

“Flying Saucer” wasn’t the RAAF’s cup of tea

PERTH—“A white ball” or a pencil-like object” (descriptions varied) was seen in the sky yesterday over West Australia’s northern wheatbelt.

But the Royal Australian Air Force isn’t impressed.

A Mustang fighter was flying at about 30,000 feet and leaving long vapour trails.

The time, altitude and position of the strange objects all agree with the pilot’s flight report.
