

MORE FLYING DISKS

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22: A coastguard at Skagen, North Jutland, reports having seen a flying disk hurtling northwards and leaving a white column of smoke behind it. He saw another and watched it through binoculars. The coastguard believes that the objects were remote-controlled rockets. The keeper of the Skagen lighthouse and others also declare that they saw the disks.—A.P.