

Canada plans flying saucer

Canada's planned "flying saucer" fighter was intended to fly at 1500 m.p.h., the New York Times said recently.

Research men at the big A. V. Roe aircraft factory outside Toronto had been working on the "flying saucer" for two years.

Estimated cost of a pilot model is at least 200 million dollars (£89,300,000).