

'Flying Saucer' Still Unsolved

About 15 per cent. of approximately 1000 reports of "flying saucers," received in the past four years, could not be explained, a United States Air Force spokesman says.

Jet fighters equipped with radar had been sent up, but none had yet made contact with a "saucer" said Captain E. J. Rupert, of the Air Technical Intelligence Centre at the Wright-Patterson air base, who is heading an investigation into the reports.

Ground radar had tracked some unexplainable aerial objects, believed to have been travelling at speeds from 1,500 to 2,000 miles an hour, but no one had reported seeing these, he said.