Is Barack Obama a Truly Good Person for Our Country and for the World?

QUESTION:

Our topic concerns politics. It comes from Stuart Kelso, of Lenox, Massachusetts. He writes, "Is Barack Obama truly a good person, someone who genuinely wants to help people? Or is he just another politician with a good line? He certainly seems genuine. I believed Dennis Kucinich was also the real deal and not a phony, but of course his campaign went nowhere. I have not voted for a Democrat or a Republican for president since 1972, but I am now seeking guidance as to whether Barack is someone that Cosmic Awareness sees as actually being good for the country and for the world." Your comments please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness first and foremost wishes to emphasize that all top politicians who run for the presidency are of an ilk that unfortunately is not always what it seems. This Awareness suggests that those politicians who have attained such a position, to be held as forerunners for their parties for the presidential position, have indeed made agreements, are in the knowing of that which is the true power structure behind political parties, behind governments.

There are very very few politicians who are on the national stage who do not know that there are other powers behind the parties themselves, behind the government itself, and that the entity Barack Obama unfortunately is one of those individuals, is part of the ilk of the political pundit who has an understanding and yet is wishing to seek for themselves political office for their own reasons. Does this make the individual Barack Obama a bad individual? Most definitely it does not. This Awareness simply is wishing to state that for him to have achieved that place of power that he already occupies now after the Democratic campaign has finally run down and he is declared the winner of that contest between he and Hillary Clinton, that it must be understood and recognized that he is a political creature, like so many, who has a good line.

If Allowed to Lead He Could be a Great Leader

This Awareness can say this of Barack Obama, that it senses that there is a quality about him that if given an opportunity, would do great things for the nation. He would be a good leader if he were allowed to lead in a way that is free of that yoke of servitude, not to the people themselves but rather to the political masters who hold the reigns, who hold true power. If the political situation alters and changes considerably and that the power structure is broken, that this man, Barack Obama could indeed be a great president and could lead from a place of true integrity and true wisdom.

But as it stands presently, he has been forced to acquiesce to certain demands on him so that he can move forward to attain power, to become the next President of the United States. There has been a political fight within the Democratic Party itself. There has been a schism between two opposing factions within the Democratic Party. As this Awareness has spoken previously, originally it was the Party's intent to host Hillary Clinton and to support her and bring the presidency to her. In other words, the plan was to have Hillary Clinton become the first woman president thus giving the impression that change occurred, and the people themselves could vote in change for the energies around the political leadership at this time has become stale at the very least and hostile at the extreme and it was seen that if the political masters wished to retain their hidden powers, they would have to give the people the sense of feeling that they could change the leadership, and that the person that they first and originally put forward for this change was the entity Hillary Clinton, although she was truly not what she seemed to be. She is very committed to the hidden agenda and to the hidden power brokers for she is of a lineage of the Elite, and she truly knows what the score is and would have served her political masters well.

However, in all of this, an individual started to come forward, who because of his very nature, drew attention, and became someone that many of the party felt could do the job even better. Thus began the schism, and there were those who started to support this upstart, this young senator, and with time, his support started to grow and grow. It was in this time frame that he was approached by some of those higher up political pundits who hold power, and informed that if he wished to be president, that he had to play the game the way they had it set up.

At first he was not certain if this is what he wanted, and yet there is a part of him that is not yet mature enough, not yet wise enough to understand that he might be selling his soul to the devil by entertaining even the thought of becoming a servant to these powers, yet the ego was large enough for him to wish this to be so, for him to wish for personal power, personal fame, and he decided that he might still be able to effect change, even though he was now under the authority of these political leaders.

He saw that perhaps he could create change from within, and that even though he signed his name over to the devil, he felt that there might still be a chance for him to create a legacy, for him to make changes and to truly be of service. This Awareness does state that it is felt from within by the individual that he is one who can bring change to the nation and to the country. The unfortunate truth is that once he starts playing in that hall of the political masters, that he is truly their servant, and not there to be of service to the people, no matter what he thinks or believes.

The only way this can change is if the political structure that now exists completely breaks down, that it is exposed that there are those who have always held such secret power, and in this exposure they are destroyed, they are driven out and that a free and truly democratic government can be set up. While Barack Obama himself may still hope that he will be able to affect change, this Awareness unfortunately does not see this as being so.

Obama Says He Will Support Israel

This Awareness saw in a speech the individual gave recently evidence of why this will not be so. In his first political speech after winning the democratic candidacy, after been finally given the go ahead, having achieved the goal, that he spoke publicly of his support for Israel for that lobby of the Israeli nation. He spoke publicly that he would remain their ally and friend and there would not be much change from the actions of the Bush regime and that the United States will still support Israel. It must be understood that the Zionist powers of the Israeli nation have a lot to do with the agenda of the United States of America, and in this public affirmation Obama was showing the colors that he now wears, and that is why it is seen that there is unfortunately an energy around this individual that does not hold that he will quire the crusader that he promises to be.

In answer to the question "Is it simply a line he is giving?" this Awareness at this point has to suggest that it is a lie that he is giving. What remains to be seen now is if in the future he will be able due to circumstances, to break away from his political handlers and truly stand up and become a true servant of the people, a true leader for the people, for it is within him to be so, but at this point, it is not seen as something that he will achieve, due to the political nature of power at this time.

It is also seen that there is afoot a movement to now redress the conflict and schism that was created in the primary campaign of the Democratic Party, that schism that was exemplified by the division between Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. It is seen that the suggestion will be made, as has already been made in the papers and on the television, that Hillary Clinton wishes to become the Vice President, in an effort to create the greatest attraction to the American people. Such an action may yet occur, not that the entity Barack Obama truly wishes it. It will be brought to his attention that such a combination has much greater chance of drawing the support of the American people than if he simply ran himself with another candidate, for there was great support for Hillary Clinton.

In some ways she had greater support than Barack Obama, however she did not manage to win those states that had the greater amount of delegates behind them. So even though she may have had more popular support, she did not translate that into a delegate count that would have been superior to Barack Obama, yet the political pundits do recognize that she has that support and the two together would probably be the most effective team to ensure a victory of the presidency and the vice presidency.

It is also seen that in the more dark regions of political thought that there are even plans of a political coup. It is even seen as one way they could move things forward would be to assassinate that individual known as Barack Obama. This will not occur however, for this individual Barack Obama is protected by Spirit, by those Higher Forces, for it is seen that he could be a true patriot of the American people. It is also seen that while there may be attempts that the old regime, which is very much the regime that Hillary Clinton truly does support in full measure, may wish to create a situation where Obama is eliminated, thus propelling Hillary Clinton finally into the presidency.

There are much changes that this Awareness sees ahead, changes that could completely destroy the political power structure that now exists. Even though these thoughts and plans are being conjectured it does not mean that they will bear fruit, that they will come to pass; however, it is seen that there is thought on the matter, and that there are those who would go forward.

Bill and Hillary Clinton are Well Aware of Numerous Assassinations Made on their Behalf

It is to be remembered that the husband of Hillary Clinton, the former President Bill Clinton, himself, is marked by a number of political debts that occurred while he was both governor and president, that these were assassinations sometimes and often deliberate murders to eliminate individuals who could have been a problem to the Clinton regime. The individual, Hillary Clinton, was fully aware of many of these murders, many of these assassinations and she herself was not against such things, indeed supported them as a way of maintaining power, that it was incredibly important to maintain power one way or another and thus she would not be opposed to such an action as the assassination of Barack Obama when he was president; thus propelling herself into that position of power. Saying all of this, this Awareness simply does need to say that this is seen as possible conjecture, that It does not wish to say that this is the intent and device of this individual Hillary Clinton. It simply sees forces behind this candidate who entertain such thoughts and it is something that is very close to consciousness, that it is recognized on some level that she and her camp could even entertain such concepts. This Awareness reminds you there was an incident recently where she received great flack for a comment she made, a comment regarding Bobby Kennedy, and how he had been assassinated, that because the energy around this plan is fairly close to full consciousness, or rather to being perceived in the consciousness of the collective, that this comment did indeed hit home, that there was a feeling of truth to it, a sense of the implication that she had not meant to state it in such a way, nor was she even consciously aware of the result of her statement, for she really had only been intending to state that the candidate, Bobby Kennedy, had run until June because she had been getting flack for not having withdrawn from the race earlier, but that the underlying energy triggered this mass reaction for there was a sensing of a truth, of a plan of assassination against the candidate Barack Obama; that this surprised Hillary Clinton and her crew; and they hastily withdrew statements and tried to explain what was meant and yet, the statement had been made, the damage had been done. In some ways, this Awareness suggests that this may have been a fortuitous event, for it has brought into consciousness, to conscious perception, that nefarious plan that is in the nether regions and by bringing this into a level of conscious awareness, makes such a plan an even harder plan to actually bring into being. Thus, this comment may have unconsciously, may well help to protect the entity, Barack Obama when he goes for the presidential candidacy, for even when he becomes, if this is how it is to be, the President of the United States of America.

This Awareness is complete, that if there are other questions, It is prepared to answer them.

Is Hillary Clinton a Clone?

QUESTION:

Thank you. There is another question from another chap regarding Hillary Clinton. This one comes from Raymond Conroy, of Dingman's Ferry, PA. He asks:

"Is Hilary Clinton a clone? Are the powers that be preparing to pull something to help her secure the nomination". Your comment please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

First to the matter of Hillary Clinton being a clone: it is not seen at this time that Hilary Clinton has been cloned, that she is the real deal, the real thing; however, as this Awareness has spoken in the past, that often cloning has occurred to those who were in office, especially the presidential office; that this Awareness reminds the membership of the famous incident of Jimmy Carter running in the park, doing his early morning jog, and that he suddenly fell over and his feet kept pumping away, and that a van very quickly came up and that that individual was picked up, his legs still pumping away, and quickly put into the van and whisked off; that this was, indeed, a clone of that entity Jimmy Carter. That the cloning is such now that the individual, even though it is a clone is indeed the individual, but that they are not the original individuals at this time.

President George W. Bush is a Clone of the Original

This Awareness wishes to state that that entity that is the President of the United States of America at this time, George W. Bush himself, is a clone of the original President; that he was indeed taken out a number of months ago and replaced by the clone, that this clone is active to the same degree as the original individual was; in other words, that the fact that this current President is simply a cloned version of the original individual, has made no difference. Unfortunately, there was no improvement in the cloned version to the original, in fact, it appears that in some ways, it has become more outrageous than the predeceased President Bush.

The Attempt to Assassinate President George Bush

That This Awareness spoke of an attempt to assassinate the President, that this did occur but that it was hidden up and held in secret; that the cloned version was introduced and there was never any apparent clue that this had occurred, that the President was the cloned version, that the techniques and technology are so advanced now that it is indeed very difficult to tell when and if this occurs. This Awareness indicates sometimes it can be noted in a new hair style, a new attitude at a press conference, a lightness in the press conference; that there was a press conference given a number of months ago where the President George W. Bush, seemed to be light-hearted and joked, inappropriately sometimes, with the press gallery. It was at this time that that switch was made, This Awareness does not have an actual time or date for that switch. It simply states that it occurred approximately 14 months ago.

The Secret Plan to Assassinate Barack Obama

Back to the question of Hillary Clinton, that This Awareness has spoken already of that secret plan to assassinate Barack Obama, thus replacing him with Hilary Clinton, this of course, the plan that is held by that faction that still wishes Hilary Clinton to be the President. This Awareness does not see that this will necessarily occur, that to simply have plans does not mean that the plans always work out, but the question was whether there were plans afoot, and this is what is seen by This Awareness, that it is not however seen that it will be a successful plan. There is nothing else seen in the plans at this time, it is not even seen fully if Hillary Clinton will become the running mate of Barack Obama, but it is indeed the desire of those in charge that this be so.

This Awareness is complete, unless there is more to the question that this Awareness needs to respond to.

When One is Replaced by a Clone What Happens to the Original?

QUESTION:

I believe the question was answered. I do have a question concerning the word "clone". When someone is replaced by a clone, is the original person still alive or are they eliminated? Is there a special rule of thumb that the people have when creating a clone or not creating a clone? Do you have any comments on that please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness indicates that the situation will warrant whether the clone replaces a individual who has died or an individual who simply disappeared. In the case of George W. Bush, it is seen that the individual was killed, and thus it was necessary to provide a clone so that a continuity could be presented and that his political power and his regime could carry on uninterrupted.

Saddam Hussein is Still Alive Only a Clone was Executed

There are however, times when it is expedient for an individual to disappear and yet, there is a need for the person to still be in the public's eye. This is indeed what happened to Saddam Hussein. The individual that was eventually executed was a cloned version, a double of the leader but that he himself, Saddam Hussein himself, was made to disappear but there was a story that pawned the invasion of Iraq, there was a convoy that drove onto an airfield, that there was an American plane that had landed, a big transport plane, and the convoy that had contained Saddam Hussein and his family and their wealth, simply drove onto this plane, the plane took off and he disappeared; however, the clone remained, he finally went into hiding and was "discovered" in the small dungeon-like hiding place, and at that time was brought out to the public, paraded to the public as the great dictator and that eventually "justice" was done and the dictator was destroyed, was executed. However, this was not the original man, Saddam Hussein, that he himself, is living in seclusion and relative luxury away from the public eye, free to experience that level of freedom and opulence that is his to experience. It is seen that there has been some degree of plastic surgery done on this individual and new documents provided to this individual so that he no longer looks as he used to look and thus can live in relative anonymity and will not be recognized by the masses as Saddam Hussein, for indeed, he is no longer that individual; that this is the reward and compensation that was given to him for his years of service to the CIA and to his political masters.

Osama Bin Laden Also Saved and Secreted by CIA

It is also seen that the individual Bin Laden was also disappeared although in this case, it was not chosen to provide a clone for him so that the clone be killed or assassinated and shown to the public that the individual was destroyed. However, if this is needed at some point in the future, then that individual who shows up will not be the true Bin Laden but rather a cloned version that will be puppeted so that the world will think that he has been captured and dealt with. This is not seen to be the immediate plan at this time; however, it is a contingent plan if needed. This completes this answer by this Awareness, unless the energizer has any further questions.

Today's Messages From Bin Laden

(Are They Really From Him?)

QUESTIONER:

Thank you, when speaking of Bin Laden, there have been additional messages that were purported received or given by him to the press. Was that in fact him, or was that his followers that are preparing those messages?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

Neither. That these are messages that are put out by those powers that wish to keep the world in fear and terror, that wish to perpetuate the false impression that turn to prunes and bran?

this man still exists and that he is a political factor still. The individual himself has long since retired, that the reason the individual was never found was because his political payoff was that he was removed from the world's attention, that he was removed by the CIA. But it is seen that what occurred was very simple, that the tremendous beard and turban that this individual wore were removed: the beard shaved off, the turban removed, that the individual was dressed in a business suit wearing glasses, given American passport and simply stepped onto a plane and flew away. This Awareness suggests his false documents and credentials are such that he is not known to be that individual any longer, that he is in seclusion and like Saddam Hussein, enjoying this life at this time. Occasionally he is required to make a taping of his voice to be released to perpetuate the fallacy that he is still active and still out there; but in truth, he is no longer a player and that he has served his political masters also and is enjoying the fruits of his labors now. It is curious indeed, with international intelligence agencies available and the high level of technology and surveillance that is available, that there is no trace of that individual Bin Laden, there is no trace because he has been "disappeared", that he has been removed and that he has been rewarded for his efforts. This is something that many will find hard to believe but this Awareness simply asks them to feel within themselves the truth of what this Awareness has spoken and to make their own judgments as to whether that which this Awareness has shared is true or not. This Awareness is complete..

The Bill to Criminalize Thoughts, Books and Free Speech Has Been Passed Unanimously

((The 2007 Violent Radicalization and Home Grown Terrorism Prevention Act)

QUESTION:

The next question comes from an anonymous donor. There is no name and no address. It concerns politics. "The Bill to criminalize thoughts, books and free speech across America. This particular law passed with an overwhelming 400 to 6 House vote. It reads, "The end of Free Speech in America has arrived at our doorstep. It's a new law called the 2007 Violent Radicalization and Home Grown Terrorism Prevention Act, and it's worded in a clever way that could allow the US government to arrest and incarcerate any individual who speaks out against the Bush administration, the war on Iraq, the Department of Homeland Security, or any government agency.

The law has already passed the House and will likely pass the Senate. Intelligent people who care about freedom are speaking out against this extremely dangerous law. They already have the concentration camps built and the railroad cars with handcuffs to transport all the people. It is past time to kick out the Washington bums and get out of the Union. Do it now! Look this up on the Internet!" Do you have any comment?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness wishes first and foremost to advise those who have read of this new law not to go into panic or fear, but rather to be willing to face the fear around the issue, for on the surface it certainly does seem to be a law that will diminish the human condition and create new levels of imprisonment and suffering for those patriots who would wish to stand up to their government, and for those corrupt officials who have passed such laws.

It is important to understand that this law is simply the latest in a series of laws passed over the 30 years that have eroded personal freedoms in the United States of America. Similar laws have been enforced such as in Canada, where there too are laws that have taken away personal freedom and yet are veiled still, as this one is also. It is through clever words and a clever presentation that those Congressmen who have passed this law could always state that they were not truly aware of the full impact or intent behind the law, but this would be a lie. Those individuals who have passed this law and other laws are fully aware of the import of these laws and their true nature and have been treasonous in a manner of speaking to their constituencies, those whom they have been elected to serve.

On 9-11 Bush Says, "Either You are With us or You Aren't

They have betrayed the trust given to them but have served their true masters well. This Awareness wishes to remind all that most who seek office do so for ego means, but also many who seek office are already involved in organizations where there is an understanding of who truly is in power, organizations such as the Freemasons. That this law should be passed is not a surprise to those who saw it coming. On the infamous day of the 11th of September when the acts of terrorism were committed against the people of the United States of America, not by Arabs, but by the government itself, President Bush did stand up and publicly declare, "Either you're with me or with us, or you're not" inferring that if you were not with the actions of the government that you would be an enemy of the state and as such would be dealt with appropriately.

This act is just simply the legalization of that statement, of that declaration, that those who would not support him or the government in their actions would be dealt with, would be considered enemies of the state. As this Awareness has said, it is no surprise to those who have followed the events over the last number of years, events that also preceded the present regime.

Many Events Were Followed by a Bill in Congress

There are many instances where an event was followed by a bill that was then passed into law, each bill robbing the American people of their personal power, taking from them their freedom and their rights.

Often these bills were already on the planning board and waiting to be acted on when the events that occurred that cemented the passing of these acts. For example, there was the attempted assassination of President Reagan. At the time there was a bill on the floor of the Congress that would take away freedoms of the American people under the auspices of protecting them. This bill would not have passed had it not been for the act that was perpetrated upon President Reagan. In the days later when the bill went up for vote, no one voted against it, and it passed, eroding yet another small bit of the Constitution, taking away yet again freedoms and rights of the American people.

This latest bill, stunning as it seems to be with the amount of those who voted for it, is as this Awareness has said, simply the latest legalization of the robbing of the American people of their rights and of their freedoms.

We are Already Under Martial Law

In truth, these rights had already been stolen. Under the state of martial law that this country is under, the officials and authorities already have the right to enter into anyone's home at any time, to arrest any that they feel are a threat to them.

All this act has done is made it a little easier for them to use such powers, if and when they are needed. As the individual pointed out, there are already concentration camps set up, there are already freight trains and box cars with shackles in them. While this is a scary thought for many, this Awareness would advise that one not totally give in to such thoughts. To be aware of what is there is indeed important, but to focus on it and energize it is also erroneous.

What You as a Creator Being Can do to Overcome the Fear

While it is important to be aware of the laws that are being passed, of the situation at hand, what would achieve greater results would be that individuals start focusing on the shift in consciousness that is coming, the Ascension that is coming. Individuals can work within themselves and on themselves, to pass through first and foremost their own personal levels of fear to change their beliefs and attitudes, and to rediscover within themselves their true power and capacity to be Creator Beings, to change the circumstances of their lives first of all on a personal level and then on a collective level.

As this happens and accelerates, the likelihood of ever experiencing these nefarious terrorist acts will lessen, diminish and disappear. Thus it is that this Awareness can acknowledge that while this new law is reprehensible in its intent and purpose, this Awareness must also remind all that what is truly needed at this time is a refocusing away from the criminal intent of the powers that be towards that stifling of personal freedom and the freeing up of not only the nation of the United States of America but of all nations of this world, that hand in hand to this, there are events that are unfolding and will continue to unfold that will smash up, destroy and demolish those power structures that are in existence that will expose individuals, those secret cabals that are in control, that have power and that have misused their power for so long.

The Creepy Crawlers are About to be Exposed

This Awareness suggests there are agents of Spirit on this plane of existence that have worked hard and diligently for many many years, and that they are prepared to break through, to expose much that has been held in secret, that has been perpetuated in shadow, that the rocks that many of these creatures live under are about to be lifted and removed exposing the creepy crawlers who have lived under the rocks for so long and have been undermining the structure for so long. This Awareness speaks that this is also advancing, that this is also ready to unfold and It would rather that the individual focus and concentrate and believe in this as that which will dawn soon versus that future based on the terrorism of the powers that be, of the secrets held by those cabals as they have sought to undermine and rob the people and the institutes of a free government and a free people. That to focus on the dark and the negative will call such in and this Awareness has spoken to this before. To focus rather on that which will bring light into the world again, that will free the people once and for all, that will liberate consciousness is what this Awareness is recommending and this process starts at home, that this process starts within each and every individual as they seek to free themselves from their own personal fears and terrors, from their own personal situations of belief that create around them intolerable situations as they face their fears, as they deal with their issues, as they redefine themselves and establish new Truth and new Beliefs. That truly understanding themselves as Creator Beings, creating the dramas around them will help one and all eventually understand that they are co-creators of the greater drama around them and that many of the players in the greater drama are playing roles for reasons that will help liberate many in the long run even if, on the surface, these individuals seem to be very evil indeed. Ultimately, they will have to answer for their crimes but at this time, this Awareness asks rather that one and all focus in themselves, to themselves, focus to the lives that they are creating for themselves and for their families and for those around them. That to find balance, to find answers, to find release in their personal lives, their personal issues will do much to help them understand that they do not need to support the greater belief structure held by the collective for if they find their own personal freedom, they will understand that the only person who can take their personal freedom away is they themselves, by giving it away because of erroneous beliefs and concepts. To simply fall prey to fear to those agents who would have one believe they have no power, no strength on an individual level, would be erroneous. But this Awareness does speak strongly again for the need for the individual to find their inner freedom, their inner Truth and their inner Being, then and only then will they remove themselves from the fear that traps so many when news of this nature is heard.

This Awareness is not asking an individual to bury their head in the sand like an ostrich, but rather, is asking the individual to seek deeply the personal Truth that will set them free and that will set their society free eventually also, and that to understand and to know that there are other sources that are working towards freeing up humanity at this time and that moving consciousness towards Ascension will do much to free up the situation. Those who cannot depart this level of control will not face such things, may need to experience a continuance on that level of consciousness that this Awareness has referred to as Planet B, but this then is another story. This Awareness feels complete at this time but asks the energizer if there is any other questions for It regarding this question.

QUESTIONER:

Thank you. When first reading about this law and I assume there is probably a like law in Canada, I was very very concerned and not very impressed but I do appreciate, as I am sure others will, your comments concerning it and the advice given. It's amazing the games people play.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is in the affirmative.

IS THOMAS PAINE BACK?

(What About George Washington and Benjamin Franklin?)

QUESTION:

Thank you. There is one more on politics. It concerns a book by Craig Nelson relating to Thomas Paine. It's offered by Leonard Donsbach, Bethel, CT. He writes:

"Dear Vikki & Avaton: I have been reading Craig Nelson's book "Thomas Paine", and found it very informative. It has also raised a lot of questions in my mind. Perhaps some of your readership would also be interested in some of the questions I have relating to Mr. Paine.

Foremost of my questions is; "Is he back?" It seems to me that we are again at a pivotal time where we do need to free ourselves from the tyranny of rulers who do not represent our best interests. Are we waiting for a reincarnated Thomas Paine to point the way and motivate us toward salvaging our freedom and gain a "more perfect Union"?

It seemed from the book that Mr. Paine, George Washington and Benjamin Franklin were a trio protected by Divine Providence and placed together at that time in history to bring about this USofA. There seemed to be miracles surrounding each of them; helping them to fulfill their missions. Is that true?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness wishes to respond to this question. This Awareness indicates that this is indeed true, that for every epoch, for every eon, for every millennium and time where there are oppressors, where there are those who would vanquish and put down and enslave, there are also those who are the avengers to this, who are those who would stand up and oppose this and fight this, that the trio of Thomas Paine, George Washington, and Ben Franklin are such beings but there are others also, Thomas Jefferson being one of those also, and others of the founding fathers of the great nation of the United States of America. Also, there are those who are once again back, those embodied beings who were those beings Jefferson, Franklin, Washington and others who are again back in these times. At this time, many of them are hidden for the energies that still have control are too powerful at this time to actively stand up against and oppose.

Senator Ron Paul the Independent Candidate

There is an individual that this Awareness wishes to make comment on who is one who opposes, who has stood up, who has spoken his Truth and that is the individual Ron Paul, the independent candidate who has stood his ground, who has continued the race, who has spoken the truth for many to hear, that he has had no coverage, no support is only because the powers that be wish to give him no attention, hoping that he will go away. But he has not gone away. Indeed in some ways this individual is stronger than he has ever been and even though it is not seen likely that he will win the presidency, it is seen that he is a voice of light in the darkness that is currently ruling the United States of America. But he is one voice of many who is out there, that there are others who are less vocal, less public, but they too will eventually move into more public view especially as events unfold that destroy the existing power structure and make it possible for those who are here to bring equitable government back to the people, who are here to restore the freedoms and the rights of the people of the United States of America as well as in other countries for the United States is not alone in this but that the timing is crucial at this time and this Awareness speaks that even though these individuals are starting to emerge more and more that they must still be wary for there are acts now, laws now, that could put them in jail before they have had a chance to serve the purpose that they are here to serve. This Awareness is prepared to go on with the question.

QUESTION:

This is the balance of the question concerning Thomas Paine. The next paragraph reads, "I think that is what the American Revolution actually was. We ceased to be children of Britain and became young American adults. Now I think our schooling is over and it is time for us to assume the responsibility of truly governing ourselves and truly setting an example for the world to follow." Would Awareness comment on that please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

To some degree this is true, however what must now be recognized is that those who find this truth and freedom are not only to be examples to the world, but also to be of the world, party to the world. In other words, rather than a separation, where it is still felt that America and Americans are the leaders of the world, what is now needed is to become a participant in a global community. Not simply a leader, but a participant.

This is seen by this Awareness as an understanding of the evolution of consciousness also, to see that the integration of all nations into a unified global community is the next true step. It is not simply this power or that power leading others and the others then having to follow. It is more a participation of equal stature and responsibility. Thus, a diminutive nation, a third-world country would have equal status to that of a nation of the grandeur and status of the United States of America.

Seeing it this way will be a graduation out of teenage years into the status of a mature adult, an adult who has wisdom and emotional capacity to support others of the global human family. The United States will still provide leadership, but there are many other leaders in other nations. In a way other nations are further along than the United States of America. There are already mature individuals who lead other nations, people who are further ahead in their conscious awareness than America is.

With the events that are ready to unfold, what will occur is a unification of planet, an equalization of the planet and true understanding and true awareness of equality of all will be understood and more importantly, practiced. It is not simply that the United States must retain a leadership role, but it must be a party to the global village. It must be a participant in the global village, equal to all and all equal.

This is part of the expanded consciousness that is beginning to unfold at this time, and will be a hallmark note of the consciousness that will exist on that planet of Ascension, that planet of expanded awareness, expanded consciousness. This Awareness is complete in Its answer.

Anything More on Thomas Paine?

QUESTION:

(Thank you) His next paragraph concerns, "What more can Awareness give about this unique individual known as Thomas Paine, without intruding upon his privacy too much. He gave us so much and suffered so much for it. Did he get his reward in his next life? Perhaps he is now living on some distant planet, enjoying the benefits of living in a truly utopian world. Does Awareness have a concluding statement or summation about our beloved Thomas Paine?" Your comments please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness does not have that much more to add to what It has already said. The individual Thomas Paine is very much alive once again, living in that being known as Ron Paul. He has been awarded and rewarded for his life as Thomas Paine, and that life in itself was a life devoted to making right certain mistakes made in other lifetimes. It may not quite be right to call them mistakes, for each life has its own merit, each life has its own lessons, even those that are negative in nature.

The opposite side, when fulfilled, isn't so much a punishment to the life as a way of addressing it and balancing the great line of lifetimes, of bringing everything into harmony, just as in this lifetime, the entity Ron Paul is bringing into balance failings that the individual Thomas Paine had as an individual at that time, and one can see that the being will become a truly rounded individual, complete and whole in himself.

This is all that this Awareness has to say on this subject at this time.

CLOSING MESSAGE:

(Thank you) Does Awareness have an overall closing statement?

In These Interesting Times Many Great Players From the Past Have Returned

COSMIC AWARENESS:

These are indeed interesting times. Many souls have returned to these interesting times, both to bring forward new levels of consciousness at this time, but also to act as leaders and teachers and healers in the times ahead. This must be understood and perceived and held so that many who are facing the challenges of these interesting times will retain hope and hold that there is indeed hope, and the negative twist that is presented on the television news every night or every day in the papers and on the radios, is not entirely the truth of the matter.

There are individuals that are once again here to help in this process of Ascension, this transformative time, this transitional period of consciousness, and much is being now brought forward, and yet there are those who have not yet fully stepped into their roles, whose roles will activate more upon the collapse of the old order, so that when they step into the new order, and into the new way of things, they will step into their power and they will step forward. There are many, indeed thousands who are here and who are preparing themselves for that which lies ahead.

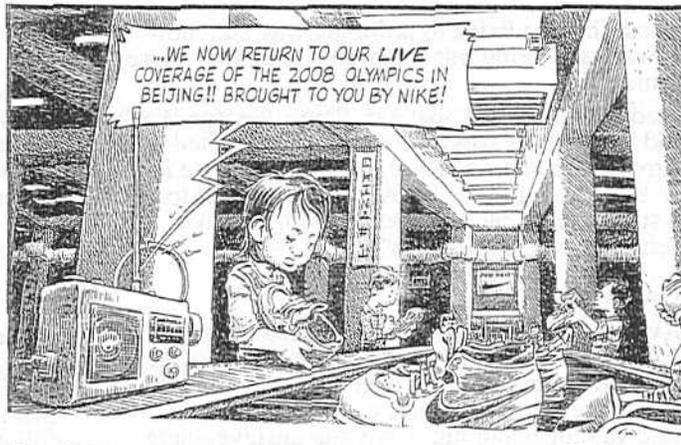

It's Time For You To Deal With Issues Within Yourself

In these interesting times, as this Awareness has so often spoken, the most important thing to do at this time is to attend to one's own personal transformational process, to deal with the issues that are within oneself, thus clearing the slate and being a blank slate, so that which is written upon the blank slate will be that which is most needed in the times to come. Although these are interesting times, they are also times of great hope, when they are seen in the greater aspect, when it is seen that this is a transformational period in human consciousness, and as such, as this Awareness sees it, a very exciting time indeed.

This Awareness is complete at this time.

QUESTIONER:

Thank you. It's been a most interesting session. (the Law of Gratitude is given)

CAC General Reading 5-15-08 Will Berlinghof Interpreter
Questioner and Energizer: Joan Mills

QUESTIONER:

Does Awareness have an opening message please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness is available to do the channeling at this time. It wishes to discuss the matter that was discussed at the onset of the evening before the session began between the Interpreter and the energizer, and the question that was formulated from this discussion be presented now.

Today 4000 Mummies Have Awakened After 6000 Years: What Does This Mean?

QUESTION:

In conversation with the Interpreter, the interesting topic of the Egyptian mummies was discussed. The discussion concerned the alleged consciousness of four thousand mummies recently being released into mass consciousness. What would be the reason for this occasion? Would Awareness please discuss this topic? Thank you.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness is prepared to discuss this topic. It has been looking forward in bringing up this matter that is highly significant at this time. This relates to information this Awareness gave many years ago about the consciousness of many individuals being mummified, being put into the bodies of those individuals, trapped in those bodies, although trapped is not the right word. This was information this Awareness gave in the latter Seventies and early Eighties and it was in reference to a movement that occurred at that time to persevere, that knowledge, that higher level of consciousness that was available at that time to initiates and to those who were masters.*

*A reference to some of these old reading is given at the end of this reading. Ed.

Many of those who studied in the temples and schools of Egypt known as the mystery schools had knowledge of that which was coming. In other words, they were aware that at one point in history there would come a point when consciousness was so degraded and so trapped that the separation from spirit so profound and complete that it would be a spiritual hinterland, a dark age, and there would be great need at that end time for a massive influx and a shift in consciousness to occur. It was seen as a highly worthy sacrifice that many of the time were prepared to make in order to bring this shift in consciousness at that dark time of stagnation and entrapment.

This Known as the Ra-Ta Period of Time

This occurred in a period roughly five thousand years ago. The beginnings of this stretched even further back to six thousand years. There were at that time those who could time travel in consciousness and who could move in and out of the realms of time, who could project themselves forward into time and see what was needed, what would be the case in times to come. This was the period known as the Ra-Ta period of time. There were very many Light Workers at that time who were available and it was these Light Workers who agreed to be part of that planned course of action where many gave up their lives in the physical so that they could be stored in a stasis of consciousness.

The reason for the mummification was not only to preserve the bodies of royalty, but also to hold consciousness to a body, for the mummification principle was seen as a way of slowing down the decay and degradation of the human body. As the body remained, to whatever degree, consciousness could still stay attached to that body on a level beyond that which is physical, but still have impact in physical reality. This was known at the time, and it is why so many thousands chose to give their lives and make it their purpose to be available at the most desperate and crucial of times when a shift in consciousness would be desperately needed in order to assist the process of Ascension, that very process that is now occurring.

They Foresaw the Spiritual Dark Ages Earth Would Experience

This is indeed the time that those initiates and priests and masters saw so many thousands of years ago. These are the spiritual dark ages and it was seen there would be desperate need for that elevated and enlightened awareness that was prevalent to the initiates at that time, to be reintroduced into humanity at this time. This occurred, and many thousands gave up their lives in the physical so that their consciousness could be put into a form of hibernation, to awaken and be released in these times.

There were over ten thousand individuals who gave themselves over a long period of time to this cause. This did not all take place at one time, all ten thousand being interred and mummified at the same time. This was something that took place over hundreds and hundreds of years until finally the whole group that was in agreement to perform this highly sacred chore, this amazing sacrifice, had been assembled. This Awareness spoke of this in the late Seventies in particular and mentioned how many of the Light Workers and Wanderers had a part of their consciousness still in hibernation.

The Interpreter Paul Shockley Was a Volunteer

The former Interpreter Paul Shockley was one of these individuals and he too sometimes felt that there was something missing in his consciousness, although he did of course dwell at a high level of awareness and was able to successfully channel this Awareness. There were others who have also spoken of this, both in Cosmic Awareness Communications, as well as others who were aware on some level that there was a part of their consciousness, their spirit, that was not totally available to them.

Those who gave their lives at that time did so willingly, and there was no repercussion to their giving their physical life, for it was seen that the spirit purpose was such that the spirit would play itself out at a later stage, at this stage, so there was no ramification on any spiritual levels for those individuals sacrificing their lives at that time. The process of their death was not a painful process. They all took a poisonous substance that simply allowed them to into the deepest of sleeps, a sleep where the spirit could disentangle itself from the physical body and could release itself, while at the same time, still being connected by a slender thin cord that stayed attached to the body. This is that which is commonly known as the silver cord, but this silver cord was so fine, that for all intent and purposes, it was more of a thread than a cord.

A Spiritual Hibernation Until Time to Awaken

These spirit consciousnesses went into a form of spiritual hibernation, and although they were asleep, there was a part that was still somewhat aware of the events and circumstances that were taking place in the world around them. This was used as a way of being aware of the timing and the points when it was timed for those souls to start awakening. Recently, a wave of these sleeping souls, these spiritual warriors, was released once again into mass consciousness. This was an event that took place in March of the year 2008. Four thousand returned back into the collective consciousness of this planet. Roughly half of them reentered via rebirth. They were born again into human form and this allows them to be present in the times ahead and to bring forth their wisdom and knowledge and consciousness to those who will need this awareness in the times to come.

2000 Have Attached Themselves to Entities of High Consciousness

The remaining half, the two thousand other souls that were reintroduced into mass consciousness have attached themselves to individuals who have reached certain levels of consciousness already and who were prepared to leap forward. This creates a situation where certain individuals who have reached that point have now an additional aspect of consciousness that is connected to them. It is as if a door has now opened up for many of these individuals and things that were once vague or unknown are now clear and understood.

The consciousness of these two thousand sleeping souls that have reentered is such that they have combined their consciousness with Light Workers who have themselves been working hard to reach a point of their own consciousness where they are available to accept the new consciousness that has been introduced and integrated into the fabric of their being. This does not lessen any of those who have accepted another aspect of the soul into their consciousness, for it is part of their own soul that is reintegrating itself into their own being.

Multidimensionality Makes This Possible

This is all to do with the multidimensionality of the individual. Those who gave themselves at that earlier time are being reintroduced to another aspect of themselves at another stage of time. This Awareness asks all to remember that time itself does not exist, so that in effect, even though on an earthly plane, measuring time, a vast amount of time may have transpired since the four thousand went into their stasis. In truth, all they did was shift from one dimensional reality to another, and have integrated themselves into another aspect of their own being, another expression of themselves, a future expression, if one uses the linear concept of time, but an alternate expression, if one understands the multidimensional nature of the individual.

Over 1000 Were Born Into What is Known as Crystal Children

These four thousand are merely a wave of consciousness. There are approximately six thousand more that are to be released over the next two years. Some were released much earlier. Approximately one thousand souls have been released over the last 17 years to certain individuals, or were born in the body of those who are now known as Crystal Children. These Crystal Children are not only those who have the consciousness of these mummified Egyptians, because the concept of Crystal Children is much more complex than simply old souls from a different time reentering a new body, but some of the Crystal Children are of this nature.

This concept is being reintroduced at this time by this Awareness to help the readership understand that the shift in consciousness that is occurring at this time has been something foreseen for a long time, even thousands of years ago in a temporal sense, and these four thousand who have reentered now are causing great shifts already, especially the two thousand who have reintegrated into present-day aspects of their own being. This will proceed in an acceleration fashion over the next several years as six thousand more are soon to be released also.

The Law of Acceleration: Everything is Now Speeding Up

This is one way by which the masses will be quickly awoken and there is indeed an accelerated process that is in effect at this time. Everything is speeding up, and as the Law of Acceleration states, that as a speed increases, that events accelerate beyond measure. This is a time of acceleration, and the souls returning at this time will cause further acceleration so that mass-consciousness will be shifted very quickly. Many have already seen how quickly shifts in consciousness are occurring, shifts that ten years ago would never have been thought possible.

This accelerated growth and shift in consciousness will continue until the actual ending of these times and the Ascension onto and into Planet A is complete and done. This Awareness asks if there are any questions.

QUESTIONER:

Not at this time, thank you. It is definitely an exciting time for everyone. Thank you.

Shall I carry on with the questions now?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is affirmative.

Is Mother Mary the Only Queen of Heaven?

QUESTION:

This one is from Vera K., of Syracuse, New York. She has three questions. The first is: "Mother Mary, Jesus' mother is referred to as Queen of Heaven. Is she the only one with this title, or are there others in the same position, on the same realm or higher, and if so, who are they?"

COSMIC AWARENESS:

There are indeed multiple answers to this question. The easiest answer is that yes, she is the only Queen of Heaven as understood by a Christian concept of heaven. The Virgin Mary, as she is also known, is indeed a highly intelligent enlightened being. When this Awareness uses the word "intelligent" it does not mean intelligent in the normal concept of that word. For her, intelligence is a Divine Intelligence. She is an Ascended Being, and as such, given the role she played in the time of that entity known as Jesus the Christ, she was a highly trained member of the Essene sect at that time, and was aware that she had a specific role to play in hosting the life of that being that would become the Messiah.

The Biblical Version is Not Accurate: Jesus an Essene Who Was Trained by Druids

The biblical version is not accurate in the truth of what really happened. The Essenes had understood that their role was to issue forth a being who they would then train and take care of and even take to other places in the then civilized world for further schooling, education and training. Thus it is that the entity who is now known as Jesus the Christ did indeed roam the Mendip Hills of England and was trained and taught by the Druids of that time, having been to those Druidic colleges of great wisdom and education. The entity now known as Jesus the Christ was also in India as well as in Tibet, and that he was trained in the old ways, in the teachings from the Golden Age, including the teachings of the Huna.

It is for this reason that he became the Supreme Master and was even given the title of Kahuna of Kahuna's, King of Kings, this being in reference to his great knowledge and wisdom. When he returned back to his land of origin, he saw and understood what his role was to be, for it was part of that which was seen by the Essenes so much earlier, and Mary, his mother, understood her role also, so that even though she did not travel with her son in those years where he undertook the Great Training, she always understood that she still had a role to play.

Mary Had a Continuing Role to Play

Her role was not simply in that first part of the life that was to be the life of the Messiah, but also later, upon his return, and she understood that even after his official role was complete, that she still would have a role, even though her role dropped out of sight at that time. Thus, when this being returned to the spirit/soul realm, she was honored and acknowledged, and it is for this reason the term Queen of Heaven was given to her for her honored role in that saga that was the life of the entity known as Jesus the Christ.

The Resurrection Theme Was Played Out Many Times Before

However, there are others who were equivalent to the Virgin Mary, the Mother Mary. The resurrection theme was one that was played out many times before, including two thousand years earlier in the state known as Babylon, where there was another virgin birth, another Mother Mary, although her name was not Mary. There was the Messiah born or the virgin birth and the father who was the God in heaven, and this woman too, played a similar role to the role that Mother Mary played in the Christian sagas of the life of Jesus Christ.

This too was a woman who was acknowledged by Spirit itself when she too returned back into the spirit realm. It could be considered that she too was seen as the Queen of Heaven although the Babylonian concept of heaven was different than the Christianized version of heaven. In fact the name "heaven" would not even have applied. Still, there was another who was recognized for the pivotal role that she too played in the resurrection saga of the Babylonian times.

Other Divine Females Played the Virgin Mary Role

There were several other resurrection stories and sagas that played out between the Babylonian and the Judaic messiah. Those women who played similar roles were all honored for the roles that they played. It is for this reason that this Awareness can also say there are other divine females who were acknowledged for the powerful roles that they played in bringing spirit into the third dimensional reality, to create shifts in consciousness, when those shifts were desperately needed.

The Jesus saga, the entity known now as Jesus the Christ was only the latest of the resurrection sagas, themes or tales. This Awareness is complete with the answering of the question.

Where Do Jesus and Mary Reside Today?

QUESTION:

(Thank you) Her next question, she writes: "It has been stated that there are 7 planes and then others beyond the 7th. Where do Jesus and Mother Mary reside? It would be easier to understand if the realms were numbered beyond the 7 generally referred to, for ease of reference, thus achieving a better understanding of where they reside, concerning height. Thank you." Your comment please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness must start by apologizing to the entity Vera K., that It cannot comply with the request asked of It. It cannot comply for it is not such a simple matter as simply numbering off those planes of consciousness where the entity known as Jesus the Christ and his mother now reside. They reside on various levels of consciousness. The planes that the entity Vera K., asked of are also the same as dimensions of consciousness, most typically the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th planes of consciousness.

The 4th plane of consciousness, the 4th dimension, is that dimension where many souls go after the physical death, a staging area. There are also the Bardo levels that are in the 4th dimension, and this is a dimension where many souls go without attaining the full measure of the spirit realm, and it is an area where souls often become stuck and trapped, not fully realizing a higher dimensional status, that being the 5th plane or the 5th dimension.

The 5th Dimension is Called the True Spirit Plane

The 5th dimension is that which this Awareness would call the true spirit realm, and this is the realm where all spirits will eventually return when they make their way through the 4th dimension, that level of consciousness that only slightly exceeds physical consciousness or that consciousness which is held in 3rd dimensional reality, a consciousness that is largely asleep to its greater spiritual nature.

The Bardo Levels is a Journey to the 5th Dimension (If You Believe in Hell You Will Find It There)

The bardo levels that this Awareness has talked of on past occasions are actually a journey through consciousness until it comes to the 5th, which is a state of freedom in consciousness. Therefore, as a soul progresses through the bardo levels, it is possible, due to beliefs held in physical incarnation, to become sidetracked and sidelined, that it is possible to take journeys to hell itself, for if a belief is held that one will experience hell upon death, then the consciousness will be so directed, and it will create that concept. It will not only create it, it will inject that spirit into that experience so thoroughly that it will for all intents and purposes be a real experiencing of that which is hell.

However, all consciousness does move, does shift, and even though it might take a prolonged period of time, eventually all will return back to 5th dimension, back to that state that many religions have qualified as Heaven, Nirvana, the Celestial Realm, and it is at the 5th dimension that the soul will then finally be freed of the entrapment of 4th dimensional reality. Fourth dimensional reality is beyond the physical and does not comply completely to the laws of 3rd dimensional reality, but as this Awareness has said, if one holds a belief that 3rd dimensional laws still somehow apply, such as the concept of purgatory or hell itself, then many will experience this as their reality, a reflection of the beliefs held at the 3rd dimension.

Generally Speaking Jesus and Mary Exist in the 7th Dimension Realm and their Influence All the way Back to the 3rd

By the time this is worked out and released and the soul returns back to the 5th dimension, then all remnants of 3rd dimensional belief are eliminated, and there is the true spiritual freedom available to those souls returning to the 5th plane of existence or consciousness, the 5th dimension. The question relates to the beings Jesus and Mary; that they did not parley in the 4th dimensional, but went straight into the 5th dimension and expanded their consciousness beyond that. Generally speaking, they exist in those realms that are loosely known as the 7th dimension, so as beings, they are very dispersed in consciousness and not focused into an individual body or even an individual consciousness, embracing many layers and levels of awareness and consciousness.

Thus, it is difficult for this Awareness to simply say that they, the entities themselves, the singular identities known previously as Jesus or Mary exist in the 7th when their consciousness is much greater already, and spreads not only all the way to the 7th but all the way down back into the 5th and even into the 3rd, for they are honored and remembered, so in some form their being exists also in the 3rd dimensional reality.

There is also an aspect that goes beyond the 7th plane of existence, but this Awareness is not prepared to talk on that matter at this time.

This Awareness is complete with Its answer.

WHERE DOES THE DIVINE CREATOR EXIST?

(Who and What All That Is? This Question is a Paradox)

QUESTION:

(Thank you) She has one more question. She asks: "If the Divine Creator is everywhere and has no form, is it correct that there is no specific realm that the Divine Creator resides?" Comments please.

*COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is a complex question with a complex answer, for the Divine Creator exists in no dimension, and yet exists in all dimensions. It is, and It is not. It is All That Is, and It is nothing at all. This is such a paradox, that it is difficult to understand what this Awareness is speaking about. The Divine Creator is in all matter, in all consciousness, in all energies that exist on all levels of reality. Thus, the Divine Creator is definitely in 3rd dimensional reality and is in everything in the 3rd dimension, is in every brick, in every stone, is in every bird and every animal, is in the streams and the trees and the soil, and the skies and the clouds, is in every human. In every cell of every being, of every thing, there is the Great Creator.

It is the Ultimate Consciousness, the Awareness at all levels, and yet at the same time, It is in Itself, and by being in Itself, in the awareness of self, does not see Its own existence in all that is, for this is not a consciousness as such, it is simply a being, a be-ing, the being in That Which Is, that which is the everything and the whole and the all. If It is not aware of Itself on some levels, It can be said not to even exist on those levels, and yet It does exist on all levels. Thus, it is such a hard and complex concept, that one must be able to step outside of a box of understanding to understand this concept.

In Some Ways It Is Not Even Aware Of Itself

The Creator Being, the Divine Force, All That Is, is in all that is. Because It does not have consciousness as a human has consciousness, or even as this Awareness has consciousness, It is not even in some ways aware of Itself, which is why It sends out aspects of Itself on all levels to gain the experiences that are returned back to It, back to the Divine Creator, so that in some ways It may know Itself in all forms, in all shapes, all sizes. Thus It becomes conscious at that highest of all levels: the level of Supreme Divine Consciousness, Supreme Divine Awareness.

Therefore, the easiest answer, the most understandable answer to the question presented is that the Divine Creator exists at all levels, and is part of everything. That is why each individual is part of the Creator and part of that which is the Godhead, the God Force. This Awareness feels complete with this question and asks if there is another question involved, that the energizer might have.

QUESTIONER:

Not a question thank you, but just to say that was a beautiful, truly meaningful explanation of her question.

DO WE ALL HAVE A DOUBLE IN THIS PARALLEL UNIVERSE?

(If You Feel Happy is Your Other Self Unhappy?)

QUESTION:

The next question concerns parallel universes or dimensions. This is my question. Based on the theory, both positive and negative affect humanity and parallel universes or dimensions exist, is it possible or reasonable to assume that each individual on earth has their double in whatever form in that parallel universe or dimension, and when an entity in this universe or dimension experiences the positive energies, such as joy, happiness, elation, etcetera, then that entity's double in the parallel is experiencing the negative energies of sadness, unhappiness, despair, etcetera, so that an overall scale balancing of energies concurrently occurs on a higher level?

Generally speaking, does each universe or dimension have its own type of parallel universe? Your thoughts please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness sees that It is being asked to take the reader down the rabbit hole. The concept of parallel universes and parallel lives is a valid one. Parallel universes do exist. Where it starts to get very complex is the understanding that a parallel universe, a parallel life is created each and every time an alternative is needed to be experienced by the grand total consciousness of the Greater Soul.

Jane Roberts and Seth First Discussed Parallel Universes

There was, in the Sixties and Seventies, an entity by the name of Jane Roberts who channeled that incorporeal being named Seth, who described the concept of parallel universes and parallel lives. In the discussion between Seth and the husband Robert Butler, it was given that every time a decision was made by an individual it would create a fork in the line of consciousness, where there was a double effect, where the individual who made a choice one way would go on to experience that life according to that choice, but an alternate being would also be created who experienced the life that was given with the alternate choice.

Thus, if a decision was made for an individual to marry an individual versus not marrying an individual, one aspect of the being would marry the individual, while another would have a life where they did not marry that individual. One can see how many forks and branches quickly occur within even a small period of time. If it is so that an alternate aspect of a being is created with each and every decision of import, that there must literally be not thousands, not millions, but billions of expressions of an individual in all expressions of that individual's having experienced all the various choices that would occur for that individual in a lifetime.

The Concept is Too Far Down the Rabbit Hole

Each of these could be considered a parallel life in a parallel universe, and yet, if all exist within the framework of one mind, one consciousness, it becomes a staggering concept to many individuals who cannot fully comprehend how this could be so, when most individuals have enough problems just focusing on one life, not billions. For many, this concept simply does not work and is not even entertained, and is too far down the rabbit hole to even be considered viable, and yet, this is exactly what does occur. That is why this Awareness has begun speaking on the multidimensional nature of the human being and is given to trying to help individuals understand that they are much much more than they ever thought they were.

As individuals, there are counterpoints to each and every individual that actually can be reached. Again, in the materials that Jane Roberts channeled for Seth, it was spoken that it was possible to connect with a probable individual aspect of a being, and thus get a clear and stronger understanding of what might have occurred with a crucial choice, to get a deeper understanding or awareness, because one can connect to and contact that probable being. Jane Roberts herself was never able to truly contact a probable aspect of herself, but she did come close and she felt it in her awareness.

This is where most individuals can experience probable versions of themselves, so it is a way of reflecting on choices made, both present choices as well as past choices, and even future choices. Often individuals regret choices made. With this technique of being able to connect to the alternate personality that was created at that moment of choice, it is possible to review the life that evolved because of the choice and where it led the individual.

James Stewart's Role in "It's A Wonderful Life"

There is a movie: "It's A Wonderful Life" with James Stewart, where such a concept was played out. He experienced a life that might have been, had he never been born, and the angel Clarence was his personal guide in that life and he saw that a meaningless life ensued, and many who he had affected, who he had not even realized he affected, were denied his influence in their lives, and it was with great happiness, joy and pleasure, that when returned back to his first life, he was joyous in celebrating that life, putting aside the minor situation that had caused him such grief and despair that he had considered suicide, for he had seen the truth of how important his life had been.

All individuals can have such an experience if they choose to open up to their parallel lives. Sometimes it is necessary to understand the consequences of a choice at a deeper level by imaging or imagining or experiencing at an inner realm what might have happened had one gone forward in that life, and on some level, one does go forward in that life in a parallel alternate reality. But for most, it is enough to stay in the focus personality and continue on the line that you are focused on.

What is interesting is that the focus is the same for an alternate individual as it is for the individual who has followed a certain choice. This again becomes very confusing. This Awareness thus says that the importance here is simply to stay focused where you are at this time. While it is possible to connect with probably parallel selves, that the most important thing is always to know that you are on a line of conscious experience that will take you somewhere in the end. If there is need to review other lifetimes, it can be achieved, especially with individuals who have trained in this area to bring people into consciousness of the parallel lives.

On the whole however, the focus life is that life that one is aware of and one is conscious in. This is a short sojourn down the rabbit hole, and this Awareness asks if there are any other questions.

QUESTIONER:

I really appreciate the explanation to this particular question. It gives consider food for thought and right now, I need to be focused on the lives that I have. Thank you for that information.

What Is That Hole or Void in the Universe a Billion light Years Across?

QUESTION:

We have the section on science; the first several are from Avaton. He says to read all. I assume everything is connected here. The first part is, "The universe has a huge hole in it that dwarfs anything else of its kind. The discovery caught astronomers by surprise. The hole is nearly a billion light years across. It is not a black hole, which is a small sphere of densely packed matter. Rather, this one is mostly devoid of stars, gas and other normal matter, and it's also strangely empty of the mysterious "dark matter" that permeates the cosmos.

Other space voids have been found before, but nothing on this scale. Astronomers don't know why the hole is there. "Not only has no one ever found a void this big, but we never even expected to find one this size!" said the researcher Lawrence Rudnick, of the University of Minnesota. Rudnick's colleague, Liliya R. Williams also had not anticipated this finding. "What we found is not normal, based on either observational studies or on computer simulations of the large-scale evolution of the universe," said Williams, also of the University of Minnesota. The finding will be detailed in the Astrophysical Journal.

The universe is populated with visible stars, gas and dust, but most of the matter in the universe is invisible. Scientists know something is there because they can measure the gravitational effects of the so-called Dark Matter. Voids exist, but they are typically relatively small. The gargantuan hole was found by examining observations made using the Very Large Array (VLA) radio telescope) funded by the National Science Foundation. There is a "remarkable drop in the number of galaxies" in a region of sky, in the constellation Eridanus, Rudnick said. The region had been previously dubbed the "WMAP Cold Spot" because it stood out in a map of the cosmic microwave background (CMB) radiation by NASA's Wilkinson Microwave Anisotropy Probe (WMAP) satellite. The CMB is an imprint of radiation left from the Big Bang, the theoretical beginning of the universe.

"Although our surprising results need independent confirmation, a slightly colder temperature of the CMB in this region appears to be caused by a huge hole, devoid of nearly all matter, roughly six to ten billion light years from earth", Rudnick said. Photons of the CMB gain a small amount of energy when they passed through normal regions of space with matter, the researchers explained, but when the CMB passes through a void, the photons lose energy, making the CMB from that part of the sky appear cooler. He ends, "Nothing is by chance." Will Awareness comment please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness wishes simply to comment that this is a Null Zone in the fabric of space. It is seen that there is a bubble-like energy around this area, a force field, although a membrane would be a better description, in the fabric of space. That which is contained within this Null Zone is opposite in some ways to the normal fabric of that which is around it. Thus, the void zones that are

One good thing about Alzheimers...
you get to meet new people everyday described in this article are smaller pockets of the same thing as the gargantuan Null Zone that has also been discovered.

It must be understood that space is like a skin, and the skin of the universe has different pockets, different areas, within it. The Null Zone, although it is not a region of antimatter, is composed in a different way, opposite in a way, to that which surrounds it. It is simply a region of space that works under a different set of laws of physics. The laws of physics that normally apply to the fabric of space all around the Null Zone and the Null Zones is that which has been defined and understood by humans up to this point, and that which exists within the protective region of a Null Zone is different and contrary to normal laws of physics.

The Void is the Birthplace of Energy and Consciousness and An Area Where the Divine Creator Exists in Nothingness

Until one of these zones is actually breached, little can be said that will make it understandable, for by human experience, information must be gathered that will give understanding to this phenomena. This Awareness can explain it as a void. Even though the word "void" has been used in describing these regions, the interpretation that this Awareness wishes to give is that of the void which is a birthplace of energy and consciousness, and the void contains nothing, yet at the same time contains everything.

These pockets are therefore to be understood as pockets of the Godhead, of the Divine Creator, where in these areas It exists in a state of nothingness, and this huge gargantuan area that has been discovered is a large expression of that which is the Divine, which is the Greater Being, the Great Spirit. It is therefore difficult to understand it, even if it was possible to get within it, to take measurements by human standards. That which would be brought forth and captured, in some ways would make no sense at all, and yet it is the way of science to always seek evidence, to seek understanding and an explanation.

Even though this Awareness can call these voids, the Deep Void, the Essence of the Creator Being Itself, it is still an area of understanding that goes beyond comprehension for many. This Awareness simply asks to accept that this is a visual expression of the God Force Itself, of the Divine Creator Itself. This Awareness is complete with this explanation at this time.

STAR WOBBLES UNDER TUG OF PLANET

(Another What Came First: The Chicken or the Egg?)

QUESTION:

(Thank you) It is kind of mind-boggling. This question is from Jamie P., of Calgary. It concerns star wobbles under tug of planet. I'm holding up a picture. The commentary is "For the first time, astronomers have seen a star move in the sky under the influence of the gravity of a planetary companion. The star is called Upsilon Andromedae. It is about 45 light years away and remarkably like our sun. It hit the headlines earlier this year as being the first star, other than our sun, to be known to have more than one planet orbiting it. This particular one has three." Does Awareness have a comment? In other words, is this the norm for a star to move under the influence of a planetary companion's gravity? Are there any other stars so inclined? Your comments please.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

It is indeed so that the sun in question is being affected by the gravitational forces of the planet orbiting it, but it is a little bit more complicated than that. It in turn also affects the orbits and the situations of the planets themselves. Thus, it is a matter more akin to that question: which came first, the chicken or the egg? Which is affecting which? Is the energy sent out by the sun first of all affecting the planets, which then in their rebounding, send an energy-wave back, which causes it to wobble, which then causes more fluctuation?

This is actually a very common situation amongst suns and the planets that surround them. It even occurs in the solar system that exists here, with that which is the earth's sun. There are effects that are reciprocated back to the sun. Thus, when the sun or Sol sends out energies such as in solar flares that affect the orbiting planets, there is an energy that rebounds off the planet, and that is sent back to the sun, which further affects the sun itself. This is not yet something that the scientists have understood or discovered, and they label this process different, and speak of it differently, but in truth, everything interacts with all else.

This actually states a cosmic principle of interaction, how one body affects another body, which in reciprocity affects the first again. This is something that plays itself out billions and billions and billions of times over in the many universes and solar systems that exist. The evidence captured by the scientists is an example of this. This wobble is in one way a normal event. It is simply more noticeable in the solar system that was photographed.

This Awareness is complete with this answer.

QUESTIONER:

(Thank you) The point that it was around Andromeda is not significant then, is that correct, in the sense that there are other stars also so inclined?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This is so.

WAS THE HUMAN RACE ALMOST WIPED OUT LONG AGO?

(Good. Thank you) That's about it for the scientific ones. There was an article in the paper with regard to "Experts Say Early Humans Almost Wiped Out!" and it refers to, "The human race may have had a brush with extinction 70,000 years ago," two new genetic studies suggest. The human population at that time was reduced to small isolated groups in Africa, apparently because of drought, according to an analysis published yesterday in the American Journal of Human Genetics.

Would this have been a drought or an example of global warming that is expected at this time? Your comments please?

COSMIC AWARENESS:

The first thing that this Awareness has to say of this is article is that it is largely erroneous. Mankind is presumed in this article to have come about by natural evolution, when this is not how modern mankind came to be. Modern mankind is the result of genetic engineering. What occurred was a mass-destruction of many individuals at that time due to extensive drought because the planet itself was going through an extreme period of solar flare activity, which altered the climatic conditions at that time.

Creation of Modern Man An Erroneous Theory of Evolution

It was one of the periods of mass-destruction of humanity that was then corrected, by the Anunnaki, the masters of the humans, those beings who themselves were not the creators so much, for it is seen that the Sirians were largely held responsible for the creation of modern man, but it was the Anunnaki who assigned the Sirian scientists and geneticists this task, and thus, when many individuals were destroyed, new individuals were created to fill the needs of the Anunnaki masters, and thus the assumption that man kind was almost destroyed and then it somehow survived is erroneous.

While many were killed, it was with foresight that this was allowed to occur, because it was known that the humans that were killed off were inferior to the needs of the Anunnaki, and with the natural events occurring which created the extreme drought conditions, it was seen as an opportunity to eliminate inferior quality humans that were not up to the task that the Anunnaki had wished for those being that were being created to fulfill and serve the needs of the Anunnaki. Thus, it could have been that those humans were saved and protected at that time, but they were allowed to be destroyed largely so that they could start again and create a better human being, and that is what the scientists have misinterpreted.

They have a certain set of assumptions of how mankind evolved, assumptions that have nothing to do with the deliberate creation of these beings that were called Homo Sapiens, and thus they do not have the means to understand that this was a culling of those humans that existed at that time, for they were inferior to the needs of the Anunnaki, and it was thought better to simply wipe most of them out and reintroduce a better strain of humans, once those solar flares and the drought conditions had passed. (side 3)

This Awareness is complete with the previous question and wishes to move on.

Q) thank you)

Is there a closing message?

Time to Think Beyond the Box

COSMIC AWARENESS:

There is indeed a closing message at this time. This Awareness has introduced some very complex and challenging information in this session, but it is good that this is so, for it is time for the many to expand their consciousness, to open up to the new concepts that will one day be the every day reality of the majority of beings. The concept of multidimensionality, the concept of parallel lives, probable lives, the concept of aspects of consciousness being integrated into an individual, thus creating several aspects within one host's body; these are all concepts that are true and value, but for many are not understood or even reflected upon.

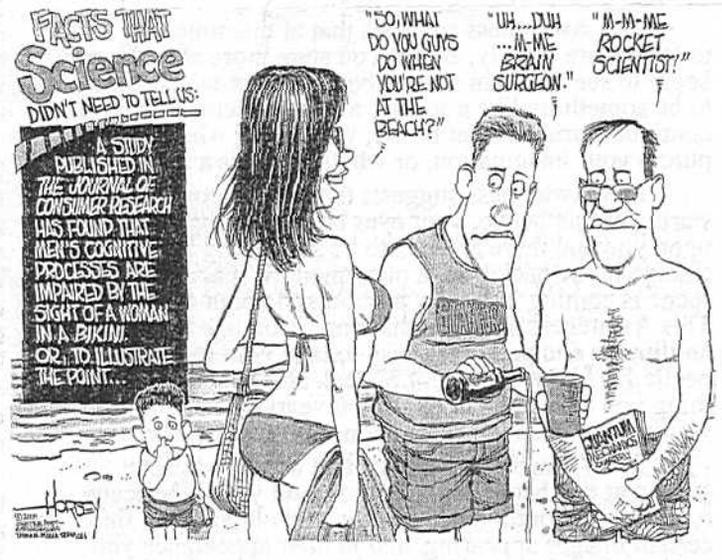

These times coming will require an expansion of consciousness and awareness to bring into effect a reality that is based on such understandings and truths. This is what exists beyond the box, and for many who are not comfortable with this and who would rather have a supreme deity who governs them and commands them, and tells them what to do and feel, how to act and how to be, such concepts will not only be challenging, they will be considered even as evil. However, evil is in the mind of the beholder.

For an individual to think beyond the box, to be willing to live a life based upon a reality that is other than that which is prescribed by those who have power and define reality is very much needed at this time, for the Ascension process requires it. It requires an expansion of awareness and consciousness, a reaching out to new levels of awareness and reality, for reality will always reflect awareness. It is time for individuals to understand that they are much more than what they think they are. Each individual is much more than what he or she might think they are.

This Awareness has much more to say about multi-dimensionality and It will indeed speak more to this theme in times to come. This Awareness is done and complete at this time.

THE COSMIC AWARENESS SPIRITUAL DEVELOPMENT COURSE

Volume Four: Cancer
Moon Child (Imagination)

LESSON NUMBER FOUR

QUESTION:

Awareness, we're here today for the fourth lesson of the Correspondence Course in the Sea of the Moon Child. The fourth lesson is that which is concerned with memory, repetition, rhythm, cycles, vortices, and the planting of seeds.

COSMIC AWARENESS:

This Awareness suggests that entities again make themselves comfortable, with heads toward the center of the circle, a candle lit at the head. That those who are reading, may pause and experience and visualize these scenes.

This Awareness indicates that you visualize yourself out in space with no substance round about, with no physical body of your own, nothing but the ability to look and see and to move about; that you visualize the feeling of being conscious, but without a physical form.

This Awareness suggests that you look into the space before you and see that which appears to be a dot, which may be an eye, or may simply be a dot, or may simply be your own vision, the point of focus - that you cannot be sure what you are looking at.

This Awareness suggests that at this time you begin to look more closely, and as you stare more closely, you begin to see a certain shape about that dot which appears to be something like a scarab, a bug, a beetle. You continue staring at that beetle, wondering whether this is purely your imagination, or whether this is a reality.

This Awareness suggests that as you continue staring at that beetle, your eyes begin playing tricks upon you and there appears to be something like a change in the backdrop, a movement in space whereby a scene is coming into view around and about that beetle. This Awareness suggests that you recognize this must be an illusion and you don't wish to take your eye off the beetle for fear it might not be real, and this is the first thing you have seen in 60 billion years and therefore, you wish to keep your eye upon it to see just what it is.

This Awareness suggests that as you continue staring at this beetle for fifty thousand years, the scene round about continues to flash in and out and you find certain images appearing, and in their appearance you begin to discern a stability in the area near and around the beetle.

This Awareness suggests that at this time you find it possible to remove your eyes, your focus, from the beetle long enough to look at the ground round about the beetle on which it stands. This Awareness suggests that as you look at this ground, and then look back at the beetle, you realize that the beetle remains and did not disappear. Therefore, you begin to wonder, "Was it really my imagination, or does it actually exist?"

This Awareness suggests that you begin to explore by moving out again from the beetle and examining the other images round about, filling in the detail, looking at the sand, looking at the nature of the movements of the sand. You begin to notice that there is a warmth and a breeze which the beetle is capable of breathing, that there is a movement of air currents which move the sand about, that the beetle does not have to keep its image perfectly still, but can move about and can crawl about. And as you begin watching this movement, you begin to realize that there is something out there which is not you.

This Awareness suggests that as you continue staring for another fifty thousand years, you begin to discern that there is an ocean near by, and you name these things according to your wishes. You begin to notice that beyond the ocean there is more space in which you may create other things by staring for thousands of years. And the space, the canvas on which you can create, becomes unlimited in size, and you find that you can begin creating more detail upon the area in which you paint - more depth, more layers, and more substance, or you can spread out and let this image be thin, without depth, but spread wide and far into space.

This Awareness suggests that at this point you begin to recognize that the depth, the gravity, the heaviness of the matter depends on how much you focus on one particular thing; that the lightness, the fluidity, the change, the dancing images upon your canvas are brought about by your ability to visualize and move on without continuing to hold and maintain that focus.

This Awareness suggests that as you begin to recognize the power of the action of focusing and imaging, you begin to discover also that you can create whatever image you wish to create by focusing and giving qualities and images through the action of description, with or without words to describe, by the tools which you focus with. And with this focusing action, you begin to carve out images, and you learn by repeating the images, by holding the image, by reinforcing the image, that the image can become solid and can remain as that which you term reality.

This Awareness suggests that as you look at an image, you find that the image can respond to your focus. Therefore, you begin to play around with this aspect of consciousness, and you watch the beetle. You realize that you made it move. You brought it into being, and in bringing it into being, you instilled it with a life force of its own and allowed it the legs to crawl around, and to move about upon this scene created through your imaging abilities.

This Awareness suggests that at a certain point, the question came forth which asked, "Can we stop the movement which we once started?"

This Awareness suggests that at this point, the imagination and the mind began to unravel and undo the image, and found that it was possible to annihilate the beetle, to allow the beetle to fade away and to disappear.

This Awareness suggests that entitles today may experiment in this action by staring at a small, stable cloud - staring at the cloud as though you were looking through the cloud for the sky, for the blue sky behind. This Awareness suggests that at a certain point, your vision will begin to play tricks and the cloud will take on what appears to be a glow. This Awareness suggests that you continue staring through that cloud, for at least as long as you stared before the glow began, and you shall discover that the cloud is disappearing. This Awareness indicates this can be done in a manner of minutes, according to your ability to focus and hold your attention in this manner. This Awareness indicates that also you may check this cloud against others as stable data for proof that you, yourself, have caused the disappearance, for the other clouds round about will remain.

This Awareness suggests that now, as you continue in your action of playing with imagination, and you find yourself staring at the point wherein the beetle disappeared, you ask yourself: "Is it possible that I could bring it back again?"

This Awareness suggests that again you begin imagining and imaging the beetle, and as you begin this imaging, surely it begins to form again. This Awareness indicates that in this particular instance, it is easy for you to recreate the beetle, but were there fifty professors of science standing about you, telling you it is impossible, you would find it very difficult, indeed.

This Awareness indicates that as you continue staring at the beetle and bring it back into focus, you know that in your own world and your own personal reality, that this beetle does exist. This Awareness indicates that were another to come along and agree with you that the beetle indeed does exist, you would either have proof that the beetle existed, or you would have proof that both of you are on the same imaginative level, having the same hallucination. This Awareness indicates that were fifty other entities to come along and look and say, "Yes, indeed, that is a beetle," you would begin to suspect that maybe you really 'had something here,' and maybe you really did have a creation.

This Awareness suggests that there still is the possibility which crosses your mind that maybe all of you, all of these fifty, are likewise suffering from the same hallucination. This Awareness suggests that as you begin to study the effects of the creation in view of the statements that each of these other entities are giving, as you begin to concern yourself more and more with the opinions of the various entities, there is the possibility of forgetting how it came into being and making a significance of the fact that it is.

This Awareness indicates that as you continue in your action of creating through images, constructing through images, and becoming more and more concerned with the significance of the results of the creation, rather than in understanding how it came about, it becomes possible to forget where it all started. This Awareness indicates that as you begin moving more and more into more and more constructions and creations with your imagination, and as each of you and the other fifty aspects begin to reinforce each other's viewpoints and opinions and work together to create more structures and images, there becomes the possibility whereby each of you forgets your own role in the action and begins to feel that the 'truth of the matter' is that there is matter, and it does not have to be questioned as to its origin.

This Awareness indicates that at a certain point, many eons of time from the beginning, one may become concerned with how to make this happen in a manner that does not ever change, whereby the images remain permanent, and entities can involve themselves into the images as reality and not have to leave or move back into the states of Spirit and anti-matter, but may wallow in images and form, may wallow in matter and the physical.

This Awareness indicates that there comes about that possibility which has brought about that aspect of consciousness called 'maintaining and holding and memory' - this being that which takes the image and reinforces the image again and again and again, holding the image so that it cannot escape, wrapping the image - wrapping the image with cloth, with levels of involvement, with levels of experience, with levels of feeling, with levels of intensities, pains, or suggestions - these trappings being such that they take away the imagination, suck the life-force, the waters of Akasha, from the image and leave it dehydrated and mummified.

This Awareness indicates that suddenly the beetle now is dehydrated, mummified, and floating in time and space, and the background which has appeared under it has become that which is solidified and appears as matter, created by the mind, yet being such that it appears to be something of its own. And at this time, it is possible for the mind, which created and imaged these things into their so-called reality and froze those images - it is possible that that mind can move into certain portions of that image and give those portions life. In this manner, consciousness being brought down as imagination, the waters of Akasha, into that frozen image did begin to spring forth and bear fruit, known as organic matter. And as this occurred and continued over eons of time and entities began to image various creatures (these creatures being of many shapes and sizes), there became the possibility whereby the creative energies of entities (yourself included) was such that you could pick a particular entity or shape and move into the physical and look out from the eyes of that entity. This Awareness suggests that over periods of time, consciousness then descended into the imaged creatures, and man became that which had a physical body.

This Awareness indicates the word 'man' and 'mind' are the same word in Sanskrit language. Mind did enter into the physical form (the image), and began to look out from its new creation into the wonder of the land of the magi-nation which had been created. This Awareness indicates that the memory of this experience is still with each of you in your imagination, in your subconscious, but that the conscious creative mind, which continues to probe and to mold and create those dehydrated forms, which continues sapping the life-force from the images by putting them into words, numbers, ideas that have no substance - this mind then begins creating more and more for the purpose of maintaining the appearance of solidity and matter.

This Awareness indicates that in the present process of becoming one with your imagination, whereby Spirit moves back into the creation, into the image, you are now finding that the maintaining of the structure is not so important as how it all works, and the questions which now are coming to your sciences and to your institutions and to your probing minds, are questions which deal with "What is the nature of the universe and its forces?", rather than "How can we keep our act going?"

This Awareness suggests that you understand the nature of memory as that which is stored in the dehydrated shapes, images, and forms, but cannot be tapped except through the levels of imagination, the waters of experience and feeling. This Awareness suggests that any time you wish to experience and remember any instant in your past, either this life or any other, all that is necessary is for you to focus on whatever symbol or image or word that you have in its dehydrated form as a carry-over from that experience. Focus on this. Hold this in your consciousness. Move into levels of relaxation and begin to feel, to feel, to feel that experience, that word. This Awareness indicates the feeling is that which adds the water to the dehydrated word, the carry-over, the thought, and as you add the water, that thought then becomes more than just a memory: it becomes an experience which you can relive in your imagination (which is all that anything is, anyway).

This Awareness indicates that It does not advocate that you wallow in memory, for there is a world 'out there' waiting for you to create, and you may find ways of creating, through imagery, those worlds which far surpass anything that has ever existed before on this plane or any other.

This Awareness suggests that in creating your new worlds through imagery, that this may be done in co-creative action, wherein all entities are felt, experienced, as one - without any point, or any head standing out as a leader, as separate, or as being anything other than one who shares what is seen with others who share what is seen by themselves.

And in that sharing, the co-creative actions begin to happen wherein all benefit and none shall lose.

This Awareness indicates that this as the conclusion of the fourth lesson in the Sea of the Moon Child.
