

FLYING POLE THE LATEST

New York, February 5. — A variant of the flying saucer story comes from Galena, Wisconsin.

The Mayor (Mr. R. Logan), said he had been smothered with reports of a "flying pole" having been seen on Saturday night. The "pole" was said to be 300 ft. long and was a brilliant red.

With marked significance the mayor said the revelry on Saturday night was not sufficient to create such a figment of imagination among so many people.

The report from Wisconsin coincided with others from observers in different parts of the Union. They saw a brilliant red flash, which was caused by a meteor seen in the central west.

The flash was shaped something like a baseball bat. It "was not very high or very fast."
