Antarctic mystery object

SANTIAGO, Wednesday (AAP - Reuter). — Scientists at Argentine, British and Chilean Antarctic bases had reported an unusual celestial body hovering on the horizon and sending geomagnetic instruments wild, the Chilean Air Force said yesterday.

A British station reported the object was yellowish-red varying to green, and zigzagged about the horizon for about 10 minutes.

Their observations were confirmed by Argentine and Chilean scientists on the following day.

The Chilean Air Force Command yesterday published a report from the Chilean station, saying the object has been seen twice in a fortnight. Ten colour photographs have been taken of it.
