

★ ★ ★ Do saucers fly?

IF ordinary folk begin to suspect there is more to the flying saucer than anybody will admit, it is not surprising.

About a week ago, a veteran A.N.A. pilot reported having seen a "flying mushroom" — and stuck to his story in spite of official cold water.

Now a world ranking scientist, Russian-born PROFESSOR OTTO STRUVE, University of California astronomical research head, who is visiting Australia, admits to being "not sure" that flying saucers exist only in over-imaginative minds.

It is easy, but not necessarily intelligent, for sceptics to treat every reported flying saucer as an illusion. But the words of PROFESSOR STRUVE, not to mention the character of some of the people who claim to have seen such mysterious bodies, are at least calculated to make us wonder.
