

"FLYING SAUCER" PILOT SPOKE TO TWO WOMEN

OSLLO (A.A.P.) — Police in north-central Norway set off yesterday in search of any trace of a "flying saucer" from which two young women reported seeing a dark, long-haired, foreign-looking man emerge while they were picking berries in nearby hills.

They described the man as appearing friendly and anxious to talk, but he was unable to understand English, French or German.

After the man vainly tried to explain himself with words, gestures and drawings, he climbed into the "saucer," which rose straight into the air and disappeared.

The North Norway newspaper "Helgeland" reported the women—two sisters aged 24 and 32—as saying the "saucer" was about 16 feet in diameter and looked like two saucers put together. It saucers put together. It started with a slight humming sound like a bumble bee and rose at great speed.

The man wore a kind of khaki overall, without buttons, but possibly with a belt.
