

FLYING SAUCERS?

Rapidly shifting white trails of smoke in the sky yesterday intrigued many Echuca people, for as no aeroplane was visible they considered that some strange natural phenomena was being witnessed, while even the flying saucer theory was resurrected.

However it was merely a jet fighter plane stunting at such high altitude that its outlines could not be seen with the naked eye, and its ghostly trail was a vapor from the exhausts and which became fixed in the atmosphere in the intense cold.
