

Flying Saucer Seen At Northcliffe ?

A strange phenomenon seen in the sky on Saturday, July 8th at about 5.30 p.m. travelling south west over Mr. W. Willis' and Mr. G. Geyser's properties heading towards the sea has been reported.

The description of the "saucer" seen by both these men is the same. They report the saucer as travelling in an almost horizontal trajectory from the north-east and heading for the south-west. The first glimpses of the "saucer" ascertain that the color was at first red, then yellow, after which it exploded in the sky, throwing a shower of miniature stars.

Mr. W. Willis thought that it was a navigation light on an aeroplane. However, it snowed conclusively that it was not by exploding in a shower of stars. Both these men were unwilling to mention the incident publicly as no other person reported seeing it. It was merely by chance that Mr. G. Geyser chance that Mr. G. Geyser asked Mr. W. Willis if he had seen such a thing. When both stories correlated, then they were willing to say something about it. If there are any other persons in the district who saw a similar thing, they are asked to come forward and make a statement.
