

Casual Comment

Richmond aldermen this week have all been wearing that smile that won't come off. Must have heard some good news.

With its sewerage scheme, Richmond is going to take off like the bolter, and Windsor will have to draw the whip on itself to stay ahead.

But of course Windsor is pleased for Richmond's sake, and glad that its old rival will be equipped to make a race of it again.

R.H.S. annual athletics saw 30 records broken. And, as a fearful spectator at times I expected to tor, at times I expected to a neck or two likewise.

* * *

Lots of parents visiting schools on open days saw their little cherubs in a new role, all right—doing as they were told.

* * *

Maybe (as we read last week) low flying is the fault of the pilots concerned. But the same might be said of some of our local motorists.

* * *

Friend reckons the unidentified object sighted in the night sky recently like a blowtorch flame followed by a trail of sparks, might have been his old bomb (which needs de-coking) climbing Kurra-jong Heights.

* * *

So Kurrajong is to be Sydney control centre of the Civil Defence Force the Civil Defence Organisation. And they couldn't have a more civil place for it.

—CORNSTALK