

UFO's vetoed

The "average" Unidentified Flying Object will no longer raise the interest of the RAAF.

In future they will investigate only those UFOs, or Unusual Aerial Sightings as they call them, which suggest a defence of national security implication.

While the RAAF will continue to be the first point of contact, UAS reports considered not to have a defence or security implication will not be further investigated.