

'Flying Saucer' Hats

SYDNEY, May 18: Flying saucers are now going to women's heads. When a Sydney millinery firm executive, Mrs. Selwyn Waddell, stepped from a B.C.P.A. plane at Mascot last night after a world tour she was wearing a flying saucer hat with a Mona Lisa veil. The model is from a leading Paris house. The hat is one of 30 overseas models which she brought back with her for copying for her firm's spring collection.

Fashion notes which Mrs. Waddell brought back include: Every Paris woman walks with an umbrella; every woman in New York is wearing a veil, mostly coarse-meshed and tight fitting; fur coats of some form or other are favoured by most New York women, who wear them even on warm summer days; Paris dressing is very disappointing.
