

THEY REALLY SAW RED IN MOSCOW

NEW YORK, Tues.—United States Air Force Sabre-jets roared over Moscow early yesterday morning in pursuit of a "flying saucer."

But all they did was wake up most of the town's 10,000 citizens.

And the only fire they drew was language from angry Muscovites.

It was Moscow, Idaho, not Moscow, U.S.S.R., and the Air Force dismissed the "saucer," reported by two ground observers, as a mirage.—A.A.P.
