

"THE FLYING SAUCER"

One Alleged to be Found

NEW YORK, Wednesday: "A Flying Saucer has been found on a ranch near Roswell, New Mexico.

This was announced by the United States Army Air Force, amid the welter of controversy surrounding reports from at least 40 different States over the past week that flying discs or flying saucers have been sighted in the skies above the United States.

Official secrecy is being maintained about the found disc, now in possession of the Army; but Lieutenant Warren Haught, Public Information Officer, of the Roswell Army Airfield, announced that the find had been made some time last week.

The disc had been turned over to the airfield through the co-operation of the Sheriff Office; and, following an inspection at Roswell Airfield, has been "loaned" by the Intelligence Officer at Roswell Airfield to headquarters.

No further details so far have been given.

Identified as Weather Balloon

WASHINGTON, Later: Latest messages from Fort Worth Army Airfield says that the weather officer here has identified the object found on the ranch at Roswell, New Mexico, as a weather balloon.
