

'Space' voice warns

New York, Thursday

A telephone caller claiming to be "from outer space" interrupted a local radio show this morning and caused hundreds of listeners—some in a panic—to telephone the studio.

Jinx Falkenburg and her husband, Tex McCrary, were interviewing Major Donald Keyhoe about his new book, "Flying Saucers From Outer Space," when the mystery call came through.

Miss Falkenburg answered, but became too hysterical to talk with the caller and turned the call over to her husband, who inadvertently held the phone close to the microphone.

Listeners heard a thickly accented voice speaking in rapid, grammatical English.

The gist of the call was this: "This is a voice from outer space. I warn you earthmen to warn you earthmen to stop talking about flying saucers, about bombs, and preparations for war, for unless you learn to live in peace your planet will be annihilated.

"You cannot see me, and you could not bear the sight if you did. It would be too hideous."

Major Keyhoe and his publishers denied they had anything to do with the hoax. — A.A.P.
