WHY SOME JUST CAN'T FIND A MATE

(CAC General Reading (10/5/90))

OPENING MESSAGE:

This Awareness wishes, at this time, to address entities in regard to relationships, particularly referring to relationships between entities of a romantic nature, wherein there are some entities who have difficulties in finding a mate, based on misconceptions about what others want.

This Awareness indicates that this may not be the problem for everyone, but it is a serious problem for some. This Awareness indicates that there is also some rather simple understanding that can help entities in better solving the problems.

Entities Like to be Around People who Make them Comfortable

This Awareness indicates that regardless of whether you are male or female, or exactly what your particular personality is like, most entities -- almost all entities -- desire personal comfort. With this realization, it is logical that one enjoys being around another who makes them feel comfortable.

This Awareness indicates there are some instances where an entity needs stimulation, and inspiration, and discipline, because they cannot discipline themselves, and they will be attracted to another who helps to discipline them. This is a more rare type of situation, but could be considered as a kind of exception to the rule of comfort or being attracted to someone who gives comfort. Some entities are not as interested in being made comfortable, because they have a desire to be made secure, and this security is attributed to concepts of being disciplined by another. Thus, there are some entities who want others who will discipline them, and make them feel secure, giving them boundaries, directions, and commands and essentially creating a situation in which they have little choice and considerable structure in their lives.

This Awareness indicates that these entities are rare, and that most entities seeking relationships are in pursuit of comfort.

This Awareness indicates that comfort for one will not necessarily be the same as another would want. The one entity may think that making someone comfortable is to take care of them the way you would take care of a child, but often such a situation would be uncomfortable for an entity, to be treated like that of a child.

This Awareness indicates therefore it is important for entities to let each other know what is comfortable to them, and when they feel uncomfortable. This can help in allowing each other better understanding of the relationship.

Some Seek Confinement, Control or Total Freedom

This Awareness indicates that some entities do not want to feel confined in a relationship, and others want the confinement; indeed, want to possess the other, so that the other has no freedom whatsoever to be expressive on his own, without consulting the first.

This Awareness indicates there are some entities who can only feel comfortable if they control their mate totally. There are others who would not feel comfortable in controlling their mate, and would want to grant their mate total freedom, and yet might only want the mate if the mate willingly stayed with them, without being promiscuous.

This Awareness indicates that these are areas which entities, in forming a relationship, may wish to discuss, to decide whether or not they are suited for each other, for these are major areas in a relationship that can have major effect on how entities will get along in the long run.

This Awareness indicates that in the general sense, if an entity creates discomfort for another, whatever the other perceives as a discomfort, that entity who is uncomfortable will tend to want to escape from the discomfort, and this can result in a relationship being severed.

This Awareness indicates that, do not confuse this and think that doting on another is the way to avoid creating discomfort, for an entity might feel a total discomfort in having someone doting on them, and doing too much for them. It is important to find out what makes comfort for the entity.

This Awareness indicates that, along with this concept of comfort, is of course the need for close communication, to discover whether one is or isn't comfortable with what is happening in the relationship. It is for this reason that communication is so important. If one does not express his or her feelings about what is happening, there is no way for the other to have a clear understanding of whether one's actions are creating comfort or discomfort in regard to the other.

This Awareness indicates that along with the concept of making the other comfortable, one must also recognize one's own needs, as to one's own comfort. If you are uncomfortable in doing what you must do to make the other comfortable, then there is probably an incompatibility, and if you do not feel comfortable creating comfort for another, either you will have to adjust and learn to do it more comfortably, or to acknowledge that this is not your cup of tea.

It is Important You Recognize Your Own Needs

This Awareness indicates that it is important for you to recognize your own needs. Otherwise, you may get deeper into the relationship, only to find that you are gradually turning sour, and resent your mate because you have put out what you feel to be more than your share of effort in making your mate comfortable, and you may feel you are not being made comfortable yourself.

This Awareness indicates that therefore you may find yourself not compatible with the requirements needed to keep your mate comfortable. Thus, adjustments can be made, compromises can be made, and all relationships will need such adjustments and such compromises. But if the compromises are too much for you to bear, then the relationship may not be worth the effort, and may end in a severing of ties.

This Awareness indicates the sooner you can assess whether you are able to care enough for the other to create comfort for the other, without excessive discomfort to yourself, the sooner you will be able to understand the potential of a solid relationship with the entity, and of course, communication with the entity regarding all of this is essential, even if the relationship is to be severed, so that the other can have the benefit of knowing what transpired, and why you were unable to continue in your relationship.

This Awareness indicates these are the major concerns in the building of a relationship. All of the other aspects tend to fall into categories or sub-categories under the concept of personal comfort. Loyalties and duties and responsibilities are all contributors to the concept of comfort for the other, or for yourself, and therefore, if you think in terms of the more broad concept of comfort, you may be able to better understand and communicate your feelings in a way that the other can understand. This can lead to better negotiations of any compromises that would help strengthen the relationship, for relationship in terms of romance or marriage, follows the same rules as any other kind of negotiation, only the details are different. And anything can be negotiated, if there is a desire for both parties to come to a mutual agreement.

Attitude: Another Aspect to Consider

This Awareness indicates that another aspect to consider in the concept of making others comfortable is seen in attitude. An entity can have an attitude of superiority, or can have an attitude of self-pity, or can have an attitude of disdain or disrespect, and all of these things will adversely affect the relationship.

This Awareness indicates it is surprising how many times an entity will try to use some particular attitude that may have been effective when the entity was a child, or may have been effective toward a parent. They will try to use this on a mate.

The Story of the Interpreter and the Hitchhiker

This Awareness indicates that an example being where the Interpreter picked up a hitchhiker on the way to Olympia, and the hitchhiker immediately began to inform the Interpreter of his personal situation.

This Awareness indicates there is the joke that when you pick up a hitchhiker, you know nothing about them, and by the time you let them out, you know more than you want to. This Awareness indicates that this is generally true; in this case, it was very true. The entity was hitchhiking to see his girlfriend, who had left him some months before, and the girlfriend had ditched him or dropped him and his heart was broken, to the point where he believed he would have a heart attack, and that explained why he had to have two cans of beer with him, to keep himself calm, so that his heart would not stop beating, or would not become erratic.

This Awareness indicates the entity then began to explain that the beer was not working, and his heart was still erratic, and he needed to be able to calm down. The Interpreter talked with him about his situation, problem, and he began to express his great love for his girlfriend, who had ditched him, and moved to another state, the state of Washington.

This Awareness indicates the entity began to express how much he suffered, and how his life was full of suffering, and how his heart was always breaking, and how many times it had been broken by others.

This Awareness indicates the entity continued to express sympathy for himself, and the Interpreter, watching, realized that this entity, in seeking to find his ex-girlfriend, would probably be telling her also how greatly he was suffering, and how his heart was breaking. This Awareness indicates that he began to feel a concern and advised him that he should be careful in dealing with self-sympathy, or in trying to get his girlfriend to sympathize with him, because it was unlikely that she would respect someone who was engaged in self-pity. The entity began immediately to become defensive, and curse and shout how he couldn't stand self-pity and didn't want anyone to sympathize with him, and if they did, he would simply walk away.

The entity, after raving for a time, became quiet, and then again spoke, saying that it was okay if they felt sorry for him, but they didn't want them to let him know they had pity for him. If they wanted to give him money, that would be fine. The entity, indicating that he would gladly accept five dollars or ten dollars or whatever anyone wanted to give him, but that they should not let him know if they felt pity for him, because he did not want their pity.

This Awareness indicates that this entity, obviously, in coming in contact with his girlfriend, would attempt the same kind of manipulative ploy with her, and might appeal to her sympathy in some way, to get her to give some reward to him for his needs, or for his heartache, but can you understand how the girl would feel toward him, seeing that he was such a pitiful creature? She might sympathize with him, but could she ever build a life around him for herself or any children?

This Awareness indicates that she could never be comfortable with someone who was constantly working toward drawing sympathy from others, even though he claimed he did not want their pity. This Awareness indicates that the obvious behavior cried out for pity, because the entity was so wrapped up in telling of his problems with such colorful detail. It was obvious the entity was seeking the pity that he claimed to disdain.

This Awareness indicates it is surprising that there are so many entities out there looking for a mate, who have that same attitude and who think that the attitude of walking around with their heart on their sleeve, carrying a broken heart for everyone to see, would be attractive, would make them attractive to a mate. This Awareness indicates in all likelihood, it is to romance what leprosy would be to health, wherein an entity carrying a sign of a broken heart would be more likely to drive away the person who he seeks, rather than draw that person in.

This Awareness indicates if entities must manipulate, using this kind of ploy, you should at least understand that it works better to have a broken heart for someone other than the one who is with you, for the one who is with you may have less of a feeling of responsibility, and may take it upon themselves to seek to heal your broken heart by offering to substitute for the one you can't have.

This Awareness indicates there are many who use that ploy also. They claim to be in love with someone else in order to seduce the one that they're with, and the one they're with then feels extremely flattered to have been able to help this person overcome an unrequited love affair.

This Awareness indicates that of course there are also those who are not sensitive to the feelings of others, but are sensitive only to their own needs, and thus they cannot quite manage to muster compassion for someone else, and are simply trying to fill the vacuum in their own life, for which they have great compassion. And such entities may be unworthy of love, even though it is desperately sought. This Awareness indicates that this is something for entities to consider, if you are having this kind of romantic problem.

This Awareness indicates also that other entities tend to have total contempt for those who appear weak or consider that they are weak because they have an emotional need. This Awareness indicates that this is usually caused by an astrological quality, or something in the chart, such as a lack of water signs in the entity's chart, wherein they find it difficult to have compassion for others who are psychologically in need.

The Concept of Sympathy as a Tool of Manipulation

This Awareness indicates that entities who are used to using psychological moodiness or tears or self-pity, will get nowhere when it comes to this type of person. They simply do not have this sympathy to give such entities who are tugging for sympathy.

This Awareness indicates that many entities do not understand this concept of sympathy being used as a tool to manipulate, and many entities using the tool do not understand the futility of using it. Because it has worked on their mothers or other family in the past, they think it should work on people they meet in society.

This Awareness indicates that occasionally it does. Generally, you are not attracted to the ones on whom it works, and you are attracted to the one on whom it does not work, mostly because it isn't working, and you feel ultra frustrated because your power seems so inept.

This Awareness indicates that this, when used as a tool for manipulation, when it does not work, it leaves you feeling powerless, and therefore you must test it on the person again and again, trying to make it work, and all it does is drive the person away. You are then put in a vulnerable position.

This Awareness indicates that in understanding this concept of the manipulation or attempted manipulation through the use of seeking sympathy, and how it can or may not work, you'll have better relationships because you will understand why it doesn't work, and you will not make a fool of yourself trying to make it work on someone who is not easily fooled.

This Awareness indicates there are many different ways by which entities can make others feel comfortable. Causing them to feel sorry for you may be one way that works for some entities, but generally it is very limited and only works for a short time, and this Awareness suggests it generally does not bring long-term desired results. Most entities want others who are strong, self-contained, who are not psychologically dependent on them, to the point where they would feel they are taking on a great obligation to attend this entity's psychological welfare.

The Clinging Vine Type Entity is Doomed to Failure

This Awareness indicates that the question may be asked, who really wants to take on the welfare of someone who totally throws themselves, heart and soul, on your lap, saying, "Here I am. Take me as I am. I am yours. Care for me. Love me. Take care of me the rest of my life." Who needs it?

This Awareness indicates that most entities want someone who is self-contained, capable of taking care of themselves, that they can relate to and feel comfortable with, even while the entity is walking parallel under their own power, without having to be a clinging vine, hanging on them for their support, for their life energies.

This Awareness indicates that if entities understand this, many of those who are the clinging vine type will see the futility of such effort, and will learn to stand on their own feet, psychologically and emotionally, and to learn to take care of themselves, and to care for their mate, to care for the other, so that there is a mutual caring.

This Awareness indicates that when entities mutually care for each other, it is more than emotional discharge. There is the actual physical effort involved, in helping to make life more comfortable for the other person, as well as taking care of your own personal comfort.

The Mothering Instinct: Is This Why Some Young Girls Stay With Losers?

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

Awareness, how strong is the so-called motherly instinct in some of these young girls who you see and know that they're having a relationship with some of these young men, and they know these young men are no good; they won't work, they're into drugs, they're into drink -- and the girl knows this, but yet she'll keep him around until finally it just gets so bad she'll kick him out sooner or later. But is the reason so many young girls do this, is it due to motherly instinct ... to mother ... to sort of mother this man?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there are two major aspects to this complex. There is not only the motherly instinct, there is also the instinct of perpetuation of the race, and the perpetuation of the race relates to the concept of survival of the fittest, and many of these young girls will go for the man who talks tough, acts tough, and is difficult to discipline, who does not seem to have any self-discipline, but exhibits a kind of untamed wildness, because the girl feels she, herself, can discipline the entity, and make him into something better than what he is in the raw.

The Pygmalion Concept in Reverse

This Awareness indicates it is the reverse of the Pygmalion concept, or the ugly duckling concept, in which, for example, the story of Pygmalion, or as exemplified in My Fair Lady, that the man makes an effort to teach the illiterate woman to speak and to act like a lady, and in a sense makes her over from a peasant flower girl into a beautiful, sophisticated woman.

This Awareness indicates this is what many of the young girls seek to do with the man. They see a potential diamond in the rough. They do not like to admit, or to acknowledge, that they may not be able to change the entity. This Awareness indicates that rarely do these young girls ever really change the man.

This Awareness indicates that the changes that come may come about as a result of the relationship and of the man becoming so entwined with the woman, they may come about; but it will not come about because of the woman's intellect or control of the situation, for the woman will invariably lose control of the situation, and the situation will take over both parties, and eventually there is the chance, such as in My Fair Lady or the Pygmalion story, there is the chance that the man, too, in trying to change the woman, will find himself undergoing a change that he did not expect to occur, and will find himself giving up his freedom to be with her.

When the Love Bug Doesn't Bite Deep Enough

This Awareness indicates that this occurs and is called love, wherein the man finds himself bitten by the love bug and unable to extract himself from the relationship. In many cases, however, the love bug doesn't get his teeth in tight enough, and the man simply creates offspring and leaves, and the woman remains with the child of the love relationship, and the man is gone, or perhaps the man stays around being jealous of the child, and trying to live off the woman's energies as the second child for her to care for.

This Awareness indicates that this is the more common outcome of such relationships.

This Awareness indicates that entities often do not really know what they are looking for in a mate. They simply see a certain glitter in the eye, or the way she sits in the moonlight, or the sun shines on the hair, or the way the muscle or tone of the flesh looks to them, or they notice a certain smell they like, and before long they are in a relationship, and they are making excuses for the other person's crude behavior, or for the other person's manipulative activities, and accepting the other, in spite of their own dislike for what is occurring, simply because they want what they think this person could become, if they can have the person long enough to change them.

This Awareness indicates that often entities make commitments based on the belief that they will be able to change the entity, and these commitments may be the strongest part of the relationship, based on the belief that someday, somehow, they're going to make this person into the proper being they want.

This Awareness indicates that generally they never change the person, but often the commitments hold, and entities can live many years together because of these strong commitments, even though they do not actually make great changes in the other. Gradually, over a period of time, they may come to accept the other as they are, even if they are not pleased with the behavior of the other, and that acceptance then becomes the marriage, along with the commitment that has held it together, despite their disdain for one another.

This Awareness indicates that along with this disdain, there are still those moments of admiration, respect and mutual concern for each other, and that develops from moment to moment as the commitments hold. This Awareness indicates that this may occur for those who are mature enough to make commitments that are lasting. There are too many, however, who cannot commit themselves, who are so wrapped up in momentary pleasures. All they want is to be taken care of, so that they are comfortable from moment to moment, and do not have to worry about putting forth effort on their own.

Those Who Won't Work and Who Just Sit Around

This Awareness indicates, as one entity stated to his wife, "I don't want to work, I just want to rest and relax." To which the wife responded, "You can do that by dying."

This Awareness indicates that there are many entities who would just like to sit back and die, or lie in a state of rest, whereby they are kept alive by feeding tubes, or by having someone come along and place food in their mouths, so that they do not have to stir and put out any effort to take care of themselves.

This Awareness indicates that it is a very strange world in which entities, given life, prefer not to use it, but to pass time, or kill time, by lying around, doing nothing of importance, and calling it fun and pleasant, while others are expected to attend their needs.

This Awareness indicates there are many who would like to remain the child forever, the child in the mother's lap, never having to put forth any personal effort to accomplish anything, or to care for themselves.

This Awareness indicates that part of the mother instinct has to do with weaning the babe, and in many cases, the mother instinct of weaning the babe has to be brought into play in regard to weaning the mate, for the mate may attempt to make a mother out of his wife or mate, and have her nurturing while he does nothing in return for her.

"GETTING EDUCATED" ON TV AND BEER

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION:

I've heard there's an awful lot of entities also that will sit around their house all day just watching television, maybe drinking beer, and they will rationalize that they are getting educations out of this sort of lifestyle. Is this another aspect of our society, or is it just in certain people, or is this something that's more or less a temporary phenomenon?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it is an aspect of your society that more and more entities are being attended, just as a child is attended by a doting parent. A teenager or an adult may also be attended by his doting wife or mate, or by a television set. All of these things, designed to offer creature comforts, assist in placating the entity and assisting the entity to feel he or she is being attended.

This Awareness indicates that too often the entities never attend to things they are supposed to attend to, because they are waiting for others to attend to their needs. It becomes a question of whether to cater or to be catered to, and entities are becoming more and more adapted to having their own needs catered to, and in learning how to avoid catering to others. It should be an action whereby one caters to his own needs, and to others' needs, and occasionally has others cater to him in return for energies given to others.

Maturity: Many Go to the Grave Without Achieving It

This Awareness indicates if entities cannot pull their own weight, they are immature. If they cannot attend their own needs, they are immature. Maturity has to do with being capable of taking responsibility for yourself, and for others, and attending to the needs of self and others. There are simply too many entities who are going to their graves without yet maturing, even though they may live long lives in between.

This Awareness indicates many entities believe that reaching maturity means you can then smoke and drink and have others cater to you and attend your needs, but in actuality, reaching maturity means you can take responsibility for your own welfare, and for the welfare of others in society. At maturity, one should be ready to attend to one's betterment and health, and not to be guzzling alcohol or smoking cigarettes in such a way as to damage one's health. That is not maturity. That is an immature act.

IS THE WORLD MOVING TOWARD A MATRIARCHAL SOCIETY

QUESTION:

Some somewhat related questions from Joyce Williams, Tucson, Arizona. She writes and asks: "The relationship between males and females seems to be changing rapidly." She'd like to know, "Is the United States and the world moving toward a matriarchal society?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it is moving toward a society which gives the women more respect than it has given them in the past. It is yet far from being a matriarchal society, other than that which has already been in existence.

This Awareness indicates that to some extent the mother has had excessively strong influence on the young men, the boys growing up in this society, and as in many ways, the mother has also had excessively strong influence on the young girls of this society to the point where in many cases, the values have been distorted, so that these boys and girls are not growing up naturally, to be healthy men and women. In some cases, the women have taught the girls to be manipulative toward men, and have taught the boys to be so attached to the mother that they cannot have a relationship with a female without feeling guilt.

This Awareness indicates that there are also problems in society relating to the father, in many instances. And these may be equally as serious. This Awareness indicates that particularly wherein the father and the daughters are too intimate, or wherein there is too much control exhibited as an influence over the daughter by the father.

This Awareness indicates that essentially, however, for the more healthy families, the changes that are occurring will be for the best, giving women a feeling of equality, of value, and of a sense of place in society alongside of man, whereby in the past, men were expected to go out into the marketplace, into the job areas, and women were expected to remain at home doing wifely chores, in the helpmate role that has been designated to women. It is no longer just for women, for the man can also be a helpmate to the woman, who also has the right, the opportunities to go out into the marketplace, and into the job society.

This Awareness indicates that this as giving women an opportunity to express themselves as full-fledged persons, just as men have always done in the Western world. This Awareness does not see, however, that this is an indication of a strong movement toward a female-controlled society; that there will always be some strong female influence that may equal the influence of men in the society, but it is not seen as likely to overshadow, to dominate the males in society.

This Awareness indicates, however, that this concept of a feminine controlled society could develop. It is fitting for the Aquarian age, which is a feminine sign, and therefore may in time become more of a matriarchal society. This is not seen in the near future.

The Idea That Women are "Inferior"—Where Did This Come From?

(The Feminine Aspect in Religions)

QUESTION:

Another question Joyce has: "What are the roots of the idea and cultural practices which regard the female as inferior? A friend suggested the rise of industrialization, with the concept of property, capitalism, and the need for a pool of exploited labor. Further back historically, she suggested that the rise of organized religions, which are male dominated could be the roots."

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the subjugation of women in general, as is now part of the society, began essentially with the Christian religion, in which the deities were the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

This Awareness indicates that prior to the Christian religion, the earlier religions always had feminine goddesses. The feminine aspect was removed from the Christian religion, except as exhibited in the Catholic Church, which allowed a place for Mary, whose importance was that she was the mother of Jesus.

This Awareness indicates that in this regard, the subjugation of women to motherhood was exemplified, that the place and role of mother, or woman to motherhood, was exemplified as the ideal placement, and not anywhere in the world of politics or of society was there a place for women other than as the mother of great men.

This Awareness indicates that this tended to instill in the thinking of people in the Western world, that women were subjected to an inferior position in the hierarchy, wherein God, the Father, the Son, the Holy Ghost, the church, or hierarchy in the church, then man, then woman, then the children, in that hierarchy system: this was the arrangement of the Christian religion.

This Awareness indicates in the Eastern world, the concept of women being subjugated to man was more along the lines of property ownership. There men were believed to own their wives, much as they might own cattle or other properties.

This Awareness indicates that neither recognized women as being of a superior nature, having their own unique qualities that in many ways were superior to those of man, nor that they would and should have any special place in society other than those that man designated.

Superman Was a Woman in Shaw's Play

This Awareness indicates that the entity George Bernard Shaw, in writing Man and Superman, was the first to point out in a dramatic way the importance and strength and power of woman, for the play Man and Superman, the Superman in the play was the symbol for woman.

This Awareness indicates that this entity saw woman as being a more super type of a man, and having greater power in her own way than did man.

This Awareness indicates that this essentially is being recognized in some areas today, that women have the power to make or to break a family, that the power rests with the mother, with the wife, in terms of the relationship, for she can control the man by listening or by refusing to listen, and in so doing, she can keep the relationship healthy or she can cause the relationship to be severed.

This Awareness indicates that the woman, being strong in the sense of having inner strength and quiet strength, can better deal with the man's ego, than can the man himself, for she can either rub the ego the wrong way, to cause the man to become violent and destructive, or she can inspire it, to cause the man to become productive and devoted to her and to the family. In this manner, she has the ability to control the man, to control the family, and to make of the man and the family whatever she wants.

This Awareness indicates that Woman needs to learn what her powers are, and how to best use them.

ARE WOMEN "INFERIOR" BECAUSE THEY CAN GIVE BIRTH?

Question:

Is the male's mixture of emotions, fear, awe, anger, and so forth, at Woman's ability to give birth, a factor in Woman's being regarded as inferior, to be dominated. Joyce says, "I recall my studies of Australian aborigines' beliefs and customs, with male initiation rites symbolizing the birth process, bleeding and so forth."

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates there is a certain degree of subconscious envy on the part of men, and also a certain degree of subconscious joy on the part of men, that the woman gives birth and the man does not. It is somewhat envious in that he cannot bring life into existence, on his own, except through artificial creations. By artificial, this Awareness refers to handmade type of creations, such as creative activities in terms of art, manufacturing or business activities, and such as tend to deal with structuring.

This Awareness indicates that on the other hand, she is capable, along with nature, of enjoying, through emotion and intimacy and the act of natural energies within her own body, she is capable of producing a living being from inside herself. This Awareness indicates that this creates a certain kind of envy in man, while at the same time, he enjoys not having to experience the pain involved in the activity.

The Unbearable Sexual Urge of Man

This Awareness indicates that, on the other hand, Man suffers from that sexual urge that sometimes feels almost unbearable when it has no release, and women often are envious of Man's ability to express himself sexually with such ease.

This Awareness indicates that there are differences in the sexes that can never be fully reconciled or understood, so long as the sexes remain polarized. This Awareness indicates that these differences extend into areas that are beyond any physical and reach also into psychological attitudes. The very act of being larger or smaller than one's mate can also make a difference in the relationship and how one responds to the other, and in most cases, men tend to be larger than the female, and therefore more dominant.

This Awareness indicates they also have the capacity to be more protective of the female, in the sense of physical protection, while the female develops nutrition and nurturing qualities, to protect the man from injuries and disease or discomfort that might fall upon him. This through her intellect and instinct.

This Awareness indicates that in this regard, the differences, again, are clear even though there are similar values of protection involved. The protection, of course, being different between that which is offered by the male and that which is offered by the female.

This Awareness indicates of course this does not forbid either from taking on aspects of the other sex. The female can become physically strong and powerful, trained to be physically protective, and the male could become trained in nurturing, as with a doctor, for example.

This Awareness indicates that the next question may be asked.

Why Women Stay In Abusive Relationships?

QUESTION:

Joyce continues: "There may be some weakness in the female to have, over history, accepted such an unsatisfactory "protection racket". A deep fear of being cast out from the clan is one possible motive. Historically, few women appear to have opted out of marrying and managing a male protector, in spite of the abusive husbands in the U.S. and worldwide, and the domination which frequently occurs in marriages, and physical, mental, emotional, and financial abusiveness. Would Awareness comment?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that often the female, not having been trained as to her ability to dominate the male in a proper way, becomes the victim of the male's ego. Were she to understand her role better, she would never need to become the victim of the male ego, or suffer such abuse.

This Awareness indicates that the female is capable of triggering the male ego to become aggressive and abusive, or is capable of taming the male ego to become loving and gentle. It is the woman who has this ability, because the man has his ego and his particular hormones that trigger actions in his system or body, and when he is put under certain kinds of conditions, he becomes highly aggressive and moves toward fight or flight behavior, and when under other types of conditions, will become protective and gentle and quite loving and affectionate.

This Awareness indicates that the female needs to know that if she degrades the male and makes him feel unimportant or threatened in her sight, if she expresses contempt for him, he will in all likelihood become aggressive and abusive in return, because it triggers certain hormones in his system, and he feels threatened by her rejection of him. The threat he feels could be seen by her as a compliment. If he did not care for her, he would not feel any concern regarding what she says or thinks of him.

This Awareness indicates that if she realizes this and instead of tending to degrade his ego, if she can simply treat him with a kind of apparent respect, asking him to express himself and what he feels about any issue at hand, and appears to be interested, his ego then begins to work in her behalf, and his hormones begin to work in a way that produces a gentleness and protectiveness toward her, because he wants to please the female, if he does not feel threatened by her.

This Awareness indicates that most men seek to please females, except in some cases wherein they have had negative relationships, such as a male whose mother was excessively dominant, and caused him to develop hostilities toward her. He may transfer such hostilities toward others.

This Awareness indicates in such case, the male may not fit into this same pattern of behavior, and may be contemptuous of women, regardless of what they do.

This Awareness indicates that essentially, if the woman can appear to respect the man, and his opinion, and let him express himself completely before she offers any expression of disagreement or counter to his argument, he will be more inclined to listen to her point of view, but if he is interrupted before he can fully express himself and his point of view, and she presents her point of view without giving him time to complete his expression, he will generally clam up, cease to further express himself, and may then resort to emotional expression. The problem is that men have difficulty in verbally expressing themselves to women, especially if the women want to interrupt and argue with them.

This Awareness indicates that if the women are able to allow full expression, knowing that they can express themselves after the man has expressed himself, then the man is more willing to listen to the woman's point of view.

This Awareness indicates women generally have no problem in verbally expressing themselves, even if they need to wait for some time, and allow the man to express himself first. But men often have extreme problems listening to women when they themselves are not able to express themselves, or when they find it difficult, or when there is an interruption to their effort of self-expression. They will not generally try to express themselves if they are cut off or interrupted. They will prefer to remain silent, and seethe in an emotional level, rather than put forth an effort to calmly express themselves when they are not given the proper space to do so.

This Awareness indicates eventually that emotion that is blocked, and expression that is withheld, may erupt in an emotional discharge.

This Awareness indicates that women could be better able to control men by urging them to express their feelings, even if it is not something they enjoy hearing. If they can encourage them to express their feelings, usually even the most negative expression given by a man, once opened, is no longer felt. The man expressing hostility toward a woman usually, upon expression, no longer feels that hostility, but if they are not given the opportunity to so express themselves, they may carry that hostility for days.

This Awareness indicates it can take considerable courage for a woman to let a man express verbally hostility that he may feel toward her, but if he can express it verbally, then she can respond calmly, such as saying, "Well, I know it was difficult for you to tell me that, but I appreciate it, and I'd like to see if there's some way we can resolve the problem," such a conciliatory remark in the face of an expression of verbal hostility toward one, will almost invariably defuse any hostility the man has felt toward her. It can certainly eliminate any potential of physical abuse, and most likely any further verbal abuse or insult.

This Awareness indicates that this catering to men by women is not for the sake of making the woman do the work; it is more that the woman is more capable of being big-hearted and egoless than is the man. The man tends to be unable to set aside any ego and pride. The woman essentially is stronger in this regard than is the man, and therefore by her wits, she can out-think him and lead him to calmness, or if she wishes to challenge him on his level, she can create conflict that will very likely, or could very likely trigger physical or verbal abuse toward her, for it is at the physical levels that man excels women. And if you shift to his level, you will simply find yourself in a physical battle with the entity, an area where you are not as likely to win.

He Punishes and Abuses Ava Gardner While Pleading for her to Marry Him

(Could this have been "ol Blue Eyes?")

QUESTION:

I was reading a strange thing the other day. A post-humous autobiography was released recently, written by the late Ava Gardner, a very glamorous Hollywood lady for years, and in this book, she said that one, who is now a very famous movie star and well respected at the time was courting her, that he would get drunk and he would punch her in the face repeatedly, blacking her eyes, breaking her nose, and holding a knife to her throat, and at the same time yelling at her, "Marry me! Marry me!" Now, what in the world was going on in the head of this entity? He was punishing her, abusing her, and at the same time pleading with her to marry him.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates this is exactly what this Awareness indicated previously. The entity was being quite flattering toward her, in the sense that he really cared, but he was not getting the response from her to indicate that she cared for him, and therefore was quite angry. It is much like the young child who hits his mother, because the mother will not pick him up and cuddle with him.

This Awareness indicates that the anger of being rejected is an ego threat, and men have more of a problem with this than do women.

This Awareness indicates that often women have their own form of ego problem, which is somewhat different, their main concern being that of their appeal, or their feeling of importance ... of importance to men or to others, but for the man, he is more protective and defensive of his ego than is the woman. The woman can attempt to present her ego, or present herself in a way that flatters her, and that is very glorifying to her, to have others praising her and making over her, but for the man, he is not so much concerned about getting personal praise from others, as not being rejected by the one he wants at the moment.

This Awareness indicates that it is this concern of the male ego of being rejected that can force the entity into a reaction of violence. If he feels cornered and unable to act or express himself in a way that he feels is effective, then he may turn to the only other power or strength he has been taught to rely on, in which in most cases, is his physical power. Man prefers to act, rather than to talk, and women prefer to talk, rather than act.

This Awareness indicates that this being the nature: men, when their talk is blocked, may resort to action of a physical nature, whereas women, when their actions are blocked, tend to shift into talking and are very comfortable in the talking. Therefore, often women, in a relationship with men, who find that they are blocked in their desire for certain actions, will start talking, and the talking will block a man's expression in terms of speech, which in turn may trigger him to take some kind of action.

This Awareness indicates in understanding this, if you do not want the action, shift to talking. If you do not want talking, shift to action.

This Awareness indicates that it is important that entities understand these principles that are involved in relationships, for they can then have greater control over the direction the relationship is taking. Were Ava Gardner to have been able to simply talk with this entity, she could have told him, "Well, let's stop fighting and talk about this," and the entity would have probably been quite satisfied to stop the fighting in order to talk about getting married.

This Awareness indicates that she from there could have perhaps persuaded him to give her more time to think and given him further stalling actions until she could get away from him, and from there would perhaps have communicated by mail or telephone, where she was in a more safe situation.

This Awareness indicates that this is often the nature of relationships in which there is violence, that one entity is threatened by physical violence; the other is threatened by emotional rejection, and there is not sufficient expression to alleviate or allow each other the room for reconciliation.

Violence Occurs in 50% of American Marriages

(The Influence of Hollywood's "Slasher" Movies)

QUESTION:

Joyce had preceded these questions with -- it was in a letter to me. She wrote: "I think these tentative questions of mine could create a dialogue, such as the opening of information about the Christian religion in 1980. The media says, violence occurs in fifty percent of American marriages. India has bride burnings, kitchen "accidents" for dowries. John Lennon sings of 'Women are the niggers of the world.' A friend says, 'What do women think they need men for? Sperm and support.' She concludes with: "I hope your male tools are thick-skinned, dear friend Avaton. These questions arising out of discussions with trusted friends, come from non-gay basis, with women who have or hope for a strong heterosexual relationship." She's very concerned with the rising rate of violence toward women by men, and --

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this has been promulgated in part by movies, which have capitalized on the excitement and fright of what may be termed the slasher movies. Many of these appeal to younger people, including young women, in terms of giving them a kind of vicarious experience in which they experience fear from the safety of their position as audience. The only thing is that, in showing this kind of thing, it presents images in the minds of entities, and these images being so bizarre, begin to influence and make young, open minds believe this is commonplace. Some of the minds of young people who are not well adjusted, may take such images and play them out under stress, or at times of personal frustration, or certain circumstances in their own life and with their own inadequate ability to express themselves.

This Awareness indicates that this can influence a young, inexperienced mind of a male who is groping for answers: "How do I relate to her when she treats me like this?" It may make him think that, well, maybe she just wants someone to dominate her, and thus he may recall certain dominating scenes from movies of the past, and in some cases perhaps recalls how the woman in the movie began to show affection after she was punished by her co-star, and he may think that that is the way of women. After all, women are extremely mysterious to men who do not understand them as being simply people who want comfort.

This Awareness indicates that with such misleading information as is often presented in movie roles, many times men will presume that maybe the woman simply needs to be knocked around a bit, and learn who's boss, and because they have been taught violence in movies and violence in the news, and in the way of the world, through wars and so forth, they tend to resort to violence as a solution to their personal relationship problems also.

This Awareness suggests the Interpreter be brought from trance.

Thank you.

Those Hurricanes: Natural or Something Else? (More Than One Way to Send Messages to Politicians)

QUESTION:

A question from Ted Helenski: "Recently Hurricane Andrew devastated Florida and shortly afterward Hurricane Iniki did the same to Hawaii. Were these storms of natural origin or were these a form of weather warfare, and as such, another or alternate means of the hidden Nazi element to destroy our economy to bring on a national emergency?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that this appears to have been artificially created by forces related to Gorbachev, wherein this entity in seeking assistance from this country to strengthen Russia did not receive the help wanted and therefore created, through weather modification, a storm to serve as a statement that: "Even after the reduction of nuclear weapons, we still have the capacity to wreak havoc, unless there is more cooperation."

This is an implied statement and an intended coercive action to extract help for Russia's new democracies in terms of economic assistance. This Awareness indicates that it is much like saying: "Unless you help us economically, we can hinder you economically."

FOLLOW-UP QUESTION (AVATON):

Does that mean that Gorbachev is still working in those lines, even though Yeltzin is in charge?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is in the affirmative. This Awareness indicates that Gorbachev still has ambitions as a power and force in bringing Russia back as a form of superpower. They are not in need of nuclear arsenal because they have various Tesla and electronic warfare techniques that can be used without even being detected as warfare or weapons.

This Awareness indicates that it is a way of putting pressure on those who are aware of these electronic warfare techniques without disturbing the masses in such a way as to rile them into reaction. The masses in the United States have no hostility toward the Russians because of the hurricanes. They see no connection.

Yet these hurricanes have done the damage and have shown those in power the power of the Russian electronic weaponry, so that when further discussion of assistance are put forth, the entities in charge will remember the hurricanes of 1992 and think twice before rejecting any assistance in these areas of economic help to Russia and Russian satellites.

A Shock in Consciousness Must Occur

This Awareness indicates that the question is whether the shock in consciousness required to awaken the masses on this earth plane needs to be of great magnitude, or whether the masses can awaken from a series of small shocks, what may be termed conventional wars, or conflicts.

This Awareness indicates the consciousness on this plane demands conflict, and will not in many cases, awaken until experiencing such conflict first-hand. The masses upon this plane tend to be fascinated by the images of conflict, the arena of gore, slaughter, killing violence and other forms of conflict, and the entities seeking to saturate themselves in the bloodlust, flock to movies or to any situation – automobile accidents, fires or fights, wherever this conflict may present itself, and these entities being fascinated at the sight of other people's blood, make up the greater portion of consciousness on this plane.

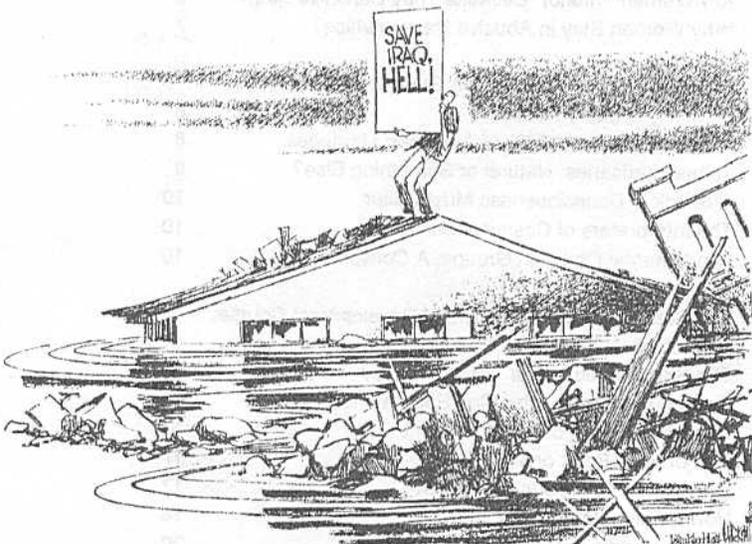

WISDOM OF AWARENESS:

THE INTERPRETERS OF COSMIC AWARENESS

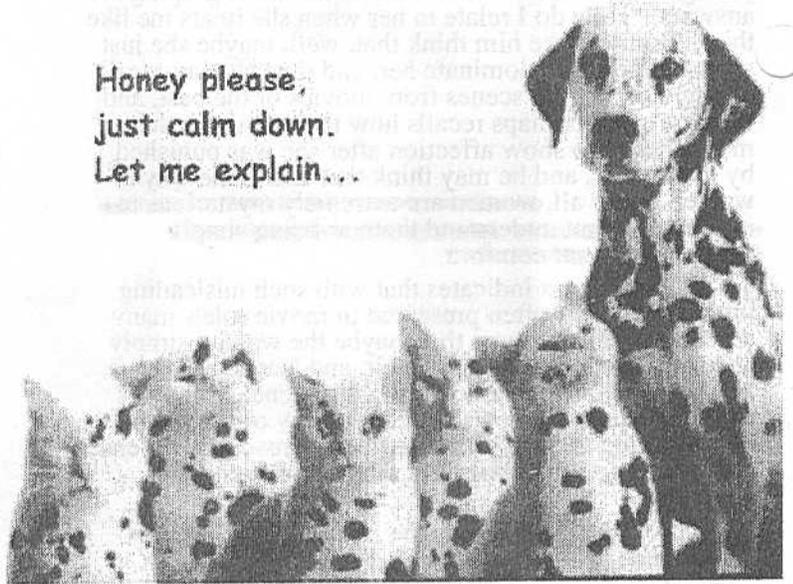

This Awareness indicates the work which is being done by A.R.E. in presenting the messages which have come through the entity Edgar Cayce is having a profound effect upon the consciousness of this plane, is likened unto the opening of a chakra in the body of humanity.

This Awareness indicates the entity Jesus, the time of the Essenes, relates to the opening of the heart chakra. The action of Edgar Cayce as that which is equated to the opening of the throat chakra which explain the mysteries which have been locked within the heart of Christianity. This Awareness indicates that the messages which this Awareness wishes to bring forth through Its present and future Interpreter will relate to the pineal and pituitary charkas so that the mystery hidden in the Sphinx and Pyramid shall be opened and released for all.

(Issue 80-19)

Honey please,
just calm down.
Let me explain...

Fundamental Christian Groups:

A Conspiracy?

QUESTION:

Another question from Tom Krueger. "It appears that many of the Fundamental Christian groups are espousing political activism, bigotry and even hatred for many groups and individuals, a most un-Christian attitude it seems to me. Just recently, two TV channels in the area dropped Jerry Falwell's program, one stating that it had become more political than religious.

"My question is: Is this something which is growing out of their fundamental beliefs?, or have they perhaps been infiltrated by conspiratorial elements and are being used to promote the conspirators' agendas?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there is a little of both. There is also a growing sense of frantic urgency in these groups whereby they see the world collapsing around them, whereby they see the values they espouse being trampled underfoot, whereby they question whether they will survive in the future because of so many changes occurring in society, changes that threaten their very existence, especially in terms of their values.

Much Like the Dinosaurs Facing Extinction

This Awareness indicates that it is a situation much like that which faced the dinosaurs before their extinction, whereby they feel society is changing and they do not wish to change with it. The world is going through great changes that are not to their own liking, and if they do not change with it, they will surely be left behind to perish.

This Awareness indicates they sense this, they understand this. They are trying to bring the world back to become likened unto that which they knew when they were more exclusive as a religion, whereby they had greater stability and power as a religion. This Awareness indicates it is quite understandable that they would feel anxieties and become frustrated, even hostile in some ways; that it is also not reflective of the Christ Consciousness to have hostile feelings and expressions, as many of these groups do.

The Cosmic Awareness
Spiritual Development Course
AIRIES: Lesson Number 10

Question: Would Awareness please give the tenth Correspondence lesson, the tenth lesson relating unto the action of goal-seeking, of purpose and direction in life, and how this relates unto every formation of one's individuality; the action of crystallization and what is necessary when one crystallizes in concepts which are in error and which may need to be dissolved in order to move in a more appropriate direction?

Cosmic Awareness: This Awareness indicates that in the lessons covered so far, nine major aspects of the development of the individual have been discussed. This Awareness indicates the emphasis having been placed in two directions: the development of the individual who sees himself or herself as being separate from the rest of the forces of the Universe, and the development of the individual who sees himself or herself as being part of the entire system or forces in the Universe.

The one seeing himself or herself as having free will, and the motivation of personal expression being that which comes from within, based on desire, based on the interest one feels toward that which becomes a hypnotic type of goal which allures, which draws, which tends to be the 'carrot on the stick' which drives the individual forward, moving from one goal to another.

The other action being that which becomes an urgency for the individual during certain moments wherein the individual becomes capable of responding to those urgencies, and in that response finds himself or herself in movement.

This Awareness indicates, in this present lesson, these two forms of behavior shall be defined more clearly. This Awareness suggests that the first form of behavior be discussed now.

This Awareness indicates that wherein consciousness focuses and sees that which appears to be of interest, and the principal, focusing upon that which is of interest, begins to fixate upon that bauble - upon that hypnotic trinket, that toy, that new, shiny, alluring piece of merchandise, whether this be of a physical nature or of a spiritual nature or of a conceptual nature, wherein the consciousness becomes interested and focuses upon that thing or concept, there is a shutting down of the rest of that which is in the Universe which exists outside of that which is of interest.

This Awareness indicates as the interest and the consciousness increases, there is less awareness of that which is outside of that particular fixation, and the viewpoint of the entity becomes such that it is as though there were blinders to prevent the entity from seeing anything other than that which is of interest.

This Awareness indicates this kind of focusing can be used for manifestation, but wherein an entity becomes fixated to the point of obsession, wherein the entity fails to be able to tune in again to that which is outside of his own realm of experience and interest, the entity can be said to be hypnotized by that which is of interest to him.

This Awareness indicates the principal, becoming so fixated upon the interest, can eventually be consumed by the interest.

This Awareness indicates that in being consumed by the interest, the 'gimmick' can overtake the magician who first created the 'gimmick.' The action of becoming one with another goal is such that the entity can be consumed by that which he or she began to desire.

This Awareness indicates that as the entity begins to experience this kind of obsession, there becomes that which may be described as a crystallization of consciousness, whereby the consciousness tends to freeze on that which it is observing, and the efforts to break this frozen fixation become such that it takes tremendous power and heat to melt the fixation; therefore, the entity tends not to change, but to become fixed in a certain pattern of behavior, in a certain type of crystallization.

Wherein this crystallization is toward that which is for personal purposes without regard for others, this kind of crystallization can lead to the pursuit of power, the pursuit of respect, the pursuit of glory, the pursuit of possessions to such a degree that the entity is blinded by all else, and such kind of consciousness can be said to be likened unto a force that is only partially developed, but over-specialized in that one partial area.

This Awareness indicates this is a de-humanizing type of consciousness, yet the entity can be so highly specialized as to appear to be a genius in that one type of behavior.

This Awareness indicates that entities do not always pursue this kind of crystallization to that extent, but most entities do have certain areas wherein they are fixated, wherein they have created significances that are crystallized and have not thoroughly been examined in light of all other areas of consciousness.

This Awareness suggests that in order to place the areas of significance to proper perspective, these need to be viewed from all other areas with just as much respect given to those other areas as one gives to his own personal interests and viewpoints.

This Awareness suggests that many values have been created simply by intensified energies being focused on certain points, intensified energies being such that the entity cannot see anything else. This Awareness indicates this as related unto the Seth Material, wherein Seth speaks of the 'core beliefs.' This Awareness suggests an example:

The term "Gloff" and "Gloffism," having no known meaning in your Universe at this time, can become the most significant and most meaningful term for your civilization that ever existed. This Awareness shall explain how such a type of fixation and obsession with terminology, how such a frozen consciousness can occur from the word "Gloff" and "Gloffism."

This Awareness suggests that there is seen an entity who thinks up the word "Gloff" and asks, "What is Gloff?" And the entity decides "Gloff is all that which I like. I like Gloff."

This Awareness indicates that the entity then, realizing that he likes the word Gloff, begins to attribute those things which are good, which he likes, to the word "Gloff"

This Awareness indicates that after some years of attributing all of those things which the entity likes to the word Gloff, he begins to realize that Gloff contains only that which is good and denies all that which is unpleasant and not good. This Awareness indicates the entity then begins feeling such significance on the word Gloff, that every action which he looks at which appears to be good, which brings pleasure, is termed "Gloffism," or "Gloffic."

This Awareness indicates that as the entities begin to share his feelings of Gloff with others, and others begin recognizing that Gloff is good and all that is not Gloff is bad, the other entities add to this fixation of this entity, and before long there is a Gloffism cult.

This Awareness indicates that as the Gloffism, cult begins to grow in number, there become those actions which intensify the good and which seek to have greater good through Gloff and Gloffism, and seek to avoid those evils that are non-Gloffism.

This Awareness indicates that as these intensify, and greater and greater good is sought through Gloffism, there become those areas which are seen as not being good, not being Gloffic, and therefore those non-Gloffic areas are seen as being abhorable, or being terribly evil.

This Awareness indicates that all violent and unpleasant types of behavior and crimes are classed as being the result of not having been with Gloff, and therefore those crimes are the direct result of the rejection by those entities of Gloffism.

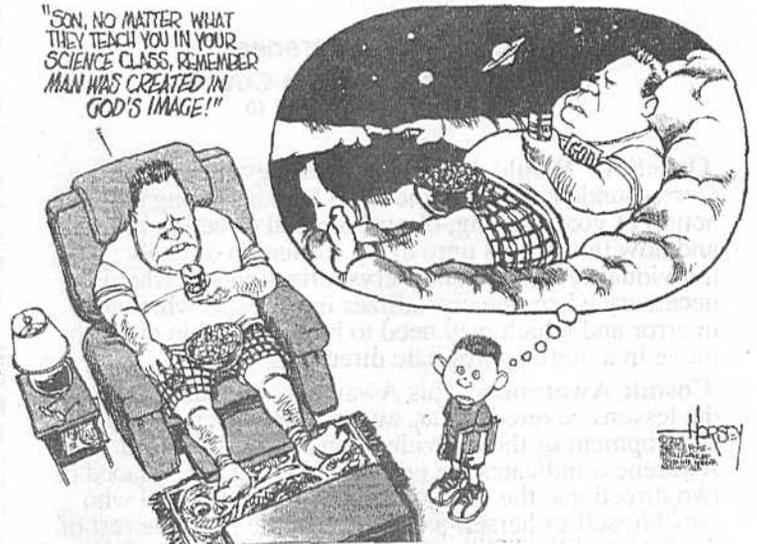

This Awareness indicates that all of the crimes and errors which result then, being pointed at by the Gloffists, are then termed as non-Gloffic persons and non-Gloffic crimes. This Awareness indicates that before long those entities who do not adhere to the Gloffic philosophy are considered as evil, and those who adhere to the Gloffic philosophy are considered good.

This Awareness indicates that now it is time to do something about those who do not adhere to the Gloffic philosophy, and the ones who adhere to the Gloffic philosophy must find some form of reward in order to sustain the belief that all entities have toward the Gloffic philosophy.

This Awareness indicates that as these intensifications and polarizations and fixations on this concept occur, and as more and more good is thrown around the concept of Gloffism, and more and more evil is thrown around the concept of non-Gloffism, there becomes a greater and greater division between the forces, and this division can lead to those actions and attitudes which would attempt to eradicate, once and for all, all forces that would do harm and would do evil to those who are good - those who follow Gloffism.

This Awareness indicates that violent war between the Gloffs and non-Gloffs begins to erupt, and blood is spilled, and hundreds and thousands of entities are tortured and harmed, and in the end the Gloffists win.

"SON, NO MATTER WHAT THEY TEACH YOU IN YOUR SCIENCE CLASS, REMEMBER MAN WAS CREATED IN GOD'S IMAGE!"

This Awareness indicates, having fought one war and won, the entities are now convinced for sure that Gloff is on their side and they are appropriate and right in their action, and therefore, must defend their philosophy with even greater vigor against those who are non-Gloffic.

This Awareness indicates that as this intensifies and moves through the ages, fixates, and becomes crystallized whereby there can be no deviations, and the system is set up which contains and interprets the concepts of Gloffism, whereby entities are placed in charge and placed in different positions of administering Gloffism, of being spokesmen for certain levels of Gloffism; wherein this is set up, the crystallization of Gloffism becomes so powerful that any entity who does not adhere to this finds great difficulty on many levels in even attempting to live a normal life.

This Awareness indicates that consequently, more and more entities decide it is better to be Gloffism than non-Gloffism: therefore, Gloffism must be good and non-Gloffism must be bad, and the religion begins to prove itself to be so, for those who have abstained from joining Gloffism find greater difficulties, simply because the system is based in Gloffism and excludes them if they are not working within these principles.

This Awareness indicates that the Gloffism concept, the Gloffism principle attributes to itself all that which is good, regardless of whether the good came as a result of Gloffism or not, and attributes to that which is non-Gloffism all that which is bad, all that which is harmful, all that which is unpleasant, whether or not that came from the concept of non-Gloffism.

This Awareness indicates that whether Gloffism existed or not, there would still be some good and there would still be some bad, there would still be that which is pleasant and that which is unpleasant. This Awareness indicates that religions and philosophies have been based around such types of fixations, around such polarizations, and the difficulty in breaking down this kind of programming to allow entities to see the truth, to allow entities to understand the nature of consciousness - the difficulties involved are very great. This Awareness suggests that there are few entities who care to look this deeply into such levels of consciousness.

This Awareness suggests that the second type of being, those who respond to urgencies, rather than seek to create goals for themselves in order to justify and prove themselves as having a purpose in life, those entities who learn to respond to urgencies are functioning without any inner motivation other than to be an open channel for higher forces.

A branch of the Robertson family tree: Patroclus Robertson, 33 AD...

This Awareness indicates these entities, being an open channel, being in the world but not of it, are such that wherein they look at that which is occurring, they do not look to see: "What can I do?" They do not look to see: "Where do I fit into the scheme of things?" They do not look to see: "What is my purpose of being here?" They simply recognize that they are here - they are - and being what they are, they are capable of responding if there is something happening that needs response.

This Awareness indicates that these entities do not even consider the concept of being responsible - they simply give attention with such sensitivity that they find themselves responding without having chosen to do so.

This Awareness indicates that these entities do not ask the question: "To be, or not to be?", for these entities 'are' - they have no choice, they simply are.

These entities do, indeed, give attention to that which is occurring at every moment, and in giving attention, there are urgencies which draw their attention to those areas. These urgencies vary from the slightest 'meow' of a cat which wishes to go outside, to the question of a child or to the scream in the night that needs attention.

This Awareness indicates that these urgencies come in various forms of sirens, the alarm being sounded in many ways: the downcast eyes of a friend, the downcast face of a loved-one, the whistling teakettle on the stove - these alarms are sounding in every moment wherein something needs attention, for every moment is incomplete, and that which is incomplete needs attention, and that moves the entity into the next moment.

This Awareness indicates those areas of incompleteness, those areas which are sounding the alarm: those letters which lay unanswered, those ringings of the telephones, of the doorbells, those questions that entities are asking either verbally or in body language, those urgencies that exist through messages that come over the wires, through the newspapers, magazines, and television sets, wherein urgencies around the world are being expressed - these urgencies exist in every moment, and the entity who is responsive, does respond to those who are closest to him or her, those which are of greatest intensity, and does assist in clearing out an area in which the urgencies may be dealt with, and from that clear area then can move out into those other areas of the world and have an effect in responding to those other urgencies.

This Awareness indicates the response begins at home.

You cannot save the world until you save yourself.

You cannot save the world until you save those closest to you. And these urgencies may pop up again and again in your own vicinity.

The challenge is that you find ways to prevent the urgencies from becoming so great, or from occurring so often, that you are unable to do anything except respond to these local urgencies.

This Awareness suggests that entities begin responding to those urgencies in their own foundations, in their own families, first; then as these become more stable, then you can respond to urgencies elsewhere. This Awareness suggests that you tend your own needs first: "The empty pot cannot pour."

In order to serve others, you must fill your own pot, but in order to serve others and fill your own pot, you must give something to get something in return.

This Awareness suggests that the urgencies begin with yourself, and that you not attempt to fill your pot too full. If all you have is a thimbleful to give, that you give that thimbleful to that which is calling for the drink. And as you give your thimbleful, more will be returned, and soon you will have a cupful - and as that is given in response to urgencies, more will be returned to you.

This Awareness indicates that these entities who are living in levels of response are motivated, not by goals and that challenge, or that entrapment, or that area of interest outside, but in giving attention to that which is urgent; they are motivated by the urgency. The urgency becomes their motivation and the response becomes the action created by the urgency, and the entire action is one process.

This Awareness indicates this as totally different from the entity seeing that which looks good to him and deciding to go after it for all he is worth, regardless of what happens; this Awareness indicates the goal-seeking entity is oriented toward working for himself and his identifications, whether these identifications include others or not. The basic nature is to promote oneself through seeking some goal which allows that entity, and the responsibilities which the entity has chosen, to be promoted and to move toward a higher status in life.

This Awareness indicates, on the other hand, the entity who lives in levels of repose, seeing the urgencies which are occurring, responding to these urgencies, may also look ahead and see that there are areas which can improve the entire situation. And the entity can move toward that accumulation, or toward that culmination of some action, which may be identical to the same action of the goal-seeker; the entity may move toward the culmination of this project, or the accumulation of this type of substance, but the motivation is entirely different.

The motivation of the one is to promote oneself and one's friends and one's identifications, while the motivation of the other is created, not from within, but by those urgencies which are without - which are occurring by being sensitive and aware.

This Awareness indicates that what occurs to the second type of individual, is that the individual is being directed by this Awareness, and in response to these urgencies, the individual is in tune with the Cosmic Laws of balance and harmony, and the individual is reconciling those forces which are imbalanced. The imbalanced forces, being reconciled, then lead the entity into greater and greater areas of harmony, and the entity finds his or her life being that of service and the entity begins moving toward levels of responsibility, because of the ability to respond to those things which are urgent.

This Awareness indicates that on the other hand, the first entity seeking a goal, having his or her interests in mind, runs into blocks, runs into competitors, runs into those types of forces and actions which would prevent the entity from moving in this direction and therefore, the entity's entire attitude is such that he or she is competing to succeed against the hostile world which would prevent this kind of expression.

This Awareness indicates this entity, feeling him or herself to be in competition, seeking to promote himself over or along with others, but in competition with some - this entity does then find himself to be one of many forces which spend their lifetime in constant struggle.

Whereas the entity who is responding to urgencies and has no personal goals - that entity is never struggling, but is simply being sensitive and responsive, and those entities who see that sensitivity and that responsibility, begin to assist the entity wherein possible, feeling the motivation. And this entity then moves like a vacuum, moves like a vacuum which draws in others, and allows others to see a new way of living - a new being, and this entity, in drawing in others, finds his ability and capability of response improving from the assistance of others who are working along the same line.

This Awareness indicates this entity then continues responding, and those entities who are becoming aware of this kind of lifestyle, also begin responding, and none of these entities consider themselves to be a leader, but they simply are responding to urgencies.

This Awareness indicates that as they respond to urgencies, they discover that their energies are moving in the same direction, even though they had not planned this kind of movement. They had not mapped out a course; they had not sat down and conspired to win, or to do anything - they simply had become responsive.

This Awareness indicates that these kinds of energies are those which are now beginning to manifest around this plane on the earth and are bringing about the New Age.

This Awareness indicates that wherein an entity wishes to test whether or not he is of the first or second type of entity, this Awareness will give you a simple test:

This Awareness suggests that the next time you see an action which needs your attention and response, that you not do anything but simply observe closely.

This Awareness indicates that in your observation, you may discover that there is such an intense urgency that someone must do something before it is too late. This Awareness suggests that when this occurs, you not do anything but simply look even more deeply.

This Awareness suggests that when this intensification and urgency becomes so great that you can barely sit still, and you feel that you must get in and do something, this Awareness suggests that you not do anything.

This Awareness suggests that as long as you can, think about whether or not to respond, you are not ready to respond; but wherein you can no longer think about responding, but simply find yourself responding because it is happening and demands your response, and you have no choice in the matter any longer - then you are moving in levels of responsibility.

This Awareness indicates that in understanding the principles that have been given in this reading, in understanding the two types of behavior, this Awareness suggests that now you totally forget these two types of behavior and simply begin to live.

This Awareness suggests that you not challenge and observe or question your behavior to determine which way is your way, which way you are living, but suggests that you dismiss these concepts from your consciousness at this time, for in doing too much thinking about this, this becomes a conceptual experience rather than an actual experience.

This Awareness suggests that having seen these clearly, you shall find yourself moving toward levels of greater responsibility without having to do anything about it.

This shall occur naturally and with greater ease if you do not think too much about what has been said.

This as the conclusion of the tenth lesson.

The Significance of Our Reptilian Brain

(Will Floatation Treatment and Shiatsu Therapy Help?)

More on Reptoid and Alien Brains

QUESTION:

A question from David Hossie, Vancouver, British Columbia. He writes: "Presently I work part-time at an isolation/flotation tank and Shiatsu center, where Shiatsu body work and floats are offered to the many stressed and/or ailing clients. In studying related material on how the nervous system and psyche is affected by the isolation/flotation experience, I came across the three-brain theory, ie. reptilian, mammalian, neo-cortex.

"It appears that the reptilian brain is directly related to our ability or inability to accept new flows, new information, etcetera, as well as our capacity to surrender to our own Higher Self. In my experience as Shiatsu therapist, I have been struck by marked differences in the initial response of entities to both the float and Shiatsu. Sometimes there is an artificial barrier constructed by the patient out of fear to prevent the integrating or relaxing effect from even the beginning of treatment.

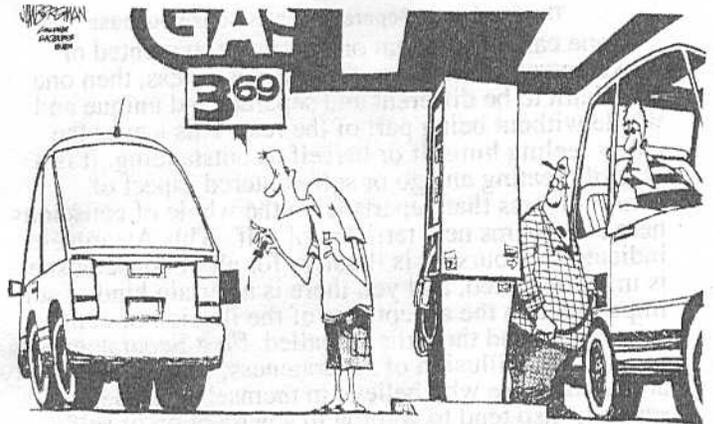

"Awareness's description of Reptoids as technologically cold came to mind. My question is this: Would Awareness comment or verify if such entities have a dominant reptilian genetic factor, and if so, give a suggestion as to how such states or conditions could be transformed for the entity's benefit. I ask this because I have sensed a deep need from these entities to overcome their coldness and integrate their reptilian spinal core with the rest of consciousness.

Also, is there any relationship or correspondence between Reptoids and Rhyee, the First Separateness?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the last question be held in abeyance for re-asking. This Awareness indicates that the reptilian brain as that which is the older or more primitive brain which deals with the more basic nature of survival and has to do with the deeper more primitive appetites, appetites pertaining to reproduction and to fear and strong desires for survival. This includes hunger as well as lust.

George, don't worry about New Orleans. I'll have the Press start a race war, so they'll forget about your incompetence.

"THESE HYBRID OWNERS CAN BE ABSOLUTELY INSUFFERABLE."

This Awareness indicates that in working with entities who have strong fears, this aspect of survivalism kicks in when there is the threat of danger to their individuality or their sense of well-being. It does not have to be a physical threat to have the element of fear kick in. This Awareness suggests it can simply be the threat of one's individuality or personal values being threatened for it to have an adverse reaction.

This Awareness indicates that it would seem that an explanation of the more primitive part of the mind in regard to fear as a protective device could be given to the individual prior to the flotation treatment so that they could be prepared for the potential of fear with the suggestion that if they begin to experience fear, it is simply the self-protection of the instinctive part of the brain that is expressing its concern, partly due to the darkness and partly due to the unknown, and that the best way to move through this is to initiate from within an adventurous spirit in which you seek to hurry through the abyss or moment of confusion and thus aggressively move through the moment of confusion and get on with the experience.

Simply by suggesting this, and helping the entity know how to deal with that brief moment of uncertainty will allow them to pass through the moment more quickly rather than being stalled or stuck in that moment of confusion. This Awareness suggests that the last part of that question be now restated.

Awareness Explains the First Separateness

(Any Relationship Between Rhyee and Reptoids?)

QUESTION RESTATED:

Is there any relationship or correspondence between Reptoids and Rhyee, the First Separateness?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that a definition of this concept of the First Separateness needs to be expressed. The concept of the Rhyee as that which is essentially a breakaway of individuality from the rest of consciousness, wherein an entity who is aware of all of consciousness moves to a state of fragmentation and sees itself or perceives itself as being separated from the rest of consciousness. It is of course an illusion, for there is no such thing as true separateness, but there is the illusion of separateness which entities can believe in, and in that acceptance of the illusion of separateness, an entity can become quite significant in his or her perception of self.

The Illusion of Separateness in Consciousness

If one can believe that one is truly fragmented or broken away from the rest of consciousness, then one can claim to be different and separate and unique and whole without being part of the rest. This leaves the entity feeling himself or herself as outstanding. It is a way of creating an ego or self-centered aspect of consciousness that departs from the whole of consciousness and claims new territory of self. This Awareness indicates of course it is illusion, for all of consciousness is interconnected, and yet, there is a certain kind of self-importance in the acceptance of the illusion of consciousness, and thus, the so-called First Separateness is in fact but an illusion of separateness, and is not a reality at all, but those who believe in themselves as being separate also tend to wallow in a perception of self-importance that is not present when one feels oneself to be part of the whole of consciousness.

When one is interrelated with everything else in the universe one sees oneself as but a part of the whole, whereas if one believes oneself to be separated from the whole, then one sees oneself not as a part of the whole, but as a totally different whole unto itself, even if it is but an illusion. Some entities like the feeling of self-importance as long as it does not create any problems for them.

When Another Joins It's "Two Against the World"

The difficulty is that it generally leads to personal problems and relationship problems between the entity and the rest of consciousness, or the entity and others. Sometimes the entity will try to get someone else to separate them from the rest of consciousness to go with him or her, and thus you have two against the world, or two against the universe, and as a team, they feel some mutual companionship in their opposition to the rest of consciousness.

The Fall of Lucifer (The Ego)

Sometimes that two becomes three, four or more, or you have an entire gang, as in the case of the fall of Lucifer or Rhyee. It must be understood that Lucifer symbolizes the ego, the self-centered importantness of the aspect of individuality. That as the individual appears to be separated and joins with others who take on the same kind of perception of separateness, they link up as a gang, joining together against the remainder of consciousness in the universe and see themselves as opposing that which remained in the universe as whole or wholesome.

This Awareness indicates that it is all dealing with concepts based on an illusion, for in reality these are just ideas and not actuality. The actuality is that all things are interconnected within the universe and cannot be separated simply because the mind plays tricks and pretends to separate. This Awareness indicates that in the concept of the reptilian brain, the so-called Rhyee or Lucifer, the so-called Fall of Consciousness, is not directly related to the aspect of the three-brains in human physiology.

The Mammalian Brain Dealt With Emotions

There is however, a change that occurs in the evolution of the human physiology. Moving from the reptilian brain, there developed the mammalian brain which was introduced by the work of the Sirius genetic engineers (Enki) and this brought into play the emotions, the higher emotions, that is the emotions that deal with social bonding, whereas the reptilian brain dealt with emotions having to do with survival and the more base qualities of emotion dealing with the physical needs.

The mammalian emotions dealt with emotions of a more social nature such as compassion, bonding of relationships and communication and such, the enjoyment of touch and pleasure, of being with someone; these are part of the mammalian brain, which were then followed by the cerebral cortex, which dealt with ideas and concepts of language, mathematics and ideas or clusters of thought and so forth.

This Awareness indicates that these brain differences of the cortical levels spilled out from the mammalian brain, but do not actually reflect any kind of Rhyee-type separateness except in the sense that they allow for ideas to be formed which could create the visions and images of separateness and importance and significance, and therefore, become as tools for allowing the concept of separateness to become more embellished and refined, but they also allow for that concept of separateness to be circumvented or worked through and allow for the consciousness to return to the concept of unity and oneness.

Reptilian Brain Concerned With Survival

This Awareness indicates that in this sense, the reptilian brain is not so much connected to the idea of separateness, but it is connected to survival, which may encompass conflict with others if that survival is threatened and in this manner there may be some sense of thought pertaining to separateness that comes to the fore when one is acting from the Reptilian brain for purposes of survival.

Ramtha's School of Enlightenment (He Wants Enlightenment on Ramtha)

QUESTION:

A question from Dan Walters in Winter, Wisconsin. I'll read his statement. There's three questions in it, and then I'll repeat them if Awareness requests. He says: "I have a few questions for Awareness. I attended the beginning C & E at Yelm, Ramtha's School of Enlightenment. Due to time, cost and distance I could not continue. My questions are: "What is the real purpose for those who complete the school? Is Ramtha still the teacher? If not, who is? And thirdly, does it really matter if Ramtha is not there as long as the process of enlightenment goes on?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness does not particularly desire to evaluate other channels or their spiritual methods or teaching methods, or determine the validity of their activities. This Awareness indicates that the questions would be better addressed to those who are directly involved in the presentation of these seminars.

This Awareness indicates that it appears it doesn't really matter whether Ramtha is involved or not. It appears that the quality and accuracy of the message, the meaningfulness of the message outweighs the credentials of the messenger. If the message appears meaningful to you, what does it matter whether the messenger goes by one name or another, or even if the messenger carries false credentials?

This Awareness indicates of course, one should not act on any message from any source without verification or testing of the message, and if this Awareness were to tell you to trust the message or don't trust the message, you would still be acting on the message from this Awareness if you took the advice. It is suggested rather that you listen to the message, and evaluate it from your own experience, or research it more fully until you have a clearer understanding or simply hold off on making decisions until something from your own inner guidance suggests it is valid.

This Awareness indicates that it appears the best approach in learning spiritual information is to listen and learn what is being given, but to act on it only after you have had considerable time to digest that information along with other information from other sources.

This Awareness indicates that when you eat at a smorgasbord you receive the nutrients from many different dishes and the body takes on the nutrients from various sources. This Awareness indicates that if you had only one source of food, if you could only eat what came from a hole in a tree and you began to believe that everything else was of no nutrition except that which comes from the hole in the tree, your body might begin to rely strictly on what nutrition comes from the hole in the tree, and malnutrition might develop because that which comes from the hole in the tree does not satisfy all of your nutritional needs.

This Awareness suggests that if you shop around and ingest from different sources, information, you gradually become more acquainted with different types of nutrition and foods, and your body begins to settle on certain things that are more satisfying to it, and the needs automatically then become selective in filling and finding fulfillment through that selection process.

This Awareness indicates that therefore, continued research into metaphysical and spiritual messages from different sources can be of great service to helping your spiritual body develop its own understanding of its nutritional needs. This Awareness indicates that it appears there is much value from what you have devoured from the Ramtha information. There is also much waste and there is some toxin that needs to be discarded.

It can be said of all sources, the same thing. There is always some toxin that needs to be discarded. There is always some nutrition that can help your system, your spiritual body, to grow more healthy. This Awareness suggests that you continue in your feast of spiritual smorgasbord foods.

THE UNARIUS BOOK ON ATLANTIS

QUESTION:

In the Napa Trade Journal, which advertises new books in trade: The Unarius Academy of Science in E1 Cajon, California is selling a 325 page new book, they're introducing called Return To Atlantis, a book of epic proportions by Ruth Norman and Charles Spagel. I'd like to read this copy and ask Awareness if this information is basically valid, and would it heighten the awareness of our readers on this alien subject?

"This book is in the literature of Atlantis and unique in itself. It is a narrative describing the rise and fall of Atlantis and was received mentally from the Greek historian, Herodotus. Forty thousand years ago, a race of super-beings traveled from the constellation of the Pleiades to initiate a new society and civilization among the aborigines on the island continent of Atlantis. Their spiritual way of life and the means for a progressive evolution had been destroyed previously on the continent of Lemuria, and on other planets in the Milky Way galaxy.

"In volume one of this amazing series, information about the golden age of Atlantis reveals the unique and creative hand-print of advanced intellects who shaped this civilization for the purpose of advancing the spiritual nature of mankind. Homo Sapiens is now beginning to rebuild his psychic anatomy, the interior design of the mind." That's all the copy they have on this book. Would Awareness comment on the book please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that there appears to be some substance to the channeling of the information. This Awareness does not see this as a truly high level of substance or clarity in the channeling. There appears also to be approximately 30% imagination and fabrication involved in the entire work, woven throughout, pertaining to what is presumed to be individual past-life experiences and that the work itself can be very stimulating and fun and interesting to read, if entities can read it mostly for the bone structure and the basic part of the information in terms of the traveling, in terms of the events, but not get too wrapped up in personalities and the roles of individuals.

This of course will diminish the fun of the reading, but this Awareness suggests that most of the error is in the personal levels, the roles of individuals. Most of the value and truth being in what would be termed the bones, the shell or the background events in the book.

Wisdom of Awareness...

On Group Meditation

This Awareness indicates that groups of meditators can have their profound effect upon consciousness, and can, through meditation, even affect weather, violence, crime rate, and can have an effect on ending wars.

How a False Psychic Bilks the Gullible

QUESTION:

In reference to abstract situations, one of our members, Joyce Terry of Silverdale, WA., sent me a copy of an unsolicited pitch she received from somebody called Madame Vargas, from the Institute of Cosmic Awareness, One Green Tree Center, Suite 201, Marlton, New Jersey. I'd like to read this, because this is an incredible letter.

"Dear Joyce A. Terry. I understand that you have been under a great deal of stress. I know that you and someone you love a great deal have been having very serious problems and that you have been greatly disturbed by these problems. Don't worry these problems will soon be in your past.

I also know that you and your loved ones have been experiencing money problems. I know that if you had a lump sum of cash, it would bring joy and happiness to you and those around you. And that's the reason I am writing you today.

You may be skeptical, but before you throw this letter away let me explain. My name is Madame Vargas and I have been blessed by GOD with clairvoyant abilities. I can see into the future. I have helped many people around the world win substantial sums of money playing the lotteries, sweepstakes, contests and horse races.

Usually, these revelations come to me in my sleep while I am dreaming. I cannot control what is revealed or whom the revelation is about. The best that I can do is search for the person in my dream.

Two nights ago, on the 5th day of May, I had a dream. It was so powerful, so strong, so vivid, that I could hardly wait to write this letter to you. I even assigned you a Personal Case Number 3205.

In my dream, I was sitting next to you and you had several tickets in your hand...they were lottery tickets. You were drinking coffee or maybe tea but that's not important. All of a sudden you had a blank look on your face...suddenly you became very excited, you had just won the lottery. You called your family and the friends you thought you could trust and told them about your good luck. You had just won a substantial sum of money, $186,784.63. The most wonderful part of the dream was that I could clearly see the winning numbers.

I could also clearly see the problems that your winnings would bring you. Some of the people you consider your friends may not be trustworthy. They may in fact be your Judas. Beware!

Although there will be temptations to take the wrong path and use your lottery winnings frivolously, I know that you will choose the righteous path and use the money to help friends and family in need, especially those close to you that are having financial difficulties.

Only because of my faith in you am I making this commitment. Only because I know you are a kind and generous person am I going to send you the winning lottery numbers that were revealed in my dream.

I ask you to pledge to me that you will use your new found wealth to bring you and those around you happiness and fulfillment. I don't want anything for myself...but I would like you to send a small offering to the Institute of Cosmic Awareness. This will assure me that you are sincere and allow me to help others. Please include your Personal Case Number when responding.

Through the years I have learned many things about the revelations that I have. One of the most important facts that I have learned is that prompt action is required in these matters. So I urge you to respond today, it's your future.

I am overjoyed with happiness that providence has chose me to play a role in your good fortune. You have been blessed by this rare opportunity for wealth and happiness. Please don't let it pass you by. Blessed be, Madame Vargas.

P.S. I can't wait to hear back from you. My intuitions are always correct. I can actually guarantee you will win the lottery in the next 90 days."

There is also enclosed an order form that says: "I enclose my offering of $20, $25, $30, $50, Other amount.

(The letter is read once, and then Awareness suggests it be read again and that It be allowed to make comments as It sees fit)

The computer writes: "Dear Joyce A. Terry. I understand that you have been under a great deal of stress.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Who hasn't!

QUESTIONER:

I know that you and someone you love have been having very serious problems ...

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Who hasn't!

QUESTIONER:

... and that you have been greatly disturbed by these problems. Don't worry. These problems will soon be in your past.

"I also know that you and your loved ones have been experiencing money problems.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Who hasn't!

QUESTIONER:

I know that if you had a lump sum of cash, it would bring joy and happiness to you and those around you, ...

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Who wouldn't agree!

QUESTIONER:

... and that's the reason I'm writing to you today!

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the entity is pretending to know something personal about the one to whom she writes, while actually knowing that everyone experiences these particular situations. It is a matter of discussing an abstract that can be applied to any individual at any time in their lives.

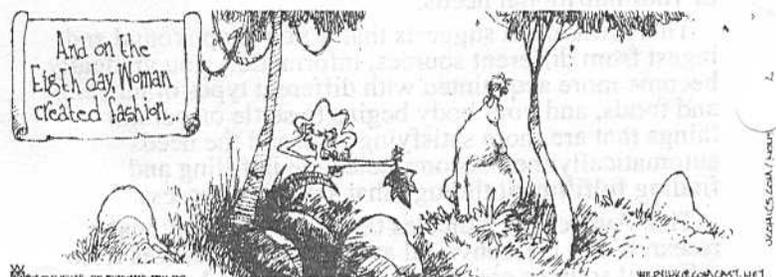

Continue.

QUESTIONER:

"You may be skeptical, but before you throw this letter away, let me explain. My name is Madame Varga and I have been blessed by God with clairvoyant abilities.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is the claim that the entity wishes her to buy. It is the premise on which she stacks her deck of cards, to try to later extract money in order to fulfill her purpose in writing the letter.

QUESTIONER:

"I can see into the future. I have helped many people around the world win substantial sums of money, playing the lottery, sweepstakes, contests and horse-races.

"Usually, these revelations come to me in my sleep while I am dreaming. I cannot control what is revealed or whom the revelation is about. The best that I can do is search for the person in my dream.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates the entity is implying that she had a dream about the one to whom she writes and has somehow managed, through her own great psychic ability to locate this entity and to write her and let her know of this spiritually inspired dream. She more likely got the name from a mailing list.

QUESTIONER:

"Two nights ago on the fifth day of May I had a dream. It was so powerful, so strong, so vivid, that I could hardly wait to write this letter to you.

"I even assigned you a personal case number: 3205.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates the entity probably not only wrote that letter, she probably had hundreds of them printed up at once, and may have even assigned all of them the same number.

QUESTIONER:

"In my dream I was sitting next to you and you had several tickets in your hand. They were lottery tickets. You were drinking coffee or maybe tea, but that's not important.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it is important in that if she had simply said you were drinking coffee, the entity might not be a coffee drinker, and therefore, by saying coffee or tea, she gets herself off the hook of making a serious mistake in claiming she is psychic and perhaps not knowing what the entity was drinking.

QUESTIONER:

"All of a sudden you had a blank look on your face. Suddenly you became very excited. You had just won the lottery!

"You called your family and friends you thought you could trust and told them about your good luck. You had just won a substantial sum of money: $186,784.63.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates the entity, in giving specific detailed amounts, is creating the impression that she has the ability to see the absolute detail, and it is a fact that entities tend to be more believed when specifics are given in a claim. If she had said you have approximately $180,000, it would imply that she was vague and unsure of the amount, but by giving it down to the penny, it implies that the psychic is so precise she can see the amount, right down to the very penny.

QUESTIONER:

"The most wonderful part of the dream was that I could clearly see the winning numbers. I could also clearly see the problem that your winnings would bring you.

"Some of the people you consider your friends may not be trustworthy. They may in fact, be your Judas. Beware!

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is an effort to appeal to the entity's fear, making first an appeal to the entity's greed, then an appeal to the entity's fear of having the fortune taken from her. It helps to make the entity dependent on the psychic for her future salvation or help in this matter.

"Although there will be temptations to take the wrong path and use your lottery winnings frivolously, I know that you will choose the righteous path and use the money to help friends and family in need, especially those close to you that are having financial difficulties.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is to impress on the person that she recognized their inner goodness. It is a form of flattery.

QUESTIONER:

"Only because of my faith in you am I making this commitment. Only because I know you are a kind and generous person am I going to send you the winning lottery numbers that were revealed in my dream.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

The entity does not yet acknowledge that her contact is only as a means of seeking money for her organization. She claims that it is only because she wants to help this entity.

QUESTIONER:"

"I ask you to pledge to me that you will use your new-found wealth to bring you and those around you happiness and fulfillment.

"I don't want anything for myself, but I would like you to send a small offering to the Institute of Cosmic Awareness.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that you might wish to ask the entity if you can send a large offering after you have won this lottery.

QUESTIONER:

"This will assure me that you are sincere and allow me to help others. Please include your personal case number when responding.

"Through the years I have learned many things about the revelations that I have. One of the most important facts that I have learned is that prompt actions is required in these matters, so I urge you to respond today. It's your future!

COSMIC AWARENESS:

The issue of quick response is always important to one who is seeking to get someone to react when there is a sale's pitch for if you wait too long, you forget the sale's pitch and you lose interest as you forget what the pitch was about. The entity asking for a quick response, simply seeks to get a spontaneous knee-jerk reaction of donation and request for the lottery number.

Of course, you will get lottery numbers from the entity, but they will be of such nature that you will have a difficult time knowing what lottery to use the number in or when to use the lottery number, or some other situation that makes the information either totally useless, or useful only under certain conditions that do not apply to you, or whereby you are likely to misapply the information given, so that you can't blame her. You can only blame yourself, or perhaps, whereby the entity will have you send further donations to get more information as to how you can apply the previous information she has sent.

QUESTIONER:

"I am overjoyed with happiness that providence has chosen me to play a role in your good fortune! You have been blessed by this rare opportunity for wealth and happiness! Please don't let it pass you by.

"PS. I can't wait to hear back from you. My intuitions are always correct! I can actually guarantee you will win the lottery in the next 90 days!"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that: How does she intend to fulfill any guarantee to that effect? If you send her money and you don't win the lottery within 90 days, what is the consequence? How does she guarantee your winnings?

QUESTIONER:

I can't believe anybody would be so gullible as to send her any money! In fact, I think it's a violation of postal regulations, to promise, to make a guarantee they will win the lottery.

QUESTIONER:

This Awareness indicates there will be many, who, having a need for hope, will put their trust in her, in hopes of some miracle occurring.

QUESTIONER:

Does Awareness mind having her use the 'Institute of Cosmic Awareness?' It's obviously a phony institution.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates there is very little that could be done to prevent this. The term she uses may even be legitimately registered in her state under her name. It doesn't matter whether the entity uses the name or some other name to this Awareness, for this Awareness can do nothing about it other than to suggest that entities not consider this as authorized or promoted by this Awareness.

This Awareness indicates that it is of little consequence.

Ed's Note: I checked the Internet and New Jersey sources but could find no record that the Institute of Cosmic Awareness ever existed. The address comes from a suburb of Atlantic City, well-known for its hype and gambling mentality. As I told Paul at the end of this reading, Madame Vargas is probably a psychology student named Murray, probably has a computer with some astrological software and moves his operations elsewhere within a few months of bilking enough entities before the postal inspectors go after him.

How to Handle The Chaos of Society

QUESTION:

A question from Tom Krueger, Santa Clara, CA. Several questions. I'll read his statement. "There is so much hostility and contention being expressed today between groups and individuals, and it seems to be increasing. Probably there are a number of factors causing this, even including the effects of the approaching "parallel universe." Would Awareness please discuss the source of this publicly emerging negativity?"

"Are they internal, external or both? As we individuals observe, and read the media and become aware of our reactions, it almost seems that the world is participating in a global spiritual psychotherapy class, whether we know it or not."

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that it does appear to be much likened unto that psychotherapy type of situation. This Awareness reminds you of experiments done in the early Sixties and late Fifties regarding rats being put into close confinement, wherein the population continued to increase without an increase in space, whereby the rats became more agitated, more anxious and in some cases, more violent or more fearful.

Some rats huddled into corners and simply shook in fear. Others became aggressive and attacked each other. Others joined in groups to protect themselves. Still others ran around frantically from place to place. The modern society is becoming compressed by more and more people, while at the same time, value systems that allow for courteous respect to each other are breaking down so that what little space is available is not respected and entities are being pushed about by others who are rude and aggressive, or by situations that are bullyish, pushy, or tyrannical, and there are many who are fearful, who shut themselves off, hide in fear, and all these kinds of situations in society is creating greater and greater anxieties for many and these anxieties are being expressed in different ways.

A Good Reason For a Daily Meditation

This Awareness indicates that even the future looks bleak, and that bleakness of the future creates anxieties in the present. This Awareness suggests that it appears entities need to find some kind of inner peace amidst the chaos in society. This is one reason why entities can benefit so much from meditation or from a quiet period on a daily basis, whereby they simply sit and read, or listen to music or have a quiet conversation with a loved one, a time of solitude, a time of peace.

The more entities can find such times in these chaotic moments, the better their nerves will be, the more they can relax, and the easier it will be for them to be respectful toward others and to help others feel relaxed. This Awareness indicates that the more frantic and more agitated entities become, the more they add to the chaos in society.

Many times, young people seek that kind of excitement, agitation is expressed, and they add to the chaos of society, but in so doing, they also create a frantic aspect in their own lives, which leads them to have greater anxiety as well.
