

SCOUT FETE

Missile Display at Glenbrook

A display of missiles—including the British air-to-air Firestreak—will be featured at the Glenbrook Scout carnival on Saturday.

Arranged by the R.A.A.F., the display will show a full sized model of the Sidewinder, an air-to-air missile named after a deadly Arizona rattlesnake.

A missile defence village, similar to those now in operation in America, using the Nike missile, is the basis of another model. These villages, fully security covered, are self-contained, giving accommodation to the staff which mans the defence site in shifts 24 hours each day.

Display will also include such items as an ejector seat from a jet fighter, a full size model of the first satellite to orbit the earth, and an U.F.O. (unidentified flying object) built according to descriptions of people who have observed them.

Wing Commander A. J.

Wing Commander A. J. Abicair, who is arranging the display, and staff will be present to show the missiles.

Other features of the carnival will include items by the prize-winning Tartoola Scout band and a hand-crafts exhibition in a huge 60 by 20 feet marquee.

The Rotary Club is holding the carnival on Saturday, June 9, to assist the Glenbrook Scout Troop with their hall.

The carnival will be held in Glenbrook Park and will be opened at 2 p.m.

The hall has been constructed to the present stage by a number of willing workers over a number of years. Some of these workers have boys in the troop and others without children have also given assistance.

Assistance by Rotarians and other supporters at the carnival will enable the hall to be completed. This will give the Scouts and Cubs the opportunity to enjoy their training facilities to the full.

15 STALLS

The 15 stalls at the carnival will include a roving lucky dip, organised by the Glenbrook Local Association and Girl Guides, and a "white elephant".

Quiet ponies are being

Quiet ponies are being groomed to give rides to the small children attending the carnival.

Tractor rides for children will also be featured.

He is below himself that is not above an injury.—
Frances Quarles.
