

It looked like a flying saucer to people on the ground. But it is in fact a summer house made of glass fibre and reinforced plastic being carried to a new site near Stockholm in Sweden.
