

FLYING CROCKERY

In the flood of comment and speculation during the recent wave of flying-saucer reports, London "Daily Mail" pointed out one specially interesting fact, that the outbreak of such reports followed a curiously well-defined pattern. The "hysteria", it says, first broke out in July, 1947, and was repeated in April, 1948; July, 1948; April, 1949; July, 1949—and again in April, 1950.
