

Are we being spied on by Martians

The president of the Australian Flying Saucer Bureau (Mr. E. R. Jarrold) believes Mars is "connected in some way" with the appearance of "flying saucers."

He said that this conclusion was based on extensive data compiled over a considerable period.

Mr. Jarrold said he did not share the view of the Department of Civil Aviation that these objects did not originate from another planet.

He said "Because of the unprecedented wave of sightings of "unidentified" aerial objects all over the world in 1950 and 1952—when Mars was at its closest point in space to Earth—record numbers of similar reports can be expected this year.

"This view has already been confirmed by various researchers in the United States.

"It is the only theory advanced to date which was found to conform acceptably with recorded visual, radar and photographic evidence accumulated by researchers here and abroad."
