

Night flying helicopter

Flashing lights in the sky over Port Lincoln on Tuesday night were not caused by a UFO.

The Wessex helicopter chartered by Shell Development (Australia) Pty. Ltd., to service the oil rig Ocean Digger, was undergoing night flying tests by the Department of Civil Aviation. The helicopter flew over the city and later practised take-offs and landings at the aerodrome.