

Object in sky 'was Venus'

SYDNEY, Tuesday. — There was no Riverina "flying saucer", an RAAF spokesman said today. It was the planet Venus.

Eight people in different areas of the Riverina reported seeing a bright object in the sky last Saturday morning.

They said the object changed colour from red to green several times. However, the RAAF said today the object was the planet Venus. The planet was visible to the human eye at this time of the year and the RAAF said the time of the reports corresponded with this.
