

Saw Flying Saucer 100 Years Ago

THE fascinating story of how a Viennese professor saw the first flying saucer nearly 100 years ago is told in to-morrow's magazine section of "The Examiner" by Edward Sinclair.

There is also an interesting article about the Dutch Prince Consort, a man who walks behind his wife; and another concerning the 4000-year-old custom of appeasing the God of the Nile.

A new insight into man's ideals of feminine beauty is given by Dr. David Katz, professor of Psychology at Stockholm University. By matching photographs he has produced the "average face" which, he says, "is beautiful."

Then, too, there is a further adventure of that lovable Australian. Ginger

able Australian, Ginger Meggs, Arbor's gardening
notes and a book review section.