

'Are You A Martian?' They Asked

PARIS, Oct. 18 (A.A.P.).
—Two French motor cyclists told Toulon police last night that they had talked to a man from a flying saucer.

They said they found the flying saucer parked in the middle of the road near Toulon on Thursday night.

It was a circular object with two legs resting on the ground. It had a bulge on the top and two earlike openings at the side.

As they gingerly approached, they said, a from the saucer, it rose slowly vertically and then streaked off at great speed, leaving an orange glow in its wake.

medium-sized man stepped out.

He was dressed in grey overalls of some strange material.

The motor cyclists asked (in French): "Are you a Martian?"

The stranger replied: "No, I'm French. Where am I?"

They told him, and he re-entered his machine through a triangular opening.

A stream of vapour issued from the saucer, it rose slowly
