

Vapour Trail Puzzle

Puzzled viewers yesterday morning wondered if a flying saucer were on a reconnaissance of the district when a long white trail appeared in the north-eastern sky.

Others thought they were to be treated to an exhibition of sky-writing.

A check revealed that it was a vapour trail from an aircraft diving at very high altitude—too high to be clearly visible or for the noise of its motors to be heard.