

"Ou suis-je?" said the saucer man

Paris, Monday

TWO French motor cyclists swore at Toulon today that they had talked to the pilot of a flying saucer.

They said that the saucer had parked in the middle of the Hyeres-Toulon road last Thursday night.

The two men, Mario Rapellini and Pieree Ottoviani, told police that they found it was a circular object with two legs resting on the ground.

It had a bulge on top and two ear-like openings at the side.

As they gingerly approached, they said, a medium-sized man, dressed in grey overalls of some strange material, stepped out.

the pilot where he was and he re-entered his machine through a triangular opening.

A stream of vapor issued from the saucer, it slowly rose vertically into the air as its motor roared, and then streaked off at great speed leaving an orange glow in its wake. — A.A.P.

The following conversation took place in French: Rapellini, "Are you a Martian?"

The stranger, "No, I'm French. Where am I?"

The men said they told the pilot where he was and