys on these islands would receive the message at the same time from those 100 monkeys who have turned up the volume of their frequency. That it is simply a matter of frequency speeds, and this essentially is part of the psychic laws. This is also why entities who sometimes invent a new device, discover that someone else, totally unknown, in another part of the globe, has come up with an almost identical device, for these entities have frequencies that are so close to each other that they are psychically attuned. That it is also why an entity on one side of the earth whose loved one is on the other side of the earth will have an experience in which he or she becomes vividly aware of some event happening to the loved one on the far side of the earth, and this can occur at the moment of the event. There are many instances wherein one realizes that their loved one has died and they receive word of the entity's death days later, confirming the exact time as being the time the entity realized this had occurred.

This Awareness indicates that this phenomena is related to the tuning of one's consciousness to the frequency of another, just as one dials or tunes a radio frequency to that of the station that broadcasts at that frequency.

HOW AWARENESS AND THE C.A.C. MEMBERSHIP ARE WORKING MAGIC

(FOLLOW-UP QUESTION):

Awareness, in reference to the 100th monkey effect, it occurred to me that there is sort of a parallel between that and the messages given by this Awareness. It seems that once a message or suggestion or concept is voiced from Awareness through the mouth of the Interpreter and then published by CAC, and sent out to and read by the membership, that within a reasonable length of time, six months at the most, many of these concepts, ideas and slogans and so forth, start cropping up around the nation and even around the world. Is this my imagination, or is there a parallel?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this is in actuality, and does occur. That it also occurs in other planes. As the messages are expressed here, oftentimes it has a rippling effect in other dimensions and other planes. That essentially, the expressions which move through this Awareness are not emanating only from this Awareness, but are drawn from the energies of the world, from the vibrations on your plane, and are filtered through this Awareness and then out through the mouth of the Interpreter, placed upon the printed sheets and sent forth to the membership, and amplified and magnified by their consciousness to again be emitted into the mass mind.

Essentially this is a refining process; taking from the mass mind, refining concepts, and then replacing these concepts, replanting these concepts into the mass mind.

THE MEDITATION OF ALTERNATING CONSCIOUSNESS

( Getting Free of Trivial Patterns )

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness wishes to give a kind of meditation which is somewhat complex. This Awareness indicates that this may be called the Meditation of Alternating Consciousness. This Awareness indicates that for this meditation to occur, the entity must decide that at a future time when the entity's consciousness is focused on a situation, (unknown to the entity at this time), and wherein the entity recognizes this situation to be trivial in nature, but wherein the entity will recognize that the energy being given to the trivial situation as that which will be excessive for the appropriateness of the situation; that the entity at that time will alter the consciousness and simply step out of the trivial situation and cease to energize that situation.

This Awareness indicates that this meditation is that which requires that the entity set this up in his or her consciousness prior to the situation that calls for the meditation. This Awareness indicates that the meditation is the action of setting this up in one's consciousness so that when this situation occurs, wherein there is a trivia in which the mind is becoming active and giving energy to some trivial situation such as a conflict or argument with someone over something that is totally trivial in the relative concerns of life, that the entity at that point, having set up this procedure through the prior meditation, will suddenly recognize this as an artificial urgency in which trivia is at stake, and therefore, the entity can simply walk away from the discussion or argument, or surrender, or take some other action that defuses the energy of the dispute.

This Awareness indicates that the meditation leading to this situation in which the consciousness is altered at a point wherein the entity is highly identified with his or her position in a dispute, the meditation is that which should be looked at and given priority so as to let this become a significant goal. This Awareness indicates that wherein this occurs on one or two occasions, wherein at the moment in which one is identified with a position in a trivial argument or dispute, and one suddenly recognizes that this is the climax point for the meditation which had been set up, at this point, the entity suddenly recognizing this as being the time wherein the entity must step out of such identifications with his or her positions, that movement and alteration of consciousness is that which allows the entity to break a pattern in the psyche which gets the entity involved in those situations of trivia, and the entity in slipping out that time, during the moment, can break that pattern and with an awareness and attention to the energies that have brought the entity into that particular moment, breaking that pattern, the entity then may be made free of that particular psychological pattern.

This Awareness indicates that it takes only once or twice for this alteration of consciousness during those moments to break the patterns and to give the entity a recognition of the pattern of the psyche that has been in operation. This Awareness indicates once the entity sees this pattern and steps out quickly in this manner, the entity is free from that pattern and the pattern shall dissolve. This Awareness indicates that this may be applied again and again, to discover and to free oneself of trivial patterns and of more serious patterns.

Artificial Urgencies

This Awareness wishes, while on this subject, to call attention to that which may be classed as artificial urgencies. This Awareness has indicated in the past that the appropriate action for entities to take is the action of response to urgencies which are at hand. The closer at hand, the more present the urgency, the more demanding a response. This Awareness indicates that the urgency which exists "out there" is not as important as the urgency which exists in your own home, or in relationship to one close to you.

This Awareness indicates that those who neglect those who are close to them while concerning themselves with the great social issues are failing to meet the true urgencies and obligations. One should first attend those urgencies which are most near in time and space, and when these are attended, then move to attend to the more remote urgencies. This Awareness indicates this of course depending on how those remote energies affect the various energies of the individual.

This Awareness indicates that in responding to the urgencies which are at hand, an entity might discover that there are unlimited urgencies which occur time after time, and that many of these urgencies are brought on by the activity of someone or some entities within the presence of the entity, whereby those urgencies are being created not by an entity who has a high consciousness of what is urgent in the world, or what is needed in terms of bringing harmony to the world, locally or in a more abstract sense, but is being created by an entity who thrives on creating urgencies for others to respond to, simply because the entity has nothing else to do with his or her life, and is seeking excitement, thrills or other forms of gratification.

This Awareness indicates that It refers to those urgencies as artificial urgencies, urgencies that are created for some self-centered purpose by an individual nearby, and who demands that you attend to the urgency which he or she has created. This Awareness indicates that in coming across the artificial urgency, one may deal with the urgency and treat it as if it were a genuine urgency, and this treatment will encourage the entity to create another artificial urgency, and thus the treatment of dealing with these urgencies can continue indefinitely so that an entity will never have his local area clear of urgencies.

This Awareness indicates that rather than have this happen, the entity who seeks to attend and reconcile urgencies at hand in order to be more effective in dealing with the more remote emergencies, that entity will deal with the artificiality of the urgency rather than with the urgency itself. This Awareness indicates that the entity who creates an artificial problem for others to solve may in fact entrap the others in the process of attempting to solve the problem, and in this manner, control those entities in the situation and may in fact control many situations through this method.

This Awareness indicates however, that the entity who wishes to become more aware in relationships, will not be controlled by the artificially created urgencies, but will recognize that this artificial creation, the artificial urgency, wherein this entity demands this or that, or creates some false concern for others to jump to and respond to, wherein this artificial creation by this entity is presented, the entity who is aware will look at this situation and see this as not something to respond to, not a true urgency, but as being artificial and a decoy, as being that which is an energy drain and rather than responding to the urgency, may respond to the artificiality and discuss with the entity: "This is your problem, this is your creation, and therefore, you solve the problem."

This Awareness indicates that in this manner, the entity may turn then his or her attention back to those things which are genuine urgencies, and may leave these artificial urgencies to work themselves out. This Awareness indicates that it is important for entities to understand how to distinguish between that which is an artificial urgency and that which is a genuine urgency. The genuine urgency is that which occurs as a result of someone's need; the artificial urgency is that which occurs because an entity is seeking reaction from another, and there is an overlapping in these two types of urgencies wherein the entity who is creating artificial urgencies may have a need, but this need may not be expressed openly and instead may be expressed through some form of artificial creation, creating urgencies for others to respond to.

This Awareness indicates that in being aware of these needs which entities may have, one can decide whether to respond to the need or to the artificial urgency, and if one looks carefully at what is actually needed, one will need to look beyond the artificial urgency, toward the entity himself, and in looking toward the entity and asking: "What does this entity truly need?", the entity may begin to see that there is indeed an urgency there which needs to be addressed.

This Awareness indicates that artificial urgencies are essentially covers or clothing to hide the real urgency. This Awareness indicates that these urgencies are not always easy for entities to spot, and one can only respond to that which one understands. This Awareness suggests therefore, that in some instances an entity may need to watch for some time in order to gain the understanding of what the urgency actually is. This Awareness indicates that while observing, one must not be deceived by the artificial screen which is put up, the artificial urgency which is presented to confuse the entity.

This Awareness indicates that response to urgencies is that which allows entities to move from moment to moment in a manner that reconciles the polarities, but this Awareness asks you not to respond to artificial urgencies without recognizing the artificiality and without realizing that they are but screens to hide the real urgency.

Why Put Up a Screen ?

(FOLLOW-UP QUESTION):

Awareness, what I don't understand is, if somebody has the need, what entices them or encourages them to put up a screen in order to cover it?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that often the entity does not wish to convey a feeling of vulnerability or a fear, and rather would cover that vulnerability or fear with a kind of game or artificial creation which causes others to have to react to that which is presented, and in this manner the entity keeps others away at a distance in levels wherein the entities can be manipulated or controlled. This Awareness indicates that much of this occurs on subconscious levels so that the entity isn't even consciously aware of what he or she is doing.

This Awareness indicates that oftentimes entities having a weakness, or what they perceive to be a weakness, will overcompensate and create what appears to be a strength or an aggressive action, whereby that aggressive action is presented to ward off any movement of consciousness into those areas which the entity perceives in himself or herself as being weakness.

This Awareness indicates that one approach which entities may use in relationships with others wherein there are situation which appear to be artificial urgencies is simply to ask the entity: "Is this a genuine urgency, or is this something you are creating artificially for me to respond to?" This Awareness indicates that by asking this question it can help to put the situation in proper perspective and focus. This Awareness indicates that the asking should be in a genuine sense rather than as a sarcasm or put-down of the other person.

This Awareness indicates that questions asked of others in a manner that is demeaning to the other are not seen as genuine efforts to relate.

HOW TO CONTACT YOUR SPIRITUAL GUIDE ( MORE ON COSMIC NIGHT SCHOOL AND DREAMS )

QUESTION:(From a Personal Reading)

Would you please help me to know and be aware of my spiritual guide or master teacher on the other side, who is willing to communicate with me and help me to serve others in the Love and Light of the Infinite Intelligence?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this be found through the following action:

This Awareness suggests that before going to sleep each night that you tell yourself you will sleep well and have vivid dreams, and that you will remember your dreams. This Awareness suggests this be repeated for at least three weeks, nightly. That in repeating this you finally begin to remember certain aspects of your dreams wherein this entity and you do go and communicate together. This Awareness suggests that this entity does take you on these dream levels into those areas wherein you are taught certain messages. That in these night study courses that you are being given, that you shall become more and more capable of remembering these as you begin programming yourself to remember your dreams. That when this occurs, you will become very close friends with your teacher and may exchange and share information in this manner.

This Awareness suggests that you study the works of Annie Besant and the works of J. Krishnamurti and Max Heindel. This Awareness suggests that you also would receive certain value from the book, Thinking and Destiny by Percival. That these not be studied from a feeling of having to devour all that is within them, that these be books which may simply be there for you to occasionally pick up and look at for certain messages.

This Awareness suggests that for the present time you simply work on your dreams and work on remembering these dreams and giving certain suggestions to yourself in this manner. ****

The Measure of a Man ?

A MACHINE TO REPLACE AWARENESS INTERPRETERS?

(MORE ON SECRET DEVICES)

QUESTION:

We have a letter from a member in Buenos Aires, Argentina, J.R., who is somewhat of an inventor, and who has sent a number of letters with information on things that he is inventing. I'd like to read one of these and ask Awareness to comment.

"I have been reading in depth several numbers of the 'Hidden World' series in which the Shaver mystery is explained. I would like to know if you would be interested in a computer that could replace Mr. Paul Shockley as the Interpreter of Awareness? If you believe me a mad man, I can tell you that the late Edgar Cayce predicted that the psychic forces can be detected, amplified, and selected. Also, there are several radionic and psionic machines that work as amplifiers of the operator's thoughts.

"In the Shaver mystery, the use of thought for operating machines is the commonplace, and I have been making research on that line. The device would be a memory bank linked to a speaker and to a detector that could be tuned to Awareness in the moment of the reading. The tape recorder could be rigged and the only work from the energizers would be to keep calm when the 'Revelations' come out of the speaker.

"The late Dr. Wilhelm Reich built in the late 30's an amplifier of psychic energies that used vacuum tubes. It was shown in his book, "The Function of the Orgasm." I believe that Mr. Sam Millar could profit immensely if he would read Reich's books. In the memory bank of the computer would be stored words, sentences, and letters of the English language so that Awareness could send psychic impulses that would be collected by the tuner and heard through the speaker.

"A comment on the life and works of Wilhelm Reich would be in my opinion very useful."

Would Awareness please comment on this suggestion?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that the construction of such a device could be very beneficial in many ways, if properly used. This Awareness suggests that this as being more easily discussed and theorized about than actually accomplished. This Awareness suggests that wherein you wish to devote enough energy and time toward this project, that this does appear to be feasible; however, that there are many obstacles toward such development.

This Awareness suggests that similar devices have existed in the past and do exist in other places or on other planets; that it is similar to certain devices which have been built recently by certain companies dealing in electronics.

A Device Capable of Tuning into Past History

This Awareness indicates that there is a device which is capable of tuning in to past history, reading the events of previous times. This, however, is kept secret at this time and may be released later.

This Awareness indicates that there are other devices being built which are capable of essentially reading minds and sending or receiving thought patterns. These, however, are still in the early stages of development.

This Awareness indicates that work is being done in the cutting-edge of science, electronics and physics to come up with machines capable of extending the knowledge of entities through such psionic devices. Indicated that this as being a relatively new field of study for this civilization, and one which can lead to a deeper understanding of the past history of this planet, of consciousness in general, and of the workings of the mind forces which operate through human consciousness and through other levels of consciousness. This Awareness suggests that you decide and consider whether you wish to devote your time and effort toward this kind of research.

This Awareness indicates that much of the information you will need may not be easily researched and you may need to duplicate the research already done by others. However, this Awareness suggests that through your research, you may also find channels into contact with some others in the field.

This Awareness suggests that wherein you begin such an action, doorways can open to assist you, that also there can be blocks to hinder you.

(FOLLOW-UP QUESTION):

Awareness, if such a device was created and it channeled this Awareness, what percentage of error would this produce, if any?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this as, of course, relative to the perfection or imperfections involved in the device; that such a device based on any form of electronic process, can only be as accurate as the designer and the technology that is used in engineering the device for the purposes intended. That it is, of course, easier to talk about such a device than to actually create such a device.

This Awareness indicates there are many science-fiction writers who can conceive of amazing machines and devices, but few engineers who can create those machines and devices as realities. These generally turn out to be nothing more than mental toys for entertainment and fantasies. This Awareness suggests, however, that occasionally someone attempts the impossible and discovers or creates a possibility, which, in time, proves to become an actuality. The radio, the television, and many other inventions were nothing more than impossible dreams until someone discovered certain principles of physics, and then discovered how to use these principles for creations of new realities.

This Awareness indicates that Techtronics as one firm which has created a machine capable of reading the history of events from a kind of psychometry, by electronic reading of the vibratory influences of a particular item. However, this as being of a highly secretive nature, and that there would be little chance of entities finding information on this.
