

Life would be dull without them

● Last year was a quiet one for flying saucers. The number of unidentified flying objects reported to the U.S. Air Force was the lowest for 17 years.

*"We are sick of the solar system,"
Said the little green men from Mars,
As they waved to their kids and kissed 'em;
"We are heading for outer stars.
It's an undiscerning planet,
The one that is labelled Earth,
When anything's odd they ban it
Or shriek with unseemly mirth.
And besides the traffic's lighter,
Unlike these close resorts,
Where some innocent Martian blighter
Could collide with astronauts."*

Dorothy Druin

—Dorothy Drain