How Karma Works

Will Karma be Erased by Self-Forgiveness?

(More on the Law of Grace)

11/2/93

QUESTION:

We had a couple of questions left from last night's discussion; this one from R.E. Edwards. He writes that "Some metaphysicians, as well as one Awareness Interpreter, indicate karma may be eradicated simply by self-forgiveness and deeply forgiving those who have violated us. There seems to be some question whether this comprehends merely the after-world karma of one's deeds in this present lifetime or new terrestrial lives or both and how effective and all-encompassing it may be." And he asks if Awareness will comment.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that It does not see this as being accurate. It sees karma as being eradicated only by fulfilling the repayment of the karma, or by that which is called the Law of Grace. The Law of Grace is that wherein it can be forgiven by the Divine Forces. It can be forgiven by the Divine Force on the condition that It chooses to forgive the karma, and that is never done except when the perpetrator of a misdeed feels such remorse for his or her misdeed, that the Divine Force chooses to intervene in the Law of Karma with mercy.

This Awareness indicates in other words, the Law of Grace involved mercy extended to the one who owes the karma and that mercy can only be extended when the one who owes the karma totally and completely feels and expresses his or her own remorse in a sincere and deep level of expression. It does not have to be expressed outwardly to others, but inwardly to his or her own Divine Self.

This Awareness indicates that one cannot forgive oneself for a misdeed and expect the karma to be eradicated.

Karma and the Writers of Fiction and Non-Fiction

QUESTION:

A question from Michael El, in Philadelphia. "What does Awareness see for writers of fiction over non-fiction or vice-versa? It appears the fiction writer develops less karma than the non-fiction writer. We all are responsible for our talents, and it seems that if one is writing fiction, the people know it is the untruth and seven times out of ten they would not follow the moral of the story, but when it comes to non-fiction, and advice is given, there appears to be condemnation from the public, much quicker than if it was fiction. What does Awareness see on this? Thank you," he says.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates it depends on whether the entity writing a non-fiction story is writing something that is designed to assist entities and if so, whether or not it does have redeeming value and helps entities. This Awareness indicates that if it is simply writing information that stimulates entities or causes entities to take the wrong path, the writer may incur some level of karma for his or her misdirecting of entities.

This Awareness indicates of course, this has to do also with the degree of harm that comes from the entity's writing, and the intent of the writer. If the writer is without concern for the benefit and welfare of his or her readers, and is only to sell books, and then putting in information that sells books, but leads to harm to the readers, the entity will incur more karma if the entity is trying to promote some helpful concept which inadvertently causes harm.

Fiction Writers can Also Create Karma

This Awareness indicates in regard to the fiction writer, these entities may, in writing fiction, also create karma by giving some kind of message, even if it is fictional, that titillates an entity into doing something that is improper and causes that entity karma, so that the writer of a fictional work, such as one which perhaps promotes serial killing, leads an entity into a path of serial killing, or something that is harmful to others; the writer is not totally free of the karma of his or her influence on the entity who is influenced by the writing.

Karma and the Movies

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

There's a movie out, I believe it was based on a book. I don't remember the name of it, but in it, there's a scene where these college kids, I believe, lay down in the middle of a highway, and since that time, there's been several reports of teen-agers who have seen that movie (The Program) mimicking that scene. In one case, an entity was killed.

Since then, the distributor of the movie has said they're taking that scene out. Now, how responsible, karmic-wise are situations like this; books and movies where some irresponsible person is dumb enough to try to mimic some of the things that were in the movie, and creates a karmic situation himself?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates the entities behind the movie The Program were not expecting the viewers to mimic the movie or to do anything of this nature, and therefore, the karma is not of a great level because these entities really did not think or expect the influence of the movie to carry into reality.

However, the fact is that they should have been aware of the potential and should know the power of movies to influence young minds and people who are easily influenced, particularly if they allow those entities in the movie to survive the stupidity in the action or if they glorify the scene as showing these entities have great nerves of steel.

This Awareness indicates that the glorification of stupidity in a movie which leads to a disaster caused by stupidity in real life by the mimicking of that glorified stupid action, cannot be karma free. The entities involved in creating this scene glorified these entities for a stupid act, and therefore will have some karmic repercussion due to that glorification and its influence on these entities, and they cannot simply say: "We didn't know they would do that!" and escape all karma.

In law, and in karmic law, there is that element of knowing, or should have known, as being a reasonable mitigating circumstance in a deed. This Awareness reminds entities that karma comes in degrees. It is not simply a matter of karmically wrong, and karmically right, all having the same weight. One can be karmically wrong with a light weight or karmically wrong with a great heaviness in the degree of wrongness or rightness.

"Murphy Brown"—Karma for Role Models

(FOLLOW-UP QUESTION):

How about people of influence and fame, who are seen as role-models. A few years ago, Dan Quayle made the remark about the TV series "Murphy Brown," that the fact she was a single mother trying to raise children and various men were parading through her life and bedroom, was not a good role-model for teen-agers, and that's the one thing I agree with Dan Quayle on. I don't believe it is either, but what about people who play these parts, who are role-models in the public limelight, who stress in their lifestyle, or in the programs that they appear in, controversial things like that? Is there karma involved for them?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that one can look at this in two different ways. One can look at this situation of, for example, the Murphy Brown character, as being a poor role-model, one who influences teen-agers into glorifying the single mother who has many men friends as an influence on these young girls, that they too can be like that, and if they are loose morally, they can have a life like Murphy Brown, which, on TV, is not that unappealing.

This Awareness indicates that one could also look at it in a different way: that the Murphy Brown character is helping the mass-consciousness to be less hostile, less condemning and more understanding of these young mothers who have no husband, who have a single life, and who are trying to get along as well as they can, and giving the masses a new look at them personally and intimately, so as to be less hostile and less condemning of such mothers.

This Awareness indicates that in other words, she is helping to alleviate some of the hostility that society might hold towards young welfare mothers, or young single mothers. This Awareness indicates that in which case, she would be diminishing karma for these entities and would be portraying a role that could bring her good karma in regard to the work she is doing for these young mothers.

Some Karma has Both Good and Bad Elements

This Awareness indicates it must be understood that some karma has both an element of good and bad karma related to it. The entity who goes in to rescue a victim, but who runs into her captors and has to shoot or harm those captors in order to rescue her, may receive some degree of karma for harming the captors, while receiving good karma for rescuing the victim. Thus, the action itself carried for the rescuer both good and negative karma.

This Awareness indicates that it may also be that the role of the example, such as the Murphy Brown character, carries with it both good and bad karma. If it influences some young girls to want to be like Murphy Brown and they find themselves trying to become a single mother, then of course, it would not be to their benefit to have such an image as a guide or example, but if it helps a young mother who has children who are in need of a father to be better accepted in a social situation by her neighbors, then it is a good example, which Murphy Brown portrays.

In other words, there is some karma for some situations which carry both the good and the bad karma simultaneously. Whether the good overshadows the bad or the bad overshadows the good, or the two balance out each other is another question.

Karma and the Arsonist

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION (VIKKI):

As we were watching the wild-fires in California, the thought kept going through my mind: I know one of the fires was set by a vagrant who was just trying to keep warm, and others were set on purpose by arsonists and obviously, the accidental fire would carry less karma than the ones on purpose, but how could a person who has set off all this devastation repay that kind of karmic debt?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it is unlikely that the entity fully realized the extent of his action or that the action would carry as far as it did, therefore, the intent is that which can be questioned as to how much karma the entity should receive. This Awareness indicates that obviously there was not only a problem of the intent, but also a problem of the entity's ignorance, for the entity was not aware of how extensive his action would be or of the full ramifications of his action.

This Awareness indicates there is no doubt the entity has already suffered extremely from guilt and fear for what he has done and this will be part of his karma. This Awareness indicates the further extent of his karma will depend on what he can do in terms of the rest of this life to repay the damage that he has caused and whether other lives that follow will be used to help pay this karma, and in what way.

It is not seen as a satisfactory payment that the entities repayment would be to simply have his house burn down, for the entity has harmed so many, and the question is: Should he have his house burned down 600 times for the 600 homes that were burnt? That would be justice in an ideal sense. This Awareness indicates, however, that it appears the entity is not going to live that many lives, or have that many opportunities to have his house burn down in the number of lives he would live for the extent of the karma, for most karma is paid off within 5 lifetimes.

Therefore, the entity is more likely to have to repay the karma through some kind of service or action that is to the benefit of these various entities. Perhaps, in a future lifetime, in which he puts his life on the line in some way as to assist these entities to regain something of great importance to themselves. The entity may, for example, move into a political or military or socially hazardous activity in which he has to lay his life on the line in order to save many entities.

Perhaps the entity will somehow defuse an explosion that would have harmed many entities or blown up a town, or the entity may do something that helps him to alleviate a condition that would have otherwise harmed a great number of people. This Awareness indicates it is very difficult to see and exact future karma for this entity, for these things are determined in-between lives and in accordance with the degree of responsibility that is put on to this entity by his own actions and by the events that led to this situation and by the level of intent, when the entity started the fire.

You must recall that some of the fault lies with the wind. Some of the fault lies with the entities who did not have their homes fire-proofed or did not have roofing that was fire-proof, or who had brush too close to the homes which led to the burnings, and you can't say that all 600 homes were deliberately set on fire by the entity.

The entity deliberately set a fire and may have intended for one or two homes to be burnt, or perhaps intended for several more to be burnt. The intention is that which carries heavily into the concept of "How much karma does the entity owe?"

This Awareness indicates the fact that the entity may have had mitigating intentions, perhaps only wanting a few homes to burn, but that it got out of hand and hundreds were burned does not necessarily relieve him of some karma for the many more that were burned beyond his intentions. He still will owe karma on those, but the karma would be less than if he had intentionally wanted to burn 600 homes.

DO GOOD INTENTIONS CARRY MORE WEIGHT ON OTHER LEVELS?

(The Road to Hell is Paved with Good Intentions)

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION (VIKKI):

Speaking of intentions, do good intentions carry more weight on other levels? I know on earth you can have good intentions and still cause harm here, but does that hold true on other levels of existence as well?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there is a saying: "The road to hell is paved with good intentions." There is some degree of truth to this, but if this is so, it is only a surface glitter on the road, and not the deep cement that paves the road to hell. There are indeed real negative intentions that underline the paving action of the road to hell, and good intentions are only a surface level of that paving.

This Awareness indicates there are very few entities who have good intentions that find themselves making a path toward hell, for most good intentions turn out to be generally well-meaning and well-effected. The intention, the meaning, generally brings about a worthwhile result, although this is not always the case. There can be the ointment that entities offer as good intention, but in that ointment there may be a fly, which causes the good intention to backfire and become unacceptable.

This Awareness indicates that if the entity's intention was to be helpful, even if it turns out not to be of benefit, there is a certain redemption in the act, saving the entity from the worse of the karma that could have been, had not the entity intended to do the right thing. This Awareness indicates in other words, the intentions, even if a thing turns out negatively, have a redeeming value to alleviate a great portion of negative karma that may result from the effect of the action.

You may have the best intention of delivering a medicine to help heal someone, but the medicine may be tainted by spoilage or some other influence that causes the medicine to act in such a way as to cause more harm than good. But your intention to help the entity cannot be ignored, when evaluating the karma involved, and the possibility is that even if the entity were to suffer and die from the ill effects of the medicine, if your belief and your intention and your actions and your dedication and your thoroughness all led you to believe that the medicine was proper, you are not likely to receive any karma whatsoever from delivering the toxic medicine.

Perhaps, for example, someone tampered with a medicine that is known to be a cure for this entity's problem and made the medicine toxic but you were never informed and you took all the proper routine actions to make sure the medicine was pure and proper in its labeling, in its delivery, in its presentation and in its injection into the entity whom you wanted to save.

If someone else has tampered with this and you are unaware, you will not receive a karma for administering this toxic medicine. It would be the entity who carelessly or deliberately tampered with the medicine who would receive the karma. Therefore, good intention have a bearing on whether or not karma is attached, but it is not the only factor.

Carelessness or lack of thorough system of preserving and testing and assuring the validity of something is also part of the formula of evaluating karma. In other words, if one has good intentions and administers something in the medicine cabinet, but is not thorough as to whether it is the right medicine, isn't thorough as to whether it is clean and uncontaminated or spoiled, is not thorough in determining whether it is being administered correctly, that entity can incur karma for being negligent in administering the medicine.

Even if it is the right medicine, even if it is pure, if the entity administers it with a dirty needle, he or she could incur karma for the negligence involved, even if the entity's intentions were right. Just because the entity is not being cautious enough, he could incur karma. This Awareness indicates a lot of this of course will also depend on whether the entity has the capacity to know whether he or she should cleanse the needle before using it.

This Awareness indicates for, example, a young child seeing the mother or father having a collapse on the floor and knowing that they have medicine which they often administer when they have this problem occur, the young child may not know how to administer it properly, but if the young child runs to the medicine cabinet, grabs the medicine, comes in and gives it to the parent, and gives it with a contaminated needle or with some element of risk, such as giving it to the parent orally, when not realizing that it should not be given to an entity who has just ingested alcohol, and the situation creates a problem that would be unforeseen or which the child would not be expected to know or could not be held accountable for knowing.

If something happens to the parent, the child would not be karmically indebted because the child did not have any responsibility in learning how to administer, and was simply trying to help. The child could not be expected to play the role of a knowing, knowledgeable doctor or adult in dealing with the situation. This would be especially karma free if the child had no other person to appeal to for help in the situation.

This Awareness indicates in other words, what It is trying to get across in this discussion is that there are many factors involved in a karmic situation that have to be considered, depending on what the situation encompasses.

Tampered "Trick or Treat" Halloween Candy (Karma for the Sick Entities who Put Razor Blades in Candy)

QUESTION:

Awareness, every Halloween, that I can remember anyway, stories appear, even in the local paper, about Trick or Treaters, little children who find in their candy such things as needles, razor blades, drugs and so forth, put in deliberately by adults, evidently, sick adults, with the intention of injuring these children, and some actually do get injured. Their mouths get cut with the blades, some hospitalized for drugs in candy, and so forth.

Could Awareness expound a bit on this type of mentality and if there is karma in store for these people for doing this action year after year, and they don't seem to be arrested by the police, because they can't trace the candy as a general rule, so in that respect, they get by unscathed.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates of course there is karma. They are attempting to hurt someone, and the mentality is that of a mind that is out of touch with compassion or is hostile to children, that wants to hurt and harm children. This Awareness indicates that there are few words that can be said that will not already be obvious to most entities about the nature of such a mind. It is sick. It is immoral, or amoral. It has no respect for others. It is cowardly, in that it hides its crime.

Most Such Reports are Not True

This Awareness indicates, however, that there is something more to be said here; that the majority of these reported incidents are not actually true. There have been some situations where this kind of thing has happened, but most of the reports are erroneous and designed to make the parents be cautious about what is given to their children because the potential is there. Therefore, the slightest report, or if no report at all is given, sometimes reports will be made up to be printed as stories to warn parents, so that they examine all of these candies, fruits and treats to assure that the child doesn't receive such a treat as to lead to an injury.

This Awareness indicates that it is almost customary for papers to present such stories in order to keep the public on guard against any potential hazard to the children. This Awareness indicates that some of these reports come from concerned parents. Some of these reports come from police officers or reporters who are simply making up the story which is seldom really investigated. It is intended as a warning. In some cases, the stories are true.

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

The Olympia newspaper yesterday reported that needles were found in Milky Way bars, locally, but my question about the people who do this when the story is legitimate; the karma, it seems to me, would be something that they would have to deal with in this particular lifetime rather than in another lifetime, would it not?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that karma can occur within one lifetime, or in a following lifetime. In some instances, an entity involved in this kind of behavior has a mentality that will lead the entity into further risky activities which may shorten his or her lifetime so that the crime is not repaid in this lifetime, and carries over into another.

This Awareness indicates that It cannot say with certainty that the crime will be paid in this lifetime.

KARMA AND THE RODNEY KING INCIDENT

QUESTION:

There has been much said, including in-depth information by Awareness on the Rodney King incident, but there is a side to that which most of the media doesn't cover, and that happens to be in the area of karmic repercussions. The entity, although he was beaten too severely by the police, which was unjustified, did happen to have a record of drunken driving arrests, ten or twelve, I believe it was, prior to this incident, and he had been told to get into an alcohol treatment program, which he did not do, and since the incident, he's been made a national hero, appearing on talk shows, and I think he's even got a movie part coming up.

But, what they don't talk about is that had Rodney King not broken the law that night, had he not gotten drunk at a homosexual party and recklessly drove over a hundred miles an hour, endangering other lives;—had he not done this, there would not have been 3 billion dollars worth of destruction to property and there would not have been 52 lives lost in the ensuing riots that occurred after his trial.

Now, could Awareness discourse a bit on karmic repercussions in a case like that?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the billion dollars worth of riots were not the result of his getting drunk. The billion dollars worth of riots were the results of blacks in the area feeling that he was not being dealt with justly; that he was unjustly being beaten and that this was a symbol of the way police treated blacks in the area, and the blacks were expressing their feeling that "Enough is enough!" and they were ready to rebel against society.

Whether this is justified is not so much the issue of this question. The question is: What was the karma that resulted from Rodney King being drunk. You must look at these things from different levels of the expression that occurred that night. You cannot say that his getting drunk triggered the riots, because his getting drunk triggered the beatings, but the beatings were not because he was drunk.

The beatings were because the police had hostility toward him or toward him as a black, or toward him for prior drunkenness or toward him for the speeding involved, and the police, in their hostility, apparently forgot that there were laws to deal with this kind of behavior, and took the laws out of the court to get a good thorough understanding of where the bad guy is. All you can really see is the results of many different abuses, abuses to society, abuses from society to individuals, abuses of groups, of clans, of types of people over others, abuses of the police over the masses, and abuses of the masses over their neighborhood.

This Awareness indicates that it is not simply a matter of someone did something wrong and the others were right and these were wrong. It is a matter of many people making actions that hurt others, and those who were hurt are angered and want revenge and are willing to do more in retaliation than was done to them in initiation of the situations.

This Awareness indicates that the heroes of such actions are those who can stop the wheel of karma, are those who can say: "These people were wrong in destroying their neighborhood, but they were wronged in their neighborhood by others, and this led them to their actions of destructiveness, and we can't unravel all of the ills, all of the negativities, all of the misbehaviors. All we can do is ask that it stop, and ask everyone to work together for something to heal the wounds, to heal the neighborhood, to patch up the broken and destroyed elements of the society, and to bring back something more healthy so that all can benefit from the realization that these things no longer have to be."

Those entities who promote the healing of the quarrel, who seek to alleviate the hostilities and forgive and forget and to move on; those are the heroes of the society. Rodney King is not a hero in the sense of the word. He is simply a player in a drama, and he had a lead part for a time, and his part included that of the victim and that of a victor. He has been victimized and he has been victorious in that he survived and he has gained some benefits from his survival.

Definition of a Tragedy

If he has a chance at a movie, then he is fortunate. Somehow he has received some good karma out of his negative experience. This Awareness indicates that perhaps he did not deserve it. Perhaps his character was not of the highest, but there are tragedies and there are stories of good luck. A tragedy is one wherein a person from a high position, through no fault of his own, falls to a tragic and lowly end.

Is it not conceivable that a person, through no ability of his own might occasionally rise to a noble and healthy end? The entity is fortunate, if he comes out of this situation in a better position than he originally deserved or earned. This Awareness indicates that perhaps he will learn something or change his life to avoid the destructiveness of alcoholism and become a good citizen of the city of Los Angeles, or wherever he goes.

This Awareness indicates that if the entity does not alter his character and is character-prone to destructiveness, then all that he gains will be for nothing in the end. But Rodney King is merely a symptom and a player in the total picture of people abusing people, or neglecting people.

But Rodney King was the Initiator!

(AVATON)

Yes, but he was also the initiator. None of that would have happened if he had not been so irresponsible in his behavior. 52 people died as a result of that chain reaction, and the discussion is on karma, by the way.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates the entity also was not the initiator any more than an entity who is pushed into a situation of feeling the need to get drunk in order to hide or cover over his pain and agony of his life experience, initiates the death of 52 people. The entity was only dealing with his own personal problems. If his personal problems led to his getting beaten, was it his fault that he was beaten or was it the police's fault that he was beaten?

Was it the fault of the police beating Rodney King that led other entities to have a choice as to whether to riot or as to whether to sit back and let it go. You cannot blame it all on Rodney King. There were many entities involved, and these entities all had choices. The jury had a choice. The courts had a choice as to how to influence the jury's decision. The police had a choice as to how to deal with this man who drove too fast.

This Awareness indicates that to sit and make judgment on an entity who has already been tried by the court to the point where the entity is being labeled the murderer of 52 people is simply incorrect. You cannot blame the entity for everything that hundreds of people were involved in, in their decision-making. They all had choices. Any of these entities could have stepped back and re-evaluated what was going on. It was not entirely Rodney King's fault.

The entity may have been the focal point of the many focuses and the entity, as a focal point, is nothing more than would be a flag that is being torn, and is the flag then to receive the karma because it is being torn, different people became angry and began fighting each other, and several people are killed? The entity Rodney King was simply a focal point for the angry energies that entities had built-up over many years toward one another.

The police being hostile to blacks, the blacks being hostile to police, the whites having their security shaken and the need for some kind of protection; the courts being the way they are, trying to keep some kind of stability by being lenient on the police, and the people in the ghettos looking at this as another violation to blacks in the name of justice. This is much deeper than the condemnation of one man.

When Rodney King Passes Over Will he See a Connection to the Chain Reaction?

AVATON:

So when Rodney King passes over, and his life unfolds in front of him, he probably then, the way Awareness puts it, will not see much of a connection between his breaking the law and the death of 52 people?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

The entity may see a connection. The entity has also already expressed remorse in asking the rioters at the time to please stop. He asked them in public to stop doing what they were doing. This Awareness indicates the entity could do no more. The entity was simply a victim of circumstances that may have been triggered by his getting drunk, and may have been triggered by his stupid behavior in driving too fast, but the triggering of something does not mean that all that follows was his fault.

His role was that he got drunk, that he drove too fast, and he had a repeated habit of doing this. This was his action, and for that he will receive karma, but to blame the rest of everything that followed on this entity would be misapplication of karma. It is very easy to create a scapegoat for everything that occurs and to always blame that entity for the ills of a society.

One can say that "This entity came on board our ship, and from that time until now, we have had nothing but poor luck! The fish won't bite! The storms keep coming! The ship's sails have torn! And it is all this entity's fault, because it never happened before this entity came aboard!"

This Awareness indicates that all of this labeling of a scapegoat is irrational and irrelevant to reality. The reality is that the entities who were watching this scenario in court became angry. There were people there ready to stir up the anger, ready to enforce and influence violence. There were people who wanted violence to occur who were ready to test some kind of situation as to whether it could be used across the country as a way of starting a race war.

This Awareness indicates there were more factors involved in this experience in Los Angeles than Rodney King. Rodney King did not have the power to start this kind of situation. Rodney King was simply a pawn in a situation and was used in that situation as a focal point. This Awareness indicates that if you are to condemn Rodney King for all of the violence that occurred in Los Angeles, then you must give all entities who get drunk and drive too fast, the same karma as Rodney King, for that is all he has done, and if the riots followed as a result of him getting drunk and driving too fast, then what about other entities who got drunk and drove too fast.

It is of course dangerous and karma is attributed to such entities, but how far does it extend? The entity who drives down the freeway who has been drinking will be just as guilty as Rodney King and can you say that he should be punished in the same way as Rodney King and then punish Rodney King for killing 52 people?, and punish this entity with the same degree of hostility, when neither perhaps has actually personally killed anyone?

This Awareness indicates there is also the entity who pulled the trigger. There is also the entity who clubbed others. Does these entities escape karma by blaming it on Rodney King? This Awareness indicates that it is simply a matter of putting karma where it belongs and not dragging it into the life of an entity who was simply a triggering device. The triggering was no more the act of Rodney King than any of the others down the line who watched Rodney King and were frustrated at the way he was being beaten.

This Awareness indicates you could also say that the police were the trigger that led to the 52 people being killed. But even that is inaccurate. The entities who started the riot were the ones who triggered the 52 people being killed, but the entities who started the riot may not have even hung around, may have left before 52 people were killed. Thus, can you say that they are the cause of the 52 people being killed?

The ones who pulled the trigger, the ones who smashed others with clubs; what about these entities? Did they not have the responsibility for the ones who were killed? If they killed someone, are they not karmically indebted? This Awareness indicates there is karma to be shared enough for everyone. It does not have to be dumped on some broken hopeless black janitor who cannot contain his discipline enough to drink less and drive slower.

A discrepancy Between Blacks and Whites: Everyone Knows it

Of course, the entity deserves some kind of punishment, but to blame the entity for killing 52 people is totally erroneous. This Awareness indicates there is hardly a black man alive that isn't arrested at least once before the age of 25. It cannot be said that this is true of whites. There is a discrepancy and everyone knows it.

This Awareness indicates it is likened unto that song of Leonard Cohen's: "Everybody knows the ship is sinking. Everybody knows the captain lied. Everybody knows. Everybody knows." This Awareness indicates it goes on and on. That everyone knows what's going on in this society. It is not necessary for people to talk about it, so they ignore it and pretend it is something else that is happening, but everyone knows.

Everyone knows that the blacks in Los Angeles were being singled out by the police for special treatment and special harassment, which does not occur to the whites in the same area. This Awareness indicates that all of this can be ignored, can be a topic that is not discussed, but everyone knows about it anyway. This Awareness indicates that everyone knows that Rodney King was simply a poor broken black who had little chance of ever achieving much in his life, and especially he knew that, which may have been why he drank excessively, and the entity may have been filled with anger because of broken dreams and may have, in his anger, felt "I cannot be stopped again by these police! Every time it happens I end up in jail!" and the entity may have had many circumstances that would not sit well if he was in jail, and so he thought he could out-run them.

Rodney King was Beaten Like an Animal

Everyone knows you can't outrun the police, but he was drunk, and when he was stopped, he was beaten beyond that which is due an animal. If this were an animal, Animal Rights people would be screaming to high heaven. This Awareness indicates that it became a symbol for the blacks who have felt an oppression, to rebel against. It was waiting to happen. The riot was waiting to happen. Everyone knew it was coming, and no one prepared for it.

The police did not arrive and did not take action because they knew it would be excessive, and they knew the blacks were extremely upset by the verdict. This Awareness indicates that 52 people were killed, and this is a tragedy, but the energies were set for the killing of those 52 people and the Rodney King situation was simply a trigger, and this Awareness uses the word "situation" because Rodney King was not the trigger. The trigger was the situation of Rodney King being beaten and it being filmed for television, to be repeated over and over, and for the trial to set free the officers.

This symbolized to the blacks that the power lies in the gun, the power lies in who has the most force, and they saw that these police had great force and could beat this man nearly to death and that he represented any one of them who might be caught for some infraction. This Awareness indicates they were extremely distressed and upset by the event. Had there been true justice all along in society so that the blacks felt they received the same kind of justice as others, this beating and the court trial may have been quite different in its outcome, to the point where those observing the outcome of justice would not have been triggered into the violence that followed.

It is difficult to say whether any violence would have followed a just decision in the court, for one can never know, as it did not happen. This Awareness indicates that in the second trial, there was no violence following, because there was a greater justice, even though there was some disappointment that the police did not receive the full punishment for their actions, that many perceived was due them.

The Second Trial Caused Police to Re-Evaluate the Use of Force

This Awareness indicates that there is also a positive side that came from this, in that many of the other police forces around the country had to step back and look at themselves in regard to their excessive use of force, for there were many police forces that were excessive in their use of force, not only there in Los Angeles, but throughout the United States. This has been going on for decades. It is not something new, but this incident did cause them to stop and re-evaluate and realize the extent of their misuse of force. even if it is realized only for a short time.

It is quite possible that this will not be the sufficient warning and that they will move back into old habits of beating people whom they feel cannot defend themselves legally or physically. This Awareness indicates, however, the situation has many sides. The police are often threatened by criminals who are ready to shoot without provocation. Therefore, they live in fear, and that fear can very easily turn to hostility and anger, for adrenaline takes its many forms as fear in the role of flight, or anger in the role of fighting.

This Awareness indicates that if one cannot flee easily from a potential fear, the entity may turn toward anger and fighting, and this has led many police to become excessively brutal toward a captive when they have experienced fear in the apprehension of that captive.

Even In a Loving Relationship Karma is Created

This Awareness indicates the fact is you cannot really live around other people without creating karma. Even in a loving relationship, entities can create karma with one another and it is almost impossible to avoid doing so. The idea is to live a life as free of karma as is possible.

This Awareness indicates that also, in living around others, you not only create the negative karma, but you can also create positive karma. Positive karma as that which benefits others and this can sometimes over-balance the negative so that they are neutralized by weighing the good and bad karma an entity collects.

This Awareness indicates that Rodney King in passing over will very likely recognize the problems that were triggered from his action, and he will feel extreme guilt from this, but he may also recognize that it was not entirely his own doing, so as not to condemn himself excessively. It would appear the entity already recognized some responsibility for the rioting when he asked them to stop.

Karma and the Chain Reaction on the Freeway

QUESTIONER:

My original question was to help understand this sort of fuzzy area of karma regarding the initiator of a chain reaction. I originally was thinking about an article in the paper I saw years ago, about a motorist who came up the on-ramp entrance to the freeway, and evidently without looking, he just rudely shot ahead in front of the oncoming traffic and went his merry way, and what he didn't know was that the person who was speeding on the freeway some 60 miles per hour or so that he shot in front of, not even looking, had to slam on his brakes and this in turn created a chain reaction of brakes slamming all the way back for several miles, and in that process, several cars, in ramming one another, exploded, and people were burned alive, and this man who originally created that situation went on down the highway totally oblivious to what his rude and careless action had created.

In my way of thinking, he is partially responsible somehow for being negligent in his entrance to the freeway, not being courteous and waiting and that sort of thing, and I saw the Rodney King situation as a similar situation. And it's one of those cases of: What if the beginning of that chain reaction had never happened? Anyway, I'm sorry I asked the question in the first place.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the situation relating to the automobile intruding on the freeway without regard for the other automobiles is not a parallel or not the same thing as the Rodney King situation. This Awareness indicates that there is a great difference involved, for there were many other misbehaviors involved in the Rodney King situation, such as the excessive police beatings and such as the blacks who rioted, and such as the jury that dispensed (an) unjust verdict; all of whom were part of the karmic addition to the chain reaction.

This Awareness indicates, however, in the situation with the entity driving onto the freeway who became a cause of a necessary reaction from the next vehicle, which in turn created and caused the following vehicle to react; all of the subsequent reactions were triggered, and the first vehicle that had come onto the freeway escaped without a scratch while others were harmed and killed; this is a different instance, and the comparison of the two may have been similar and may have appeared to be a similar allegory, but this was a different situation.

This Awareness indicates the ones who were following did not trigger by mistake, necessarily, the chain reaction. They may have triggered by necessity, and the necessity of their slamming on their brakes in order to avoid an accident led to further accidents because of those coming from behind. The only way entities might have escaped the incident would be if they had not been driving so fast, or had not been so close to one another, and perhaps this is not a factor, because perhaps these entities were appropriately spaced and appropriately at the right speed for the situation had not this entity intruded recklessly in their path.

This Awareness indicates in which case, the entity who is oblivious to what occurred, if indeed he was oblivious, may have caused the deaths of many and the sufferings of many and may not even be aware that he has incurred some kind of karma for that action, but the entity's behavior and reckless approach to driving may be his karma, or may lead to his reaping his karma at some future time, because the entity surely has developed a pattern of disregard that will eventually catch up with him.

This Awareness indicates that It does not wish to give you the impression that It was offended by your position on the Rodney King situation, It simply expressed Itself emphatically, because it appeared from your statement you were emphatically set on believing or suggesting that Rodney King had killed 52 people, and this Awareness wished to clarify that there was more to karma than simply triggering things in a situation such as this.

This Awareness indicates that there were also many triggers that were pulled in that chain reaction of the Rodney King event, and there were many people involved in that situation wherein choices were made following Rodney King's erratic and reckless driving and these choices helped to create the total chain reaction that followed.

Karma a Difficult Subject to Discuss

CLOSING MESSAGE:

This Awareness indicates that karma is a difficult topic to discuss and to understand, and it has for too long appeared to be simple. The simple idea of cause and effect, of attributing blame, is the way most entities look at karma, but it is more like shooting a ball into a group of balls as on a pool table.

One ball hits one and it in turn hits many others, and many balls go moving as a result of one shot or one strike of a ball, and all of these causes and effects ripple throughout the kingdom, throughout the group, throughout the society, throughout the complete scenario, and it is not simply a matter of a cause and effect.

It is a matter of a cause, and effects, and all of those effects become triggers to create more causes that affect more things, so that as things move, one thing triggers another, which in turn triggers another and another, and the movement of karma is progressed from moment to moment, from day to day, from week to week, from year to year, from generation to generation.

This Awareness indicates that everyone seems to share some degree of blame for karma, even when it takes place half-way around the world to some extent. Can you say you are totally free and innocent of any karma for injustices that occur in China or India, or some other country around the world, when you could, if you so chose, help to send some kind of help, information, or promote with your funds and your support, a group or a cause that might educate those people in terms of how they deal with one another?

In other words, is it not possible that you have received some degree of karma for not doing enough for other people of the world? for being negligent or for not having learned of a problem elsewhere and doing something to alleviate the problem? Are you totally free of karma for starving children in foreign countries? Could you not send something to help these children?

But this Awareness suggests also, if you are sending something to help these children, how do you know it is getting to them? How do you know it is not simply going into the coffers of some rip-off group or organization that takes money from softies and uses it for themselves to administer a phony relief fund? This Awareness indicates that, are you perhaps receiving negative karma for supporting such a phony relief fund?

This Awareness indicates in other words, what It is saying is that perhaps you cannot avoid karma of a negative nature. Perhaps just living brings some negative karma to you, either by not being a better or greater person, or having greater influence in the world than you do, or by having great influence and not knowing what to do with it, to make sure it is karmically correct, or by not having the proper understanding of a situation and giving energies improperly to something.

In other words, whatever you do, you may very well be collecting negative karma. This Awareness asks: So what? If it is unavoidable, don't worry too much about it. Take care of the karma that you know you can avoid. This is in reference to negative karma, and focus on those things that you think can be worthy and beneficial in a good sense.

Try to Follow Your Good Intentions as Best you can

In other words, try to follow your good intentions to the best of your ability and always learn as much as you can to make sure your good intentions are indeed bringing about some kind of worthy results. If, in the process, there is a mistake, and some negative karma results, chalk it up to the negative side and recognize that most of your work will be on that of the good side.

This Awareness suggests that you always recognize and feel remorse for any errors that you make and ask the Divine Force to forgive you your trespasses as you forgive those who trespass against you, and all in all, your total karma will no doubt balance out on the plus side, and with the strong potential for the Law of Grace to act in your affairs, you will most likely be forgiven for any mistakes or errors that may have wracked up on your negative karmic balance sheet.

In a Nutshell to Avoid Karma

This Awareness suggests don't worry too much, just follow these simple directions: Do your best, make sure your intentions are good, develop methods that are supportive of good outcomes, and help others where you can.

(The Law of Gratitude is given)

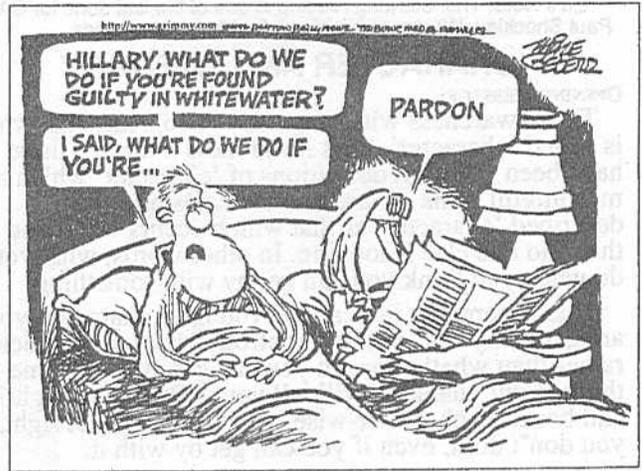

ED's Note: This closing message has nothing to do with the question. Awareness kept reiterating that the police and the trial and the way the blacks reacted to the verdict by rioting and slaughtering was the real reason, plus the miserable condition the blacks were forced to live under, etc. etc. Also, that Rodney King was a "broken, hopeless black janitor, who got drunk in order to hide or cover over his pain, filled with anger because of broken dreams." etc. The truth is, according to the media, Rodney King loved life, he was a party animal, attending homosexual "parties" almost every night, getting drunk and getting arrested for drunken driving at least 12 different times. My question, which Awareness avoided and waffled over and continued to focus on the police beatings, the trial, etc. etc. was never really addressed. It was a very simple question: Rodney King would not have been pursued and beaten by the police, never would have gone to trial, never have a verdict returned by a jury that would enrage certain blacks to destroy a billion dollars worth of property and slaughter 52 human beings IF he had been responsible in the first place. (In this reading Awareness stated irresponsibility is one of the things that creates karma, yet it implies it does not apply to Rodney King). The point I was trying to make was Instead of getting drunk and recklessly endangering others and getting pursued by the police, he could have simply called a taxi or asked someone at the party to take him home; (this would be acting in a responsible manner). Had he done this, NONE of all that followed would never have happened.

I had discussed the Rodney King incident with the Interpreter Paul Shockley several times, who felt very strongly about what happened. In light of the response from Awareness, I feel that Paul's attitude on the subject probably influenced the reading, and if not, my question was carefully ignored as we were stupidly led into areas that had little to do with the original question.

Since this reading was given in 1993, Rodney King was awarded a judgment of $3.8 million, in addition, his attorneys socked the LA taxpayers for $4 million in fees. Since his 1991 trial he has been arrested for drunken driving at least 6 more times, was arrested again in Alhambra for hit and run driving and sentenced to 90 days in jail and put on 2 year probation. Later, he was sentenced to clean off state highways for violating probation on a drunken driving conviction. In 1995 he was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon and domestic violence. Later, he was again arrested, this time for throwing his wife out of his car and repeatedly trying to run over her. As a result of his 1991 trial, several LA police officers have sued the city for millions of dollars after they were fired over the original incident. On August, 4, 1997, Rodney King began serving a 90 -day jail sentence at the LA County Jail for spousal abuse once again. (Makes one wonder why homosexuals even bother to have wives). Talk about a chain reaction!

CHARACTER AND INTEGRITY

OPENING MESSAGE:

This Awareness wishes entities to consider that which is called 'character'. This Awareness indicates there have been different definitions of 'character' which are meaningful. This Awareness indicates one entity described 'character' as that which occurs when you think no one else is looking. In other words, what you do when you think you can get by with something.

This Awareness indicates if you have character, you are generally directed and controlled by your character, rather than whether or not you can get by with something. Your character will tell you: "This is not right!" and because, character-wise, you know it is not right, you don't do it, even if you can get by with it.

This Awareness indicates it is important for entities to build character, because if you do not, eventually, that lack of character or lack of integrity will show through in one way or another, and what you think of yourself also will ride on how you feel about your own character and integrity. 'Integrity' relates to the word 'integrate' which means being together.

If you are integrated, you are brought together by principles that make-up your character and yourself. This Awareness indicates these integrated qualities of oneself are those things that in times of crisis can hold you steadfast in your being and carry you through some of the more treacherous times in life so that you remain steadfast in your dedications and pursuits and do not find yourself simply using some moral, while it is workable for you, while it benefits you, or while it seems to be appropriate, only to throw it aside when it might become a little difficult.

This Awareness indicates there are many entities who do not build a strong central core to their being, and therefore, in times of stress or difficulties or confusion, they do not have anything solid about themselves that they can hold onto. This Awareness indicates it is important for entities to have a central core belief, a foundation for self.

It is important for them to recognize what their standing is, where they stand in terms of their own integrity, not so much in terms of popular opinion, but how they feel about themselves. This character-building is a very important part of oneself. This Awareness indicates that it is what holds you together in times of crisis.

You may make decisions that look logical, but are not in your character, and because they do not fit your character, your character then begins to fall apart in that time of crisis, and you will find yourself unable to hold your world together. This Awareness indicates that if entities are only loyal to their beliefs or their dedications while things are pleasant or easy, then of course, in critical times, the loyalty is meaningless.

This Awareness indicates also that your loyalty must be well-placed, for loyalty is also akin to bondage. If you are bound to something out of loyalty, and that something is not valid or becomes corrupted, you do not want to remain loyal to it. Therefore, make your dedications carefully. Dedicate yourself to that which is permanent.

This Awareness, for example, has suggested that entities not dedicate themselves to something that would crumble. In Biblical terms, there is that house built on sand, and you know that any house built on sand eventually could be washed away or sink, or the winds could blow the sand and the house could collapse.

This Awareness indicates many entities build a fortune in what is termed a 'House of Cards'. This is a reference to something that is not stable, and they invest in something unstable, and their fortune can easily collapse. Others do this with their lives; they build their life on something that is not truly a foundation. It is simply a fad or it is something that is fleeting and will pass.

This Awareness indicates if you realize that the Divine Creator is everywhere present eternally, and you build your life on that foundation, what can you lose? It will remain solid throughout your life and beyond. This Awareness indicates even if your body were to fall apart and disease wrack your body, you still can be solid with your devotion and dedication to the Divine Creator.

This Awareness indicates knowing that It is everywhere present, you do not have to run off somewhere to get Its blessings. If you are bedridden, you still know that the Divine Creator is there with you and that It protects and holds you close, even through the passage into the next life. This Awareness indicates therefore, it is important to take that which is the most permanent, most solid reality in your world and place your loyalties with that.

Do not think that loyalty to the Republican or Democratic party is going to take you through the entire realm of experiences as a human being. They will only take you so far, and only as long as you are worthwhile to them. This Awareness indicates that all these other values which entities take on, likewise, are but temporary values.

The family is a good solid source for values, but even family can fall apart, and those who are closest to you can betray you. This Awareness indicates it is only when entities make the Divine Creator their first priority and deepest loyalty that they can actually feel a true security in their being.

This Awareness indicates many entities try to find a mate who will be their anchor in times of stress or change or difficulty and often the mate can be helpful, but your loyalty to your mate, as important as it is, should never be greater than your loyalty to the Divine Creator.

HOW DOES BIOLOGICAL LIFE ON A PLANET ORIGINATE?

QUESTION:

A question from JD in New York. She asks "How does biological life on a planet originate?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates this question is that which has a multiplicity of responses. In some cases, there can be solar winds blowing life energies from elsewhere onto a planet which is fertile or suitable for those biological qualities. This Awareness indicates these can be of extreme smallness, extreme complexity, or they can actually be full-blown entities of some kind who are placed upon the planet.

They can evolve from minuscule particles or substances or vibrations or they can be brought in whole from some other world. In the case of earth, there were many different stages in which biological life underwent minor alterations and major alterations. This Awareness indicates if the entity is asking: "How does biological life originate?" in the sense of there being absolutely nothing living, not even the smallest creature or vibration, then of course it becomes one type of process. If the entity is talking about more advanced forms of biological life that have been brought to a planet, that is then a different kind of activity.

This Awareness indicates it appears that the entity knows much of the theory on evolution and how the scientific studies have shown the arguments on biological life coming from chemical fluxes and she also has the experience of having information on genetic engineering in terms of the early development of beings, and also has information on the early influence on this planet in terms of the planet Maldek having exploded and caused life upon earth to accelerate.

It is difficult to know exactly what this entity wants from this question, or whether it can be answered in a single message. The process of describing how life originates on a barren wasteland is that which depends upon so many other variables that no one single answer can suffice, because there are so many different situations in which life can take hold in a barren wasteland.

It can be brought in from outside, or in some cases, the flux of energies in the barren wasteland, the various substances there could contribute to the billions of years of evolution to bring about something of a form of life. This Awareness indicates the entity surely doesn't ask that this Awareness follow the minuscule chemicals and their influences on each other as they work their way toward becoming some rudimentary life particle.

It is unclear what the entity wants from this question.

Were Many Plants Engineered for Humans?

QUESTION:

Okay. She's got another question here in a similar vein. She writes: "Our planet is just full of all sorts of plants, good for food, medicine, building such things as shelter, clothing and tools and so forth. Is this merely fortuitous? Or were many plants engineered as food and so forth for humans, and/or other animal life?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that many of these plants grew here naturally. There are many planets that have plants and substances that are evolved along different lines entirely. There are some plants on this earth that were brought here from elsewhere by extraterrestrials from the past. This Awareness indicates there are, for example, the banana, which is native to the extraterrestrials, but not to the earth. There is also the Venus flytrap which is native not to the earth, but to an extraterrestrial source.

This Awareness indicates the extraterrestrials used to visit the earth more than they did in the recent millennium, and though they have, in this last century, begun to visit the earth again, they have not necessarily shown a great deal of interest in bringing more extraterrestrial vegetation to the earth. These of course are not necessarily the same visitors who brought vegetation before.

This Awareness indicates the entity Zecharia Sitchin, in The 12th Planet discussed briefly the fruits and vegetation provided from the extraterrestrials for the earth and described that area of the Tigris/Euphrates, the Cradle of Civilization, as having been the Biblical Garden of Eden. This Awareness indicates that these fruits included grapes, apples, and olives and some of the other commonly known foods for people on earth.

This Awareness indicates in response to her question: Yes, it is both fortuitous and indigenous. There are things of these earth and things brought in elsewhere, from other sources. Corn being that which is mostly native to the Mayan civilizations, has spread to Europe. European foods have spread to the United States, and even as it occurs on earth, likewise, when there has been the exchange of cultures between the earth and other extraterrestrial sources, foods and other vegetation have often been part of the exchange.

This Awareness indicates it is also possible for vegetation to come from comets that strike the earth. In their seed form, the vegetation may fall with a comet or asteroid so that it falls to the earth or arrives in the asteroid and eventually seeds the earth where the asteroid has landed.

In most casts, foods have developed because of mutations due to climate or other elements in the environment so that something which exists at one time can within 10,000 years have mutated into different types of creatures or into different types of plants.

This Awareness indicates the Galapagos Islands are an unusual place, in that scientists have been able to find all types of mutated creatures because of the isolation in that area that has long been noted for its isolation, and now, with the visitors from other parts of the world, they are beginning to bring things to the island that are not native to the island, and these things have also begun to affect and mutate and cause alterations on the island itself. Thus, just the tracking of feet that have been elsewhere can bring on certain biological changes to the animals and plants in the Galapagos Islands. This Awareness indicates when people throw their garbage or waste on the islands, this also adds to mutations that have been noted in fish and other creatures and in the plant life there.

Why is Military Urban Warfare Being Practiced Late at Night in Some Communities?

(A U.S. Soldier Speaks Out)

QUESTION:

Back in November, Vicki received a letter from Rita D., in Kansas City, Missouri. She writes about an incident here that is rather interesting and I'd like to read this and ask Awareness if this is a more or less isolated case, or is this happening all over the country? She writes: "At 10:30 AM I got on a bus to go back to Kansas City, Kansas, when a young black member of the National Guard jumped on the bus. He was in full battle gear. He began talking to the bus driver, and so help me God, he sounded like Awareness!"

"We have gone on a war footing!" He talked about the banking families now taking over. He stated that 75% of the National Guard has been sent out of the country without the American people being told. He said they were asked, as were other branches of the armed services, if they were willing to fire on their own people. They have lists of everyone who has purchased weapons and will be taking all weapons from the common people.

"The US Armed Forces are to be rendered helpless and disarmed or pulled out of this country. He spoke of the banking families. The bus driver lives near Richard Gebaur Air Force Base, and said planes have been flying out of there like mad, all going out." She goes on to other information, but would Awareness comment on that?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates it is uncommon for entities to talk so openly about this. This entity as feeling the need to give what he knows to alert the people in the only way he could. This Awareness indicates there are other reports from other sources of a similar nature, wherein entities are reporting strange activities such as the night raids and military warfare that occurs in urban areas as a so-called military maneuver, or practice.

This Awareness indicates the question is why are these entities practicing military maneuvers in the cities of the United States after midnight? Why is this a maneuvering practice that needs to be accomplished in this country? This Awareness indicates there are many entities who ask these questions when they call authorities the next morning to report, or during the night to report. They are simply told that it is a military practice and not to worry about it.

This Awareness indicates there are also many who have reported urban warfare practices in various areas around the country in which the military goes through a certain area and create a fake war, and many say that these occur mostly in Hispanic type areas, or place where the people are not well-off and not well informed and cannot raise much of a fuss or perhaps are too frightened to raise a fuss about the maneuvers.

German Troops Take Over a U.S. Base

This Awareness indicates it appears that the bankers want the people to be disarmed, and would use military force from the United States if they could be trusted, but are also expecting and planning to use external or foreign troops in the United States. This Awareness indicates there are, for example, German troops who have taken over an entire base in new Mexico and are training there. It is for the first time in United States history a situation in which foreign troops are on American soil with the blessings of the United States government.

Some Validity to Stories of Train Cars With Shackles

This Awareness indicates that there have been reports of trains being outfitted with shackles for hauling the masses to some concentration camps. Much of this information, many of the reports have tended to originate from one or two sources which are questionable, yet it does appear that there is some substantiation or some credibility in these reports.

This Awareness suggests you not be too alarmed by these reports, for even if they are true, they have been exaggerated. Yet, at the same time, there is reason for concern, because even if they are exaggerated, they still could be implemented quickly. After all, how long would it take to put shackles in a train car?

"Restricted Areas" Could Actually be Concentration Camps

This Awareness indicates there have been numerous reports of areas where entities, in their driving into a desert area, would be turned back by signs or patrols forcing them to stop and proceed no further, because they are approaching a restricted area. Many of these restricted areas have been recognized as, or expressed through various reports and publications, as concentration camps.

This Awareness indicates there is also information provided directly to the Interpreter regarding an area in Christmas Valley, Oregon, wherein the entity who lived there became aware of the government purchase of a large area of the desert in which it became a restricted zone, and all of the town knew that it was for a concentration camp being built in that area.

Why Is Government Importing Guillotines From France?

This Awareness indicates that likewise, the report of the ship in San Francisco being unloaded and a crate falling and breaking open with Guillotines, made in France, showing clearly to the deck workers and crate being marked for Christmas Valley; these things are indications that there is something awry and not to the good of the people.

This Awareness indicates on the other hand, there are some things that are happening that can be seen as hopeful. For example, a recent series on the Revolutionary War, and a series on the Constitution. These kinds of historical programmings suggest that there are some who are still trying to instill a sense of admiration for this country's past; but along with these efforts, there are still those who would try to discolor or demonize the country's past.

Today's Textbooks Rewriting U.S. History

This Awareness indicates there have been those who want to make Jefferson appear to be unworthy as an American hero. There are those who work with textbooks, who want to rewrite the history of the United States to leave out any of the great events relating to freeing the people or relating to the development of the Constitution and the importance of the Constitution.

They prefer to focus only on the social issues that occurred in the past history of the United States, focusing, for example, on the women's Temperance Movement, and women's Right to Vote, and the freeing of the blacks, as these are being part of the New World Order Agenda of giving equality to all people, which allows them to have the appearance of being into the good of society, even though they are actually preparing entities to give up their individual rights for the society in general, and in the long-run, by taking away individual rights as guaranteed by the Constitution, they can enslave the entire population by making them all members of the working class who cannot escape the class or caste system that is being prepared.

New World Order Caste System Being Set Up

This Awareness indicates by setting up a caste system, where all entities are equal in terms of their social standing, they can claim they have helped bring about a better world. But at the same time, they themselves are better than those in the 'better world' they have made. They have the absolute power over the disarmed public who make up the working force, and they could, if they so chose, destroy an entire nation, if it attempted to throw off their controls.

This Awareness indicates when these entities have neared their completion of the New World Order, then you will see the true face of their plan. As they begin to dismantle all of the governments and begin to take over all of the corporations that offer jobs to the masses, they also will do away with any government programs that help the people, or make laws for assuring people's rights, and they will let the corporations take over these things as well as manage the prisons, the mail, and all of the other energy programs and utility programs, and everything that goes into making a society; all of these things will be given to corporations.

This Awareness indicates the corporations, of course, have jobs for the people, and tell the people where to go or where not to go, and when they can go, and when they cannot go. They also will have controls over the family members of a worker and may force the families to become workers in their own levels, or to train them in the schools to become strictly and completely dedicated to the corporation and its needs.

Thus, you may be educating children for the job, rather than for their own intellect or their own careers. This would be the plan of the corporate state that is emerging through the New World Order.

ARE THERE NOW 3 MILLION FOREIGN TROOPS IN THE U.S.?

QUESTION:

There was a report on the Internet from some Patriot source, that said there are now 3 million foreign troops in the United States. Is that figure correct?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it appears to be close to being accurate. It appears that there may be a slight exaggeration. Some of those who are counted as part of that number are not necessarily troops. They are clerks and people working with the troops of foreign nationality, but in general, it can be said to be accurate.

This Awareness indicates there are still many of these entities also just outside the borders of the United States in Mexico and in Canada; they are keeping a rather low profile. This Awareness indicates also, being aware of the COSCO Navy base purchase in California by the Chinese government; this being a huge base, allows a place where the Chinese can land their troops quickly, easily, and safely, if they wish to invade this country in behalf of the New World Order.

Chinese Sailors Practicing for Invasion of U.S.

It is also reported that during the recent Formosa practice of the Chinese Navy, wherein the United States parked ships in the area to protect Taiwan, some of the Chinese who were interviewed by reporters, stated that they were practicing for the time when they would invade the United States. That was the reason for their maneuvers, according to these entities.

This Awareness indicates there is much concern on the Internet, and Patriot groups, that President Clinton, in his fund-raising efforts, has made a deal with China to allow them to have that COSCO base; the COSCO base in Southern California having been recently sold to Communist China through its COSCO company as a mercantile base. It would also serve Communist China as a military base if it so wanted to make the change.

The argument being that Clinton has sold out to the Chinese for a few million dollars, for his own re-election needs. This Awareness indicates that the COSCO name is that which many entities in this country are familiar with. It is a low-cost supermarket type of store, a chain wherein entities can buy things at greatly reduced prices, if they become a COSCO member.* This Awareness indicates COSCO standing for China Ocean Shipping Company. It is owned by Communist China. It sells goods from Communist China.

*Not true. Paul is confusing this with the COSTCO chain. Ed.

U.S. Essentially Is Undefended, Our Troops are Outside of Country

This Awareness indicates that most of the military of the United States has been reduced or sent out of the country. There appears to be just over half a million US service men, and most of those are out of the country or generally inactive or are being trained for urban warfare in the cities in this country. The country is basically sitting naked of any self-protection. Only the citizens with their arms are able to protect this country at this time, and plans are well underway for disarming these entities.

Laws Being Passed to Take Guns From Some Policemen

This Awareness indicates there are laws being passed to take some of the guns from the police. For those police officers who may have had a domestic violence charge on their personal records, they have had their guns taken from them and are put inside, in desk work. Much of this is seen as totally fair by those others who have had guns pulled because of domestic violence.

This Awareness indicates that the law states that anyone who has had domestic violence has no legal right to own a gun and this affects those in the police force as well as among citizens. There are efforts by different police unions to get the law changed so that it does not apply to police. There are others who think that this is only right; that the police also should not have their guns if they have had domestic violence, the argument being that the police need to have guns for their job.

This Awareness indicates that the other gun law that has recently been passed is that no one has the right; It is felonious for anyone to have a gun within a thousand feet of any school. Thus, if the highway goes past a school, anyone carrying a gun could be arrested and imprisoned on a felony charge. This Awareness indicates that these, on their face, appear to be reasonable laws, protecting the innocent people from a potential criminal.

We Can Now be Arrested for Crimes Not Committed!

This Awareness indicates the Patriots argue that never in the history of the United States have people been arrested for crimes that were not yet committed, by laws being made to prevent crimes. It takes away the rights of the people to have laws passed that are designed to prevent crimes, and in the prevention of crimes it also makes it possible for other crimes to occur, such as criminal dictatorships.

The concern that the Patriots have is that even if this present government were not to become a tyrannical government, what about the next administration, or the one after that? Can we all be sure that when our guns are gone, everyone will be safe from tyrants who would take over the government?

This Awareness indicates it is always the situation that when a despotic government occurs, the people of that country are disarmed, or have already been disarmed. Idi Amin could never have been so successful without having his people disarmed, but because of his actions of disarming his people, he was able to kill millions of his countrymen. The same is true with Adolf Hitler, who boastfully bragged that for the first time in German history they would now have peace, because his people were disarmed by the new laws that had been passed.

Those With Absolute Power Show No Mercy

This Awareness indicates the problem is that when people have absolute power, mercy is not necessarily a dominating force, and mercy is a luxury for many entities in absolute power. They want to use their absolute power to get rid of any political opposition or anyone who might object to the things they are doing. There becomes no room for debate when the other side has all of the weapons.

This Awareness indicates it would be ideal if the entire world got rid of its weapons, but if the rulers have all of the weapons and the masses have no weapons, it doesn't take a genius to know there is a discrepancy and it is but a matter of time before the oppression of the weak becomes the way of life.

LETTER 2 FROM "PRIEST"

QUESTION:

During our last session, Awareness verified information from over the Internet from an anonymous priest who had access to a Vatican computer line, and the entity said that he would send Art Bell more information if he wanted it. So, letter #2 has arrived for Art Bell, and I'd like to read this to Awareness because it sort of ties in with what we've been discussing.

This Priest writes: "Mr. Bell, to preface this letter, if you intend on reading it to your listeners, I will tell you that the gentleman who was previously forwarding my messages is unfortunately no longer with us. He was killed very violently while on a vacation in Southern California. He was found by police in his hotel room, tied up, with gunshot wounds to his head and spine.

"His mother was sent pictures of him just before he was shot. These photos were sent with a warning. I don't think I need to elaborate any further on that! I mourn his loss deeply, and I pray it will not be in vain. It adds a new seriousness to the passage I told you to read regarding Hope.

"I apologize for having been gone for so long. I was unavoidably detoured for a number of weeks. I am fine. I have been recovering from a gunshot wound that I received around Christmas time. The bullet, as near as I can tell, was not meant to kill me, but to cripple me. The bullet missed my spinal cord by approximately 4 centimeters.

"I am still having difficulties, but I am getting better every day. I want you and all of your listeners to know that I have made arrangements for you to receive some information. I have unlocked the disc I was working on, and I am, to say the least, very frightened. Without going into too much detail, the disc contained a good deal of information concerning what your remote viewer friend had to say.

"The Vatican too has a staff of astral operatives, and operatives trained in remote viewing. They have, for some time now, known of the virus that he spoke of, and according to them it is very real. I will be sending you detailed information of two projects that the Vatican is involved with currently: 1) They have worked to successfully stop a program called Space Guard.

"This program was headed by a man in Australia, until it was shut down. Its main purpose was to track all known comets and determine any possible "earth collider's." The program's funding was cut altogether by NASA, which was only to the amount of one million dollars anyway, by the Vatican, and I will go into detail in the information you will be receiving.

"2) I have learned of a vast number of training facilities across the globe, but mostly in the United States, that are training, what I can only refer to as the Vatican Guard. These soldiers are being trained for what the Vatican feels is an impending Holy War. These soldiers are being trained in biologic/nuclear fallout conditions, and the use of astral combat.

"This is more far-reaching than I had ever imagined, Mr. Bell! I do hope that you mull over the information you will be getting very seriously, as it is the truth. I apologize for the anonymity, in regards to this E-Mail, but under the circumstances, I do not wish to endanger anyone else. I will, from now on, be sending you all information personally. Any other address other than the one you just received is not from me and should be treated as such. I will be in contact soon. God be with us all!" And it's just signed: "Priest"

Does Awareness see that information as also being valid?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates for the most part this appears to be correct. This Awareness indicates it appears there are areas that need closer clarification. The reference to the Vatican controls over certain bases also is connected with information given by this Awareness in regard to Neo-Nazi activities. That the Neo-Nazi's are essentially connected with CIA, as previously stated, and the Rockefeller's, and that these agencies are closely connected with the Vatican.

Religious Wars Like the Cold War Are Faked

This Awareness indicates that the Zionist movement, which was a kind of apparent opposition to the Vatican and the Nazi movement; this is a kind of fake war. The religious war is much like the cold war. It is set up in such a way as to create the appearance of conflict, though the actions or means of the conflict are designed to eventually resolve in a conclusion that leads to the desired end of both parties.

This Awareness indicates this is a method promoted by Hegel, wherein two opposite arguments or entities in opposition take their argument and then in the opposition, struggle back and forth, and come to a conclusion, which is what both of them wanted to begin with. They are essentially put in role-playing actions to take the masses through a conflict experience and bring them to the desired conclusion.

This Awareness indicates that essentially is what this apparent struggle will be to bring entities to that position which was pre-ordained even before the conflict even began. In the meantime, this planned conflict will take the lives of many.

Republican and Democratic Parties Use Hegel's Principle

This Awareness indicates you also can see the same principle being used in argument between the Republican and Democratic party, wherein they appear to be in opposition, and then reach a compromise whereby they feel and express their success in having resolved a conflict, but the people are stuck with the compromise, which perhaps neither side really wants, but they will accept it because they think they have been championed by the best representative from their side, and that was the best they could get.

Hegel's Technique Used in Many Courts of Law

This Awareness indicates it is the technique used in many courts of law. You get your lawyers, and they have theirs, and the lawyers talk with each other. You cannot talk to the lawyers of the other side, but your lawyers talk with the lawyers from the other side, and they reach some kind of agreement as to how the case will turn out.

Often this occurs before the case even starts, and thus, you are championed by your lawyer, and they are championed by their lawyer, but the lawyers already have decided on the outcome, and one case may allow one lawyer to win on condition that in the next case between them, the other lawyer will win, and it has very little to do with justice in the case itself.

This happens more often than people would like to admit. Thus, lawyers often owe each other a case, and will call upon the other: "I want to win this case!" and the other will say, "Well, I want to win it also!" and the first may say: "But you owe me one!" and perhaps then they settle: "All right! You can win this case, but I get the next one, whenever we come together again!"

This Awareness indicates that this technique has been used through so many disputes, not only in the courts of law, but between countries and between various positions of political importance. Even arguments surrounding environmental issues can be settled by doing this kind of artificial argument and maneuvering, for the impression of the masses. They are designed to make the masses feel they have been represented, even though they have simply been betrayed, or compromised.

It is just another trick of social programming and manipulation, but this Awareness wishes you to understand it can be used even in wars, wherein countries go to war against one another for the sake of a particular solution that has already been determined before the war begins.

About the Lessons of Enlightenment: An Adventure in Self-Understanding

OPENING MESSAGE:

This Awareness indicates that the enlightenment is now upon humanity, wherein the cloak of darkness, which has become, sadly, an ordinary accepted part or component of the human experience, but that this is no longer necessary, and will no longer be tolerated, as it is in opposition to the Divine Universal Force, which seeks expression, and has been building a momentum to impress upon mass consciousness, and within each individual human mind, that empowerment and understanding and the feeling experience of unimpeded Divine Joyous Love Energy, as the intended state.

This Awareness indicates and offers a welcoming and an energy to entities desiring to rise to the challenge of accepting the wisdom of the Spirit and applying it to the conscious choice and direction of the Will, to bring about those changes within the individual consciousness, and then further offer them through active vocal and physical responses to the mass consciousness that exists as the cultural/mental mind of man.

This Awareness suggests that the initial Lesson of Enlightenment regarding the spiritual nature of the human being has been received by the entity Grace and shall accompany this communication regarding the task, the challenge, which is ultimately the liberation of every earthbound entity.* This Awareness indicates that the Lessons of Enlightenment are offered to restore the natural flow of energy, of communicative information from Spirit through body, and into mind, whereby the ideas, beliefs and pieces of knowledge of man-made origin can be accessed, identified and evaluated regarding their effectiveness at facilitating the development and expression of the Spirit.

*When Grace mentions "earthbound entities" she is referring to all entities physically trapped on earth and is not referring to earthbound spirits. Ed.

People No Longer Understand Human Feelings

This Awareness suggests that the communicative channel of human feeling has become almost completely ineffective due to the lack of understanding and ignorance and limiting beliefs that abound, regarding human feelings and the role they are intended to play.

This Awareness suggests that the Lessons of Enlightenment are intended to restore this communicative pathway and provide the essential foundational step toward reclaiming the empowerment, the abilities, the perceptions and the mental capacities which have been tremendously limited, due to the lack of such understanding.

This Awareness suggests that this adventure in self-understanding can provide entities with perhaps the most valuable experience of a lifetime. This Awareness indicates that entities live day to day, lifetimes, operating on minimal power, responding habitually, thinking habitually, rather than creatively and under the direction of Spiritual Inspiration.

Enlightenment and Joy Beyond Your Imagination

This Awareness suggests that this adventure in Enlightenment can restore the lost elements that leave entities less than fully human. This Awareness suggests that entities who can find happiness, experience joy in spiritual development and expression, can count themselves quite fortunate and congratulate themselves in having achieved certain belief systems and ideas and habits that facilitate the Spirit. But this Awareness suggests that even the most successful entities can increase such capacity beyond their wildest expectations and achieve Enlightenment and Divine Joy to rapturous levels yet to be entertained.

Keep In Touch with CAC for Feedback as You Move Along

This Awareness suggests for every entity to absorb the Lessons of Enlightenment and apply them faithfully and courageously to the every-day life and events and submit questions regarding clarification, application and personal experiences for the general membership of this organization to exchange information, to facilitate networking in order that the maximum benefit can be obtained.

This Awareness suggests there is a great backlog of energy available to entities willing to attune to it, which can assist them in the developmental process, which shall be a life-long journey of self-development, self-understanding, and the creative development and willful choice of strategies, techniques and cultural tools that can facilitate spiritual expression for all entities.

This Awareness suggests that the lessons contain specific information regarding how to know when the developmental pace is most appropriate with the general understanding that developmental progress can be painful if it is taken on with an excess of aggressiveness, wherein it becomes too much for an entity to bear.

"No Pain, No Gain" Will Bring Forth Maximum Results

This Awareness suggests that also, progress is greatly impeded if diversionary tactics which avoid the messages that the feelings bring and also result in unnecessary pain and dysfunction. This Awareness suggests that the optimum level of progress will be known to the entity through the feeling system, whereby those ambitious fast-paced hearty individuals who embrace the slogan: "No Pain, no Gain!" can achieve the maximum development.

This Awareness indicates cautions against such aggressive strategies, however, that create a predominance of stress and pain whereby the entity creates physical distress. This Awareness challenges entities to find the peak haste at which development is optimal, regardless of the pace of others, of friends, of relatives, of associates; for every individual is ultimately attuned to the best course of action for themselves.

This Awareness cautions entities against judging one another or even themselves regarding the events that unfold and the choices that the Will directs entities toward through the feeling system. Such judgments have become normal and acceptable within mass-consciousness, but that they are not acceptable and do not apply in the individual developmental process.

This Awareness welcomes entities to embark upon this journey of self-discovery, and indicates the Universal Happiness in the removal of the obstruction that has limited the understandings which the Lessons of Enlightenment now usher.

We have completion.

How Long to Complete the Lessons?

(Will the Lessons Help If You are 80 or 90 Years Old?)

QUESTION:

Can Awareness indicate how long it will take to absorb the Lessons of Enlightenment? The reason I ask is we have an awfully lot of elderly members in this organization, many in their Eighties and Nineties. Would these lessons help these people at that age?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that entities nearing the end of the physical existence are particularly attuned, if they so focus, to Universal Energies and altered states of consciousness, therefore they may in fact have a benefit due to the advanced age. This Awareness suggests, however, that belief systems which are deeply ingrained, yet which create emotional dissonance, will be very apparent to entities of advanced age, for having carried them for so long.

Pay Particular Attention to Feelings Which Create Joy and Love

This Awareness suggests that the central message for any entity of any age is to understand that attunement to the Human Feeling System and begin to pay particular attention to feelings which generate the experience of pleasure, of joy, of love, as opposed to the feelings which generate the experience of fear, of anguish, of sadness and anger.

This Awareness suggests that many belief systems choke the mind of man regarding what human feeling is, what it is not, and that in a general sense, it is recommended to ignore the system to control it, but this Awareness suggests this is in gross error.

This Awareness suggests the preliminary step in embracing the Lessons of Enlightenment is to attune to the emotional system, paying specific attention to the ideas which exist as accepted truths within an entity's mind that elicit the feelings.

Feelings Bring Highly Valuable Information to You From Spirit

This Awareness suggests that entities entertain the concept that the feeling brings information, important, highly valuable information from the Spirit regarding those ideas that have been accepted in the mind of man. This Awareness indicates that all feelings motivate active responses which are intended to make corrections within the belief systems or within the external world, so that there can be spiritual expression.

This Awareness indicates that any situation that elicits a feeling of fear can be analyzed whereby the individual can identify the idea which lies within his or her mind that disrupts the flow of spiritual energy. The information and the feeling is to direct the attention to the belief systems in such manner that the energy that accompanies the emotion can be used to effect a change to the mental realm and/or to the physical realm.

This Awareness suggests that all entities of every age, particularly those of advanced age who might want a more fast-track enlightenment, begin immediately attending and valuing the feeling system, and trusting in the knowledge that this system speaks the truth of the Spirit and exposes the falsehoods of mind.

If we have completion we can continue.

How do we Surrender Ourselves to God?

QUESTION:

A question from John Y., in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. He asks "You might ask Awareness: How do we surrender ourselves to God?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests, as indicated in a previous transmission, that the concept of self is a very significant concept with a very specific definition which can facilitate the understandings and the empowerment and is a core issue in the Lessons of Enlightenment.

This Awareness suggests that enlightenment itself is embodied in a concept of surrendering the self to God, but with the important understanding that the core aspects of self are a portion of that God, and that the surrendering of the self to God is accomplished by attuning to those aspects of self, honoring them, having trust and faith in the validity of the spirit, wherein the lesser more temporary aspects of self can be shuffled about, altered, changed and developed on a daily basis to accommodate the higher aspects of self, in such manner that there is a surrendering of the core aspects of self to the higher God Self.

This Awareness suggests that the lower aspects of self are important, valid aspects of the core identity, but that they are distinguished by the fact that they are of cultural origin, and spring from mass consciousness in man-made ideas which exist in the realm of mind, and that these ideas and beliefs are flexible, ever-changing, and should be creatively developed and improved at all times.

This Awareness suggests, however, that the creative, naturally intended, flexible, open, evolving state of mind has become choked with habit and limited beliefs which have outlived their purpose, and which are continually accepted due to the misunderstandings of how the feeling system seeks their rejection.

This Awareness suggests that entities who choose to embark upon the journey and receive with courage and integrity and commitment the development that can spring from the Lessons of Enlightenment, are in fact, on that course of surrendering the self to God.

If we have completion we can continue.

Released After Decades in Prison: How can Alton Best Serve Others?

QUESTION:

Alton McCullough has been a member of CAC ever since its inception. This entity was in prison at the time, and has been in prison up until a few months ago, when the parole board paroled this entity. Alton sent us a letter of great joy at this event, and I published this letter in the Editor's Memo to the Membership. He refers to this in here so I'll read part of his letter.

He writes: "Dear Vikki and staff: I am writing to let you know that I am home! Sorry it took me three weeks to write. I've been home since the 16th of June. The shock has worn off. I am somewhat adjusted. I have received two publications and I read in the memo on the last page where Avaton printed my letter. I was surprised and delighted that you guys have high confidence in my being. I will not let you down.

"That's why at this time I am asking for guidance. What should I do at this time? What is the best way of going about serving others?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that the entity Alton can be congratulated for his chosen direction and in that, he is already becoming attuned to his feeling system, which will ultimately provide him, as it can every entity, that unique self-guidance that can only spring from the Spirit. This Awareness suggests that the entity's expression of certain emotional states can provide an example of how the feeling system is at work in his life.

This Awareness suggests that the entity experienced a state described as shock at experiencing the transition from one environment which was extremely restrictive, to the home environment that operates upon a completely different set of assumptions and rules.

This Awareness suggests that the feeling of shock is the disorientation of the emotional system when entities undergo radical changes in lifestyle or sudden movement between geographical locations with radically varying cultural institutions whereby the belief systems which have been workable for the entity in one environment, no longer apply.

This Awareness suggests that the feeling of shock is the emotional system communicating that the skills and ideas that have become habitual no longer are successful in this environment due to the accomplishment of the development and expression of the spirit. Entities can relate the experience of 'culture shock' to the shock the entity Alton describes at his transition from a penal institution back out into the world.

This Awareness suggests that his experience of pleasure and delight that he describes was experienced since this activity facilitated the development and expression of his spirit. This Awareness suggests that all entities can resonate to the feeling described and know intuitively the inherent goodness of those activities, belief systems, skills, relationships and groupings which facilitate the development and expression of the spirit, for they are perceived and received and experienced as joyous, pleasurable experiences.

This Awareness suggests that although the entity Alton has been restrained by society due to actions of his choosing earlier in life, it does not in any manner compromise the integrity, the innate goodness and the potential within the entity Alton.

This Awareness suggests that entities, no matter what activities they may have partaken in the past, no matter the nature of criminal activities, of violations, that if the understandings and enlightenment regarding the beliefs entertained within the individual and limitations that exist within the realm of man, that no experience has been without benefit.

This Awareness suggests that if these beliefs and limitations are identified and purged from individual and mass-consciousness alike, that such experiences shall not have been futile, if learning and development is accomplished.

This Awareness suggests that the entity Alton can attune to his Inner Guide and attend to the inclinations and motivations his emotions suggest. This Awareness suggests that there are nuances of the emotional system regarding how mass-consciousness has affected the emotional development of entities, wherein certain feelings are intended to elicit certain responses, but that through the misconceptions and the built-in self-preservationary responses of denial and aggression, that many activities and behaviors which are misunderstood by the entities who act them out, spring from these self-preservationary responses to the emotional system.

This Awareness suggests that these preservationary responses will at a very base level, preserve the integrity of a human spirit, but that they are not the optimal responses, in a realm with so many conflicting ideas and beliefs within mass-consciousness. This Awareness suggests that with the detailed instruction of the Lessons of Enlightenment, entities can identify those self-preservationary responses and develop strategies more conducive to the spiritual intention of self-development and expression.

Many will Look Back In Amazement at their Present Unevolved Self-Preservational State

This Awareness suggests that these states of self-preservationary responses can be likened to the state of the caveman, in which modern day entities consider themselves extremely advanced, but that this Awareness suggests that with the Enlightenment offered, entities can look back upon the current state of understanding and the self-preservationary responses which are evidenced by criminal behavior, self-destructive escapist behavior, and experience embarrassment that they could possibly have been so archaic and so under-evolved as they presently exist.

This Awareness suggests the entity Alton begin attuning himself to the emotional experiences and watch carefully the responses that he chooses. This Awareness suggests that a preliminary response of examining individual beliefs that influence interpretation of situations in which negative emotions are experienced, is the most productive initial response to facilitate development and expression and to avoid the base self-preservationary responses that bring so much chaos and misunderstanding to individual experience as well as social existence. Not to mention incarnation.

If we have completion, we can continue.

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

I think one thing Alton is perplexed about here, is that now that he's back in society and is asking for guidance, where he says: "What should I do at this time? What is the best way of going about serving others?" He's probably also concerned as to what direction he could go, perhaps regarding any latent talents he may have or may not know he possesses.

Does Awareness see or have any suggestions on a more mundane level, a 'here and now' level, regarding this situation of Alton?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that what is referred to as 'development and expression of the spirit' is the goal of every entity and that it is the task, the challenge of every entity to identify those activities, that profession, those affiliations that promote the development and the expression of that unique entity.

This Awareness suggests that entities can utilize established avenues, educational, recreational and professional, to experiment with varying avenues of opportunity and then attune themselves to the feedback that those activities elicit within the feeling system, to validate whether or not the spirit is achieving development and expression.

This Awareness indicates that this validation shall be the experience of pleasure, of happiness. This Awareness suggests that although the mass-consciousness of man and the realm of mind is choked with many limited ideas and pieces of knowledge, that there are very many enduring successful institutions, such as structured educational avenues of opportunity through which the entity Alton, and all entities on their normal developmental course of becoming attuned to the spirit, undergo a natural educational process in any activity or daily event in which they find themselves.

This Awareness indicates that the feedback through the feeling system indicates a degree of success of development and expression of the spirit. This Awareness indicates that there are many wide varieties of expression. One entity may perhaps experience profound joyful expressions through a musical instrument. Another might find freedom for the soul in a physical activity such as cycling, or dancing.

Another activity could provide an outlet for entities, such as written expression, scientific exploration, operating within existing systems, playing a role within an institution; many such activities can be combined or chosen individually to put together a particular recipe that is optimal for a given entity.

This Awareness suggests that there are many pre-packaged professions, religious pursuits, recreational activities or cultural doctrines which can be disassembled, and pieces chosen from any number of the packages offered to put together that unique combination that resonates within the soul of the entity.

This Awareness suggests entities free themselves from the idea that external judgments can be pronounced upon individual experience, for they cannot. This Awareness indicates the only accurate judgment on any activity or pursuit is that judgment communicated through the emotional experience of pleasure or pain, and that the individual can be assured that this pronouncement will be accurate as to the 'pleasure' indicating the development and expression of the spirit, and the 'pain' indicating its frustration.

This Awareness specifically suggests that a broad educational arena exists in which the entity Alton can immerse himself in a wide variety of intellectual pursuits. He will experience a sense of delight and interest and a motivation toward those directions that facilitate the expression of his unique soul potential.

This Awareness suggests that the broadest exposure entities can achieve regarding the choices that are existing within the realm of mind and in mass consciousness, the better, and that this Awareness suggests that when entities are attuned and living more fully with the spiritual guidance that is so sadly lacking, that there will be a creative influx of contributions into the existing opportunities, belief systems and avenues of pursuit, which can offer even greater opportunities for those generations that follow, whereby the evolutionary pace can be accelerated, first at the individual level, and then at the mass consciousness social level, in such manner that entities can begin to evolve the innate potentials that lie within the physical system, yet which remain mostly dormant due to lack of habitual response, which seek only to preserve the self, rather than the development and expression for which the spirit cries out.

If we have completion we can continue.

THE MILLENNIUM CHILDREN

QUESTION:

There's a new book out called The Millennium Children, written by Caryl Dennis. I haven't read it, but it's listed in a catalogue I received the other day. I'd like to ask Awareness about this. The blurb here is: "In the course of working through her own personal shift of consciousness, author Dennis stumbled upon the "Millennium Children."

"These are apparently a new breed of human coming on line. They are children of "unusual intuitive, intellectual and physical abilities" and according to the author, "have full cognizant memories of past lives and of the interval between their last life and their present one." This discovery in turn led her to investigate further these children and their mothers.

"She discovered the "Vanishing Twin phenomenon" in which "75% of women diagnosed with twins deliver only one baby." Packed with 75 or so stories about these children as well as information for researchers and caregivers, this book attempts to provide the means by which these exceptional children can 'lead humanity into the next millennium.'

Will Awareness comment on the validity of this book, and specifically, the 'Millennium Children'?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that there is a degree of distortion in the understandings imparted in this particular offering. This Awareness indicates, however, that there is a great deal of value also available regarding the shifts in consciousness and the accumulation of energy that continues to build as the millennium approaches, regarding the necessary reconnection with human beings to the Inner Source of Guidance.

This Awareness suggests that there are, in fact, entities born to impart information and understandings which can facilitate the evolution of consciousness and a flurry of progress that will result in this particular period of history. This Awareness suggests, however, that entities in the physical realm are subject to the effects and limitations of physical existence and that the energy thought-fields that exist in mass consciousness affect even the most powerful entities upon embodiment.

This Awareness suggests that there are indeed 'Millennium Children' that have broader perspective and more finely honed and attuned levels of consciousness, and that there are a few entities who will exhibit superior, although limited and fragmented abilities. There will be those few who exhibit superior cognitive understandings, likened to some historical entities who have exhibited unique and often astounding abilities in altered states of consciousness, or in ordinary savant-like activities.

This Awareness suggests that such entities referred to as 'Millennium Children' reflect the ability and offer living validation and they will exist as symbols for those same abilities which exist within each and every human being. This Awareness indicates that their arrival and contribution can serve as a motivator and a faith builder to facilitate the development of the maximum capacity within every entity, beginning with the reconnection of the communicative channel that speaks through human feeling, uniting spirit, body and mind.

If we have completion, we can continue.

ED's Note: CAC does not have this book "The Millennium Children" by Caryl Dennis, but you can get it by mail from Arcturus Books Inc. 1443 S.E. Port St. Lucie Blvd., Port St. Lucie, Florida 34952. Price $18 plus $4.00 postage and handling.

The Discovery of Noah's Ark on Mt. Ararat

QUESTION:

A question from Leo W., in California. He writes: "I am re-asking this question. I had asked about the relic of the Noah's Ark or vessel. I believe Edgar Cayce said it is there. I have read, I believe, 6 books on the subject. Within these books are photos taken by Air Force personnel of various countries. I have seen some of these showing a bow or stern of a barge-like vessel protruding from a lofty rock and ice portion of Mount Ararat, at 14,000 to 15,000 feet elevation.

"Locals have made pilgrimages to this relic. Most explorers are met with what seem to be deliberate interference of government influence. It seems that the bulk of the vessel is in a petrified state, with some debris which has moved to lower elevations. With the rich expertise of our time, it would be well-documented, yet the subject seems to be another area of cover-up. I would like to know why!

"I believe Awareness has given a date of the deluge, but can this be given again? It must affect importance groups and the remaining wonders of the world.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Could you please repeat the question?

QUESTIONER:

Well, I'd like to ask first: Is what Leo described here on Mount Ararat the actual remains of the Biblical Noah's Ark?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that the Biblical tale of Noah's Ark has been invested with a great amount of energy, and has become a fixed reality within the mass-consciousness of human existence. This Awareness suggests that the structure described is the embodiment of that belief system in the physical manifestation of the energy directed into that belief system.

This Awareness suggests, however, that specific historical events as recounted both in religious Scripture, historical perspective and philosophical perspective; that specific events are re-evaluated constantly given the existing state of mass-consciousness, in such manner that there is a fluidity and an alteration in the reality that exists at any given time.

This Awareness suggests that if an over-emphasis is placed upon the trappings, the tales, the stories, that the essential message, that validity, that concept that lies within the tale that has universal application due to its capacity to facilitate development and expression of the spirit, can become lost within an over-emphasis on the details, the trappings and the rituals that were meant to inspire the understanding, and not to become the focus itself.

This Awareness suggests that the time has come for the careful examination of existing ideas, treasured tales, revered rituals, lifestyle choices, in every institution within human cultures. This Awareness suggests that all aspects be questioned and that all judgments be those that resonate from the spirit through the emotional system, rather than judgments and pronouncements that have been ascertained from external tenets, guidelines and even in sacred texts.

This Awareness suggests that the tale of Noah and the Ark can usher many understandings on many levels to many peoples, but that an over-emphasis on size of the structure, the duration of the deluge, the animals that may have been inadvertently left behind; an emphasis on dates and times detracts from the value that can be utilized for the development and expression of the spirit.

Using an Escape Device is a Self-Preservatory Action

This Awareness suggests that many activities, pursuits, rituals and studies can become consuming, distractionary tactics that entities can undertake which serve only to provide an escape response, which is a self-preservatory action, which can result in lost opportunity for development and expression and can result in a virtual spinning of the wheels rather than the movement that the soul and spirit require. This Awareness indicates that an over-emphasis on any activity that is distractionary, whether or not there is the best of intention; any activities, even the pursuit of historical or Biblical knowledge, can result in delays in development and limits in consciousness rather than the expansionary development and expression that religious tenets seek to facilitate.

This Awareness suggests that entities pay particular attention to those activities which do not elicit the experience of delight, yet that simply keeps the negative experience of fear or anger at bay. Such activities that simply distract and board away or side-step emotions that are naturally springing from the spirit serve only to fill the days with distractions, and the soul remains frustrated.

This Awareness suggests that entities who find delight in such pursuits as the understanding, the origin, the details of the story of Noah's Ark and of the structure that now exists on Mt. Ararat; that if the experience is in fact delight and pleasure, then the soul is experiencing the expression it seeks and that such a pursuit is valuable, for there is self-knowledge being attained.

This Awareness suggests that this will not be the case for every entity with origin stories and religious tenets that exist in the many cultures throughout the earth at this time. This Awareness suggests that entities identify and seek out those activities and pursuits which elicit delight, rather than those that elicit or avoid fear or suspicion.

is There a Cover-Up About Noah's Ark"

QUESTIONER:

Leo seems to think that because there is so little publicity about the discovery of this Ark that those entities who do go there are frustrated by the local government, and he would like to know why. Is there indeed a cover-up, and if so why?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that there is an inordinate amount of attention given to this particular structure due to the energy that has been invested in the belief systems which support it over the past several centuries. This Awareness suggests that the government interest is one more of economic protection rather than in the protection of secret materials or information or mystical ability, that the entity may suspect.

This Awareness suggests that the conditions surrounding this particular structure and the government intervention and control will be changing whereby the accessibility will be less limited and the curiosity can be satisfied. This Awareness suggests again, that such curiosity, if met with delight, signals a completion for spirit, that there has been successful expression.

This Awareness cautions that if the curiosity meets with fear and suspicion, that entities experiencing such should carefully examine those belief systems which they empower regarding this structure and regarding how those beliefs affect themselves as entities.

WHY DO WHALES BEACH THEMSELVES?

QUESTION:

A question from Michael H., which he sent in over the Internet. He asks "Why do whales beach themselves, appearing to commit suicide?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that these animals, these entities have far more sentient ability than humans credit them. This Awareness suggests there is a counterpart in mass-consciousness for these entities, likened unto the mass-consciousness of human beings. This Awareness suggests a growing frustration within the whale population and community regarding ecological changes brought about by human beings, both affecting the ocean and the atmosphere, that have created disease and obstacles which prevent these entities embodied in this particular physical form, the experience and expression that they desire.

This Awareness suggests that the act of beaching oneself is quite often exactly as described: an act of suicide. This Awareness suggests that not unlike human beings, chemical imbalances are prevalent within whale species as well, which interrupt the emotional system in such manner that there is a predominance of sadness and depression, moreso than belief systems and external events would normally dictate.

This Awareness suggests that in a state of chemical imbalance, entities can achieve a state of despondency and disconnection, whereby suicide becomes a viable option, but that this is symptomatic of a gross misunderstanding of the emotional system and the tolerance, the denial, the self-deception; mental and physical, regarding negative feelings and how they relate through the body to the mind.

If we have completion we can continue.

(FOLLOW-UP: VIKKI):

This is not a conscious act of protest, like those monks that burn themselves alive, is it?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that on one level this is in the affirmative, but that a state of despondency has been attained on a psychic rather than a chemical level, such that the messages sent to human beings regarding the effect, their carelessness and misunderstanding and denial is having upon the eco-system.

This Awareness suggests that such an act does often communicate this violation as a spiritual reminder of our interconnectedness and the responsibility that is entailed therein.

If we have completion we can continue.

Do Ants Have a Higher PurposeQUESTION:

Another question from Michael H. He writes "Also, having an ant farm, it seems the ants can organize themselves much like humans can. Do ants know a higher purpose for all the coordinated work they do? And if so, how do they organize their labor?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that this particular life form is an example of the fragmenting that is possible and the numerous forms spirit can embody, for example, the ant species operates under what has been termed 'instinctive' behavior, but what can be more accurately described as a mass-consciousness, linked directly to the understandings of the spirit and/or spirits embodying the forms.

This Awareness suggests that the experience of this particular embodiment can be undertaken, serving to remind entities of the interconnected nature of all of spirit and all of matter, and that entities choosing this experience, experience great delight in the attunement to the oneness and the orchestration of interconnected behavior, which in a variety of ways serves an individual purpose.

This Awareness suggests that humans pause for thought before stepping on such entities and consider their own connectedness when they observe them.

If we have completion, we can continue.
