

Canberra looks out for UFOs

The newly - formed Canberra Unidentified Flying Object Research Society will hold its first public meeting in the Griffin Centre on Saturday night.

The society's object is to co-ordinate reported sightings of unidentified aerial phenomena and correlate them with sightings from other districts.

"We want people to take more interest in the sky to see if we can establish the existence of UFOs", a society spokesman said yesterday.

"A few people who have applied for membership claim to have seen such objects and they are still being interviewed".
