

Here Again

On Friday morning my son and I saw what might have been a flying saucer; it was white and very high up towards Sydney, and was turning over slowly for about half a minute.

Then it took off westward at a terrific pace and in a few seconds was out of sight.

It must have been travelling twice as fast as a Mustang. —
J. Noonan, Auburn.