An Australian woman claims she was cut off by two alien beings in a spaceship shaped like a Ford station wagon -- before it took off surrounded by green, blue and red flames, the Northern Territory News reported Saturday. Her amazing tale was just one of the stories to emerge after public broadcaster the ABC opened up the airwaves in the Northern Territory to UFO believers. Betty, from Alice Springs, said her close encounter occurred in 1969. She was driving 12 miles south of Aileron towards the northern city of Alice Springs at 4 am with her 6-year-old daughter when they saw the vehicle "flying alongside us." "We saw these two figures inside this thing. It looked like a Ford station wagon, with the windows," Betty said. "It came in front of us really quickly." Her daughter then said: "There's nothing to be afraid of." "I said, 'Why did you say that?' "She said, 'I don't know, it just came out of my mouth.' "And as I was talking, the whole thing took off like a shot out of a gun ... And then there was all this green and blue and red flames or lights all around it. "I'll never forget it." Another caller, Dennis, said his sighting was shared by a crowd of people on the Dripstone Cliffs, 61 miles (98km) south of Darwin, at sunset. "A mate and I were looking down the beach and saw this orangey-pink light progressing towards us. No sound at all," he said. "We just watched it in silence as it cruised on past the casino." Northern Territory News, 11 Sep 2010. [Z-277]
