

CROW TAKEN FOR FLYING SAUCER

HELSINKI, November 13.
— A strange light, which gilded through the dusk at tree-top level and gave rise to stories of flying saucers, was a tame crow with a torch tied to its beak.

Until today, when the story leaked out, the light frightened people in Alavieska, Northern Finland.

The crow, tamed by a local family, was encouraged to fly at dusk.