

Letters to the Editor

(We do not necessarily endorse the views of our correspondents.)

---

Why wake it up?

Sir.—Most sensible people had thought the flying saucer hysteria was dead and decently buried. Why resurrect it? Science has completely debunked it. The drawing made by Captain D. Barker of a "Flying Saucer" over his home at East Doncaster resembles almost exactly what the Civil Aviation officials said they believed it to be, the darting shadow of a high flying Convair on clouds below it.

Your photo of a Convair is a side on view.

Capt. Barker saw the object from underneath and if you study his drawing you will note that its shape resembles an underneath view of a plane.

By the wildest stretch of the imagination his drawing could not be compared to the shape of a saucer.

Yours, etc.,

J. WOTHERSPOON.

Leeton.

---