

EXTRATERRESTRIAL GRAFFITI

Crop Circles: inexplicably formed markings of great size pressed into grain crops when no ones' looking.

These strange formations have been puzzling the "experts" ever since the first occurrences, many years ago. It has been suggested that these intricate patterns are formed by freak 'ball' lightning, pint sized super tornadoes, rebellious lawnmowers, deranged cattle and/or sheep, and even, when all else fails to satisfy, UFO's!

I rather like the last one, basically because it gives me the chance to rant on in a mildly humorous and disparaging way. But I would like to make a refinement to the theory of aliens sneaking up on poor unsuspecting wheat crops and drawing strange, but deeply meaningful patterns - These patterns

You bet ya! Them thar' hookinns is graffiti, or I 'aint writing this 'ere paper!

Look at the clues: They appear mysteriously out of nowhere; They depict rudimentary geometric patterns in set orders; They are obvious and really stand out to passing aircraft; They are always pressed into valuable crops.

Compare, if you will, the following two scenarios:

1) A young juvenile sneaks up to a large blank fence in the dead of night, spray can in hand, and proceeds to display his/her design for any who may pass by - especially police and other spray painters.

2) A small UFO streaks in the dead of night, force beams warming up, finds a nice big, well placed, easily pressed crop, and proceeds to compress its designs in very bold circles and lines, for all the galaxy to see.

Gee, how 'bout that! Gosh!! don't they sound similar!!!! How do you explain that!!!!!!! (you really have to kick the !!!! habit - ED)

These are strange occurrences indeed. Imagine the likelihood of this happening on the White House lawns in Washington DC! Tell ya what! Lets forget the whole thing and try again.

These weird patterns have been confusing the best journalists for decades, and entrancing the public and and UFO spotters that happen to be in the area of one such pattern for at least as long. People, especially the irate farmers, blame, among other things: The US Government; The Army; The Neighbours; The Journalists; and anyone else they don't like.

Lately, the occurrences of the mysterious crop circles have increased. Not only have they become more numerous, but the patterns have gained complexity. From simple single circles at their first appearances, they have filled out to large sets of circles, lines and other servitudes of precise mathematical squiggles of precise mathematical form!

A thought! Recall, if you will, the fancy patterns cut into the soil of Peru, the Horse of Dover, and other symbols made by our ancient ancestors that dot the countryside. Could it be that these supposed messages to the Gods! are being answered, finally, by passing space farers? On that thought, I leave you to ignore.
