

FLYING SAUCERS

ONLY A MYTH

WASHINGTON, Tuesday: A "flying saucer" found in New Mexico has turned out to be a weather balloon.

It was found last week on a ranch near an Army Air Force field at Roswell, turned over to Air Force headquarters and later identified by the weather officer at Fort Worth, Texas.