

"Saucer" Story From Forbes

FORBES, Monday: A flying saucer is reported to have been seen over Forbes during the week-end.

A resident of that town Mr. Bob Richards, said today that while working on his new house, he saw what he described as a flying saucer high up in the air and travelling at a great speed.

It appeared to have a yellow light in the centre, and a long misty tail.

He said it disappeared into the western sunlight so quickly that he didn't have time to direct the attention of a friend, who was helping him at work on the house.
