

Object was an aircraft

A reported unidentified flying object over the Honeysuckle Creek area late last night, turned out to be a NASA aircraft doing a 10-mile 'orbit'.

Phone calls to the Honeysuckle and Tidbinbilla Tracking Stations, and the RAAF, failed to solve the object's identity.

However, the control tower at the Canberra airport said that 'it' was an aircraft being controlled from Sydney.