

60 YEARS AGO

MR R Gerke from the Air Force Association took part in the annual celebration of empire day held at the Port Lincoln High School last week.

The Ungarra Football ball was held on May 24, with the music supplied by the Cummins Orchestra.

50 YEARS AGO

DUE to ill health, Mr R. H. Plane had to resign from the Cleve Council after 21 years of service.

Silver's Circus thrilled a large crowd when it performed three nights at Port Lincoln, with approximately 3100 people in attendance.

40 YEARS AGO

THREE people reported the sighting of a UFO around the Port Lincoln area last week.

This came only a month after another unidentified object was reported by two separate fishing boats around the same area.

The annual Cockaleechee garden afternoon was held last week at the Cockaleechee hall.

The Port Lincoln Baseball team defeated Port Augusta 20-15 in the opening match of the Poinsettia festival being held in Port Augusta.

30 YEARS AGO

DIALAPHONES were being installed in Port Lincoln this week, the first to be installed following the switch from the Manual exchange.

The Koppio blacksmith's shop reopened as part of the National Trust Historical Museum, and more than 500 people attended the event.

and more than 500 people attended the event.

Problems would be posed in staging a Tunarama Festival to compete with the high standards set by last year's Tunarama, president of the Tunarama Committee Paul Woods has warned.

20 YEARS AGO

THE oil drilling rig Ocean Endeavour was pushed off course by 20 knot winds as she attempted to anchor at Port Lincoln, and it took two approaches to position the rig and eight anchors to secure her.

A Port Lincoln collie dog by the name of Jake achieved a Utility title after winning the South Australian Obedience Dog Club competition in Adelaide last week.

10 YEARS AGO

A MARINE pollution seminar held on June 2 declared that Port Lincoln was the only place in the State where raw sewage flowed straight into the sea.

Development in the Lower Eyre Peninsula district for 1988/199 period included 138 building applications totalling $4.506 million, according to the District Council of Lower Eyre Peninsula chairman's annual report.

