

Lights in sky cause a stir

ORANGE lights in the sky are causing a stir around Perth.

UFORUM, a group which discusses the mysteries of outer space, said there had been three incidents of orange balls of light, or OBOLs, this month.

Several people rang Perth radio stations about unusual lights in the Fremantle and Coolbellup area on Friday night. Seventy-nine-year-old Pauline

Cumming of Coolbellup said she watched two balls of light for 15 minutes from about 10pm. "They had blinking lights," she said, "as if they were sending messages."

UFORUM researcher Brian Richards said there had been similar sightings at Trigg and Maylands this month.

But the Bureau of Meteorology says it was not aware of unusual lights.
