

“Flying Saucer’s” Again

COPENHAGEN, Mon.—The coastguard at Skagen (North Jutland) to-day reported seeing a flying disc hurtling northwards, leaving a column of white smoke. He saw another, and watched it through binoculars. He believes the objects were remote-controlled rockets.

The keeper of the Skagen lighthouse and others also declared that they saw the discs.