

U.K. Call For Report On Flying Saucers

LONDON, Nov. 20.—

The "Daily Mail" asks for a Government White Paper on "flying saucers."

Its front-page editorial was prompted by:—

- An official War Office report that a "strange object" seen passing over Kent on November 3 had been tracked by radar.
- The disclosure that the large object had been a meteorological balloon.

The report was the first made officially in Britain about unidentified objects in the sky.

The "Daily Mail" says:—
"When all the nonsense has been drained away, there does remain a small sediment of observed fact which remains inexplicable.

"What does emerge is that men of many hours' flying experience have soberly and circumstantially told of things seen which they are certain are abnormal.

"We should also like to know why two US pilots investigated a 'bright red thing at 17,000 feet and were forbidden to talk of what thing at 17,000 feet and were forbidden to talk of what they had seen."
