

Meteor Starts Another Flying Saucer Scare

Washington, Sat.: A brilliant flame, apparently a meteor, flashed across the sky here last night, causing another "flying saucer" scare.

Newspaper offices were flooded by calls of witnesses of the phenomenon who wanted an explanation.

Description of the flame varied widely, but they agreed the blazing object moved horizontally across the heavens and came "awfully low."

At US Naval observatory a spokesman said the reports "sound like a typical meteor."