

HyperScience: Black Aircraft

People have seen strange things in the skies over Europe and the United States. Some believe they're UFO's. But another possibility is they could be advanced aircraft, so secret, no-one will admit they exist. HyperScience is science at the edge. Black Aircraft screens Thursday January 29 at 8.00 pm on ABC TV.

Is it possible the technologies have already been developed that would allow such unidentified craft to perform way beyond the limits of current performance capabilities?

Incredible though it seems, the history of so-called "black aircraft" suggests it's not only feasible, it's quite likely. In this episode of HyperScience we'll reveal the story of the SR-71 Blackbird spyplane, the top-secret Russian Ajax project and the recently unveiled amazing LoFLYTE aircraft. We'll also get a glimpse of future propulsion systems that use electrical energy to increase velocthat use electrical energy to increase velocity to unheard of speeds. Some of these systems may already be operational, responsible for many UFO sightings.

The truth about UFOs may be stranger than fiction....
